Disney Enterprises Continue to Function and Grow in Guidelines

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The death of Walt Disney a year ago brought shock to the world and caused concern for the future of his entertainment empire.

Today, Disney enterprises continue to function and grow within guidelines Walt laid down. His brother, Roy O. Disney, remains as titular head of the empire, but much of the decision-making is handled by an executive committee consisting of those who worked closely with Walt in planning film entertainment, the Disneyland park, the coming Disney World in Florida and so on.

Most committee members are 30-year veterans of the Disney operation. Two represent a new generation: Ron Miller, 34, son-in-law of Walt, and Roy E. Disney, 38, son of Roy. Miller is a Disney director, and younger Roy has been nominated for a position on the board in February.

Both have been through the Disney mill; both speak the modest talk of the Disney studio, where group action is the mode of operation. Both exhibit intense interest in the future of the company and the family's part in it.

Ron Miller is oddly cast for the role of movie producer. A former professional football player with Los Angeles Rams, he is a handsome six-foot-five with a muscular frame that varies between 220 and 265 pounds. He is married to Diane Disney, Walt's eldest daughter.

After playing pro football for a year, Miller joined the Directors Guild and started in 1956 as an assistant director on Old Yeller.

Miller continued as assistant director on the Walt Disney Presents television hours and the Zorro series, then became associate producer with his father-in-law on such films as Bon Voyage, Tiger Walk and Summer Magic. In 1965, he acted as pageant director for the Winter Olympic Games at Squaw Valley, an assignment he especially enjoyed—he and Diane are avid skiers. They now have six children.

He became co-producer on such films as That Darn Cat and Monkeys' Go Home. Since their forgot how to find their food, and became prey to other animals.

Monteza is a farming country. Great stretches of country reminded of the Prairies with their waving ripened grains. There are herds of beef cattle; huge flocks of sheep, and in the mountains the lordly mountain horned variety.

Among the birds were noted the great white pelicans with the stately and austere looking blue heron, which apparently affected "rare less" for what went on around him.

The great National Park was also visited; and wonderful pictures of the Indians were shown, as well as the spot of the great Indian massacre, and General Custer's grave.

Nature is ever mindful of her wild life: in September the first snow fall comes, a warning to the denizens of the wild to leave the heights and seek the warmer, lower regions. Then after the 'Indian Summer' winter sets in in earnest, with great ice depths, which is Nature's way of preserving moisture for the rainless seasons.

One of the outstanding scenes was that of the Salmon River with its hordes of spawning salmon, its huge rapids and foaming waters. Another scene was that of multitudes of lovely wild flowers, or the spirits of little Indian children who had died, and returned to earth, according to the Indian Legend. A delightful film, immensely enjoyed, and highlighted with scintillating and humorous sidelines.

Few viewers were aware that he was an Englishman using an American accent.

"An accent, of course, is the way other people talk,' he observed. "Accents are part of an actor's business. Nobody gets very excited when an American actor used a British accent. The trouble is that sometimes it is not done very well."

"I was going to be an aeronautical engineer," he says. "But when I nearly flunked calculus in college, I realized that wasn't for me. I switched to an English major."

Roy had worked in the studio publicity department during summer vacations, but he entered full-time entertainment "through the back door" in 1952. Jack Webb was then filming his Dragnet series on the Disney lot, and Roy got a job on the series as apprentice film editor. The assignment led to a position as assistant film editor for Disney and he worked on the nature films Living Desert and The Vanishing Prairie.

He spent 18 months in the wilds of the Rocky Mountains filming scenes for Perri, later released as a feature. He wrote a book about the film. After more work as assistant to Winston Hibler, producer of the nature films, Roy made a decision.

"I went into Walt's office and told him I ought to be making a film of my own," he recalls. "So he gave me a theme, and I found out how hard producing a picture can be."

His first was The Otter and the Family, which he wrote and produced. Now he is making shows for the Sunday night television series. Roy is slight and actor used a British accent. The trouble is that sometimes it is not done very well.

Barry Morse Back to First Love, the Theatre

NEW YORK (AP)—Barry Morse, th actor who relentlessly pursued David Janssen in The Fugitive for five years, has gone back to his first love, the theatre.

Morse, the long, lean Londoner who worked in Toronto for many years, now is directing a play aiming for Broadway. He recently completed the direction of a fantasy, Mr. Dickens of London which will be an ABC special next Tuesday night.

Since the dramatic windup of The Fugitive in late August, Morse has not visited California and has no plans to return for a while.

"It must have seemed like more, but I appeared in only about one-third of the shows," he said. "It was an actor's dream— a steady job and I knew well in advance when I was needed. Meanwhile I could be busy with other things—a one-man Dickens show and a summer repertory theatre, to mention two."

The series, he said, was helpful in giving him an identity as an actor on a national basis—although people still have a tendency to regard me with some initial apprehension.

"And I, on the other hand, have had to be extremely careful both playing the part and talking about it. It would never do to suggest that a law enforcement officer was acting like a neurotic nut all those years."

"Montana Adventure" Captivates Audience

By A. HENDERSON

Last evening at the Collegiate auditorium the inimitable Don Cooper, again delighted his fine audience with pictorial itinerary along the winding Missouri River in search of its head waters, bringing us bear with his own refreshing and spontaneous humor the witticisms of Will Rogers, and the intense love of James Oliver Curwood for the creatures of the wild, not forgetting the hazardous adventures along the way.

Don Cooper, who was introduced by Dr. Hurley, is the son of a United States Senator, the late George R. Cooper. He has spent many years as a lumberjack in the forests and lumber camps of Montana and Alaska, and travelled in the Yukon, northwest Canada, Mexico and several distant places. During recent years he has made and presented many thrilling adventure films, of which the "Montana Adventure" is the latest. Other films include the Alaska Highway, and the Pan-Am Highway, all of which are noted for clarity of color, and pleasing in composition.

Along the winding way of the Missouri were seen towering waterfalls; foaming rapids; placid lakes; towering forests; and many scenes of wild life including bears, Rocky Mountain sheep; royal elks; graceful deer, a bristling porcupine, who but lacked the noted quill to be in style; the Canadian lynx; the wily fox; and the dreaded rattler.

The narrator told of his homeland, the settlement of Borgia, where the homestead which had been erected by his father into a two-storey home; of his family and of a lot of pets in horses which he and his brother Denis learned to ride at an early age.

He also showed the courtship of the white Grebe, which made her 'debut' by holding a cluster of seaweed in her mouth, thus showing the lordly male she was ready to start housekeeping. When he consented, he was delegated to build the nest, assist in the brooding, and in general make himself useful as well as ornamental. Another interesting picture showed some white tailed land birds doing a most peculiar dance to entice the opposite sex to begin housekeeping.

His love for animals and all nature in general was evidenced in the care with was taken of two motherless black bears. They were feeded daily, fed, and housed in a cage until they were large enough to fend for themselves. Mr. Cooper noted that these cubs were kept in cages only until the proper time to go it alone. If kept longer,

Yankees, Braves Make Deal

Cox, with Richmond of the International League last season, hit .297 and drove in 51 runs. Tillman went to bat 127 times for the Yankees last year, scored nine runs on 24 hits including three homers, for a .220 average.

Roberts, with Syracuse in the International League, had a 9-4 record as a relief pitcher.

Fulbright Says Millions Sympathize With Reds

WASHINGTON (Reuters) —today that all the gigantic Senator J. W. Fulbright said American effort in Vietnam has proved so far is that the United States is "unable to suppress this particular type of national liberation" and that the U.S. is willing "to turn a small country into a charnel house."

Fulbright, chairman of the Senate foreign relations committee and a critic of the Johnson administration's Vietnam policy, said in a Senate address that millions of people everywhere felt natural sympathy for the "tenacious underdog"—the Vietnamese Communists—and derived satisfaction from the failure of an "overbearing" United States.

He said President Johnson's policy neither set the intended example nor proved its point.

"All that we are demonstrating in Vietnam is America's willingness and ability to use its B-52s, its napalm and all the other ingenious weapons of 'counter-insurgency' to turn a small country into a charnel house," he said.

"I do not think that very many people, least of all the Viet Cong and the North Vietnamese, believe that we plan to withdraw from Vietnam as soon as arrangements for self-determination are made," he added.

Arrest of Hundred Said Honest Mistake

NEW YORK (AP)— The New York City police department says an "honest mistake" led to the seizure, interrogation and photographing of about 100 anti-war demonstrators Thursday before they were released without charge.

Jacques Nevard, deputy police commissioner for press relations, said the group was seized across from the United Nations at the end of the three-hour incident, because "some wires got crossed."

Demonstrators, who said they would be set on the streets for a fourth round of protests today, said they would file a number of false arrest suits against police with the aid of the New York Civil Liberties Union.

The Stop The Draft Week Committee coalition of 30 anti-war and civil rights groups sponsoring the protest was hailed again Thursday in its objective of closing down the U.S. military induction centers.

Outmanned and outmaneuvered by police, the 700 demonstrators sent only a token force to the heavily guarded centre while the remaining elements split through the streets up to Times Square and the United Nations.

Although police took 300 persons into custody only 138 were formally charged, bringing the three-day arrest total to 447.

Age Does Not Bar Hernia Operation

By Dr. Joseph G. Molner

Dear Dr. Molner: My husband has a double hernia, one larger than the other. The doctor wants to operate. What would your advice be considering his age? He is 73.—A. R.

Deciding on whether to have surgery always has to be based on balancing two factors: How urgent it is, and how well the patient can tolerate it.

Hernias do not get better; they can only grow worse. Therefore, surgery should be performed while the patient is still in generally good condition.

Put it off too long, and the situation may suddenly become critical at a time when the patient no longer is in good condition to have an operation. (If a hernia breaks down and becomes strangulated, surgery then is a life and death matter. You have no choice but to try it, no matter how feeble the patient may be.)

Age alone is no reason to avoid surgery if it is needed. Your letter happened to reach me the same day that the following one did:

Dear Doctor: Recently you told about a person who had his gall bladder removed at 98. Perhaps you would like to know my experience.

At the age of 90 years and 10 months I had 26 inches of my intestine removed. In May 1967, at age 92, I had my gall bladder removed successfully. (Yet in 1938 I had a coronary thrombosis and pneumonia the same time.)

Two tough operations in a year and five months. If this will help anyone, I will be glad to have passed along the information.— S. C. F.

Dear Dr. Molner: I save your columns but somehow I lost the one on emphysema. Will you write about it again soon? My husband has been told he has it. Is there anything to do to help him? — S. E. B.

A lot can be done to help him, and all that has been in previous columns, and some more besides is in my booklet, now. Send 20 cents in coin for handling and printing, and a self-addressed, stamped envelope and I'll send you the booklet, "How to Control Emphysema."

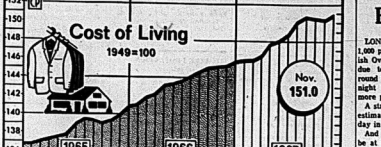
Dear Dr. Molner: About two months before my baby was born my doctor told me my stomach muscles had divided instead of stretching. Could you explain what causes it, and what can be done? He told me to wear a good girdle. — Mrs. N. D.

This situation is called a diastasis of the recti muscles — "diastasis means separation.

There are two muscles which run perpendicularly in the abdominal wall, one each side of the centre. A fibrous connection exists between these two muscles.



It is as in your case — this fibrous connection is damaged it does not repair itself. If you lie on your back and raise your head forward, you will be able to feel the separation around the navel quite easily.

Not all pregnant women run into this trouble, naturally. If it does happen, there is little to do except to wear a support in the form of a girdle. Boning exercises to tone up the abdominal muscles may help a bit, but will not correct the separation.

Note to W.W.: He may be 75 but if your father wants to marry again, and the lady is willin', I can't see why they shouldn't. It may not be common, but men older than that have married and even sired children.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

The consumer price index moved up half a point in November to 151 from 150.5 in early October. A report from the Dominion Bureau of Statistics said costs were up for clothing, housing and recreation. The index is based on 1949 prices equalling 100.

BOAC Jets Grounded

LONDON (AP) — More than 1,000 pilots of the state-run British Overseas Airways Corp. are due to ground their jetliners round the world at midnight tonight in a two-day strike for more pay.

And on world's airfields will be at least 30 silent BOAC jets as a sad advertisement of Britain's chronic inability to keep her industries at work without constant interruption.

Nearly 12 hours of hard bargaining between Labor Minister Ray Gunter, BOAC management and the Pilots ended in deadlock Thursday night.

More talks were called for today.

The pilots have put in a massive pay claim that could almost double the present £5,800 annual salary of a top BOAC jet skipper.

They claim they are only trying to get in line with what pilots earn with other top world airlines.

But root cause of the trouble has been a breakdown in confact between the pilots and the BOAC management.

Benson to Halve Growth Rate Of Number in Public Service

OTTAWA (CP) — Expansion of the federal public service will be checked and retired employees will be denied pension increases in 1968-69, Revenue Minister Benson announced Thursday night.

The decisions, immediately termed "shabby treatment' by a public service spokesman, topped a 31-point list of budget cuts designed to set an example of austerity for Canadians.

Mr. Benson told the Commons the normal growth rate of the public service will be cut by half next year and existing jobs checked for redundancies.

In a further 25 words of his 7,000-word speech he added:

The government has decided that it will not be possible in 1968-69 to proceed with plans for increasing superannuation pension benefits for retired civil servants."

Trevor Gough, first vice-president of the 115,000-member Public Service Alliance of Canada, reacted sharply:

"Merry Christmas to Mr. Benson too—I hope he thinks of them (retired employees) when he's eating his Christmas porridge."

Superannuated employees fully expected increases following recommendations of a parliamentary committee and repeated government assurances that pensions were under study.

Bill Kay, president of the 12,000-member Canadian Union of Postal Workers, said he was speechless at the decision on retired employees.

Mr. Benson told the Commons the civil servant growth, which has been running about 10,000 to 15,000 annually, "will not be allowed to rise by more than 5,000 above the numbers now authorized for the current fiscal year.'

This would be a growth rate for the public service proved of about two per cent in fiscal 1968-69, compared with four per cent or more in recent years.

Water Safety Ignored

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

It's interesting how the dramatic quality of airplane accidents tends to focus public attention on air safety — but a mundane matter such as boat safety scarcely creates a ripple in the public consciousness.

Yet, last year more than 1,300 persons in the U.S. died in 4,300 boating accidents — more than in all types of aviation accidents combined. And nobody is raising a clamor for safer boats, or better inspection, or licensing of boat operators.

This past summer, on the Green Bay finger of Lake Michigan, where I spend my vacation, there were twice as many pleasure crafts as there were only a few years ago. More Americans are owning and using boats than ever before — and accidents are rising at a much more rapid rate than that of boat ownership.

But except for the thin and lonely voice of the Coast Guard, no one is getting terribly excited about the increasing manslaughter on our inland waters; about the thousands of unqualified pilots who don't know the first thing about driving a boat, keeping a proper lookout, rules of the water, rights-of-way, or even the essentials of overloading. Nobody has to take any kind of "driver's test" to buy and operate a boat, and a million water ahlers are taking their lives in their feet every time they venture forth.

Yet a single plane accident will mobilize a dozen Federal agencies, set public indignation, and raise a clamor for strictly inspection and safer navigation laws. And this despite the fact that airlines have an enormous investment in air safety, and are intensely aware that one bad accident can negate a year's worth of good publicity.

The public, as a mass, is always looking for some external object to blame: the airlines, the auto companies, the railroads. It refuses to accept collective responsibility for its own deficiencies, and would like to see all the blame shifted to the shoulders of a nameless anonymous corporate structure.

But the sharp rise in boating accidents indicates that public ignorance and irresponsibility are the culprits here. Pleasure boats are, on the whole, quite safe; the majority of accidents occur from collisions, where one or both of the pilots crosses the other's line in time. Nobody but the operator is to blame for such an accident.

No doubt the current reforms in auto safety were long overdue. But merely making cars "safer" may only increase the nonchalance of the average driver, and make him feel more impervious to accidents — unless, at the same time, we impress upon him the deadly fact that 90 per cent of all private accidents on land, water or air are the consequence of personal error and public indifference.

Sunday School Lesson

Peace On Earth-But How?

By CLARENCE W. CRANFORD

A chipmunk sat sunning itself on a stone wall. Suddenly out of nowhere, a weasel appeared, rushing to attack the chipmunk. But quicker than a flash the chipmunk ran up the nearest tree, but with incredible swiftness, the weasel followed it. The chipmunk made a brave leap to the ground, and ran down a hole too small for the weasel to follow.

What protection, other than its speed, does a chipmunk have against a weasel? Would a chipmunk fight other chipmunks if its territorial rights were challenged?

These questions that rise out of the grim struggle in nature suggest other questions about the behavior of nations. What protection do the smaller nations have against the larger nations? What can be done about the fact that at least half all nations reveal weasel-like tendencies? What about a world where there is no hole in which a nation can flee to escape the disastrous results of an all-out atomic war?

During World War I, a poem was written called "In Flanders Fields." In touching words the author pictured poppie growing between the crosses that mark the graves of those killed in battle. "Take up our quarrel with the foe," the dying cry placed in the silent mouths of the dead. The poem was meant to rally people to the fight against Prussian military might.

But it is becoming increasingly clear that war itself is the real foe of mankind. Whereas eight million men were killed in World War I, almost 20 million military men and over 13 million civilians lost their lives in World War II. The number of people who were killed in a nuclear war simply astounds the imagination.

The Uniform Sunday School lesson for December 10: "Can There Be Peace On Earth?" Micah 4.

No problem burdens the consciences and baffles the minds of men more than the problem of war. Almost everyone claims to hate war. Wars become increasingly costly and destructive, and increasingly futile as a way of solving the basic problems between nations, and yet no one seems to be able to stop or prevent them. People cry out with Isaiah (2:2-4) and Micah (4:1-4) for the day when nations shall "beat their swords into plowshares," but no one seems to know how to bring this about.

Some would say that war is an evil, people, especially those who claim to follow Christ, should refuse to fight. If this meant defeat by an enemy, redemptive influences, they say, would be released that would ultimately benefit the world.

Few people, including Christians, would go that far. They point out, for example, that for the United States to disarm while communist nations are armed to the teeth would simply invite a communist take over.

There is weight to this argument. If a fly lights on a person's arm, he will slap at it. He will not be so quick to slap at a bee, because a bee is armed with a sting. There can be little doubt that America's armed might, including nuclear weapons, has been a great deterrent to Russia's desire to "bury" the west.

Can Micah's dream ever be realized? Can wars be stopped? History is not encouraging. There has been an average of a war every two and a half years in Europe ever since 500 BC. In the United States, no generation has escaped war. Since 1776 there has been a war every 25 years. Today the United States is engaged in the most baffling and unpopular war in its history.

Some support the war in Vietnam on the ground that communist aggression must be stopped at any price. Others feel that this war is morally indefensible, and especially the bombing, partly because so many civilians are being maimed or killed.

What is the answer? Obviously, negotiation is one answer. But it takes two to tango. What must be done, short of capitulation, to bring nations to the bargaining table? Some answers are military and political. But part of the answer is religious. Wars often start because people hate each other, and war increases that hatred.

Obviously, too, nations must work toward a world organization that can preserve peace. There will always be nations that act like weasels, so there must ultimately be a world organization with authority and power to curb their weasel-like aggression.

In spite of difficulties in the way, people must work and pray for peace. They must unite to war against the real enemies of mankind: poverty, ignorance and disease. They must work to reduce hatred in the world by bringing bridges of understanding wherever they can. They must treat war as the greatest enemy of mankind.

Viet Cong Wants to Station Representatives at New York

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — The political arm of the Viet Cong said, word to the UN secretariat this fall that it wanted to station representatives in New York for a year or two to "work principally at the United Nations" and also give newspaper interviews, Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg told a news conference Thursday night.

Goldberg said the Viet Cong didn't pursue the subject after the United States said they would be let in only if they came on official UN business and were invited by the Security Council or the General Assembly.

Goldberg said Secretary-General U Thant late in September sent him an inquiry received from the National Liberation Front, the political arm of the Viet Cong, through "an unnamed intermediary."

Goldberg said after consulting Washington, he asked the UN secretariat to find out who the NLF representatives were, what kind of passports they would have, what kind of visas they wanted, what the purpose of their visit would be and whether talks with the U.S. government were intended.

Early in November, he said, the answers came back that two men were involved, that their names would be given later, that their passports would be North Vietnamese, that they wanted to stay in New York one year and possibly two, and that while they were asking for no UN status, they desired "to work principally at the United Nations" but would not refuse radio, TV and press interviews.

There was no answer to the question whether they would work with the United States, Goldberg said.

The headquarters agreement between the United States and the United Nations obliges the United States to admit UN delegates and "other persons invited to the headquarters district by the United Nations."

Goldberg said the United States would grant the NLF men visas if they were invited here by the Security Council or the General Assembly.

Goldberg also said the United States is willing to vote for an invitation to the NLF if the council has another debate on Vietnam. But he questioned whether the NLF has changed its position that the United Nations has no right to decide anything for the South Vietnamese people.

The U.S. Senate Nov. 30 adopted a resolution asking President Johnson to consider putting the Vietnam war before the Security Council, which discussed it in 1964 and 1965 but took no concrete action.

Goldberg said the decision is up to the president and he has no instructions yet to ask to go to council meeting on Vietnam.

Principal's Requests Given Approval

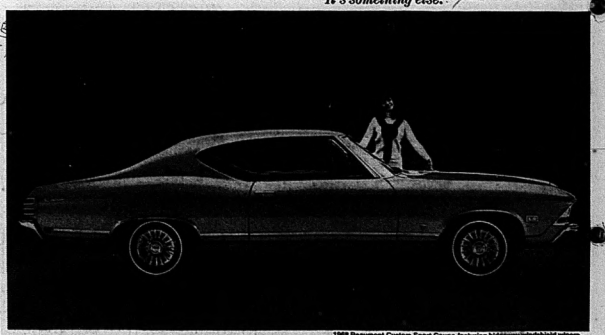
DESERONTO — The final meeting for the year of the Deseronto Public School Board dealt primarily with the report of Principal Ronald Uens. He received permission for three of his requests. The Deseronto Bruins have the approval of the board to play Santa Claus to the school children the day before school closes. The janitor choir will be allowed to visit the Quinte Beach Nursing Home to sing carols to the patients and two afternoons and one evening will be devoted to parent-teacher interviews.

Although nothing definite was accomplished, the proposed new addition took up the major part of the evening. A letter from Paul Anderson, area superintendent of schools, gave a step by step outline of the duties of the board in any building project.



After the regular meeting had been adjourned at 9:30 p.m. the board members went into committee and met two representatives of the firm of Kingston architects which will probably draw up plans for the addition, should one be built. The proposal was thoroughly discussed, with architects offering suggestions, and board members asking questions and voicing opinions.

Whether Deseronto will get the much-needed addition is still a matter of conjecture, as so much depends on what the town must face when and if the OWRC proposal for sewage and disposal plant is received.

South Vietnamese Win Battle in Delta

SAIGON (AP) — South Vietnamese soldiers fighting in the heat and mud of the Mekong Delta badly mauled a Viet Cong force of about 1,500 men and won the greatest one-day battle of the delta war, military headquarters said today.

The battle against three Viet Cong battalions began Friday morning and cost the Viet Cong 305 dead before the day was out.

During the night, the Viet Cong slipped from the battlefield in small units but after sunrise today returned to fight pursuing South Vietnamese rangers.

No casualty figures were available on today's fighting.

Initial battle reports said 60 government soldiers were killed and 182 wounded Friday before the Viet Cong were encircled by armored columns and pinned down after being flushed from the sanctuary of the U-Minh forest 100 miles south of Saigon.

South Vietnamese headquarters reported that many of the Viet Cong bodies found on the battlefield appeared to be those of 13- to 15-year-old boys.

In today's fresh fighting, about six miles from the narrow canal which was the centre of Friday's battle, the Viet Cong were reported holding prepared bunkers hidden beneath banana trees. These were being pounded by bombs and rockets from American and South Vietnamese jets.

The delta fighting climaxed a week of major battle across the country, almost all initiated by southern allied troops in which more than 1,000 Communists have been reported killed since Monday.

The heavier ground operations in the South and the slackening air war in North Vietnam followed the seasonal pattern—the coming of monsoon rains to North Vietnam and the shift to dry weather in the South.

Crash in Andes Takes 67 Lives

HUANUCO, Peru (AP) — Searchers pulled burned and mud-smeared bodies today from jungle underbrush on the rim of the Andes Mountains where a Peruvian airliner crashed in flames Friday, killing everyone aboard. Sixty-seven persons, including four Americans, were believed on the flight.

The Faucett Airlines four-engined DC-6 plowed low into the side of Cerro Copelah mountain near mid-day, about 15 minutes after it took off from Huanuco with a load of holiday weekend passengers bound for the mountain resort of Tingo Maria.

The flight had stopped briefly at Huanuco en route from Lima, 155 miles to the north. Farmers who heard the crash later led police through thick vegetation to the wreckage scattered near a forest highway.

"Most of the bodies were burned and the others completely destroyed," said Col. Carlos Farje Arias, who led the first party to the shattered liner. Identification was difficult, he reported.

There was no explanation for the crash.

A spokesman for Faucett said the plane was believed to have carried 67 persons—six crew members, 45 passengers from Lima and 16 who boarded in Huanuco.

Hooke Is Seen In Five Ways

EDMONTON (CP) — Alberta's Kirby commission inquiry adjourned Friday, its investigation of Welfare Minister A. J. Hooke complete and his counsel at variance in their assessments of him.

Mr. Justice W. J. C. Kirby is not expected to report until summer at earliest.

In their closing submissions, counsel pieced bits of testimony into five different pictures of Mr. Hooke, the white-haired, ruddy-faced former schoolteacher.

W. B. Gill, counsel for provincial NDP Leader Neil Reimer, showed him as either ignorant or greedy, "caught in a web of his own making."

Progressive Conservative counsel Neil Crawford called him "indiscreet" in his business associations but not at fault in his public duty.

NDP counsel G. S. D. Wright said he may be "a decent man" and "an energetic and able cabinet minister," but he deliberately misled the legislature about his business transactions.

Lorden Maynard, Mr. Hooke's counsel, said the minister's reputation was being attacked solely "for the political gain of his opponents."

Washkansky Shows Signs Of Rejecting New Heart

CAPE TOWN (AP) — Routine tests on Louis Washkansky have shown "some signs which may be interpreted as rejection' of the heart he received in an historic transplant operation, a doctor at Groote Schuur Hospital said today.

At this stage it is no more than a suspicion and further tests are being carried out, said Dr. T. O'Donovan, a member of the transplant team of doctors led by Dr. Christian Barnard.

Dr. Barnard has decided to intensify the treatment to counter the natural tendency of the body to reject the heart because it is a foreign tissue, he said. Doctors had warned this weekend would be a crucial time in the struggle against the rejection.

Earlier, Dr. Barnard said that Washkansky could survive a slight rejection.

Drugs are being used to lessen the body's tendency to reject, but there is a limit to which these can be used because they lower the body's natural resistance to disease.

Dr. Donovan said that clinically Washkansky is in excellent condition.

The patient was given another cobalt treatment today to further combat the possibility of rejection. It involved his second trip out of his sterile room since his badly diseased heart was replaced Sunday with that of a 25-year-old woman who was killed in an auto accident.

Dr. Barnard said Friday that although it would be difficult to estimate when Washkansky could be out of danger, he thought the over-all crucial period might last three months. If improvement continued, however, Dr. Barnard said the patient might be discharged from the hospital in about three weeks.

should rejection of the new heart occur, surgeons said it probably would not be sudden, but take place over a few days.

The chief surgeon's brother, Dr. Marius Barnard, seemed optimistic about Washkansky's chances Friday. He said if his present rate of progress was maintained, the patient should be able to get out of bed next week and sit in a chair. With continued improvement, Washkansky would be allowed in gradual stages to stand and walk, he said.

Woman Has to Get Up To Put Out Cat Burglar

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — A 59-year-old woman was forced out of bed early Friday to let out a cat burglar.

Authorities said Mrs. Lillie Burthard told them she was awakened by a man standing by her bed, asking a mate, for took $23 from her purse and then asked for a key to the rear door, saying he didn't want to climb back out the window by which he entered.

He took the key and disappeared, she said, but returned a few minutes later.

"I can't unlock the door," she quoted him as saying.

"You'll have to get up and let me out."

Arabs Meet to Plan Way to Recoup Losses

CAIRO (AP) — Arab foreign ministers gathered today to start charting a common course on how to oust Israel from Sinai, the west bank of the Jordan River and the Syrian heights, all captured in the six-day June war.

In their three-day parley the ministers were to fix the date and agenda for the Arab summit conference later this month at Rabat, Morocco, and possibly start deciding how to deal with UN peacemaker Gunnar Jarring.

The Swedish diplomat leaves today from the United Nations to set up his headquarters on Cyprus, where he was expected to arrive Sunday. He has a mandate under a Security Council resolution to make the rounds of disputants in the June war in an effort to settle the Arab-Israeli conflict.

The resolution, submitted by Britain and approved unanimously by the 15 council members, calls for eventual withdrawal of Israeli forces from Arab soil and an end to the state of belligerency.

Expectations that Jarring can mediate a settlement, however, are not high.

Informants said Israel holds little hope in Jarring's mission but welcomes it as a breather in the continuing tension.

Egyptian President Nasser has made plain that his regime does not consider Jarring a mediator between the Arabs and Israelis.

Syria, holding to its truculent anti-Israeli line, has predicted Jarring will fail.

Certain to distract the ministers from their main business, meanwhile, is the renewed fighting in Yemen, where ruling Republicans and insurgent Royalists were reported locked in a struggle for control of San'a, the country's capital.

Nationalist Premier and Foreign Minister Mohamed Ahmed Mahgoub said on arrival in Cairo Friday night that the Yemenis must stop fighting and join hands in a patriotic movement to allay potential division in the Arab ranks over Yemen. Mahgoub heads a tripartite committee on Yemen.

Russia Charges Terrorists Try to Overthrow Red State

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union has brought four young intellectuals to trial on charges of being part of an armed terrorist network trying to undermine or overthow the Communist state, informed sources said today.

An informated blackout made independent confirmation of the report impossible, but the sources said the case was regarded as so serious that the Soviet Communist party's ruling Central Committee met secretly to discuss its implications.

With the arrest of the four in Leningrad, the scene of the trial, secret police discovered caches of arms that included machine-guns and grenades, the sources said. A Soviet military officer is suspected of having supplied the weapons, one source said.

The Leningrad group was linked with similar secret groups in the region of the Soviet Ukraine and in the big industrial city of Sverdlovsk in the Ural Mountains, the sources said.

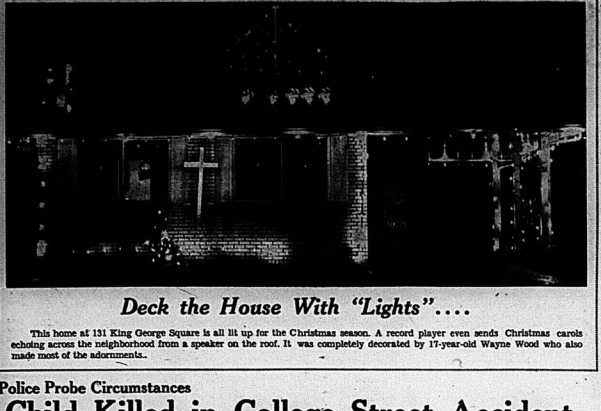
Terrorism against the state carries a possible death penalty in the Soviet Union, but according to the sources' account, the Central Committee apparently decided to recommend the severest penalty short of execution —life imprisonment in a maximum security prison. Two of the defendants are reported to have confessed and the other two have not.

The sources said the trial grew out of the arrest by the secret police last March of 25 intellectuals, professors and students connected with Leningrad University's philosophy department. Of the 25, 11 were reported expelled from the city, locked up in insane asylums or placed under police surveillance.

An anti-Communist emigre group in Paris said last month that the remaining 14 possibly would stand trial by the end of the year. Sources here said the four leaders now before the court are part of the group of 14.

Among those arrested, said the Paris report in the magazine Grani, were literary critics identified as Vaguine, Krillov and Yakhimo and a writer for the Soviet magazine Voprosy Literatury—Problems of Literature. It was not known if any of these persons were among the four on trial.

The report of the Leningrad trial came as the government prepared to open its case Monday against four young writers and editors in what was described as the biggest crackdown on dissent since the Sinyavsky-Daniel trial of 1966.



Sources said they will be charged with anti-Soviet propaganda.

Hope to Make Cos Shrine to Medicine

VANCOUVER (CP) — Two University of British Columbia doctors are playing leading parts in an international scheme to re-establish the Greek island of Cos as the home of world medicine.

Dr. Oscar Sziklai, a forestry faculty pension expert, and Dr. William C. Gibson, a professor of medical history, plan to raise funds for a monument on Cos dedicated to Hippocrates, the father of medicine.

They plan to do this by selling seeds, from the legendary sycamore tree under which Hippocrates is said to have written his books. The seeds are to be sold to physicians around the world.

Dr. Sziklai recently returned from Cos and brought with him a collection of 100 of the seeds. Two pounds more, 500,000 of them, were later shipped to Vancouver.

It was Dr. Gibson who originated the idea of raising the money by sending the seeds to doctors around the world. He said he isn't sure whether the seeds will be allowed to germinate, and replanted sold, or whether the seeds will be encased in plastic for sale.

The movement is planned to build a 1,200-seat lecture theatre, plus restaurant facilities and a hotel on the island, as part of the Hippocrates monument.

Dr. Sziklai said the objective is to raise $50,000 in two years. He estimated the number of doctors in the world at 3,000,000.

Police Probe Circumstances
Child Killed in College Street Accident

Police today were still probing circumstances surrounding the death of an eight-year-old girl — instantly killed by an automobile last night as she walked home along College Street.

Victim of the mishap was Carolyn Campbell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ross Campbell, 62 Lemoine Street.

Police said she had apparently been playing in the College Street area and was walking home when struck by a car driven by Eugene V. Cameron, 53, of 97 Gilbert Street.

The impact threw the girl about 30 feet, knocking her out of her shoes.

Police Inspector Ralph Blatchford said this morning traffic officers are still investigating circumstances surrounding the mishap.

Mr. Cameron was driving home with his wife when the accident happened shortly before six p.m.

Police said Cameron told them he and wife saw a blur, stopped the car, walked back along the road where a child told them: "A little girl's been hit".

Mr. Campbell is a service manager with a major Jeep garage.

Carolyn, who was born in Kingston, attended Parkdale public school.

She leaves two brothers and a sister — David of Toronto, Ross and Barbara, both at home.

Funeral service will be held at the John R. Bush Funeral Home, although no time or date had been set this morning.

It was the second traffic fatality — in as many weeks — this year in Belleville.

Trenton Jobs Decrease

TRENTON — With the end of such seasonal employment as apple-picking, the number of unplaced job applicants at Trenton's Manpower Centre showed a marked increase last month.

The Manpower office registered 532 unemployed males, compared with 395 at the end of October.

Manager J. K. White noted that 217 of the female job-seekers are in the clerical and sales category.

Canal Improvement 'Axed' In Government Cut-backs

TRENTON — A multi-million-dollar improvement program slated for the Trent Canal system has been axed with the other government spending cut-backs announced by Revenue Minister E.J. Benson.

In reply to a question concerning the government's planned $20 million Trent Improvement program from East-Simcoe M.P. Dr. P. B. Rynard, Mr. Benson told the House of Commons the only work to be carried out in the near future would be that deemed necessary to maintain the Trent Canal in proper operating condition.

During 1967, some $2 million was spent on face-lifting work at various locations along the 240-mile-long waterway.

No indication has been given as to whether the federal spending cut-back will affect proposed plans to fence off lock and dam areas to public access, an action reported to be under consideration by the Department of Transport.

Police Investigate $205 Theft

The cash, which police say was taken from an unlocked desk drawer, was the property of the motor vehicle licence bureau, which operates from the Chamber office.

An employee returning to work after lunch hour also discovered a number of motor vehicle registrations and accident permits missing.

No licence plates were taken, police said.

No doors had apparently been forced, and no windows broken.

Thompson to Speak At Dinner in Trenton

TRENTON — Town council has a bone to pick with the newly-formed Hastings-Prince Edward County Health Unit.

In receipt of a September-October report of unit activities at this week's regular council session, members deplored the fact the area body's statement did not break down statistics to show local participation.

For example, the report said total attendance at prenatal clinics was 140, and that 782 attended immunization clinics this year — but inter-county breakdown was given concerning attendance figures.

In the councillors resolved, the health unit, which Trenton joined in July, would be asked to submit details specifically detailing local activities.

A Lucky Couple

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Wellington, R. R. 1, Frankford, arrived home just at the right time early this morning.

When they arrived home shortly after 1:00 a.m. after being away for about 12 hours, they found the mattress in their bedroom ablaze.

Belleville firemen were called to the scene and this morning reported loss was confined to the mattress and to smoke damage.

Sergeant Off to See Wide World

HALIFAX (CP)—Staff Sgt. Basil Piper, 51, is treating himself to a 25,000-mile jaunt around the world to mark his retirement from the army.

After a 26-year military career Sgt. Piper, a bachelor from Kenaston, Sask., is already one of Canada's most widely-travelled soldiers. He has served in or visited 50 countries and travelled an estimated 200,000 miles.

"I suppose you could call me a travel enthusiast," he said here preparing to board a service flight to Germany on the first leg of his retirement trip.

"I have always wanted to see what other countries are made of—how the people really live."

His favorite country is Spain.

Trenton Hydro Rate

TRENTON — Public Utilities Commission chairman Clifford Baker says electricity bills in Trenton will not likely be increased for at least another year.

Despite a six-percent increase announced this week by the Ontario Hydro for electric power charges to all municipalities in the province, local PUC officials predict the commission will be able to absorb the increased power charge for 1968, at least.

Mr. Baker said Trenton's electricity rates have remained unchanged for the past eight years, and are among the lowest in the province.

A NEW WAY TO BEAT BOREDOM

The recent upsurge of interest in music is giving families a new means of recreation and relaxation. This interest has mainly been directed towards the electric organ because of the remarkable ease of learning to play this instrument. In fact, it has been said that a complete neat can be learned in 5 minutes on some home organs.

There is probably no other home purchase which will give so much pleasure to all members of the family. Many people have taught themselves to play by using the new points in struction system and family members of all ages are soon playing their favorite songs.

Modern electric organs are so compact that they take up little more space than a TV set. They are also light in weight and may easily be moved to the rec. room or the party next door. Being transistorized they are virtually maintenance free.

Earphones are available so that one may practice in private or during late hours without disturbing others.

Electric organs are gaining popularity in modern dance band groups which has sparked a demand for organ players. Anyone learning to play an electric organ today will almost certainly enjoy increased popularity in the years ahead.

Drop in at Booth Radio and Television Limited, 170 Front Street and find out just how easy it is to learn to play a Lowrey electric organ. There's also a wide variety of models on display, priced to suit every budget.

Officials Look Over Area

Ratepayers Seek Formation Of Conservation Authority

The Murray Township Ratepayers' Association is seeking to renew interest in the formation of a Lower Trent Valley Conservation Authority and have requested the services of a provincial government official to conduct a survey starting December 12.

Purpose of the survey would be to provide information for preparation of a brief to be presented to civic officials for consideration.

Two Trenton area men who would like to see renewal interest in the Lower Trent revivified are Paul Heimer, R.R. 4 Frankford and William Menzie, R. R. 3 Trenton, both members of the Murray Township Ratepayers' Association.

The Authority would include 17 townships and municipalities, including such centres as Trenton, Frankford, Stirling, Campbellford, Hastings and Brighton. →

The two ratepayers' representatives this week were guests of the Moira River Conservation Authority on a field trip conducted by Authority official James McLeod.

The group inspected the Moira Park near Tweed and Authority forestry projects in the area before going on to inspect the sites of new dams and weirs proposed for the Moira area.

The main objects in the Moira Authority dam construction program are increase summer river flow, decrease pollution and provide a d i t i o n a l recreational spots. A 90 percent ARDA grant has been approved for the long range program.

Formation of a conservation authority requires a 60 per cent vote by municipalities within the watershed.

Mr. Menzies says that farmers and home owners in the Trent area are now contributing to other conservation groups in the province but are receiving no local benefit.

Under Authority projects now underway or completed in other sections of the province, he says land values have increased substantially and thousands of tourists camping at conservation parks are helping to defray costs.

Mr. Heimer says farming in Murray township is in a tragic state.

"Much has to be done to bring the land and rivers back to a productive state. As it is there are only 15 farms that work the land full time," he said.

"Why wait until the lands and rivers give us nothing," he asked.

Maple Syrup Program

Conservation Authority Budget--$258,700

Subject to approval by the Department of Municipal Affairs for winter works subsidy, the Moira River Conservation Authority next spring will publicize the maple syrup industry.

The demonstration project would be mainly for the benefit of school children who would be taken to the sugar bush on weekends to see what syrup making is all about.

In fact the school children would be shown the entire syrup making program right from the gathering of sap in the bush to the final bottling and preparation for market.

Mr. Collins has a sugar bush comprising of approximately 3000 maples.

Under the winter work incentive program, a 75 per cent grant is paid by the government on labor costs.

Authority secretary treasurer James McLeod said the idea was to give school children the opportunity of seeing the syrup making process and also to give the industry a boost in the Quinte district.

At its monthly meeting last week the Authority executive voted to purchase four more tracts of reforestation property totalling 97 acres.

Also approved was making the conservation school at the Vanderwater area available next year to all grade six pupils in the Moira watershed.

A full Authority budget of $258,700 was recommended for 1968 by the executive.

Due to a scheduled start on the proposed Deerock dam reservoir on Partridge Creek north of Flinton, the authority budget is in take for a whopping increase next year.

The authority executive have recommended a 1968 budget of $258,700 on which the local levy to be paid by the 17 member municipalities would be $37,825. An accompanying surplus of $6,000 would reduce next year's local levy to $31,825. This year's local levy was about $18,000.

An ARDA grant of 90 per cent has been approved to cover the major cost of the Deerock dam project.

Santa Bucks Backlog of Calls

With more children than ever to be personally approached before Christmas Santa is still bucking a backlog of telephone calls today.

The jolly gentleman last night had hoped to complete all his calls to Belleville youngsters last night.

The cheerful chore must be done single-handed and with more girls and boys every year, it just takes that much longer, say reports from Santa's headquarters.

So much so, he now has to extend the service into next week for those Belleville youngsters still waiting to hear from him.

Barn Burns Near Minto, 70 Hogs, Prize Bull Lost

The barn of Stanley Thompson, 6th concession Rawdon township near Minto, together with 70 hogs, a registered bull and a large quantity of hay, was destroyed by fire late yesterday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Thompson had been away to a funeral and had been home about five minutes when Mrs. Thompson looked out the window and discovered the barn afire.

Mr. Thompson had time only to save his herd of milking cows before the cliffre structure was a blazing inferno.

Had it had been five minutes later I couldn't have saved the cattle." Mr. Thompson told Rawdon fire chief Malcolm Mason.

A nearby machine shed and new loafing barn and milking parlor built last summer were saved from the fire.

Firemen kept the machine shed roof wetted down, while the steel roof of the loafing barn lessened the danger from flying sparks.

'Green Light' For Regional Jail

After months of discussions and review of plans in an effort to cut overall costs, it appears that the proposed four county regional jail at Napanee is finally to get the green light.

This week at Hastings county council Rawdon Reeve Fred Beckett, chairman of the regional jails committee said that options on the site property were being taken up and that the Ontario Department of Reform Institutions had now approved of revised plans.

Mr. Beckett said that the architects were now authorized to proceed with the preparation of detailed drawings.

Originally costs of the regional jail were to be shared 50 per cent by the provincial government with the remaining 50 per cent to be paid by the four participating counties along with Kingston and Belleville.

The regional jail will serve the counties of Hastings, Prince Edward, Lennox and Addington and Frontenac.

Divorce in Canada

It makes monotonous reading — The Canada Gazette's list of divorce applications to the Senate from Quebec and Newfoundland which do not have their own divorce courts.

In a country where three of every five marriages — a high proportion of them among teenagers — fail, The Canada Gazette bears the bad tidings from Quebec and Newfoundland weekly, along with other matters of federal interest ranging from incorporating of charters and letters patent to bankruptcy.

The issue of December 2 lists no fewer than 21 applications. In each there is only the one ground for divorce, adultery, a situation peculiar to this country and symbolic of the archaic thinking that still characterizes our laws.

However, with divorce reform legislation currently before parliament, the barbaric concept of marital separation being achieved only on the ground of adultery will soon end.

The new legislation embodies in part the concept of marital breakdown as well as a number of new specific grounds for divorce. This is as it should be. At the same time we cannot help but deplore the spiritual impoverishment that seems to overtake so many within a short time of marriage and leads down the rocky road to divorce.

The 21 applications in The Canada Gazette of December 2 are from Quebec and Newfoundland alone. Scores of others in Canada at large are going through the Courts in the ordinary way.

Of the 21 above, the wife is the aggrieved person in 16 cases. Most of the couples are professional people, with the wife supporting herself. In the case of one couple she have separated the wife is living in England and the husband in Montreal. But wherever they may be living, the parties in these divorce actions have one poignant factor in common. They are perhaps more alone now than they ever were.

Inner Strife

It is said the problems of the world are the problems of the spirit.

If you do not believe that, consider that there are drugs which control all manner of physical ailments from measles to a new one being used with encouraging results in cases of rheumatoid arthritis, but none as yet to counter the pangs of severe mental distress associated with failure, separation, divorce and the like.

True, there are tranquillizers, sedatives and other drugs in the same category, but while these have a soothing effect on frayed nerves and in cases of hypertension they do not eliminate the underlying maladies that cause them.

The experience of Californians lends credence to this premise. To one degree or another it is also the experience of society at large in today's pressure-filled world.

Dr. Lester Breslow, head of California's public health department says there is a strong link between divorce and alcoholism, insanity, suicide and illness.

"The death and illness rate of divorced men in California, even about half the marriages break up, is about twice as high as among married men. However, Dr. Breslow is unable to say whether illness breaks up the marriages or whether divorce causes illness later. It would not be surprising though if the latter were the case.

Another interesting point made by Dr. Breslow is that women seem to be less affected by divorce than men. This alone would be a fascinating subject for research. The California divorce rate incidentally is twice the U.S. national average.

A Sloppy Lot

U.S. Secretary of the Interior Stewart Udall's comment on junkyards, foul air, polluted water and unsightly advertising (quoted in today's Ottawa Offbeat column) is one that should be taken to heart.

Found in its most extreme form in the United States, the same wastefulness, the same devotion to the principle of planned obsolescence without thought of cleaning up the mess that remains may be found in Canada.

If it has not, reached the same depressing level as in the U.S., Mr. Udall's warning is that by further neglect it could do so. For all our parks and conservation areas we are a careless and untidy society when it comes to looking after natural resources.

And from the evidence of broken bottles, candy wrappers and tin cans that despoil everything from green lawns to beaches it can be said we are also a people untutored in a sense of respect for both private and public property.

Let's keep our Canadian outdoors as clean and tidy as possible. And let's begin right here in Belleville.

Can Canada Win Battle of Quality Versus Quantity?

By GREG CONNOLLEY

OTTAWA — Canadians will have to make the decisions quickly if they are going to save the nation from becoming a sad, second-rate copy of the United States.

Stewart Udall, U.S. secretary of the Interior, declares that Canada can still retain the choice and can opt for quality rather than the American choice of quantity.

A blunt, outspoken man, he commented that the cost of industrialization to the American people had been horrifying.

"We have the worst junkyards, the most congestion, the foulest air, the most polluted waters and the most unsightly advertising — in return for material prosperity," Mr. Udall related.

His message, on a recent visit to this country, was simply — "don't copy us."

But a good deal of copying has already gone on in Canada. Pollution of the air in Montreal and Toronto has reached serious proportions.

There is a pollution problem in other Canadian cities too.

Automobile junkyards are seen across the country. Ugly industrial developments and run-down housing are a sorry feature of many urban areas.

Polluted rivers and lakes are all too common in proximity to Canadian cities.

Some corrective action is taken by the provinces but this is not enough. It is obvious that the federal government will have to play a full part in the campaign against pollution, in urban renewal and preservation of natural resources.

There are more and more talks about these problems in the House of Commons but so far little real achievement. The problem of provincial-municipal jurisdiction has often been used as an excuse for lack of federal participation.

The cost of anti-pollution measures to purify the air, the lakes and the rivers will be tremendous, the experts say. Urban renewal will entail the spending of many millions of dollars.

Mr. Udall observes that it will cost the United States some $30 billion in the years ahead to clean up the air and water pollution caused by industrialization.

The problem in Canada is not nearly so severe because of our vast land and much smaller population. Even at that we Canadians apparently have done a pretty fair job of messing up our country.

This spoilage could reach appalling proportions in future years as urbanization increases. The Economic Council advises that the trend to urbanization in Canada will be at a rate greater than in any other major industrial country.

The prediction is that by 1980 about 81 per cent of the total Canadian population will be urban.

Even more startling, it is estimated 60 per cent will be constructed in 25 large city complexes.

If this is the way Canada is going to grow, the necessities for pollution and urban decay must be prevented and not take effect without much more delay.

The alternative would be something close to chaos.

Secretary Udall knows Canada will be wrong if she opts for laissez as the U.S. has done.

"I am suggesting," he said, "that in some ways Canada has a built-in headstart if you will elect to give priority to creating an environment of balance and order and beauty."

Mr. Udall even thought that Canada, with much of its land still unspoilt could become a showpiece of the Western world for the emerging nations.

He was presenting a rosy picture of how it could be in Canada — if Canadians really want it that way.

In the House of Commons and Senate there are speeches and questions about pollution, urban renewal and resource management.

More and more, too, federal attention is turning to urban redevelopment.

But Ottawa moves very slowly as do the provinces and municipalities.

Just below the beautiful Parliament Buildings, the majestic Ottawa River flows down toward the St. Lawrence. It is heavily polluted by industrial and human waste.

The government, the Senators and MPs can't even get this river clean—there is a lack of co-operation in Ontario and particularly Quebec.

That is the measure of the fight to save Canada from the ugly experience of the U.S.

Mr. Udall says we can still do it—perhaps he is an optimist.

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FILES OF BYGONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO

December 9, 1947

Amalgamation of cheese factories with the operation of large units to take advantage of reduced overhead and to channel milk into the most profitable lines was advocated to members of the Hastings County cheese board producers by Roscoe Robson, MPP, for Hastings E. Mr. Robson stated he had given much thought to the matter and considered that four milk factories would be sufficient to handle the milk in the county. Here cheese of all sizes could be manufactured, concentrated milk could be put up, butter could be made and possibly even the field milk market could be entered.

The Optimist Club were privileged to hear an address by Mayor-elect D. L. Storey at their regular bi-monthly meeting held at the Riwani Centre. Mr. Storey outlined to the members his proposed civic program for the coming year and solicited the support of the service clubs in a number of his worthwhile plans.

30 YEARS AGO

Belleville is digging itself out of one of the worst snow storms registered in local weather records during recent years. The storm which raged all day yesterday and in the evening showed little sign of abating and covered the city and district with a two foot fall of level measurement; it paralyzed traffic on main highways in the county roads and drifted to a depth of five and six feet through the northern sections of the county where many small communities were virtually isolated. In the city cars were left snowbound in garages where drifts man high prevented opening the doors. Fifty men, for whom were taken from the relief lists at the city, took up the task of digging the business section out of the heavy drifts in which were deposited automobiles bulked like huge snowballs.

In the provincial contest sponsored by the Literary Society of the Belleville Collegiate Institute which was held in the city hall last evening, the winners were, first, Miss Mary Drummond, who spoke on Scotland, and second, Miss Florence Barber, who chose as her subject The Wonders of Nature. The judges were Miss Robina Templeton, Mrs. J. D. S. Nation and Alan Sprague.

The Belleville City Hockey League was organized last night at a meeting which was held at the YMCA.

Let's Give Santa Claus A Chance

Brockville Recorder and Times

What this country needs is to put Santa Claus back into Christmas says a leading editorial in The United Church Observer. The church journal says "We need an end to the gloss stuff about putting Christ back into Christmas, and less worry about commercialism of the Lord's birthday.

"We need to listen to the children, forget ourselves and share their joy. They can take the myths and the symbols and the legends, and the beautiful wrappings of Christmas, without distorting the story or missing the message of it all. They know that late - century legends are as relevant as first - century myths.

"We ought to put Santa Claus back in front of the altars in our church. We need him in Sunday school beside the Christmas and Seraphim. We should have him on the chancel steps handing out gifts to the people, and breaking the bread and sharing the wine at communion.

"Over - serious parents should be helped to become big children, and sing and play and make - believe with their little children.

"For Christmas is something to sing about and shout about and ring bells about. And the expressions of our joy, Santa with red suit and cotton whiskers and lights and trees and parties . . . Well, listen to the children, they know!"

The Observer continues: "We want to take Santa back from the exploiters of the market - place but without destroying the marketeers or the market - places. We want the evil out, but the good kept in. And let's not fear that when we keep the secular in, the sacred will disappear.

"Santa Claus in the chancel will remind the world that Christmas isn't just for Christian children, and Christmas isn't just for the Christian Church but for God's children everywhere.

"As for children growing up and being disillusioned as the literalists fear, let's not be afraid. Children are smarter than that. Let them believe in the red suits coming down the sooty chimney unmarked by dust. Let them hang their stockings on the mantel, and listen for the tinkle of the sleighbells over the roof - tops and watch for the shadows of the reindeer on the snow.

"And then when Santa Claus has returned to the North Pole for his long winter's night, when the make - believe is all over, and Christmas is gone, the mystery becomes clear, even to little children. They will somehow know that when Spirit inhabits the hearts of men, men are changed for good. And God, who gave us both Christ and Santa Claus, will be in charge of his world."

The Not So Badly Off British

Windsor Star

Despite the seemingly punitive tax level in Great Britain, many people there manage to create substantial estates and to acquire and retain others left to them.

As an example, The Times reports that the estate of the late Lord Whitburg of Ford, formerly chairman of a meat importing and wholesale firm, reached the substantial total of about $5,000,000 in Canadian funds.

Horace John Saywell of Tonbridge, he, too, an agricultural merchant and farmer, left about $250,000, of which almost one half went to the tax collector.

A titled gentleman of Derbyshire, Sir Charles Garonne Reynold, left about $860,000, almost half of which went into Britain's tax coffers. Despite wars and all everywhere, writes an expert on Assyriology in a new book, describing life some 43 centuries ago. Pot-bellied pigs, fossilized about, their open palms following citizens to the grave, and the ancient official who brought the dead to the cemetery had to be paid off with seven pitchers of beer and 420 loaves of bread.' How familiar it all seems, except that today's bureaucrats and tax men do their demanding on paper and the undertakers will take only dollars and use limousines for transport.

Nor is excessive government spending anything new. King Solomon splurged so much on magnificent palaces and on bribes and shrines for his many wives that he bankrupted ancient Israel.

Tax Men Older Than Les Girls?

Brantford Expositor

The further one goes back in history, the clearer it becomes that the world's oldest profession is tax-collecting, followed closely by bureaucracy and undertaking. "Tax collectors junk-ed everywhere," writes an expert on Assyriology in a new book, describing life some 43 centuries ago. Pot-bellied pigs, fossilized about, their open palms following citizens to the grave, and the ancient official who brought the dead to the cemetery had to be paid off with seven pitchers of beer and 420 loaves of bread.' How familiar it all seems, except that today's bureaucrats and tax men do their demanding on paper and the undertakers will take only dollars and use limousines for transport.

Nor is excessive government spending anything new. King Solomon splurged so much on magnificent palaces and on bribes and shrines for his many wives that he bankrupted ancient Israel.

Divided Social Crediters Seek Way Out of Wilderness

By KEN CLARK

OTTAWA (CP)—The divided Social Credit movement obviously needs to become one if it is to regain national prominence.

But there is little in the way of a firm guarantee that unity will be achieved, despite the Nov. 26 conference between the two factions that laid down a blueprint for reunification.

Noticeably absent from the conference were the four members of Parliament of Social Credit proper, from which le Ralliement des Creditistes departed in 1963.

It has become clear since the conference that the success of the unity move will largely depend on the attitude of the Social Credit MPs, including J. H. Patterson, acting leader of the western-based party.

The Social Credit caucus wants to be safe, not sorry, in the unity venture. If the split is healed they want it to last.

If reunification took place, only to be followed by a reprise of the old split, it could accelerate the decline in the movement's federal fortunes.

The reunification blueprint called for joint policy and constitutional discussions early next year followed by a national leadership convention of the united party.

Unity offers the attractive prospect of a 12-member parliamentary group with the addition of the eight Creditistes to the Social Credit caucus. It could result in a potent fourth force in the 265-seat Commons behind the Liberal government, the Conservatives and the NDP.

After the unity conference with a Social Credit delegation headed by national President Herbert Bruch of Victoria, B.C., Creditiste Leader Real Caouette said unity was sure in 1968.

But it is not that simple. The Social Credit caucus regarded the conference as exploratory only. And they are waiting to see how things work out before committing themselves.

Among the things that Howard Johnston (Okanagan-Revelstoke), Bert Leboe (Cariboo), Robert Thompson (Red Deer) and Mr. Patterson (Fraser Valley) must also consider is the effect of the new alliance on their home ridings. Would it improve or worsen their chances for re-election?

Quebec demands for greater autonomy and the separatist scare have produced an anti-French backlash in some parts of English-Canada. An alliance with the Creditistes might crystallize some backlash opinion, even though the Creditistes are strong supporters of a strong and united Canada.

Balanced against possible disadvantages is the fact that no party can have a national image without a strong Quebec branch. And this factor may yet en-large as the strongest influence on the Social Credit MPs on whom the party's national future now hinges.

Funerals and Baptisms Held Same Time in Russian Church

TARASOFFA, U.S.S.R. (CP) — A Russian Orthodox church stands on a hill at the edge of this grey little village. One recent Sunday, a bleak winter day, life and death were solemnized together in that church.

Two elderly villagers who had died were given their final blessing by a painted Orthodox priest, praying in the centre of the church directly beneath the red brick steeple. At the same time, around a baptismal font to the side, groups of parents presented their infants to Christendom.

And for one unforgettable minute, the restless murmur of the children was mixed with the loud crack of a hammer on wood as the coffins were nailed shut.

To wander by chance into the middle of such a tableau, as I did, is to be struck afresh by the tenacity of religion in a nation officially dedicated to militant atheism for the last 50 years.

Religious influence would not be surprising in the remote countryside. But Tarasoffa is only 30 miles from Moscow, where only the old babushkas, grandmothers in long dresses and black kerchiefs, seem to keep up religious practice.

The funeral at Tarasoffa could be readily explained by a willingness on the part of grieving relatives to respect the old peoples' beliefs. But there seemed to be only two possible explanations for the christenings: Either parents were taking out "insurance" against the chance that atheism is wrong, or they believed in the value of the sacrament.

Whatever the explanations, it was a fascinating spectacle. The funeral service filled the middle of the small church in front of the heavily ornamented screen behind which separates the Orthodox altar from the congregation.

The dead villagers, a man and a woman, lay in open, cheaply-made wooden coffins, each watched over by a separate group of mourners holding small lighted candles.

The priest, a severe man in his late 30s with black hair and cold eyes, stood at the head of the coffins and recited from a prayer book, his arms extended from beneath a loose coffin and flowing black robe behind him, a choir of aged women in black chanted the responses in a practised monotone.

The mourners beside the old woman's body seemed of peasant stock, their faces creased and their clothes rough and drab. The dead man's relatives, on the other hand, looked prosperous in warm, well-cut overcoats.

In both parties there was continuous weeping, the women with faces twisted in grief, the men with tears flowing down their cheeks. Only a few young men in each group of mourners remained impassive.

Near the end of the prayers, apples and other fruit were placed inside the woman's coffin and flowers inside the man's. Then, one by one, the relatives bent and kissed the foreheads of the dead.

A fine linen sheet was drawn over the bodies and the priest sprinkled a handful of dry earth onto the cloth. Then the tops of the coffins were hammered into place and the dead were carried outside for burial in the three graves in the yard, on a low hill overlooking the village.

Throughout the funeral, and after it, another priest conducted a lengthy christening service in a side niche. Relatives came and went, edging past the mourners to join those around the baptismal font.

Many of them crossed themselves three times, in the Orthodox manner, before passing in front of the altar screen. One youth in his late teens stopped on his way out, bowed low from the waist toward the altar and crossed himself, then looked around almost defiantly before leaving.

As I left the church, most of the villagers who had been at the funeral were leaving too.

From the front steps of the church, you could watch them blend themselves again and again while they crossed the church yard and went out through an iron gate.

Then they dispersed along the mud paths leading to the scattered wooden homes of Tarasoffa.

Apartheid-backing Church Is Growing in South Africa

JOHANNESBURG (AP) — The Dutch Reform Church, which backs the South African government's policy of apartheid, is gaining members. The Church of England, which is the main fights racial segregation, is losing them.

Other factors figure in church membership, but Rt. Rev. Leslie G. Stradling, Anglican bishop of Johannesburg, says: "The tide of opinion in South Africa is overwhelmingly against in favor of the government."

Recently Anglican lay leaders in Cape Town rejected a proposal to teach that apartheid and racial segregation are morally evil. That drew a compliment from Prime Minister John Vorster.

"This shows how we have progressed," Vorster said.

The defeated Anglican resolution proposed that all confirmation candidates and Sunday school children be taught that separate racial development is morally evil.

Canon C. T. Wood of Cape Town said the genuine Anglican attitude toward apartheid is: "Close as you do such a thing to your fellow man!"

The canon said rejection of the resolution taught the more ardent fighters against apartheid it cannot be defeated by declarations of high moral indignation but only by slow, persistent exposure of suffering attributable to segregation.

"South Africans should have their heads in shame over the deeds of apartheid injustice," he said, "It is impossible to estimate the amount of human suffering caused by government acts of racial legislation against the black man."

Supporting the Anglican Church in varying degrees on racial issues are Methodists, Presbyterians and Roman Catholic worshippers. Differences of opinion arise among them as to the most effective way to meet the growing influence of the pro-Government Dutch Church.

The church is the country's largest with 1,600,000 white adherents. It reports that its white following has grown more than 200,000 in the last 10 years. The Anglican Church reports a white membership roll of 300,000 and a drop of 300,000 white worshippers in the same period.

The Dutch Reform Church also claims the largest colored congregation, more than 450,000. About 500,000 blacks are in this denomination.

FROST — KELLER

TWEED — At Bethesda United Church, White Lake, Betty Marion, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Keller of Crookston became the bride of Clifford Frederick Frost, of Actinolite, son of Fred Frost of Actinolite, and the late Mrs. Frost.

Reverend David Poiter officiated at the recent ceremony. Wedding music was played by Mrs. Reg. Haggerty of Ivanhoe.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a street length dress of white satin with over lace embroidered with silver. She wore a shoulder length veil and carried a bouquet of red roses.

Mrs. LeCroix of Belleville, a sister of the bridegroom, was matron of honor. She was attired in a street length dress of blue satin and lace, with headpiece to match her bouquet of white and blue mums.

Robert Frost of Niagara Falls, U.S.A., a brother of the bridegroom, was best man. The ushers were Lloyd Weagant, brother-in-law of the bride, and Ivan Deline.

At the reception held in the Actinolite Hall, the bride's mother received the guests. She wore an aqua colored crepe and lace dress with black and beige accessories and a corsage of pink carnations. She was assisted by the bridegroom's step-mother, who wore a green wool crepe dress with black accessories and a yellow corsage.

They will make their home in Cobourg.

FULL OF HOT AIR

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Boys and girls at Lynwood elementary school sent 4,100 helium balloons into the air in October as part of a science project. Each balloon had a tag which asked the finder to notify the school. The balloons have been spotted in Idaho, Colorado, and Texas.

White House Aglow for Lynda Bird's Wedding

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson walks his daughter Lynda Bird down the redcarpeted, marble halls of the White House today into the history books as the 14th White House bride.

The presidential mansion was aglow with red and white flowers, ribbons and a Christmas atmosphere for its first wedding in 33 years.

In the gold and white East Room, 240 twinkling white candles sparkled amid an evergreen backdrop in front of the white altar that waited for Lynda, 23, and her bridegroom, Marine Capt. Charles S. Robb, 28, to exchange vows of holy matrimony.

Expected about the 4 p.m. EST wedding had been rehearsed—even the kisses of the bridal couple. But there were scores of last-minute details to be attended to.

The windup wedding-eve dinner dance given by Robb's parents lasted until a bit past midnight Friday night. But it provided the bridal couple with a gay, musical version of a wedding and some of the pitfalls of married life.

Broadway stars Carol Lawrence and Gordon MacRae, dressed in bridal attire, sang excerpts from the musical I Do! I Do! for Lynda's bridal party in the candle-lit atmosphere of a private Georgetown club.

President Johnson, who said he was nervous, like any father of the bride, provided a humorous and sentimental counterpoint to the party that brought tears to Lynda's eyes.

Amid the wedding atmosphere, about 450 reporters, photographers and technicians gathered around the White House. They had come to report the scene—from the 500 wedding guests to the six-foot wedding cake.

The White House was so jammed there was standing room only for the elaborate drama:

—The stairway descent of the bridal party to trumpet music played by the scarlet-coated U.S. Marine Band chamber orchestra.

—25 groomsmen in cutaways, two by two.

—Seven bridesmaids in long ruby red velvet gowns, including Lynda's 20-year-old sister, Luci Nugent, as matron of honor.

—The strains of the Bridal Chorus from Wagner's Lohengrin—Her Cousin the Bride —At the East Room altar, the young bridegroom, a dashing figure in marine dress blue uniform.

—The exchange of diamond-studded gold rings, the promise to love, comfort, honor and keep each other in sickness and in health "until death do us part" at the white-carpeted altar, with a 2½-foot gold cross.

When the Episcopal marriage ceremony from the Book of Common Prayer ends with Rev. Canon Gerald N. McAllister intoning the pronouncement that they are man and wife,' Lynda and Chuck kneel on white satin kneelers for a final blessing.

Then as the Marine Band strikes up Mendelssohn's Wedding March, they take their exit under the arch of gleaming swords, held aloft at the East Room doorway by six of Robb's marine officers.

A bride married at the same spot, in 1908, 83-year-old Alice Roosevelt Longworth, daughter of President Theodore Roosevelt, was invited among the 500 guests. And the list ranged from Supreme Court and cabinet to Lynda's once favored beau, actor George Hamilton.

President and Mrs. Johnson's gift for their daughter and new son-in-law was a nestegg "large-size savings bond."

Typically for Lynda, Lynda and Chuck exchange gifts. He gave her gold and diamond ear-rings and she gave him gold cufflinks, one of them with a locket containing his favorite picture of her.

The speculation grew over where the pair would honeymoon and Hawaii seemed to be favored.

DOLLS AND TEDDY BEARS

". . . so many of today's toys have their roots 50 years ago . . . " — Barbara Emerson.

"Yes, she'll make some little girl happy for Christmas," said the manager of a downtown Belleville store with a department well-stocked with beautiful dolls; dressy, formal dolls, "these are usually gifts to children," cuddly sort of soft babydolls "which the little girls themselves always go for," and miniature adult dolls with their own suitcases filled with doll-clothes, "a great favorite, our best seller during the year, really," and this lifesize little doll that talks and walks.

Life-size dolls stand side by side with life-sized toy animals stuffed to huggable fake fur: tigers, poodle dogs, Pekingese dogs, panda-bears, and we comment on their popularity.

"It's interesting to note," we are told, "that such toys do in fact, emulate from one toy animal to the teddy bear.

"The story goes, that back in 1901, soon after he became President, Theodore Roosevelt sighted a bear guarding her cub while on a hunting trip. The President's protective attitude impressed the President, who was a noted conservationist, and he not only refused to shoot, but ordered all in his party to leave the animal and her family untouched.

"This story had wide-spread publicity and a clever business minded toy manufacturer later brought out the 'teddy bear,' which became an important and standard toy in the lives of generations of children, as well as a conversation symbol.

"And instead of being just a 'pretty doll to look at,' it became an educational toy which could intrigue both the child's interest and imagination by its realistic resemblance to members of the animal world.

"The teddy bear indicated a change in public thinking toward toys all the turn of the century. For it was introduced at a time when child-rearers were beginning to be seen as real creatures, as little people in the making right rather than as plants to be nurtured.

"It was a time when an interest began in what children thought about, rather than what adults thought children thought about; really the beginning of the real-life size toys you see here."

"Of all my dolls, as a young girl I loved my teddy bear best," a Belleville mother recalls, and just the other day, a youthful 17 year-old Jacqueline du Pre, girl cello genius, said in an interview she always travelled with her teddy bear panda.

But as for teddy-bears or dolls, the joy of owning them is not limited to children. A hobby association testifies there are more than 200 adult collectors who own a total of some 5,000 thousand dolls. Many are lent to museums for the public to see.

There are also, numerous doll hospitals in cities through the continent. The peak season for mending dolls and real hearts is from December to February, while the busiest time for doll manufacturers is between March and August. Many doll hospitals lend a hand to grownups who wish to preserve their own dolls for sentiment and treasured memories, often to hand down to grandchildren.

But however a doll is used, as a toy for a puppet or a child, man or a bed-ornament, dolls are always in the spotlight—especially in time for Santa Claus and Holiday time.

Ann Landers
Equal Treatment Cure For Boy's Long Hairdo

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My husband became disgusted with the way our 16-year-old son Rod had been wearing his hair. The boy liked it full on the sides and a lot longer than my husband thought was necessary.

After repeated suggestions that Rod get a haircut (all ignored) my husband decided that after four weeks without a haircut his hair grow long so the boy could see what it looks like. (My husband's hair is very curly, and after four weeks without a haircut he looked as if he was wearing a fright wig.)

Next Monday is parents' night at the high school. This morning Rod asked his dad to please get a haircut before he showed up at school. His dad replied, "My hair doesn't look any worse than yours, but I'll get a haircut tomorrow if you will."

Rod said he wouldn't get a short haircut but he'd let the barber trim off "a couple of inches."

I thought the barber I take I sat with two very attractive, well-groomed gentlemen. I thought I'd let you know how the hair problem was solved in at least one family. — RELIEVED.

DEAR RELIEVED: The solution took a lot of courage. Not every man would or could do it. (I'll bet your husband is self-employed. Most bosses would get up with long curls on a man who is trying to teach his own son a lesson.)

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am 30, attractive, unmarried, successful in business, and have turned down some promising social men who wanted to get better acquainted. Lately, in retrospect I regret my past mistakes but there's no point of crying about that now.

The present crisis is something I need help with. A bachelor, age 40, has been quite attentive for five months. Our vacations fall at exactly the same time. He has asked me to make a trip with him — a cross-country drive, with stops wherever we felt like it, no set itinerary. Of course everything would be strictly on the up and up — separate hotel and motel accommodations and no hanky panky.

At first he mentioned it as a joke and then he became serious. I am beginning to think it's a good idea. I would not sneak out of town with him. He would be perfectly open and above board. What do you think it would do to my reputation I need your advice. — STILL MULLIN.

DEAR STILL: The trip you have in mind would be muddy your reputation without a doubt. While you may mean business about the brotherly-sister act, nobody will believe it, and frankly, your chances for pulling it off are mighty slim. You will find that for every immobile object, there's an irresistible force.

An old fashioned custom called "marriage" would make the trip completely respectable. I wonder why he hasn't thought of it.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: No earth-shaking problem, this one, but I'd like to help a sweet kid who came to work in this office three weeks ago. She's from a small town and probably doesn't know any better. Every day she comes in work dressed as if she's going to a party. She wears beaded dresses, lace, feathers and fur, and I suspect she has shortened someone's cast-off evening gowns. Should I tell her at the risk of hurting her feelings? — BIG Q.

* * *

DEAR BIG: Offer to shop with her for some office-type clothes. The "sweet kid" obviously needs a friend. Be one.

Each Drop Spilled from Cup Meant A Year of Unhappiness

By RALPH and TERRY KOVEL

The marriage cup, or jungfrauenbecher, is an old custom that has been revived in a few cities. The cup, usually of silver, was shaped like a young girl in a full skirt. She held a small cup above her head. The cup could swing in her hands. Wine was poured into the cup and into the silver skirt at a wedding feast.

The bride drank from the cup, the groom from the skirt. Each drop that spilled was a year of unhappiness. This drinking ceremony was popular in Germany during the 18th and early 17th centuries. Many unusual cups were made at this time.

Copies of the early cups appeared about 1850. Copies of the cup are also being made today.

If you are already married, the young-girl's cup can hold cigarettes.

Q. What is a generic painting?

A. Genre or generic pictures depict the life of the times. Usually a family at work or play is shown in detail. These pictures are of great interest to historians.

Q. Is it true that ironstone cups are not marked on the bottom? Is the mark always on the saucer?

A. Some old pottery and porcelain tea sets were marked on the bottom of each piece. Some makers just marked one cup of the 12 in a set. Other makers marked the cup and the saucer. Sometimes neither cup nor saucer was marked. It is very confusing.

Buttons that can tell your views are not new. "Copperheads," the Northerners who sympathized with the southern cause during the Civil War, had a special button with a worn pair, made of slices of the buttered to show their loyalty to the South.

Q. My mother recently cleaned the attic at my great uncle's home. While cleaning, she came across an old book entitled Godey's Lady's Book, Philadelphia 1845." There are many color pictures in the book. Should I remove them for framing or should I keep the book in its present condition?

The bride and groom drank from the marriage cup in a superstitious search for years of happiness. This silver cup is a 19th century version of the jungfrauenbecher.

DO YOU—
—as a husband and father find yourself under the pressure of problems at home and at work?
—as a wife and mother have difficulties in your marriage and with your children;
—as a teen-age boy or girl feel the need for guidance in your relationships or personal life.

Whatever your family or personal problem the Family Counselling Service of Belleville and Hastings County, may be of assistance to you.

Telephone 962-8484. In Trenton phone 392-5797. Your inquiry will be held in the strictest confidence.

A. Altering any antique always changes its value. Sometimes it is necessary to make a change to enjoy the antique. Thousands of Godey prints have been removed from Godey Books and framed as pictures. The colored drawings of the fashions of the period have great appeal.

If you are a serious collector of old books and magazines, an unaltered book is preferred. Framed pictures might help you enjoy your find in a more relaxed manner.

Autistic Child Should Receive Treatment

Dear Doris: Our youngest child, a boy of three, is autistic. He doesn't speak and refuses to feed himself, except finger foods, which he plugs into his mouth all at once.

His attachment to different things varies from week to week and is very strong. He refuses to look directly at any person, including his father and myself. He is a headbanger but only does this in bed. He will usually perform it off on the toilet but will not let me know when he has to go.

He can get very irritable at times and doesn't seem to know what to do with himself. He doesn't make use of play things too well and consequently gets bored and then becomes cranky.

Perhaps some of your readers have had this problem and could offer some constructive advice or relate their experiences over the years. I have many times wished I could discuss it with someone who is in the same boat, so to speak. — He's a Loner.

Dear He's: Autism is also called "childhood schizophrenia". He doesn't relate to people; he does relate to things. Autism is not to be confused with retardation; such a child may be quite bright.

He is simply inaccessible. If he goes on untreated, he is apt to withdraw even more and the condition worsen. With treatment he can definitely be helped.

The catch, for most parents, is that the treatment can best be given in a children's mental hospital, which means parting with him for months, maybe a year. But if you are lucky enough to gain admission for him, do it!

Dear Doris: I thought I loved Jack but now Mac has come along and he is all the things I know are right. Jack is like the bright lights, smoking, drinking, sex. Mac knows God is watching our every move and he has got me back on the right track again.

I want very much to break up with Jack, but how do I do it without hurting him? I tried once before, but he got so mad I thought he was going to hit me. — Wanting to Break Up.

Dear Wanting: Right now you give a lie. Would you let Jack march you up the aisle rather than face his displeasure?

Soften the blow by telling him you have enjoyed the good times you've had together; that you know there is a grand girl waiting for him to find her; that you care about his feelings too much to let him think you love him when you don't.

Though he may rant and rave, you do him a favor by letting him know where he stands.

Confidential to Fifteen: Clean up, paint up, then remember that boys are interested in something besides looks. If you can talk sensibly, dance, skate and play games, you've got the edge over every empty headed pretty face. Not to mention just how interesting all these accomplishments can make life for you!

Confidential to Wondering: You asked for games for a shower, but gave me no envelope, no name, no address to which to send them. Please write in again, and allow me two or three weeks in which to receive your letter and reply to it.

Don't just muddle along. Do something about what's troubling you. A letter to Doris can put you on the way to more Successful Living.

Kitchen Tested Recipes

Unbaked Date Balls

By MARY MOORE

QUESTION: My six-year-old daughter always wants to help me cook. I tasted an unbaked cookie called Date Balls — that I think I could give her to make, but could not get the recipe. —Myrna K.

ANSWER: Yes, I have the recipe. You reminded me of my five-year-old granddaughter Jennifer who really helped me to cook when I was babysitting when my daughter-in-law was expecting a new baby.

UNBAKED DATE BALLS

1 cup small flake cereal (bran or corn flakes)
1 cup finely chopped pitted dates
¼ cup cocoanut — flake or desiccated
2 tbsps. honey
1 tsp. lemon juice
2 tbsps. skim milk powder
Icing Sugar — sifted

In a bowl mix together all ingredients except icing sugar. Sprinkle icing sugar on a plate. Pick up about 1 tbsp. mixture in buttered palms and roll into a ball. Drop in icing sugar, roll to coat. Place on wax paper to set and harden.

Best of luck and congratulations on such a helpful daughter. She must be a delight.

QUESTION: A neighbor handed me a six-quart basket of quinces and I'd like to know what to do with them but do not want to waste them. I will keep them in my refrigerator until I hear from you. — Ella S.

ANSWER: Quinces contain sufficient pectin to jell themselves.

QUINCE JELLY
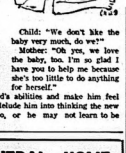
(Most added pectin)

Yield: Eight 4-oz. jars or about five 6-oz. jars.



4 lbs. washed and quartered and trimmed quinces, not cored or pared (ground, these measure 8 cups. You need 20 - 25 quinces)
8 cups water
3¾ cups sugar
¼ cup fresh lemon juice

Wash quinces well, quarter them, trim out any blemishes and put through coarse knife of food grinder. You should have 8 cups ground quinces. Turn into preserving kettle and add water. Bring to boil, cover, reduce heat and simmer 45 min. Strain through jelly bag or towel-lined colander, overnight, with weight on top. Measure juice. You should have 4½ cups. Discard pulp. Turn into large saucepan, add sugar and lemon juice, bring to boil and boil over medium heat until syrup will tend to form a wide drop which is slow to fall. Or test 1 tbsp. on cold saucer in refrigerator to see if it sets softly — if you do this test remove syrup from heat while you are waiting for it to chill. Pour into sterile small jelly glasses, coat with clean melted paraffin, cover and label. This is a beautiful orange blush shade.

Points for Parents

By MARY BRYSON

Mother: "I cuddle and play with the baby when Michael is taking his nap. I don't want him to feel jealous and left out. He doesn't think we pay any attention to the baby."

Child: "We don't like the baby very much, do we?"

Mother: "Oh yes, we love the baby, too. I'm so glad I have you to help me because she's too little to do anything for herself."

Emphasize the older child's abilities and make him feel special and needed, but don't delude him into thinking the new arrival is not cherished too, or he may not learn to be affectionate with her.

Women's Groups Carry on Church Work

DESERONTO — The Presbyterian Church of the Redeemer in Deseronto is now too small to support a full time minister, and ministers of nearby Presbyterian Church serve as intermoderators. Rev. Robert Jones of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church in Picton held his first service in Deseronto last Sunday afternoon. He was particularly impressed by the amount of work being done by this church for children.

Since September when the church re-opened after vacation, services have been taken by Rev. S. W. Gentle of St. Colombo Church in Bellrgrdie. Previous to that for three years the minister was Rev. Garry Morton of Kingston. Until that time student ministers and catechists had conducted the services after the church could no longer support it own minister.

But for the work of an active group of women in the combined Ladies Aid and Missionary Society, the church would probably be closed. The same women also teach the Sunday school of about 35 children. They also have three other organizations for children: The Children of the Church (COC), the Explorers, and a newly-formed CGIT.

The church has only 18 families, with three men in His membership, one in addition to the two elders.

UN Calls for Ban on Nuclear Weapons

UNITED NATIONS (CP) — The UN General Assembly Friday approved a Soviet-inspired resolution calling for a convention to ban the use of all nuclear weapons.

But the other nuclear powers, along with Canada, abstained in the voting which approved the resolution by 77 to none, with 29 abstentions.

The United States, Britain and France have expressed the view that the use of nuclear weapons should be outlawed only in the context of general and complete disarmament under effective international control.

Hugh Faulkner, speaking for Canada when the proposal was debated in the UN political committee last week, said the Canadian delegation "seriously questions the value of such a convention."

Faulkner, Liberal member of Parliament for Peterborough, Ont., said the convention would "serve to enhance merely the illusion rather than the substance of genuine peace and security."

Napanee Rejects Industrial Park

NAPANEE — Napanee Council has rejected a suggestion that it buy 25 or 30 acres of land for an industrial park.

The town's industrial committee, composed of business and professional men- had made the recommendation that ownership of an industrial park "would simplify negotiations with industrial prospects".

Reeve Glenn C. Herrington said, "The park is something we should have, but an official plan is needed before we buy any land."

Napanee Permits By-law Exception

NAPANEE — Napanee made an exception to its building by-laws to grant Evangel Temple, Richard St., a building permit, although the church's pastor, Rev. G. F. Buschert, admitted a new wing would leave less than 25 per cent of the land area required by the by-law.

If the parsonage, adjacent to the church, were removed, the building area in proportion to the lot area would conform to the by-law. Mr. Buschert, after questioning from Reeve Glenn C. Herrington, said the parsonage could be removed in about eight years.

Assessor Alvin Wartman had previously refused to grant a permit and had turned the matter over to council for a decision.

Reeve Herrington felt the situation should be studied by the council-appointed planning board but councillor Donald Holmes said the board only makes recommendations. Council still had to make the final decision, councillor Holmes added.

Only a vote in favor of granting the permit was indicated by a show of hands.

Belleville and District Retarded Children's Association raised $158 at its Christmas meeting for the swimming pool at St Rideau Regional Hospital School in Smiths Falls.

The local association raised its share of the funds for this year with an auction and bake sale at its regular meeting in Elgineers' Hall.

Anglicans Close Thomasburg Church

THOMASBURG — Final disposal of Christ Church (Anglican) Thomasburg, has not yet been determined, it is believed the rectory at Roslin will be sold.

Christ Church closed in October, and the rector, Rev. Virgil Earle, moved to the rectory in Tweed, from the former rectory in Roslin.

The parish of Roslin formerly consisted of St. Paul's Church, Roslin, St. John's Church, Moneymore and Christ Church, Thomasburg. Now, the rector is in charge of the Tweed, Moneymore, Roslin and Sulphite churches and most of the Thomasburg congregation has joined the Roslin congregation. The Sunday School at Thomasburg has joined with Roslin Sunday School.

The Thomasburg church was founded in 1860.

Nixon Asserts Racial 'War-in-making' More Important Than Vietnam Strife

NEW YORK (AP) — Former vice-president Richard M. Nixon asserted Friday that the "war-in-making" between black and white in the United States is more important than the war in Vietnam and if it is not solved," it will not matter what happens in Vietnam."

"The war in Asia," he said at a dinner meeting of the National Association of Manufacturers, "is a limited one with limited means and limited goals. The war at home is a war for survival of a free society. Anything less than total mobilization of our resources would risk defeat."

Nixon called the situation "equally tragic and more complex" than the U.S. civil war and urged the whole country to "think anew and act anew."

The former vice-president has for 1968 that he has spoken out been considered a hawk on Vietnam, but this was the first time since he became an active, but unavowed, seeker of the Republican presidential nomination about the racial problem.

Few, if any, political observers had expected to hear Nixon refer to it as more important than the conflict in Southeast Asia.

Nixon, however, said that extreme urgency existed because "violence in our cities takes on more of the aspects of guerrilla war."

He called instigators of city rioting "guerrilla leaders in the classic pattern. The violent few do not speak for the Negroes, but they are speaking to them every day, planting the seeds of hatred."

Father of Armored Corps Dies

OTTAWA (CP)—Maj.-Gen. F. F. Worthington, acclaimed as the father of the Canadian armored corps, died Friday in the National Defence Medical Centre here. He was 78.

Fighting Frank as he was known was taken to hospital July 30 suffering from an undisclosed ailment. It was later diagnosed as cancer.

He will be buried in Worthington Park at Camp Borden, Ont., at 3 p.m. on Tuesday.

Praskiln Frederick Worthington already had a lively military career behind him when he arrived in Montreal in 1914 to join the Black Watch.

Born in Scotland, Sept. 17, 1889, he was orphaned at 11 and was working as waterboy in a Mexican mine at the age of 12 when he survived a bloody massacre led by the bandit leader Pancho Villa.

He was successively sailor, engineer, gold miner, steward and soldier of fortune in several Central American revolutions before coming to Canada to join up and then over to France in the First World War.

He went overseas as a private and came back as a captain having been decorated four times for bravery and nicknamed Fighting Frank by those who heard of his courageous exploits.

Gen. Worthington joined the permanent army with the rank of captain in 1919 and began his career as a dedicated exponent of tank warfare. He was colonel commandant of the Royal Canadian Armored Corps at the time of h's death.

He had a hand in the design of the Ram tank, which was ordered into production in 1939, but was never used. He claimed the wrong people were asked to build it and it took too long.

Between the wars he was disturbed by the German progress in tank development while little was done in Canada. But he continued to hammer away at his favorite theme.

He commanded Canada's First Armored Brigade in 1940-41 and finally got his way with tank warfare when he was put in command of the First Army Tank Brigade in 1941.

He was promoted to major-general in 1942 and commanded the 4th Canadian Armored Division until it went overseas in 1944. Illness and his age kept him at home.

He was chief of Pacific Command in the last year of the war and chief of Western Command when he retired in 1948. He was made civil defence co-ordinator Camp Borden that he commanded the first armored fighting vehicle training centre in 1939.

Britain in Muddle After Light Snowfall

LONDON (CP) — Accusory fingers — well-mittened against the cold — pointed several ways today while Britain tried to muddle out of a light snowfall.

"It is utterly ridiculous that in this day and age a slight fall of snow can bring road communications to a full stop," fumed an automobile association spokesman.

Spluttered the Bristol Chamber of Commerce: "Ridiculous that with only two or three inches of snow, the city comes to a standstill."

Bristol's 32 snowplows and 12 snowblowers, purchased after a big snowstorm in 1962-63, stayed indoors because, an official explained, they only work in six inches or more of snow.

The test country city was among the worst-hit in Friday's snowfall, with up to three inches — but even London area was chaotic with only one-tenth of an inch.

Thaw and temperatures a degree or two below freezing, had been forecast in weather bulletins Thursday and were due to persist throughout the weekend.

But, as one sardonic newspaper account says: "The effects of a seasonal hazard not unknown in December can be described in only one word: "disastrous."

Peterborough Opposes Health Services Union

PETERBOROUGH (CP) — City and Peterborough County officials also oppose at a meeting in Toronto Dec. 14, a mogg by the Ontario health department to unite health services here with those of four other counties.

The provincial plan is to join the Peterborough County with Haliburton, Victoria, Northumberland and Durham counties.

THE CUSTOMERS ALWAYS RIGHT

Dear Sir: — Did somebody up there in the sanctum sanctorum of the Ontario government goof when they handed out those Centennial Medallions to champion athletes — or did they goof?

I understand they were given to Ontario athletics who won national, international or world championships. That is alright.

But why did the powers that be hand out the awards to some Ontario team champions and totally disregard others?

Right here in Belleville — I am not taking away any credit nor honors from our champions — a three-man team from the Bowling Club was honored —and rightly so. They won an Ontario title.

But so did the Smith Foods peewee hockey players. Why were they not honored? A basketball team from the Kingston area received the medals. Why this air of one and flesh of another?" LDS.

Dear Sir: —You're a bum, a part nut and I think your brains left your head when your hair took off. As a predictor you'd call the sun to rise in the west. I followed your predictions all year and barked them with tangible assets.

As a result I'm reduced to sackcloth and ashes; my income tax is not paid and my credit at the liquor store has been cut off.

Every time I think of you I send a donation to the institution for the mentally retarded. In fact I think I'll reserve a room for you — in the attic. "Disgusted."

(Ed Note: — Dear Mini-Madam: Did you ever hear of sheep jumping a fence? And did you know that the nuttiest of the flock is the second ram or ewe that follows the leader?)

Dear Sir: — Why is it the mere male of the species will totally — well, almost totally — leave a pretty girl or girls swinging down the street garbed in shorts but when a mini-skirted witch comes along they ogle her like a hungry wolf does a fat chicken?

(Ed. note: — I understand the mini-skirt was designed to make the gals appear taller and the men look longer).

Dear Sir: — If you do not mind me making a suggestion, a few friends and I were discussing sports in general and Belleville in particular in a convivial atmosphere the other night.

Someone suggested that this city erect or instal a sports hall of fame for past and present outstanding sportsmen.

The cost, it was suggested, could be met by public subscription or some funds-raising project.

We felt that some permanent memorial should be given to these fine people who played, or were connected with sport in other ways. What is your opinion?

Dear D. E.> — More power to your suggestion.

I'll buy it and support it. I think it is a splendid idea and something that should have been done before.

There is a trophy for the Sportsman of the Year available but it has been in mothballs for the past four or five years.

If you decide to further your idea or take some action on it, please keep this department informed.

Some names that would be entitled to entry in the hall of fame come to mind. You could go back to the turn of the century.

There would be, hockey-wise, Bill Green, Frank "Dutch" Goyer, Harvey Halsey, Bill Cook and who could keep out Bobby Hull.

For versatility in all kinds of sport there is Vern Geyer: In baseball there is Fred Geyer, Carl Scott, Ken Williams, Walt Gerow, Jack Carson, and others.

Lawn bowling could be represented by the late Cliff Argue. Readers who can recall other sports luminaries like rambler-alley-bie for the suggested "Hall" are requested to send in the names to this department.

Winless Jinx Still With Mo-Hawks

By GEO. H. CARVER
Sports Editor

The victory - hungry Mo - hawks continued their starvation diet here last night bowing to the league - leading Kingston Aces 4-2 before nearly 1,500 fans.

The Aces widened their lead in the OHA Senior "A" League to five points with the win. The Mo - Hawks "stayed put" one point out of the cellar spot.

Actually the homesters deserved a better fate. They outshot the Aces 33-28 but failed to capitalize on not a few scoring chances. Their defence was porous at times and the greater part of the "hitting" was done behind the Aces blueline.

Then there was a chap named Perry in the Kingston nets who robbed them time and again. Goalie in the Mo - Hawks net turned in another outstanding performance and could not be blamed for any of the four shots that beat him.

Referee Stan Westfall turned in another inept performance dishing out 15 minors, nine to the Aces. Some of them were borderline, others cheap and not a few weren't called at all.

Two players crashed to the ice with no penalties called. Hec Lalande went head first into the boards and went off for repairs.

Ed Long of the Aces crumpled to the ice late in the third period and was sent to the hospital reportedly suffering from concussion.

Kingston scored the only goal of the first period with the Mo - Hawks tieing it up early in the second. The Aces came back to notch a pair to end the period with a 3-1 lead.

The Mo - Hawks cut the margin to a goal in the first play of the third frame but the Aces got that one back three minutes later to salt away the victory.

Earl, Rawson, Carty and Ferguson were the Ace snipers with Alajas and Sprott drawing two assists, Long, Carty one each.

Minoin Menard and Ralph Plane scored for the Mo-Hawks with Davy Jones, Hec Lalande, Wayne McConnell and Mike Chervesty getting assists.

The Aces drew nine of the fifteen minor penalties handed out. Marchen had four of the Mo-Hawks six.

The first period started the battle of the goalies both

Perry and Junkin kicking out labelled drives. The teams split eight penalties in the frame one proving costly to the Mo-Hawks.

With Marchen doing time, Earl broke the scoring ice with a goal that had luck written all over it. He was checked as he neared Junkin's crease and fell, the puck rolling ahead of him. He thrusu his stick at the puck, touched it and it rolled lazily into the net.

Convery was given the gate early in the second frame and Perry kicked out hot drives from Menard and Jones.

Menard broke down centre ice with Lalande and Jones and took a relay from the feet out. He blasted a hard high drive to a corner that Perry hasn't seen yet.

Burega was sent off at 18.25 and the Mo-Hawks ganged the Aces in a futile effort to eat the lead.

It took the Mo-Hawks just 18 seconds to get back into the hockey game in the third period.

With Burega still doing time, Plane, McConnell and Chervesty sortied in on Perry the former slashing home the puck for the Mo-Hawks final goal.

In a desperate effort to knot the count Jones and Marineau raced through the Aces, gave perfect pass-outs but nobody was there to take them.

Four minutes later Sprott and Carty drove into Mo-Hawk territory. Sprott tobied out a perfect passout to waiting Pete Ferguson and the ex-NHL veteran made no mistake with a hard backhand drive.

Late in the period Plane, a standout for the Mo-Hawks took a pass and went in alone with no one to beat but the goalie. That he failed to do.

The Mo-Hawks trekked to Toronto today where they took on the Marlboros in an afternoon game.

By THE CANADIAN PRESS'

If Niagara Falls Flyers maintain their current injury rate in the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A circuit, they're going to run out of players.

Minus five men before a game Friday night against Kitchener Rangers, the Flyers lost two more by the end of the second period and went down to a 5-2 defeat.

In the night's other game, Tom Martin scored three goals and assisted on another to lead Toronto Marlboros to a 7-2 victory over St. Catharines Black Hawks before 3,373 fans in Toronto.

Niagara Falls' defeat still left the Flyers in first place in the series with 32 points, five more than Montreal Junior Canadiens and Kitchener. Hamilton Red Wings and Toronto are fourth with 26 points apiece.

LEAVES GAME

Defencemen Brad Selwood was the first man to leave the game for the Flyers Friday night and he went out with a bruised leg, leaving only three rearguards.

In the second period, goaltender Phil Myre left the game with a stomach ailment and rookie Dave Tataryn moved into the nets.

The cream of the Ontario Hockey Association senior series played Friday night and rose to the top as usual.

Kingston Aces, Collingwood Kings, Toronto Marlboros and Guelph Regals all scored victories over teams from the bottom half of the series standings.

First-place Kingston downed last-place Mo-Hawks 4-2 and third-place Collingwood bombed Barrie Flyers 7-2. Toronto Marlboros knocked Alcans 6-4 and Guelph edged Oakville Oaks 3-2 to remain in a four-point dead heat for the league lead.

Dave McComb, last year's scoring champion, had three goals and Ralph Kosowski and Ken Robertson got Barrie's goals.

NOTCH VICTORY

Toronto overcame a 3-1 deficit to notch its victory over Woodstock. Bob Forhan spearheaded a four-goal third period for the winners with two goals and Bill Fuller also got two while Carl Hymers and Mike Draper added singles.

Art Sullivan, Gary Sharp and Dave Del Papa shaded the Alcans 'o a 3-1 edge after 20 minutes and rookie Wayne Goetz provided a 4-2 lead after eight minutes of the third period.

The Regals got their victory after 58 seconds of a sudden-death overtime period when playing coach Butch Martin scored the first goal of the game. Rick McClockiin and Terry Oliver got the other Guelph goals and Bob Bishop and Jim O'Brien scored for Oakville.

May Not Sanction Merger

ST. LOUIS (AP)—President Robert Guelker of the U.S. Soccer Football Association says a meeting today between the two rival professional soccer leagues in the United States and Canada probably will not result in sanctioning of a merger agreement.

Guelker emphasized Friday that the meeting between the National Professional Soccer League and the United Soccer Association will be an exploratory one.

"We may come out with some unified agreement or we may come out with boxing gloves," Guelker commented. "I don't think we'll be able to come out and say the (NPSL) have been sanctioned."

Flyers Vault Kings For Western Lead; Habs Lose Cournoyer

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Philadelphia Flyers and Los Angeles Kings continued their seesaw battle for first place in the National Hockey League Western Division Friday night.

And 22-year-old Doug Favell provided the Flyers with some netminding as he racked up his second shutout of the season in a 3-0 victory that vaulted Philadelphia back into first place by a point over the Kings.

Favell handled 24 shots flawlessly as 4,624 fans in the new Los Angeles rink at nearby Long Beach saw the Kings lose the league lead for the second time in a week.

Only veterans John Bower of Toronto Maple Leafs and Gump Worsley of Montreal Canadiens have two shutouts to their credit so far this season.

While the other four teams in the expanded Western division seem to be floundering in their first NHL seasons, the Kings and the Flyers have one thing in common—they chalk in the American League from which to draw reinforcements.

The Flyers purchased Quebec Aces at the start of the season and picked up a lot of Montreal talent while the Kings bought Eddie Shore's Springfield club.

Both teams will be back in action Sunday, Los Angeles at Boston against the Bruins, leaders of the Eastern Division, and the Flyers at home against Chicago Black Hawks.

Tonight it will be Chicago at Montreal, Toronto Maple Leafs, Pittsburgh Penguins at Minnesota North Stars, St. Louis Blues against the Seals in Oakland and New York Rangers against the Red Wings in Detroit.

Howe, who played Thursday against Montreal and made no complaint following the game, was admitted about 10 p.m. Friday suffering stomach cramps and back pains.

No explanation was immediately available with x-rays scheduled today.

The Canadiens, with Worsley, Jean Beliveau and John Ferguson just back in action, also had injury problems Friday. Yvon Cournoyer, their leading scorer, suffered a pulled groin muscle during practice Friday and is expected to miss both weekend games.

Howe Enters Hospital!

DETROIT (CP-AP) — Gordie Howe, 39-year-old star of Detroit Red Wings, has entered a Detroit hospital complaining of back pains and stomach cramps.

The big right winger, possessor of virtually every scoring and longevity record in the National Hockey League, entered hospital Friday night.

X-rays were ordered today by Dr. John Finley, Red Wings team physician, who said Howe rested comfortably through the night.

Manager-coach Sid Abel of the Wings hasn't completely counted his superstar out of tonight's game in Detroit against New York Rangers, but he said he would await the results of the x-rays and other tests before scratching Howe from the lineup.

"Knowing Gordie, he must really have been hurting to go to the hospital like that," a Red Wings spokesman said.

Howe, who played in a 2-2 tie with Montreal Thursday, has 13 goals and 10 assists this year to rank among the top 10 NHL scorers.

In his 22-year NHL career, Howe has scored 662 goals and added 862 assists, for 1,524 points—all league records. He has 65 playoff goals and an NHL record 21 assists.

While there was no indication what is ailing Howe, only Friday the U.S. communicable disease centre at Atlanta, Ga., disclosed that the first outbreaks of influenza for the 1967-68 epidemiologic year had occurred in Michigan.

Approximately 3,000 students were affected at Western Michigan University at Kalamazoo, and a similar illness was reported in Lansing public schools.

Just 12 months ago, Buffalo Bills and Boston Patriots battled for the Eastern Division title, parking Fenway Park with 39,350 fans, the largest Boston crowd in AFL history.

Today only 18,000 were expected to turn out to see the same two teams, a now struggling, as slow-runs.

The Patriots ruled a slim favorite, strengthened by four straight victories over the Bills, including a 23-6 score in Buffalo earlier this year.

The Patriots were set to unveil former Harvard star Bobby Leo in their 1967 home finale. Leo, a fifth-round draft choice after earning All-East honors as a halfback, was released from army duty in midseason, coach Mike Holovak planned to test him as a flanker and on punt and kickoff returns.

37-year-old Babe Parilli was due to ride the bench for Boston. Don Trull, acquired from Houston a few weeks ago, was set to direct the Patriots' attack.

The Bills' John Tracy, a linebacker who had started 101 straight games since Nov. 18, 1962, will miss the game with a pulled leg muscle.

In AFL action Sunday, Kansas City Chiefs meet the Jets at New York, Oakland Raiders are at Houston Oilers and San Diego as usual for the Bills. However, the

Denies Sale Of Eagles

PHILADELPHIA AP) — Jerry Wolman says he still owns Philadelphia Eagles and only bankruptcy could part him from the National Football League club.

Returning from an out-of-town trip Friday night, the 40-year-old builder-sportsman denied a published report that he had sold the Eagles for $14,500,000 to a Philadelphia clothing manufacturer.

He admitted, however, that he was negotiating to refinance the team in order to save his crumbling financial empire. He owns 52 per cent of the club and Earl Foreman, Washington attorney, holds 48 per cent.

Wolman has admitted he is in dire financial trouble caused by "poor planning and a tight money market."

The Philadelphia Bulletin reported Friday that Wolman sold the team to Norman Raab, a local clothing manufacturer.

Wolman answered the report by issuing a statement which said he would never sell the club during his lifetime.

"The embarrassment and abuse by the vultures who have crawled out of the woodwork to break me so they can have an opportunity to purchase the Philadelphia Eagles have made my fight much more difficult," Wolman said.

"I want it clearly understood that Norman Raab is a perfect gentleman and my reference above does not include Norman or his associates."

Wolman, admitted, however, he was talking with a number of people, including Raab, on the possibility of refinancing the Eagles.

"There is a definite possibility that I will refinance the Eagles, but I can't say with whom."

Wolman said recently he had $35,000,000 in assets and $85,000,000 in liabilities.

'Kiss Of Death?'

Packers 7-Point Underdogs To Rams

LOS ANGELES (AP) — It's been quite a while since a Vince Lombardi-coached football team was a seven-point underdog, but Green Bay Packers were in that position today.

The Packers were picked to lose by six or seven points, in facing Los Angeles Rams in today's National Football League game at the Coliseum.

The reason? The Packers have won the Central Division of the NFL while the Rams are battling Baltimore Colts for the title in the Coastal Division.

But Rams fans feared the seven-point advantage given by the odds makers would be the kiss of death.

During Lombardi's nine years with the Packers, the Rams were favored twice in 18 games. In 1958 the Rams were a seven-point choice. They lost 38-20.

Last year the odds favored the Rams by 3½ points. Again they lost, 27-23.

Los Angeles, in the midst of its greatest season ever, sports a 9-1-2 record and trails the Colts, 10-0-1.

For the Rams to win the world championship of professional football, they would have to beat Green Bay and Baltimore to capture the Coastal Division, then beat Green Bay again for the right to meet either Dallas Cowboys, Cleveland Browns or St. Louis Cardinals for the NFL crown.

Then they'd have to beat the American Football League champion.

But the Rams' front defensive four was ready for the Packers. The Fearsome Foursome and three tough linebackers had limited opponents to about 70 yards per game rushing.

"They just sit in that 4-3 defence and defy you to beat them. No tricks, nothing fancy —that's Green Bay."

The Packers' three linebackers often play so close to the line, Green Bay often appears to be playing with seven men on the defensive line.

In Sunday's NFL action, Detroit Lions are in New York against the Giants, the Browns visit St. Louis, Chicago Bears entertain Minnesota Vikings, New Orleans Saints play the Colts at Baltimore, Philadelphia Eagles meet Dallas Cowboys, San Francisco 49ers play the Falcons at Atlanta and Pittsburgh Steelers are host to Washington Redskins.

Bobby Hull's World Of Hockey

By BOBBY HULL

I thought all along that the expansion clubs in the National Hockey League would be better than the experts said. You hesitate to say I told you so, but I didn't hesitate to believe a lot of players in the expansion program had so much to prove that they wouldn't get beat by any 15-0 scores.

We in Chicago, found out, to our embarrassment, that the teams in the new division weren't about to get beat at all. We had the dubious distinction of being the first established team to lose to an expansion representative — Pittsburgh beat us 4-2.

ANDY BATHGATE

This was early in the season and we were, let's face it, hardly the team that finished first in the NHL last winter. We lost five centres in trades and to expansions. Chico Maki, Stan Mikita and Doug Mohns were hurt. Denis DeJordy was not as sharp as he usually is in goal because he missed most of training camp over a contract dispute.

But the Penguins showed they wanted to be respectable by any NHL standards. Ken Schinkel, a 6-foot-2 rangy right wing from Jansen (Sask.), scored three goals against us, the first hat-trick in expansion history.

Schinkel is rising 35, typical of many expansion players, up and down for several years from the minors to the majors. In his case, New York had him on a yo-yo between the Rangers and Baltimore and Springfield in the American League.

Now, given a chance to play regularly in the NHL, Schinkel — he's the key Pittsburgh forward. So will a toughy like Earl Ingarfield from New York, crafty Andy Bathgate from Detroit and Billy Dea, who the Hawks farmed out to Buffalo for several seasons.

Leo Boivin, who has some mileage on him at 35, was hitting and rapping with the puck better than I've ever seen him. He gives Pittsburgh a helluva defence in alliance with Al MacNeil, who landed with the Penguins after stops in Toronto, Montreal, Chicago and New York.

The Penguins, from what I've seen, have an experienced lineup that bears closely to a team in the old section. If Les Binkley from Cleveland and Hugh Bassen from Detroit can do the job in goal, they'll give everybody a lot of trouble.

We only scored two goals on Binkley, so I'd have to say he can do the job.

TODAY'S CUB FOR KIDS: Persistence is the important factor for success in hockey, or anything else. Take Al MacNeil on the Pittsburgh defence. He joined Toronto Maple Leafs in 1953, considered to be a sure-pop pro. But first Leafs, then Canadiens gave up on him. He spent a lot of time in the minors, but the experience didn't blunt his ambition. Al practised longer than most of us after he was traded to Chicago. When the team wasn't working out, he went to the gym to get stronger. He practised shooting, keeping the puck low. It all paid off in a big-league job, which Al held in Chicago and New York for the last six seasons.

Standings in both divisions of the American Hockey League took a shaking Friday night, although the leads remained unchanged.

Stanfield Says Provinces Should Be Consulted on Inflation

OTTAW A—(CP)—Opposition Leader Stanfield said Friday the time is ripe for federal-provincial consultation on spending priorities and anti-inflation measures.

"I say this because the crunch is on this government, the financial crunch is on the provinces," the Conservative skipper said during the Commons budget debate.

Mr. Stanfield said he thought there was a chance now to establish effective federal-provincial consultation aimed at "achieving an appropriate fiscal policy for the country as a whole."

The consultation had to be sincere—and the kind in which Finance Minister Sharp had urged provincial restraint while the federal government was investing them "to embark on a substantial expansion in their expenditures."

This remark and others in the Stanfield speech apparently were aimed at the medical care insurance program due to come into operation next July 1.

Under medical care, the federal government would contribute half the cost of provincial schemes that met certain standards.

Mr. Stanfield said that increasing deficits evidently are ahead for both Ottawa and the provinces.

"Considering our circumstances as they relate to existing programs, we cannot think of introducing any new programs," he added.

The budget debate resumes in the Commons Monday, with a vote scheduled on a Conservative non-confidence motion that describes new tax increases as inflationary and the result of government extravagance.

The motion has also chance of passage, since the NDP already has indicated it won't support it.

An NDP motion saying the government had aimed its tax increases at the poor rather than the rich was crushed 186 to 24 in a vote Thursday night.

Mr. Stanfield raked the government for deliberately creating unemployment, failing to fight inflation effectively, and generally proving "incredible." The government has made a pretence of cutting costs Thursday night through Revenue Minister Benson's 51-point list. The Benson speech was unprecedented in 700 years of parliamentary history, Mr. Stanfield said.

Finance Minister Sharp replied with a tough speech, although he said Mr. Stanfield recognized some problems the government faced in the field of federal-provincial relations.

Colin Cameron (NDP—Nanaimo-Cowichan-The Islands) said both Liberals and Conservatives were guilty of "economic imbecility" in allowing $2,000,000,000 in bond issues to fall due for redemption in 1968.

Refunding this amount would be one of Mr. Sharp's major problems, the NDP critic said.

Mental Image of Lepers Dying From Hunger Prompted Leger to Quit Montreal for Africa

MONTREAL (CP) — A sudden mental image of lepers dying of hunger was the "end of the world" for Paul-Emile Cardinal Leger, who is forsaking his eminent post and seeking a humble missionary role in Africa.

The cardinal—preparing to leave Monday—has sketched movingly, the factors that led him to resign as archbishop of Montreal, second largest Roman Catholic see in North America, and embark on the "African vocation" at the age of 63.

The sufferings of the underdeveloped "third world," the bewilderment of the young generation, the trials in the world and in the church, the collapse of faith and the need for deeds rather than words were cited by the prelate.

In the past, the fiery churchman has thundered against vice and the "sulphuric odor of Hell". He was all gentleness and gentleness in a farewell television appearance here.

Describing his decision as a call from God, he traced its origin to a sleepless night when he turned away the time with a magazine.

"On the bottom of the page there was a picture of lepers who ask alms for lepers dying of hunger."

"Well," I said, 'that's the end of the world. To be a leper and . . . .

He discounted a suggestion that his departure would be a dangerous loss to progressive elements in the church at a time of reform and ecumenism.

"The time has come to go from words to action," he said earlier. "I wish to dedicate the few years allotted to me to giving spiritual and material assistance to the lepers. . . ."

Church officials say the Montreal archdiocese, with nearly 1,500,000 Roman Catholics, is next in size to Chicago in North America and the biggest in the Commonwealth.

Often praised for simplicity, priests mentioned his firm idea about the dignity of his office.

"No one ever lives here in the Archbishop," said one aide "But he has the gift of meeting simple people on even terms."

The prelate said he has always longed for the missionary life. He served six years in Japan until 1939, then did parish work before being made rector of the Canadian College in Rome in 1947.

The son of a village storekeeper, he was elevated to the Sacred College of Cardinals in 1953 at 48 years of age—one of the youngest cardinals. That was three years after being named Archbishop of Montreal. A tour of leper colonies in African countries at the end of 1963 and beginning of 1964 was destined to be a watershed in his life. He went to 11 countries.

Fellow-travellers tell of the immense impact of the lepers' plight on the cardinal. Particularly remembered was a scene in Cameroon, when the prelate was surrounded by 1,000 lepers.

A suggestion that his mission resembles that of the late Albert Schweitzer caused Cardinal Leger to speak feelingly of the plight of the "third world," whose poverty-stricken people are caught in an "infernal circle." He said:

"They cannot work because they are weak; they are weak because they cannot eat; they cannot eat because they cannot work. . . .

"The world is built in such a way that the rich people are always getting richer and the poor, poorer. We have to stop that . . . We will be judged by man at the tribunal of history. . . . The only way of doing something—a drop in the sea—is to go myself."

He hopes to have six months to a year to settle down in Africa and did not know yet exactly where his work will be. It is expected, however, to be in one of the French-language countries of West Africa.

Johnson Explains Quebec's Problems On European Radio

PARIS (Reuters) — Quebec Premier Johnson said Friday his province wants a new constitution that recognizes the existence of a "French-Canadian nation."

He said in a radio interview here unless the federal government accepts equality within a reasonable period Quebec independence is inevitable.

Johnson told the commercial Radio Luxembourg that many of his "compatriots" are ready to sacrifice the "French-Canadian nation" to save Confederation.'

"On the contrary, I say that we absolutely must work not only for the survival but also for the expansion of the French-Canadian nation, even at the price of the Confederation." He said.

". . . What we want is a new constitution which will recognize the French-Canadian nation as an entity. . . . In fact, we are not very far from that theory of sovereignty and an economic union."

Johnson said everyone in Quebec resents the present constitution "which explains why we have the separatists."

"Unless they (the federal government) accept equality, within a reasonable period, the independence will become inevitable. That is not an ultimatum. It is an affirmation of the trend of the forces of history."

Asked whether Quebec could become an independent state, Johnson said nothing is impossible.

"But I do not, for my part, believe that this would be the best solution at the moment. We must on the contrary, under the mandate we have received from the last election, apply ourselves to the very positive means to obtain a new alliance with the rest of Canada, and if we fail the electorate will judge us and the electorate will choose."

QS France-Quebec co-operation, Johnson said, is firmly in favor of developing exchanges between his province and France. He added that Quebec cannot expect France to furnish all the capital the province needs.

Neo-Nazi Draw Red Protest

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet government has again issued a sharp protest against what it called a dangerous growth of a neo-Nazi activity in West Germany.

A statement delivered to diplomats of West Germany, the United States, Britain and France on Friday demanded "resolute steps" to prevent revival of German Nazism.

It said last month's Hannover congress of the National Democrats was "an impudent demonstration staged by the followers of German fascism."

The statement charged that neo-Nazis went to the congress and tried to "rehabilitate the crimes of Hitlerism."

Kingston Firm Given Contract For New Bridge

The Glen Lawrence Construction Company Ltd. of Kingston has been awarded the contract for construction of a new Dundas Bridge over the York River east of Bancroft.

The contract, for $296,102, is for grading drainage and granular base on one-and-a-half miles of secondary highway No. 500 and also for construction of the new bridge.

Work is scheduled to get underway by May 1, 1968.

Clarke T. Rollins, MPP for Hastings has also announced that tenders will be called for structure approaches at the Marysville Creek Bridge on No. 2 highway west of Marysville, and also for minor repairs on the Salmon River Bridge and the Moira River Bridge, both on highway 401.

Toronto Man Found to Be Leper

TORONTO (CP) — A man who went to suburban Scarborough General Hospital with a hand injury has been found to have leprosy, it was reported Friday.

But an expert on the disease said people who have been in contact with the man, who reportedly came from Trinidad-Tobago 15 years ago, do not have to worry.

Dr. A. L. Hudson, assistant professor of medicine in dermatology at the University of Saskatchewan and consultant to Ontario government for leprosy, said he also reviewed the man's case.

It would be most improbable that a person who has been in contact with the patient in the last two or three years had contracted the disease.

Dr. Hudson said his wife has been using a hand-made bookmark that a leper made for her years ago.

There are about 20 other persons in Metropolitan Toronto under treatment for leprosy. Canada's lepers are all immigrants from areas where the disease is common, such as Africa, Asia and South America.

The latest victim asked doctors not to release his name for fear the publicity would adversely affect his wife and daughter.

Dr. Terrence W. Fox, an internal medicine specialist on the hospital's consulting staff, said the man has been placed in isolation.

"We don't feel this case is contagious, but we have isolated him to allay any possible concern on the part of other patients or staff."

Dr. Hudson said treatment will begin immediately. Skin samples will be taken of the man's wife and child. Other persons recently chonected with him will be examined.

A general practitioner was on duty when the patient, a construction worker, entered the emergency wing of the hospital with an injured finger. The damage to the finger was greater than would be normal from a minor accident because of the poor condition of the diseased bone.

The doctor on duty phoned Dr. Fox, who noted the man's strange finger condition. Dr. Fox, half-jokingly, suggested the man might have leprosy. Tests later confirmed the diagnosis.

J. J. Trudeau Given Plaque For Top Sales

For the third consecutive year Trudeau Equipment of 1810 St. Laurent Blvd., Ottawa, have been awarded a top sales award for Canada.

J. J. Trudeau of Belleville and president of the company, received the plaque for their "Top Wheel Loader Dealer" at a construction equipment show in Scottsdale, Arizona.

Decisions for Canada Will Be Made in U. S.

LONDON (CP) — A long article in The Times Literary Supplement, surveying the course of Canadian history, concludes that "the vital decisions for Canada, as for Britain, will continue to be made in Washington."

"Canada has been and remains incapable of providing for the military and naval establishments required to defend her essential interests," says the unsigned article.

"Inevitably, Washington is bound to regard Canada's shores as simply northern extensions of the Atlantic and Pacific coastlines of the United States, and there is little that Canadians can do about it."

The supplement is a weekly Times publication devoted mainly to anonymous book reviews.

Though painful, this process is "altogether wholesome if it eliminates further official rhetoric in regard to her unique role as professional Flower Child on the international stage."

Nursing Home "Open House"

DESERONTO— Quinte Beach Nursing Home, which opened its first patient June 22, held "open house" recently, and between 250 and 300 people from the immediate area, and from Picton, Trenton, Belleville, Napanee and Kingston took advantage of the opportunity to inspect all parts of the 40-bed institution.

Receiving the guests were the owners, Mr. and Mrs. Herb Sweetnam and members of their family: their son John, Mrs. Sweetnam's mother, Mrs. Miss Carol, and Mrs. Sweetnam's mother, Mrs. Maude Fisher of Kingston, a graduate nurse who visits the home almost daily.

There were many favorable comments on the lovely new nursing home which at times is filled to capacity with patients and there are 37 patients. There are rooms for one, two, three or four patients. The former well-known dining room of the Quinte Beach Hotel is now a patient dining room, and the former lobby is now a large bedroom.

During the "open house", the 18 member of the staff conducted the guests in groups to every part of the building, pointing out the precautions taken to prevent fires or to check fires spreading. Fire resistant paints and varnishes have been used throughout and fire doors, curtains and carpets. There is a fire detector in every room. The nursing home was recommended to follow specifications of the fire marshal, and has been inspected and approved.

The home has its own water supply, a sewer-lagoon well, and its own sewage system, a series of septic tanks. Mrs. Sweetnam is a graduate in dietetics, and Mrs. Ruth Roosenblath, the cook, has years of experience "in" and "out" of homes.

Mr. and Mrs. Sweetnam are no strangers to this district as Mr. Sweetnam was mayor of Deseronto for eight years.

To Your Good Health

Protein Diet Keeps Blood Sugar Even

By Dr. Joseph G. Molner

Dear Dr. Molner: I had tests that show I have low blood sugar. My doctor put me on a high protein, l o w carbohydrate diet. He didn't explain what this would do and I forgot to ask him.

It seems to me I would need more carbohydrate to bring up the low blood sugar. After 2½ days on the diet I don't feel much change. — O. J.

Your doctor is absolutely correct. His advice may not sound logical, but it is.

You use up your blood sugar a bit faster than normal, so you have these periods when the level temporarily slides too low. Then you encounter any of the various symptoms — faintness, sudden sweats, vertigo or other such annoying things. (Not all people have the same combination of symptoms.)

The actual sugar content of the blood is important, of course, but the rate at which it changes also makes a difference. With a slow decline, your liver can release enough sugar, material which promptly is converted into blood sugar. With a rapid decline, you have the symptoms before the liver has time to do this for you.

See what happens if you eat sugar at such a time — or eat carbohydrates in the form of starches, which also quickly convert to sugar?

Why, you get an immediate rise in blood sugar. But at the same time this sudden supply of sugar incites the pancreas to liberate more insulin which in turn uses up sugar rapidly. Thus the sugar level goes up and down like a roller coaster.

When your doctor prescribes a high protein diet instead, he did so because protein can be turned into sugar by your system, but it takes time. The sugar produced from the protein is released into the blood slowly and over a considerable time.

This gradual (rather than abrupt) release of sugar keeps the blood sugar up to a comfortable level, without appearing in the sudden way which stirs up insulin production.

Thus you iron out the hills and valleys — you avoid the sudden, sharp dips which cause most of the discomfort.

Two and a half days is hardly enough to get you in comfortable sugar balance, but a few days should begin to show results. You should then be welcoming the results of your new diet by the time you see this explanation.

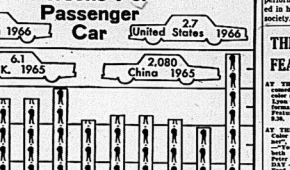
Dear Dr. Molner: At a bridal shower the girls had a discussion about sex — and of course pregnancies.

We said women are more susceptible to pregnancy during their menstrual cycle, more so than at any other time. Is this true? I had always believed the opposite. — Mrs. W. R. E.



Let's get straightened out on terms, which is probably the cause of your confusion. The menstrual cycle means the entire month, from the beginning of one period to the beginning of the next one. I suspect you are confusing "cycle" and "period."

Pregnancy is most likely at approximately the mid - cycle, that is, roughly halfway between periods, because that is when one of the ovaries releases an ovum to be fertilized. This is usually from the 12th to the 16th day of the cycle.

Dear Dr. Molner: How many calories in a one-pound, four ounces rock cornish game hen, roasted? I have looked everywhere and cannot find it on the charts. — Mrs. E. F.

Guess it isn't there. Dressed squab runs about 570 calories per pound; roasting chickens, ready to cook, are figured at 730 calories per pound. Cornish hen probably is between these two figures, depending on the amount of refuse — bone, etc. — and amount of fat.

These figures produce a national estimate of 3.7 per car, with Newfoundland highest with 6.9 passengers per car. Internationally, the U.S. is lowest with 2.7, opposite direction China which had a 1965 estimate of 2,080 persons per car. The United Kingdom has 6.1 persons per car, a figure higher than in any part of Canada other than Newfoundland, the Yukon and Northwest Territories. Figures are contained in a report issued by the Motor Vehicle Manufacturers' Association.

Bad Weeds Grow Fast; Spraying Gear Outdated

Harry M. Coulter, county weed inspector, told county councillors this week that the greater distance between the roadway fences are now almost out of reach of presently owned spraying equipment.

And the problem is further compounded by the fact that the new rights of way are an ideal sprouting spot for weeds.

Weed control along county roads cost just under $1.00 this year, but new wider roadways will result in more spraying next year and so the above costs could double.

Mr. Coulter said that privately owned sprayers were becoming more numerous each year as farmers realized the benefits of spraying field crops and pastures.

Poisonous poison ivy was sprayed this year in parks, but the main weed problems encountered by the weed inspector stem from vacant lots and farm with chickory, ragweed, wild carrot still being the most troublesome.

Church Service Conducted As In Egypt

NAPANEE — The first part of the evening service in the Free Methodist Church last Sunday was patterned after a similar service in one of the many churches which this church has in Egypt. Stuart McConnell, who conducted it, and Mrs. Allan Gregg, were in authentic Egyptian dress, brought from Egypt by Mr. Gregg's mother when he was in the armed services there.

As in Egypt, men and women sat on separate sides of the church. As women are not allowed to use their voices in church, they could not take part in the singing.

The minister pointed out in his sermon that while customs may vary, in churches in different lands, it is the same gospel which they teach.

Automobile Accident — $400 Damage

Police said Thomas H. Shattraw, 37, of R. R. 1, Corbyville, turned too sharply at the intersection of Station Street and Cannifton Road and hit a hydro pole.

The result: Mrs. Shattraw was treated at Belleville General Hospital for cuts and bruises; there was $400. damage to the car — and police charged Shattraw with careless driving.

Stanfield Erases Last Doubt He Can Handle Self in Fight

OTTAWA (CP) — If there were any lingering doubts that Robert Stanfield could put on a fighting performance in Parliament, he erased them with a flourish Friday.

His aroused Conservative followers pounded their desks with gleeful enthusiasm as their new chieftain ripped the government with biting criticism and squelched Liberal hecklers with telling rejoinders.

"He's proved himself," said one veteran Conservative. The happy faces all along the official Opposition's benches left no doubt that the feeling in the party was unanimous.

Many MPs from all parties had wondered how the 53-year-old leader, whose parliamentary experience was limited to the Nova Scotia legislature, would make out in the federal major league where the going might be tougher. Elected leader last Sept. 9, Mr. Stanfield took his Commons seat Nov. 15.

He had acquitted himself creditably in earlier interventions in Commons debates, but on Friday he set the political heather ablaze with withering criticism of government financing.

To one veteran MP, be not only bound the Conservatives more tightly together but he changed the whole tone of his Parliament.

Another remarked that nine cabinet ministers, an unusually high number, sat through the speech and that five tried to show Mr. Stanfield off stride by heckling.

Another suggested the speech represented two plusses. First Mr. Stanfield more than held his own at the "high-school debating level of the Liberals." Second, he demonstrated that the government was perpetrating a fraud on the public in Finance Minister Sharp's Nov. 30 budget and in Revenue Minister Benson's catalogue Thursday night of reductions in government spending estimates for the 1968-69 fiscal year beginning next April 1.

Mr. Stanfield termed the budget "nothing but an exercise in public relations at the expense of the people of Canada."

As for Mr. Benson's list of spending reductions, "I have known governments to make silly claims . . . but I have never seen anything to equal this."

Normally, governments cut departmental spending estimates before they're made public. "This is the first time in history a democratic government has ever felt itself so desperate that it has to boast about the cuts that it was making in the request for expenditures being made by departments."

As for both ministers, "I do not mind" them "making themselves look ridiculous but I do mind when in their official positions they make this country look ridiculous."

Liberal backbenchers were not impressed with Mr. Stanfield's speech. He didn't really say anything, was their assessment.

OPP Urge Motorists to Use Courtesy

NAPANEE — "Make every week in the year your safe driving week," urges the Napanee detachment of the Ontario Provincial Police in its news release during safe driving week. Courtesy is the key to safe driving, it is pointed out, adding that courtesy is contagious and will spread to other drivers if it is practised. "Moreover, courtesy is cheap. It costs nothing to be courteous. It costs plentyito be involved in an accident. Slow down and save a life."

It was reported that there were 13 motor vehicle accidents with property damage only, and Raymond Kashowski of Westbrook, and Lawrence George City of Belleville, hospitalized as the result of the other two accidents.

Investigations were carried out, also, in one robbery, three thefts, one break and enter and two disturbances.

Building, Farm, Labor Officials Irked

TORONTO (CP) — Construction, agriculture and labor officials united Friday in criticizing various aspects of federal government spending cuts announced Thursday night by Revenue Minister Benson.

Harold Tanenbaum, chairman of the Canadian Institute of Steel Construction, said it is wrong for the government to use construction as a whipping boy in its fight against inflation.

J. D. Warrington, president of the Toronto Construction Association, said the industry is already well under capacity and needs new projects to bring life back into the field.

"Our volume this year is down from 1966 and Mr. Benson's action will only accelerate the slowdown in the industry."

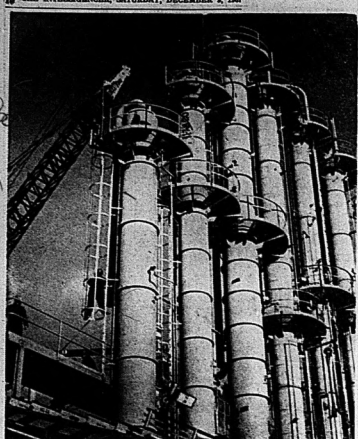
David Kirk, executive secretary of the Federation of Agriculture, said it does "not make a lot of sense" to reduce government subsidies for premium cheese, hog and lamb production.

William Langdon of the Ontario Farmers' Union said the cuts make farmers the scapegoat.

"All in all, cuts in premium payments seem a cheap trick for all they're going to save."

Stan Down, former OFU director, described the cuts as nothing less than a move "to put the farmer out of business."

"We are expected to compete with the U.S. farmer who exports to Canada, yet they are receiving one-third of their income from the U.S. government while we get less than five per cent of our income from the Canadian government."



Donald Montgomery, president of the Toronto and District Labor Council, said the cuts will save taxpayers little and will cause a great deal of hardship.

David Archer, president of the Ontario Federation of Labor, said the cuts repeated a conservative businessman's approach to economic problems facing Canada.

"I can't see how putting people out of work is going to help the economy.

"They are cutting down on public works and services that would help productivity."

October Exports Climb

OTTAWA (CP) — Exports spurted ahead in October to increase Canada's trade surplus for the first 10 months of this year to $343,000,000, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics reported Friday.

This compared with a trade surplus of $185,000,000 in the 10-month period last year.

In the January-October period, exports increased 11.1 per cent to $9,354,900,000 this year from $8,423,800,000 in 1966 while imports rose 9.4 per cent to $9,011,900,000 this year from $8,238,800 last year.

In October, there was a surplus of $82,900,000 compared with a deficit of $35,000,000 in the month last year. Exports jumped 11.8 per cent to $1,007,300,000 from $900,600,000 while imports fell 1.3 per cent to $924,300,000 from $936,200,000.

Employment News

By J. R. Stavely
Manpower Counsellor

In recent years, it has become increasingly apparent that the Canadian labor force is becoming more complex and sophisticated. The labor force of the Belleville Canada Manpower Centre area, consisting of some 2,250 square miles, is no exception.

Employers are seeking persons not only possessing the education and skills to meet present job requirements, but also with the potential to cope adequately with industry's future demands and with the qualifications to compete successfully for promotion opportunities in their chosen fields.

At the present time, persons without the necessary qualifications are finding employment prospects limited.

In recognition of this situation, and with the co-operation of Secondary School Vocational Guidance Teachers, several manpower counsellors of the Canada Manpower Centre have been visiting local Secondary Schools recently to give factual talks on the modern world of work to high school students taking arts and science, business and commerce, and the science, trade and technology courses.

It is hoped these talks given by experienced manpower counsellors will provide additional assistance to secondary school students in choosing the most suitable occupational field.

In the female division locally a dry cleaning establishment is seeking a woman to drive a delivery truck on a part-time basis. The successful person must possess a chauffeur's licence and experience on gear shift driving. Another dry cleaning firm requires someone who will operate a National Cash Billing machine, check garments and answer the telephone. An experienced dictaphone typist is sought by a bank located in a neighbouring town. Staff required are registered nurses and registered nursing assistants. There are openings available for experienced typists to work in the United Nations typing pool in New York City. An excellent starting salary and fringe benefits are being offered. Men possessing the required typing qualifications may also apply.

Applications are invited for the position of female Manpower Counsellor to work in the Belleville Canada Manpower Centre. The successful applicant must be a university graduate, with five years of employment experience preferred.

In the male division locally an industrial plant is seeking the services of a qualified pattern-maker possessing at least three years' of metal and molding experience. Another industrial plant requires a qualified and experienced machinist for permanent work. Two licensed class "A" automobile repair mechanics are required, with one position calling for experience in truck repairs and the other for experience in the repair of automatic transmissions. A qualified tailor is being sought who can work on his own in the repair and alterations of men's clothing.

There are numerous attractive employment opportunities in various countries in Europe, Africa and Asia for professionally trained persons in engineering, geology, forestry, biology, teachers with vocational background and accountants. Qualified women can also apply for a number of these positions. In the same field there are a number of similar opportunities across Canada. Grant Armstrong, the manpower counsellor specifically responsible for this field, would be pleased to discuss these positions with any interested qualified person.

If interested in any of these positions, seeking other employment or thinking of re-entering the labor market, contact the Canada Manpower Centre at 324 Church St., Belleville.

Declines in Final Sessions Erase Earlier Market Gains

By FRITS ROOS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Prices were mixed on Canada's major stock markets this week as declines in the final sessions wiped out earlier gains. Trading was moderate.

Brokers felt markets reflected a slowdown in the economy.

"There are lots of negative signs. We can expect further cuts in dividends and the three-year capital spending boom is eroding," one analyst said.

He expected markets to continue at their current pace for at least the next six months. "The glamor market is out," he said.

The week's highlight at Toronto was Fraser Companies which soared 4¼ to 22 as the news it is holding exploratory takeover talks with Continental Can of Canada. A recent takeover bid on Fraser by Price Co. was unsuccessful.

Jefferson Lake jumped 2¾ on speculation of a sizable price increase. Chrysler, which completed a new labor contract, moved up 2¼ to 61¼ and Rothmans gained 2 points to 28 following an increase in the price of cigarettes.

On the negative side, CPR fell 1¼ to 37¼, Massey-Ferguson 1¼ to 16¼, Algoma Steel 1¼ to a low of 19, Noore Corp. 1 point to 30½ and Bell Telephone ¼ to 44¾.

Consolidated Bathurst dropped 2¼ to 22½, CIL 1¼ to 13¾, Dominion Textile 1 point to 17¼ and Chemcell ¼ to 8¼, all closing at new lows. Canada Cement slipped 2½ to 27.

The western oils advance slackened off after the group index hit an all-time high of 225 points early in the week.

There were relatively small retreats by heavily weighted stocks, but others carried on the boom, several hitting highs.

CBC Directors Name Gilmore Acting Chief

OTTAWA (CP) — The CBC board of directors has chosen J. P. Gilmore to become acting corporation president if the government hasn't named a successor to retiring President J. Alphonse Ouimet by the time he steps down next Friday.

Mr. Gilmore, 50, vice-president for planning, has been acting chief operating officer of the CBC since W. E. S. Briggs retired last February as vice-president.

The federal government must choose successors to Mr. Ouimet and Mr. Briggs.

However, the board of directors is empowered to appoint an acting president in the meantime.

Prime Minister Pearson has said a new president won't be named until a new Broadcasting Act, now at the committee stage in the Commons, is passed.

PM Proposes Council To Plan City Growth

No Aid In Cost Offered

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Pearson today proposed a new national council to define targets for public action in housing and urban development.

In a statement opening the federal - provincial housing conference, he offered co-operation to meet problems of urbanization.

But he said the federal government should not finance the solutions.

The proposed Council on Housing and Urban Development would have a joint federal-provincial mandate to examine "the total design of urban Canada," Mr. Pearson said.

It would be the council's job to publish comprehensive, objective assessments of housing and urban development needs and plans to meet them.

The body should have expert fulltime staff, a central office and perhaps regional offices, he suggested.

The message of the prime minister's kickoff statement, which was nationally televised, was that urbanization is the dominant social and economic condition of Canadian life, and all levels of government must join hands to tackle its problems.

He offered federal co-operation—and a long-range four-point program—but no immediate

CHMC Help Sought

OTTAWA (CP) — Premier Robarts of Ontario appealed to the federal government today to spare its housing programs from its austerity campaign.

The success of the nation's attack on its housing programs hangs on "a sustained and adequate flow of federal financing," he told the opening session of the federal-provincial housing conference.

Mr. Robarts followed Prime Minister Pearson, who warned that lending by Central Mortgage and Housing Corp. will decline in 1968, and that federal money should not be the primary financing vehicle for urban development.

In contrast, Mr. Robarts said Ontario alone needs $400,000,000 next year from CMHC.

CMHC is lending $250,000,000 this year for the whole of Canada.

Mr. Robarts also said that while provinces and municipalities have primary responsibility for public housing, urban renewal and other urban problems, they do not have adequate financial resources.

"Therefore, in one form or another, the federal government must assure that massive financing is available to meet these urban needs."

The key is to concerted attacks on urban problems were financing, planning and co-ordination.

He set Ontario's housing requirements at 80,000 units a year in 1970 and 100,000 or more units a year in the 1970s.

Roads Slippery

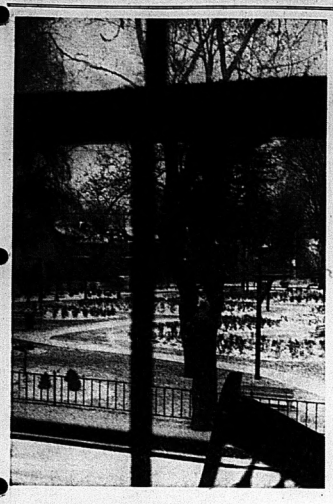
By The Canadian Press



As southern Ontario slowly recovered from a freezing rain that Sunday night brought a police warning to drivers to stay off all highways, residents north of a line from Trenton to Sault Ste. Marie braced for an expected fall of from three to five inches of snow today.

The warming trend in the south turned Sunday's glaze of frozen snow and ice into slush this morning, but not before several flights in and out of Toronto International Airport had been cancelled.

THE WEATHER

Synopsis: A sweep of milder air northward across eastern United States has brought a very extensive precipitation area into Ontario. Along the lower Great Lakes from Toronto to Windsor rain is falling while a wide area of freezing rain is creating unpleasant conditions from Toronto to Georgian Bay and across to Sault Ste. Marie. More rain in indicated for southern regions Tuesday and intermittent snow for the north with temperatures continuing on the mild side.

Expo Doubles Canada's Take From Travel

OTTAWA (CP) — Expo 67 helped tip the second-quarter travel balance of payments in Canada's favor for the first time since the 1940s, a report prepared for the 22nd annual federal-provincial tourist conference here says.

The three-day conference begins today.

The report, mainly based on Dominion Bureau of Statistics figures says that in the first half of 1967, spending by visitors to Canada was more than double that for the same period in 1966.

The travel balance of payments was boosted to a surplus of $120,000,000 in the April-June period, compared to a deficit of $56,000,000 in the same three months of 1966.

The report was prepared by the government travel bureau.

Rector Calls Carols Twaddle

IPSLEY, England (AP) — Rev. Frederick Foreman thinks Christmas carols are "meaningless twaddle."

They are sung with "great gusto and without thought," he wrote in his parish magazine, published Sunday.

"There's God Rest Ye Merry Gentlemen and mercy" could be interpreted in more senses than one.

"And The Holly and the Ivy is difficult to understand.

"Then there is all this sentimentality about the baby Jesus and carols like that. We don't pray to a baby, do we?

"There is very little connection with events as they appear in the Bible. It is often just sentimentality."

But many of the carols the rector complained about will be sung in his church, "because of public demand."

Otis Redding Is Killed In Wisconsin Plane Crash

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — Otis Redding, rhythm and blues singer, and four young musicians were missing today after their light plane crashed in icy Lake Monona Sunday, killing two persons and leaving one known survivor.

Redding, 26, of Macon, Ga., and four members of his band were still missing when darkness halted dragging operations in the 40-feet-deep water Sunday night. Two bodies were recovered and Ben Cauley, 20, of Memphis, Tenn., was in hospital in good condition.

One of the bodies recovered was that of the pilot, Richard Fraser, 26, of Warner Robins, Ga. The other was that of Jimmie King, 18, of Memphis, a member of the band.

Still missing, along with Redding, were Matthew Kelly, 17, Phales Jones and Ronald Caldwell, both 19, and Carl Cunningham, 18, all of Memphis.

The twin-engined Beechcraft, owned by Otis Redding Enterprises, was making an approach to Madison Municipal Airport when it splashed into the fog-shrouded lake. Fraser was trying an instrument landing because of the poor visibility, authorities said.

Redding, a Negro, owned a 3,000-acre ranch, with a herd of prize cattle near Macon.

Poverty Fighter Tortured by Gang

NEW YORK (AP) — An old street-gang axiom—you must fight the entire gang if you tangle with one—led to 48 hours of torture for a young postal employee last week.

After he told his story, Kenneth A. Goss, 20, was put under police protection and the gang suspected of abusing him was arrested Sunday and later arraigned in Criminal Court here.

The torture began last Tuesday afternoon after Goss went to an apartment to look for "Roland," a friend.

Roland wasn't there, but someone Goss knew as Gypsie or Hillbilly was. Goss said Gypsie went after him with a knife. Goss said he kicked the knife out of the youth's hand and the two stopped fighting.

After he told his story, Kenneth A. Goss, 20, was put under police protection and the gang suspected of abusing him was arrested Sunday and later arraigned in Criminal Court here.

The torture began last Tuesday afternoon after Goss went to an apartment to look for "Roland," a friend.

Roland wasn't there, but gang rules decree that "if you fight one, you've got to fight them all."

Goss, a Mobilization for Youth anti-poverty worker, later was taken to a flat near East 4th Street, in the heart of "hippieland," where, he said, the torture started again.

When the gang finally left him alone for a while Thursday morning, Goss said, he managed to free himself with a knife that one of the two girls he says took part in the attacks had dropped in the room.

Goss told his story to police and detectives, posing as hippies, picked up gang members in a raid early Sunday afternoon in an East 4th Street apartment.

They seized eight suspects—seven men and the pregnant wife of one of them—along with a small arsenal, including 285 rounds of ammunition, a bayonet, machete, butcher knife and a pair of handcuffs, as well as four cubes of LSD and 47 barbiturates, police said.

Roaring Tornadoes Level Hundreds of Buildings in Florida

PANAMA CITY, Fla. (AP) — Roaring tornadoes shattered Sunday morning quiet in 10 Florida panhandle cities, leveling hundreds of homes and buildings and killing two persons. One twister hit an Alabama border county.

More than 200 were reported injured in Florida, most in a housing area at nearby Tyndall Air Force Base and at Fort Walton Beach 60 miles west of Panama City. Several were in critical condition. A watchman at a wrecked shopping centre was reported missing.

Officials estimated damages at more than $7,000,000. Governor Claude Kirk asked federal help for what he termed a disaster area.

Five hours later another funnel ripped into a row of duplex homes at the housing area for air force families, flattening 30 of them and damaging 24 others, leaving one dead, nine badly injured and about 400 persons homeless. That tornado touched down five more times before fizzling out.

Damage was estimated in the Fort Walton Beach area at more than $5,000,000 by Okaloose County Sheriff Ray Wilson and at $1,500,000 to housing at Tyndall by public information officer Hank Harsham.

Tornadoes also hit at small towns between Panama City and Pensacola 150 miles west.

Loreta Byrd, 29, wife of Master Sgt. Jerry J. Byrd, died of a crushed skull and her husband was critically injured when their two-family house splintered before the tornado at Tyndall.

A six-months-old baby adopted by the Byrds two weeks earlier was asleep in the same bedroom but was unhurt.

"It's like the wall broke in the middle to just miles that baby. Then the roof fell in and the wall crumbled after it," said Sgt. John Griswold, whose family lived in the other half of the duplex.

At one house a car was flipped over and tossed into the limbs of a tree. The roofs of cars were crushed and their windows exploded outward by the low pressure as the twister passed.

Picton Loses Annexation Fight

PICTON — This town has lost its annexation battle with neighboring Hallowell township — and must pay the costs of legal proceedings.

The incident also has drawn a provincial government admonition that both municipalities might better settle future disputes between themselves.

Cost of the annexation bid to Picton has not been fully totalled.

However, town officials did not believe it would come close to Hallowell's cost — which retained two lawyers and a team of planning consultants to fight Picton's bid for 770 acres of township land.

Hallowell's Reeve Bruce Hyatt estimated the township may have spent up to $15,000 to successfully oppose the takeover bid before the Ontario Municipal Board.

A Picton municipal official said today the town must reimburse the OMB for the cost of "reporting the proceedings." This is estimated at about $520.

The fight started earlier this year when both sides locked legal horns over Picton's expansion attempt — labelled by Hallowell representatives as an "assessment grab."

The fight finally wound up Saturday when the OMB announced its official decision by mail.

Believe Hereford Herd Exposed to Rabid Fox

CAMPBELLFORD (Special) — A herd of 16 Hereford cattle may be quarantined for 60 days, pending confirmation that a rabid fox ran loose Sunday afternoon on an area farm.

Provincial police were called to the R. R. 3, Campbellford residence of Patrick Bendl, after he reported shooting a fox that had attacked his pet spaniel.

Mr. Bendl told police the animal, whose body was found filled with porcupine quills, had been seen among his Hereford herd, valued at around $2500.

Dr. W. C. Ludolph, of Belleville's federal Health of Animals Division, journeyed to Campbellford this morning to collect the fox carcass.

"It sounds like rabies," said Dr. J. F. McCorquodale, head of the Belleville Animals branch.

"If it's confirmed, we'll have to quarantine the herd for a 60 - day period — to prevent any sale.

"If they've been exposed, there's no sense vaccinating them now."

Mrs. Bendl said this morning her husband's cattle had been moved into a barn.

"Our dog is always tied up," she said.

Testing Clinic for YMCA Group

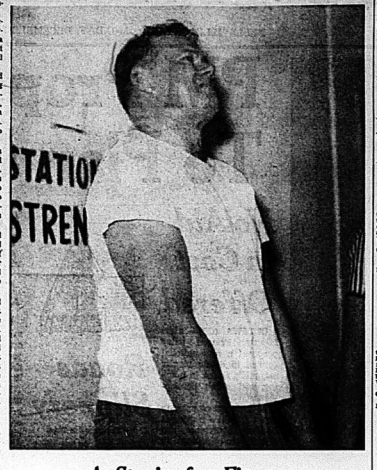
A fitness testing clinic at the Belleville YMCA Saturday allowed 27 local men and women to find out how they compared to previously established fitness standards.

The clinic, under the direction of G. Donald Noble (Physical Director of the Ottawa YW-YMCA) began at eight a.m. and did not finish up until after 12.

Participants were required to proceed through 10 testing stations. The first four, questionaire, medical check-up, body measure and circulation were not very tiring but Nos. five through nine worked up a sweat for all involved.

Through the use of various apparatus all aspects of total physical fitness were tested. Flexibility and balance was station five. It isn't simple to walk down a thin board, jump and turn around without falling off, and stretch until you feel you're pulling apart.



Respiration was tested through a running test and was followed by a test of strength. Power and Muscular endurance and agility finished up the physical aspects of the clinic.

Station 10 was the appraisal of individual results and most of the tired, tested people were quite pleased with their scores. Of course, everybody had room for improvement. Floyd Johnson who helped conduct the testing commented that "most of the men tested have a greater vital capacity than any of the more than 200 Toronto area men I have tested."

After the clinic most of the participants heard a luncheon address by Mr. Johnson, assistant physical director of the Toronto YMCA.

The topic "How to Have or Not Have a Heart Attack" kept in line with the general fitness theme of the day. He pointed out that there was no definite relationship between heart disease and the absence of physical exercise and went on to say "that while exercise is not a guarantee against heart attack, those who exercise have milder cases and many, many fewer fatalities."

Mr. Johnson thought that Canadians were in "pretty crummy shape but starting to become concerned." He recommended an expanded YMCA, exercise regularly and sweat.

A Strain for Fitness

Straining away at Station Seven at the YMCA Fitness Testing Clinic Saturday Peter Harris puts his all in to the test of strength. Only two more tests to go, Peter. There were 27 men and women who participated in the program.

Saint Nick Visits Fire Hall

TRENTON — Santa Claus' fire engine-red suit couldn't have been more appropriate than it was Sunday.

Yesterday afternoon, Saint Nick was the main attraction in the town fire hall for more than 30 children of local regular and volunteer firemen.

There would have been more, but, the annual Christmas party has to be restricted to the 12 and-unders, because of a combination of popularity with the small fry and shortage of space.

Each fireman's offspring was equipped with the necessities— a bag of candy, born, and party hat — in preparation for the much-heralded arrival of the portly gentleman with the white beard.

Then it was presents for everyone, wrapped in brightly-colored paper, and passed out by Santa beneath the fireball Christmas tree.

Mr. Claus rested up from the long air trip from the polar regions at the home of fireman Hank Barrr, who was conspicuously absent from yesterday's festivities.

The agenda also included a cartoon film show for the kiddies.

The local public co-operated in making yesterday's party a success — no alarms were received at the station during its duration.

MEALS-ON-WHEELS LUNCH CLUB

Children's parties over the weekend (at the Shrine Club and Knights of Columbus) made a lot of youngsters happy. St. Nick was busy giving out presents at Columbus Hall while Mayor-elect J. Russell Scott entered his second race in the past week, this time against Shriner Harry Birkenshaw. With the load both of them were carrying neither got very far but the children enjoyed the ride. The Knights of Columbus sponsored the party for retarded children and the Shriners held their annual crippled children's Christmas party.

Former Fire Chief Wedded Fifty Years

Illness forced cancellation of a family planned celebration, but for former city fire chief Gerald Vance and Mrs. Vance, their golden wedding anniversary didn't pass without recognition.

But instead of the planned "open house" the couple celebrated the anniversary quietly. A few close friends called to extend personal congratulations while they were also the recipients of a large number of anniversary cards and gifts.

The couple are life residents of the city and live at 42 Murney Street. Mrs. Vance is the former Helen Genevieve Hurst. They are members of Holloway Street United Church.

Now retired, the "ex" fire chief spent more than 42 years with the Belleville Fire Department. He was deputy fire chief from 1930 to 1948 and served as chief from 1948 until his retirement two years ago.

"They were looking for a with horses," recalled Chief temporary man who was good Vance. "I joined the department intending to stay only for two weeks and ended up by staying more than 43 years."

Horses were still hauling the fire wagons to fires when Chief Vance joined the department. The first motorised fire engine was not acquired until the next year and the horses were to remain on until 1926.

The horse drawn fire wagons were little more than carriers for hose and other equipment, but the city did have one of those old fashioned steam operated fire engines.

"I remember it being used only once and then it didn't work," commented the chief.

The then fire chief, William Brown, was so provoked that the machine was hauled back to the station and never used again.

Chief Vance is proud of the fact that all presently owned fire fighting equipment with the exception of one car, and both of the present fire halls were acquired during his years as department head.

The city fire department has been a "permanent" force since 1916 and for the next five years fire fighters were to serve 26 hour days, sleeping and eating at the fire station.

The switch to the double shift—12 hours on and 12 hours off—in 1921 was one of the reasons Chief Vance decided to remain with the force.

Chief Vance wasn't to work with horses long after joining the fire department, but in recent years the ponies have filled a bigger spot in his life.

About eight years ago he was one of the driving forces in forming the Quinte Driving Club and for the past four years has served as the club's president.

Allen Vance, now a captain with the force, has been with the department since 1946. Lawrence "Doc" Vance is a civilian worker at Trenton air station. The third son, Robert, also lives in Belleville.

Tweed Sponsors Decorama

TWEED — Tweed Public Utilities Commission is sponsoring a "decorama" again this year in Tweed.

The contest for the best decorated houses has no entry forms, no red tape. Residents are simply asked to decorate their houses before the judges make their rounds Dec. 21.

First prize for the best lighted house is $25, second $20, third, $15. Four consolation prizes of $10 each are also offered.

Santa Claus and Sponsors Kept Busy

Old Santa Claus was kept busy in Belleville over the weekend. With all the parties he attended it is a wonder he made it back to the North Pole.

Yesterday afternoon the annual Crippled Children's Christmas party at the Shrine Club saw Santa entertain over 100 children. He arrived a few minutes late but the children didn't mind — Santa explained to them that since there was no snow he came by plane rather than reindeer. "I left my jet over in the county," he said.

St. Nick wasn't the only attraction at the party though. Joe Burchill and his Clown Band, "known far and wide . . . throughout Belleville," provided the Christmas music.

Also performing were Karen Johansen (Baton Act), Janice Dawson who sang two songs to a piano background by Jim Corradi. Dave Charles emceed the afternoon show and was rewarded when Santa gave him two coloring books and crayons for being such a good boy through the past year.

Another party was held for retarded children at the Knights of Columbus Hall and was sponsored by Alhambra Caravan. It was the first year for the party but it doesn't look like it will be the last from the response the children gave to the festivities.

At both parties, however, Santa stole the show especially when he began to give out the presents.

Walkers Fail to Reach Goal But Collect $300 for Needy

TRENTON — One hobbled, and one walked, but two area men have raised over $300 "on foot" to brighten the Christmas of needy Belleville and Trenton youngsters.

James Brennan, 28, and 22-year-old George Clarke, of Glen Miller announced plans for their walkathon project — a 60-mile trek from Kingston — several weeks ago.

Sponsored at five cents a mile, they hoped to complete the Highway 2 trek to raise funds for Salvation Army services here and in Belleville.

Their plans took a bad turn last week when a heavy metal roller fell and broke two of Jim Brennan's toes at his paper mill job.

Jim was the first to drop out of the marathon Saturday afternoon, but not before his crutches had carried him as far as the Bay of Quinte Country Club, only 19 miles short of the Trenton goal

And George Clarke also gave in to his blisters, about 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon, at Bayside.

They had only stopped once—for a meal in Napanee — since beginning the grueling test Friday evening in Kingston.

This week, the two men will collect cheques addressed to the Salvation Army totalling $324.50, contributed from about 100 sponsors.

One of these, Horace Wright of the Trent Road, pulled alongside the walkers Saturday afternoon and handed them a cheque for $25.

Two friends assisted in the project — Ted Collar of Glen Miller accompanied the walkers in a car bearing signs and an amber roof-light.

The walkers have asked the Salvation Army to distribute the proceeds of their sole-work in the form of Christmas gifts to children in needy Belleville and Trenton families.

Retraining Course Slated for Cloyne

TWEED — The Ontario Manpower Retraining Program will be carried out in North Addington District High School, Cloyne for the second year.

Courses in basic academic upgrading and skilled development will be offered, beginning January 1968. Living allowances are paid trainees. Interviews and registration will be held in Barrie Township Municipal Hall, Cloyne, Dec. 20.

As an example of the trainees seriousness of purpose, officials cite a 36-year-old graduate of last year's course. She had grade 8 schooling ,a husband, 12 children and gave birth to the 13th during the Christmas vacation. Despite her domestic responsibilities she finished the grade 9 and 10 academic upgrading course and passed in June with flying colors.

Council Votes to Proceed With Addition

PICTON (Staff)—Picton town council last week gave the go ahead signal to the town's public school board to proceed with the proposed new addition to Queen Elizabeth School.

On a recorded vote, council voted unanimously to apply to the Ontario Municipal Board for approval for a debenture issue totalling $702,960.

Almost the full complement of public school board members attended the meeting to support a lengthy discussion concerning the school proposal. Several members of the teaching staff were also present.

Addressing council on behalf of the board, chairman W. W. Evans stressed that the figures in the presentation are no longer estimates but were definite and known costs. "Because of the increase in provincial grants, the actual portion to be raised locally would be down," he said.

Six New Faces at County Council

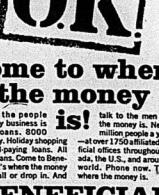
Rural elections throughout Hastings county ran close to normal this year with the usual 15 per cent turnover of reeves and deputy reeves who will be coming to county council in 1968.

There will be six new faces at county council next year—five from the lower end of the county and one from the north.

Hawden and Huntingdon townships will both be sending two new faces to council. The new reeve is Burton Morton and the new deputy Ray Shortt. In Huntingdon township the 1968 reeve is Russell Sills with Kenneth Holland as the deputy.

Frankford will be sending William Rose as its new reeve, while Floyd Rowe is the new reeve for Faraday township in North Hastings.

In general township ratepayers seemed satisfied with incumbent reeves with most of them being returned to office by acclamation.



Delmont Card, incumbent reeve for the townships of McClure, Wicklow and Bangor in North Hastings, defeated Floyd Brethour 159 to 107 in a battle for the reeveship, but in Faraday township Reeve Morris Irwin was defeated in a fight for the four council seats.

Reeve Goldie McInroy was defeated.

In Carlow township Reeve Mac Douglas received acclamation but there was a real battle for the four elected seats.

Three of the elected councillors were tied for first place with 97 votes each, while the fourth members polled 71 votes.

ARDA Grants

It is satisfying to see the increased awareness of the need for industrial development in Hastings County. This includes the opportunities of Government assistance for rural projects afforded by ARDA grants.

Hungerford Reeve Clarence Graham has had a meeting with Ontario Economics and Development minister Stanley Randle, and further talks are scheduled with department officials.

The reeve's call to municipalities to take advantage of industrial grants is timely. They have been available all along, but many municipalities have been slow to take advantage of them.

The pace is quickening, however. Tweed, Marmora and Bancroft have qualified for assistance, and Stirling Reeve Donald Rodgers has informed county council his village has serviced land available for industry.

There are a number of projects which could be undertaken with ARDA assistance, as county council representatives have noted. One already approved is a $3 million plan for the Moira River Conservation authority. This involves construction of several dams, some of them outside the county.

Europe's Heritage

Windsor Star columnist Pat Whealen has been discussing those side products of our affluent society — boredom, noise and tension, and the thought occurs that what we lack most in this country by way of a healing balm, or counterbalance, is recreation and entertainment other than the movies and television.

Countries like Germany, France, Italy and Britain have had a cultural tradition going back for centuries. It is a tradition epitomized by the great museums, art galleries, castles and cathedrals of Europe. These are things that every European, however humble, value. They give him perspective, a sense of personal worth in the knowledge that he is part of such creativity, and a link with the great heritage of the past.

These are evidences of the hand of man, of his genius, that have stood for centuries — the Acropolis in Athens, Worms Cathedral in Germany, the architectural and artistic treasures of Italy and the British Isles. No one can be exposed to such masterpieces and not be moved.

Even at the level of contemporary society, the more Canadians can enjoy of ballet, opera and theatre the better it will be for our own and succeeding generations.

Belleville Rotarians were given a glimpse of the sort of thing we have in mind at a recent meeting when P. Roger Tumenson of Toronto spoke on Germany. A member of a Rotary exchange study group, Mr. Tumenson is a young man of 32 who spoke with enthusiasm on the cultural background of Germany.

In particular he mentioned that most communities of 5,000 or more population have their own theatre, supported by funds allotted by city budgets. We don't fare too badly in this regard in Belleville. But Canadians at large may well be envious of the multiplicity of cultural attractions that are to be found amid the much older civilizations of Europe and which are an effective antidote to such maladies of the spirit as boredom, tension and so on.

A Realist

Magistrate Eric Winch of Nanaimo, B.C., is a realist. A year or more ago we recall reading of his practice of sending people convicted of dangerous driving to hospitals where they could observe victims of traffic accidents.

Mr. Winch is now taking a step further. He says he plans to provide a coroner with the names of persons convicted of impaired and dangerous driving so they can be empanelled to serve on coroners juries investigating traffic deaths. Those empanelled will be called on to view the bodies of persons killed in accidents, and to pass judgments on causes of accidents.

Coroner Russ Inkster apparently has followed a similar practice for some time with good results. He says he can name four people whose experience has "turned them around." One had not had a drink since.

Like the Scandinavian system of sending convicted drivers to work camps this is a system that shows drivers out west the error of their ways.

Puritan Doctrine of Work Will Be Only for the Few "In Golden Age of Leisure

Peterborough Examiner

The Great Leisure Crisis is closing in on us faster than we dare think and it is going to catch most of us ill-prepared. By the year 2000, say the economists, the cybernetics revolution will have progressed to the point where only 15 per cent of the population is actively engaged in earning a living. Of the remainder many will be learning the highly specialized job skills that will be demanded after the turn of the century. The others — the large majority — will be unemployed.

It has become customary to think of this vast leisure class as made up of men and women who, after working hard for say 20 years, are able to retire to a more graceful existence. This will be the case for some but, say the economists, many others will never work at all. They will be unemployed, but not in the temporary, accidental sense in which we know unemployment today. Rather these will be the permanent unemployed, men — and women too — for whom there is no room in the productive process.

Nor will there be any storms attached to belonging to this drone class. They will be supported, say the experts, in relative comfort. They will have homes, dress well and mix socially with the working members of society.

The concept of an idle class is worrisome to some. It goes against all our values, all our traditions. Particulary it offends the Puritan doctrine of work. But as the United Church Observer says in its current issue, this doctrine was well-designed for Europe during the mercantile revolution. It was tailored to fit North America at the beginning of the industrial revolution. But it is heartbreakingly ill-adapted to the North America of the cybernetics revolution."

Written by theologian John R. Bodo, the Observer article attacks the belief that work is the justification of life. He point out that our first ancestor was expelled from the Garden of Eden and sentenced to hard labour. Work thus began not as a sacred duty but as punishment. He admits, however, that throughout the Bible, honest work is extolled and idleness is indicted. The disciple, Paul, was particularly emphatic on this. "If any one will not work," he says in Thessalonians, 'let him not eat.'" But, writes, Mr. Bodo, in biblical author could possibly conceive of a world that might banish hunger, poverty and disease.

John Calvin and the Puritans of the 16th century have confused us by insisting that success in the market-place is a sign of God's favor. If this is true, then the unemployed poor are not just out of luck, but are less than human—they are failures in God's eyes.

What we must begin to do gradually is discard the Puritan doctrine of work and assure every citizen a decent minimum income as a matter of right. More and more our economists are thinking along these lines. The guaranteed annual income now assured members of the United automobile Workers union is an example. Indeed, mass industrial layoffs of workers who will continue to draw wages—we have already—created the first members of the new leisure class.

There will be severe problems in the transition from a work-oriented to a leisure society. But, as Mr. Bodo sees it, the new life of leisure will allow people to devote their energies to 'glorifying God and enjoying Him' in a way not possible when hampered by the need to earn a living. Out of "this new way of life that awaits our children may come a vastly improved social order.

How About A Crystal Ball?

Niagara Falls Review

Canada should mint a special medal and offer it to the first finance minister who can devise a system of public finance in which a proper level of taxation can be forecast for a year.

The present system, whereby it seems as if the Federal Government feels there is no limit to incomes and bases its spending accordingly, is creating defi cits with a capital H.

Up to September the 1967 deficit was $104,000,000.

Those who think national unity is the country's only major problem should change their minds when they realize how far in the red we are.

Canadian Humor: What Would We Do Without Liquor Laws?

Vancouver Sun

Seekers of distinctive Canadian humor sometimes conclude that there isn't any. This is because they seek among our writers, and, unless Sam Slick lays them out, this is plain foolishness. The master-luke of the great Canadian ha-ha is provincial liquor legislation and its interpretation. Listen to this.

In Ontario, liquor board inspectors filed complaints against six hotels in the Kitchener area a few days ago. The hotels were charged with serving customers two beers at a time, a practice, It seems, which can lead to license suspension. The chairman of the Ontario liquor board, in delivering a strict reprimand, said it is legal to serve a second glass of beer to a customer after the first one has been partly consumed, but not when the first glass is full. "The first glass," he said, "should be half consumed."

Don't go away. In Vancouver, liquor board inspectors mixed the slang expression "blind pig" as the name for a drinking spot but weak along with "honkytonk." This may seem a slight distinction. The Dictionary of American Slang, which no real liquor board inspector should be without, defines a blind pig as "a speakeasy, an unlicensed saloon." A honkytonk, is "a cheap saloon featuring gambling, games and dancing by or with women of questionable repute."

Even a moldy fig — "a prude; a pedant; one whose views or tastes are old-fashioned" — must wonder which is the lesser evil: the vernacular evils. But he'd be on the wrong track. In Vancouver a bar name may convey the delights of shimmying on the poker table with wild women but, by George, not a suggestion that the joint's unlicensed.

Hotrods Face Fine Or Jail

Ottawa Journal

Vyecouver City Council has passed a bylaw banning motorists from squealing tires and roaring motors. Offenders are liable to fines up to $100 or two months in jail. Stiff penalties! Not by a long shot and Ottawa should enact similar legislation.

The car goons take special delight in practising these asinine automobile rites in the dead of night. Among the younger set "burning rubber" and revving engines seems to be a form of status; in reality it's juvenile exhibitionism. In addition it's still juvenile exhibitionism.

Existing anti-noise bylaws have no effect on this sort of thing and Council has demonstrated a deaf ear when it comes to stopping it. Heavy fines are in order — for reasons of street safety as well as peace and quiet.

Montreal Goes Underground

Montreal Gazette

An important link in Montreal's growing "underground zone" was opened this week. The new combined escalator and stairway is under Lagauchetiere Street, between the Canadian National headquarters building and Place Bonaventure. It thus connects the two halves of the downtown series of weather-free pedestrian shopping malls.

It is possible now to walk, and ride escalators, from St. Antoine Street north to Cathcart, or from University Street west to Windsor Station, without crossing a street or braving winter winds.

The statistics of the system are impressive. It links 10 office buildings, three hotels, 240 shops, 26 restaurants, four cinemas, two railroad stations, one Metro station and 4,000 parking spaces.

Montrealers, especially in wintertime, are grateful for the sheltered walks and shopping and entertainment areas which the system includes. But it has a second purpose, even more important.

It is an essential part of the city traffic policy of moving traffic, both pedestrians and vehicles, underground rather than overhead where surface flow becomes congested.

The underground walkways are to be extended, both north and south and east and west, further linking business, shopping and entertainment areas. As they stand now, the walkways comprise the most extensive system of this kind in the world.

Cardinal Spellman

Montreal Gazette

Archbishop of New York and Vicar-General of the United States armed forces, died Saturday morning at the age of 78. A man of many titles, he was a man that was typically active until the very eve of death.

Today, Cardinal Spellman seemed ideally suited to his role as the high churchman to the military. He was a man of strong convictions, especially about the need to battle Communism wherever it threatened, at home or abroad. And he was ever ready to make those views known.

As a result, he was perhaps better known abroad for his public differences with various WAshington administrations, than he was for his constant work as a priest.

And constant work it was. In his home parish, the City of New York, he fought continually for the poor and the underprivileged and was a champion of racial equality.

From the time of his appointment as vicar-general, he made a practice of visiting servicemen at home and abroad as often as possible. The night before his death, he was talking about making another of his Christmas visits to Vietnam.

He found time, as well, to write books and poems of such inspirational value that they found wide audiences, so wide that his total literary income has been estimated at $250,000 — which he donated to New York charities.

"To all his many activities, he gave the same fierce devotion. President Johnson spoke for the millions Cardinal Spellman had served when he mourned him as "a good and gallant servant of our world."

Cargo Carrier Revolution

Kingston Whig-Standard

It should be obvious by now that a great revolution in the handling of cargoes at ports is underway throughout the world. Slowly the old traditional way of handling items of cargo in more or less piecemeal fashion is giving way to the system known as containerization. This simply means the integration of a great number of pieces of cargo into a single package.

Some of these containers hold as much as 40 tons and can be as long as 60 feet. Great Britain recently adopted large-scale "liner-train" service by which 60-foot containers are loaded on flat cars and carried at high speed to their final destination. British Rail is so confident of the future of containers that it predicts the turnover of liner-train services will increase from $3,750,000 last year to $120,000,000 yearl, in the 1970s.

It should also be pointed out that the port of New York has developed containerization to a high degree and with evident success. Of course, the United States is determined to recapture the cream of the North Atlantic trade for its own carriers by a prompt switch to containers. This competitive challenge is being felt in Canada's port of Montreal as shipping officials begin to realize that "containerr" is no longer just a word. Department of Transport and railway officials are reported to be planning a meeting in Ottawa soon to discuss the matter.

The advantages of containers should be obvious. A single operation takes the place of many separate operations. Because the containers are closed, the problem of theft is greatly reduced. And after the proper equipment has been installed there is great ease in unloading the containers from ships on to flatcars, to be carried from the loading areas of the ports to various inland destinations. West coast companies are heavily involved in containers already. The port of Bremen, for example, has a fully equipped container service.

British shipping officials have expressed interest in an all-container transport network linking Japan and Europe by a land 1 idge of fast trains across Canada. Unfortunately, Canada is about 10 years behind the U.S. in building port facilities capable of handling containers, even though the Government has announced plans for such facilities in Vancouver. Clearly, much more planning and action is necessary if Canada is to reap the advantages of the revolution in freight handling.

Belleville has one of the most outstanding musical organizations in the city or in the Dominion of Canada — our Municipal Band. This was proven this year at the Canadian National Exhibition when in competition they took second place. This in itself is an outstanding enterprise but the publicity the city received cannot be valued in dollars and cents.

Attracting upwards of 80 players, the Belleville Garrison Badminton Club staged its first mixed tournament of the season last night on the Armouries floor. Play was fast, exciting and close, with Mrs. A. McLean Haig and Chris Lockyer finally emerging as tournament winners. Team captains were ladies Mrs. Marion Salisbury, men: Victor White.

Quebec Premier Raps Press

Brockville Recorder and Times

It is not unusual for one of the communication's media to take a swat at another and usually when the opportunity arose last week for television to blacken the eye of newspapers it did so. And they were assisted by their efforts by Premier Daniel Johnson of Quebec. Premier Johnson chose to "expose" the weakness of newspapers before the TV cameras by displaying a copy of a Toronto newspaper showing headlines he claimed were erroneous. They may or may not have been, depending on one's point of view and the interpretation of the remarks on which the headline was based.

To err is human and reporters are human but so, also, are the people who make speeches. Hence the margin of error can be considerable. It is a matter of wonder that more mistakes are not made. Put five people in a room, let them listen to the same speech and you could easily get five different opinions.

And in listening to Mr. Johnson no TV people could form for themselves. This is one of the advantages of having the "third eye" present at such meetings.

CBC national TV newscasts were quick to point along with Premier Johnson's criticism of a newspaper's interpretation of parts of his speech. They also like to think more people depend on TV for their news than rely on newspapers. They even have surveys to prove it. But newspapers have surveys to show the opposite way. This too, is a matter of opinion.

What does give heart to every resident of the Ottawa Valley is this evidence that at last people care.

Wages Increase 16 Per cent

Tentative Agreement Reached on Vancouver Newspaper Strike

VANCOUVER (CP) — Tentative agreement to end a three-day strike that had stopped publication of Vancouver's two daily newspapers was announced today.

The agreement was reached by negotiators for Pacific Press Ltd. and the Vancouver-New Westminster Newspaper Guild after a marathon bargaining session that began about 10 a.m. Sunday and ended at 2:30 a.m. Monday.

A company spokesman said the agreement provides for a 16-per-cent increase on all salaries over $140 a week by Sept. 1, 1968, and certain increases in individual classifications.

The key senior reporter minimum rate, which had been $147.75 under the old contract, now would be $177.50 in the last month of the 28-month contract with the individual increases, he said.

Within minutes after the negotiators' agreement was announced, printers began working on an edition of the morning Province.

The five members of the guild at Pacific Press struck at 1 a.m. Friday in a dispute over wages. The guild represents editorial and office employees of the evening Sun and The Province.

Neither paper had appeared since the strike began and pickets ringed the four-storey block-square Pacific Press Building. Attempts to print abbreviated editions of The Sun and Province had been balked by printers who had refused to handle copy they said was "hot" because it was prepared by non-union supervisory personnel.

The printers, members of the International Typographical Union, had remained on duty within the building 24 hours a day since the strike began. Guild picket lines had parted briefly each day to permit printers' shift changes.

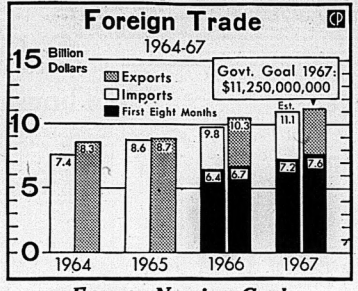
Before the strike began, the company said its final offer in the wage dispute was a 15-per-cent increase in a 28-month contract. The Guild said before the strike it had scaled its demand down to 23 per cent from 35 per cent.

Current minimum rates range from $47.12 for office boys to $147.75 for senior reporters. The Guild represents editorial, advertising, business office and maintenance department employees.

Two weeks ago Pacific Press reached tentative agreement with its printers, mailers, stereotypers and pressmen on contracts calling for increases of 65 cents an hour over a 34-month period. These agreements have yet to be ratified by the union membership.

New Addition Opened At Consolidated School

PICTON (Staff) — More than 400 persons were present for the official opening ceremonies of the new addition to the Hillier-Wellington consolidated school Friday night. Greetings were brought to ratepayers and the board by Norris Whitney MLA for Prince Edward-Lennox and reeves of the four municipalities sharing in the school's cost.



J. H. McNeil, principal of Prince Edward Collegiate Institute, and Mrs. Ruth Morris, president of Wellington Home and School Association added their comments to those of the reeves of Hallowell, Hillier, Ameliasburgh townships and the village of Wellington.

Frank Behan, secretary treasurer of Eastwood Construction Company, Peterborough, the company responsible for the construction of the $400,000 addition, presented the keys to Belleville architects, Watson and Weigand. The key was then forwarded to board chairman D. MacDonald and finally to Principal G. M. L. Snider. James Alexander, chairman of former TSA board cut the ribbon to officially open the new addition.

Guest speaker R. K. Vogan, area superintendent for Frontenac County was introduced by local superintendent Hector L. Knight and appreciation was expressed by Clerk J. A. Cemmon of Wellington.

Foreign Trade 1964-67

Exports Nearing Goal

Exports in 1967 are nearing the government goal of $11,250,000,000 as the year draws to a close, but experts can't say whether the figure will be attained because of rising prices and the effects of Britain's sterling devaluation. Exports to all countries in the first eight months of this year rose to $7,635,100,000 from $6,762,600,000 in the same period last year. Reports during that period rose to $7,241,000,000 from $6,407,500,000 in the comparable 1966 period. The total 1967 import figure is an estimate based on seasonally adjusted figures. (CP Newsmap)

Sissons: Ontario Hydro Able to Meet Demand

TORONTO (CP) — Ontario Hydro has enough power to meet demands if all goes well but scarcely any reserves for emergencies, a Hydro executive said Sunday.

H. J. Sissons, assistant general-manager, said the $3,000,000,000 power utility will be hard pressed to keep up with mounting demands for at least three more years until construction of new units are completed.

Construction strikes last summer—still dragging on in one trade—and the system's long-term construction program a full year behind schedule.

It means that Hydro faces its peak Christmas load period with just enough power to meet demands.

"Providing we don't have any major breakdowns, we get reasonable weather and water conditions and reasonable co-operation with our interties—the sources of purchased power—we should be all right," said Hydro Chairman George Gathercole.

He said, however, that any interruptions in power for the Christmas period will be short. "If worst comes to worst, it will only be for a few days."

Woman Fractures Hip

Members of the Belleville Police Department made three arrests over the weekend and were kept busy investigating accidents.

Richard Wayne Garbutt, 16, of 34 Crescent, was charged with four break-ins last night and early this morning at service stations in the northern part of the city.

Nothing was stolen in the break-ins. The only damage resulted from broken windows which were the means of entry into the service stations.

Robert Derocherts, 19, of 27A Charles Street was charged with willful damage occurring an accident at the TiKi Club where the glass doors were kicked in.

Joseph Pellington of Trenton was charged with willful damage and creating a disturbance at a home on W. Moira St. Damage also occurred at the police station.

A resident of 28 Sundas St., Mrs. Mildred Keegan, was seriously injured when she came in contact with a car driven by Howard Soden of R. R. 4 Belleville Friday night.

Mrs. Keegan received a fractured pelvis and abrasions on her face. The accident is still under investigation.

Hilton Area Man Killed

BRIGHTON — A single-car accident on Highway 30 Saturday evening claimed the life of a 31-year-old Hilton man, and sent another man to hospital.

Provincial police say Delbert Cassidy was killed when a car driven by 35-year-old Wilfred Charles Town of R.R. 1, Brighton went off Highway 30, travelled up the shoulder, embankment, and struck a tree.

The dead man was thrown clear of the vehicle.

The two men were heading southbound on No. 30, about five miles north of Brighton, when the mishap occurred — about 6 p.m. Saturday.

Town was admitted to Trenton Memorial Hospital suffering a broken shoulder, and Mr. Cassidy was dead on arrival.

Police say the 1961 auto was a complete write-off.

Mr. Cassidy is survived by a wife and three children.

Reeve Defeated

Mr. Sills received 350 votes to Mr. McInroy's 293.

Councillors elected were Frances Thompson 473, Harold Thompson 464 and George Wood 437. Incumbment Wes Farrell was defeated with 234 votes.

ase increase in grants, subsidies or loans.

"Current and temporary" financial difficulties would, in fact, prevent next year's direct lending by the Central Mortgage and Housing Corp. from reaching this year's mark of $950,000,000.

He said Ottawa does not want to encroach on the recognized primary jurisdiction of the provinces and municipalities over urban affairs.

The junior levels of government also had the primary financial responsibility.

"There is no more magic for solving our housing and other urban environment problems in the use of the federal tax mechanism than in the use of provincial taxing powers.

"Indeed, it can be argued that there is more justification for using provincial taxing power for this purpose than for using the federal taxing power.

"The use of the federal tax mechanism would inevitably mean that residents of the less urbanized areas, such as the Atlantic provinces and the Prairies, would be contributing money to help the metropolitan areas—from which the bulk of our national income comes."

The prime minister said Canada needs more homes, and a higher standard of homes. It must beat traffic and transportation problems, pollution of city air and water, and the jumble of conflicting uses of land.

Land costs too much and municipal organization is confused.

He repeated the four changes Ottawa is considering in its housing policy:

—Participation in comprehensive urban planning and purchase of land for transportation corridors and recreation space.

—Support for land assembly and development of new suburban communities.

—Subsidy programs in anti-poverty measures for low-income areas.

—Assistance to families of moderate income in buying and renting accommodation.

Mr. Pearson said it is time for Canada to give world leadership in urban development, to make its cities "models of all that's best and most humanly satisfying in an urban environment."

Liberals Face Budget Vote

OTTAWA (CP) — The Liberal government faces a non-confidence vote in the Commons tonight on the special budget introduced by Finance Minister Sharp Nov. 30.

The non-confidence motion was moved last Wednesday by J. Waldo Monteith, Conservative financial critic, who accused the government of mismanaging the economy and increasing taxes to pay for its own extravagance.

But the government may not have to face a united opposition in this test. David Lewis (NDP —York South), who also joined in the budget debate last Wednesday, indicated that his party may not support the Conservative motion because it implies that government spending should be cut.

Mr. Monteith's motion has been put in the form of an amendment to the government's budget resolution, which seeks Commons approval of Mr. Sharp's five-per-cent surcharge on personal income taxes and 10-per-cent boost in excise taxes on beer, spirits and tobacco.

The New Democrats object to this budget on the ground that it places the burden of the tax increases on people with small incomes.

Mr. Sharp used the budget "as a severe teacher uses the cane—to teach the people not to want too much . . . according to the gospel of the powerful," Mr. Lewis said in the Commons last week.

The New Democrats have already tried a non-confidence motion of their own, but it was beaten 188 to 24 Thursday night.

Current standing in the 265-seat House of Commons: Liberals 132; Conservatives 95; NDP 22; Creditistes 8; Social Credit 4; independent 3; vacant 1.

ANAF News

The last half of this week will be a busy one for the Duke of Edinburgh Unit. Thursday, is probably the most important to the members as a whole. It is the last general meeting of the year and is also the night for nominating the candidates for the 1968 executive. It is hoped that a goodly percentage of the members will turn out to nominate the comrades of their choice for the various positions to be filled. A good slate of candidates is an indication that genuine interest is being shown in the welfare of the club and it is hoped that comrades capable of filling these positions will allow their names to stand thus ensuring a good executive.

On Friday there will be another turkey roll with good prizes for the winners and an evening of enjoyment and comradeship for those who are not so lucky. On Saturday there will be the last dance of the year with the best of dancing music and entertainment. Proceeds from both these events will help defray the expenses of the children's Christmas party. A reminder for those members who have children to attend this party. Those whose surnames start from "A" to "K" are asked to be in the auditorium by 9 a.m. and those from "L" to "Z" are asked to be there by 11 a.m. There will be a couple of cartoons shown together with goodies and presents for all those eligible. Please be on time.

Tickets for the New Year's Eve Ball are now available from the stewards and will be reserved for members until Dec. 18th. If any are left by then, they will be made available to the public. It is restricted to fifty couples so get yours early and be sure you don't miss a good party.

Although slightly delayed because some of the better halves were busy with a banquet, the Mr. and Mrs. dart tournament got under way with between 25 and 30 couples participating. The Harold Dracup Trophy, presented for annual competition by Cde. Harold Johnson on behalf of the O'Keefe Company to Sports chairman Russ Blaind was on display at the scorer's table and it certainly is an exquisite piece of craftsmanship and worthy to commemorate the comrade's name it carries. Cdes. Harry and Terry Curnock were the final winners and Harry won a nice German style stein while Terry was presented with a travelling alarm clock. The runners up were Cdes. Bill and Barbara Shepherd who received a set of glasses. Ladies high three darts was scored by Cde. Jean Gannoo, 92, and she won a stein also. Cde. Don Slonwaite, with 140 won the men's high three darts and received a set of glasses. Another trophy to be known as the Steve McNeil Trophy and presented by Cde. Steve will be up for annual competition for the high three darts scored by any member of the club and scored in the Unit's clubrooms in any official competition that is held. This includes play against visiting teams, Mr. and Mrs. Saturday afternoon doubles and Belleville dart league games. In case of a tie the high scorers will play off and the sports chairman will name the winner.

The sick chairman reports the following comrades in the Belleville Hospital, "Doc" Vance, 211, R. C. Wood, 121, and Johnny Foxon, Cde. Bill Hurd is still at Sunnybrook. All are doing nicely and have been visited.

New Wealth Expected

Gasbuggy Explosion Creates Underground Vault

FARMINGTON, N.M. (AP) — Scientists sought today to determine whether the first U.S. industrial nuclear explosion will render new wealth from the bowels of the earth.

A thermonuclear device was exploded 4,240 feet below the earth's crust Sunday. Preliminary indications were that the explosion, called Project Gasbuggy, had done its job by creating a huge subterranean chamber from which natural gas can be recovered, spokesmen said.

Dr. Robert H. Thalgott, Gasbuggy deputy project manager for the Atomic Energy Commission, told reporters at a briefing after the blast that no radioactivity had escaped from the ground and none was expected to.

Dr. Harry Reynolds, a scientific adviser for Gasbuggy, said there was reason to believe that an underground chamber of 180 feet in diameter and as tall as a 35-storey building had been created 3,500 feet below ground zero.

The AEC said drilling into the chamber begins today, although no substantial evidence on whether the nuclear stimulation concept really worked is expected for several weeks or months. Scientists estimate the natural gas reserves of the United States could be doubled if nuclear blasts are found to be a feasible way to free gas from underground rock formations.

The nuclear device, which had an explosive punch estimated as equivalent to 20,000 to 30,000 tons of TNT, was detonated in the Picture Cliffs formation of the gas-bearing San Juan Basin.

Windows rattled in Farmington, 35 miles to the west. Newspaper men and others, at an observation sight five miles from the detonation point, felt the sharp shock wave which thundered under the northwest New Mexico file.

Telephone service at the site was interrupted when equipment was shaken out of place. AEC spokesman said the ground at the observation site heaved one-third of an inch, while the shock was described as far more severe at Gasbuggy control complex 2½ miles from the detonation point.

"We were rising in the air," one scientist at the complex reported.

Joint sponsors who have been working four years on the $4,700,000 Gasbuggy Project include the AEC, El Paso Natural Gas Co. and the U.S. bureau of mines.

It is the first time that private industry and the government have joined in conducting an experiment with a thermonuclear device.

Among answers to be sought is whether the gas will flow into the chamber via fractures caused by the explosion so it can be recovered by sinking a well.

Another question is whether nuclear-stimulated gas will be too radioactive for commercial use.

Santa Claus Parade at Tweed Enjoyed

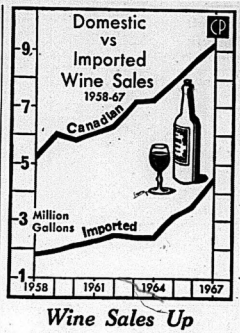
TWEED—The annual Tweed Santa Claus parade was held on Saturday. Floats from all over the area could be seen along with bands and majorettes parading down the streets.



Floats were judged by Mary Cassidy, Patricia Halpenny, Pauline Hughs, Christine Sinclair and Marshal Stubbs.

First prize went to St. Carthagh's float and the workers concerned received $40. The Tweed Lands and Forests float was awarded $30 as second prize.

The Elks' float from Belleville was chosen as the third best float and $20 was the award. Fourth prize went to the Salvation Army and fifth to Hunter Veneers. They received $15 and $10 respectively.

During the parade candy was given out to the children. Of the 1400 bags packed very little remained, but what was left over will be given to various churches in the Tweed area and to the Salvation Army. The candy was donated by local merchants.

Wine Sales Up

Whether the drinker prefers the inexpensive flavor of domestic wine or the more sophisticated subtleties of a foreign import, producers anywhere in the world are smacking their lips at the $18,000,000 worth of extra Canadian sales this year. The Canadian Wine Institute says increased affluence, immigration and foreign travel are reasons for increased Canadian consumption.

Busy Retirement

Thousands Cheer 'Queen'

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — The gigantic Queen Mary, majestic symbol of Britain's luxurious oceanic rule, docked Saturday for the last time to begin a busy retirement.

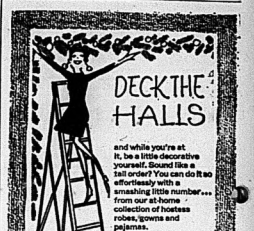
The cheers of thousands, aided by mechanized noise-makers, were deafening.

"I didn't know it was so big!" exclaimed City Manager John Mansell of Long Beach.

His city purchased the Queen for $3,450,000 for conversion into a hotel, maritime museum and convention centre.

As the liner glided past the harbor breakwater, she boomed thundering whistle blasts in reply to noisy salutes from thousands of pleasure craft spread along 90 miles of Southern California coast.

The hundreds of thousands of cheering onlookers at the royal reception completed probably the largest celebration in Long Beach since the Second World War ended 22 years ago.



The 1,093 passengers—some who paid up to $8,000 to be on the Queen's sentimental 1,242nd voyage—her last after 30 years of transatlantic service—poured down the gangways. Most of them were exultant in praise of the ship and the voyage despite complaints voiced by a few, come to Southern California.

Captain Treasure Jones dismissed as "completely ridiculous" reports that his ship was infested with rats and that the passengers were unhappy.

"We've had a magnificent voyage in spite of what you may have heard," he said. "I should think one could file a lawsuit against those who printed such reports, which are completely untrue."

The 39-day voyage from Southampton had been marred by complaints, however.

Two passengers had confessed of rat and cockroach infestation, dissension among the crew and a shortage of supplies.

Second Operation Planned

Doctor Details Heart Transplant Steps

Preventive Treatment

Louis Washkansky waves as he is wheeled in his bed in an oxygen tent to receive a second cobalt treatment to further combat the possibility of rejection. (AP Photo)

The following article was written for The Associated Press by Professor Christian Barnard of Groote Schuur Hospital, Cape Town, who on Dec. 3 led a team of surgeons performing the world's first human heart transplant. He describes the operation and talks about the future of heart transplants.

By CHRISTIAN N. BARNARD

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (AP) — At the beginning of November, 1967, following a successful kidney transplant operation some weeks earlier at Groote Schuur Hospital, a decision was taken to attempt a human heart transplant operation.

Ten years of experience in open heart surgery and a four-year research program on organ transplantation had given us the background for confidence of a successful outcome to this undertaking.

It did not take long to find a patient suitable for cardiac transplant. Louis Washkansky was considered to have heart disease incurable by any known treatment other than cardiac transplantation.

He also had the correct mental approach and moral courage to submit himself to this new operation.

His blood was examined to determine the pattern of antigens on his red cells and white cells, as this would help us to select a suitable cardiac donor. . . .

A suitable donor would be a young person with an inevitably fatal disease or injury but having an undamaged heart.

Twelve units of fresh blood were drawn from 12 fresh volunteers and cross-matched daily in case they should be needed.

Saturday, Dec. 2, a young lady—Miss Denise Ann Darvall—was admitted to Groote Schuur Hospital having suffered severe injuries in an auto accident.

Intensive resuscitation was commenced immediately after she was admitted. But when seen shortly afterwards by a neurosurgeon she was declared to have inevitably-fatal brain damage.

Intensive resuscitation was continued and permission was obtained from the girl's father to remove her heart and kidneys after death for use in transplant operations.

The team was alerted, and the injured girl and Mr. Washkansky were taken to adjoining operating theatres where preparations were continued for two simultaneous open-heart operations.

The blood tests of the injured girl showed both the red cells and the white cells to be almost perfectly compatible with those of Mr. Washkansky.

Mr. Washkansky was anesthetized about 1:30 a.m. Sunday.

The heart of the girl was exposed, connected to a heart-lung machine, and cardio-pulmonary bypass was commenced with cooling of the blood in the bypass heart-lung machine.

Her heart cooled, it was removed by dividing the major veins and arteries and disconnected from the heart-lung machine in the first operating theatre.

Her heart was transferred to the second operating theatre, where it was reconnected within minutes to the second-heart-lung machine and perfused—fed—with cold blood.

The perfusion continued during implantation of the heart.

Mr. Washkansky's aorta was clamped to isolate his heart from the blood circulating in the body and his severely damaged heart was excised —cut out, leaving portions of both atrial chambers to serve as the stem on to which the new heart would be grafted.

While the rest of Mr. Washkansky's body continued to be perfused from the heart-lung machine, the donor heart was sutured in position, using fine silk sutures to join the atria and main arteries of the new heart to those of Mr. Washkansky.

Firstly, the left atria of the patient and the new heart were joined to each other, and following this the right atria were similarly united. Next, the divided ends of the pulmonary arteries were sutured together, and lastly the two aortas were joined, the cannulae—tube—which perfused the grafted heart being removed during the final stages of the suturing of the aorta.

The clamp of Mr. Washkansky's aorta was released, and the new heart was perfused by blood pumped into the aorta from the heart-lung machine.

Air was excluded from all chambers of the heart, and the rewarming of the blood in the heart-lung machine was commenced.

When the correct temperature had been reached, the new heart was given an electric shock through paddles placed on either side, and about 214 hours after it had stopped it started beating once more.

The rewarming of Mr. Washkansky's body continued, and about 20 minutes later the flow from the heart-lung machine was reduced, and little by little the heart took over the circulation.

Two minutes later the heart-lung machine was switched off finally, and the new heart was beating strongly and supporting abundant life in its new body.

An X-ray picture of his chest showed all to be functioning well, and the electrocardiogram was satisfactory.

Artificial ventilation was stopped the following morning, and since this time he has continued to breathe satisfactorily, his heart has functioned well, and his post-operative progress has been eminently satisfactory in every way.

Plans are under way for a second heart transplant operation within the next few weeks.

The difficulties are not only those associated with the organization of a large and highly skilled team but are most particularly concerned with the supply of suitable hearts for transplantation.

The development of new techniques in suppressing the rejection of foreign tissue implanted into the body may allow a more indiscriminate choice of donor hearts on the ground of immunological compatibility—less tendency for the body to reject a grafted heart—and may even allow the transplantation of organs from one species to another, for instance, animals to man.

Research work in the field of organ preservation may advance sufficiently to allow the establishment of organ banks, but despite all these possible future expansions of the technique the demand for new hearts is very likely always to exceed the supply.

Artificial hearts are the logical alternative, and even though these are more likely to be freely available in the future, their development and perfection are still many years ahead.

Washkansky's Will to Live Major Factor in Operation

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (AP) — When he gets out of the hospital and returns to his normal life, one of the first things Louis Washkansky intends to do is to go to restaurant and order a steak, medium rare, topped with two fried eggs.

"And if I know Louis, he's going to make it," said a friend. "What's more, he'll be the life and soul of the party."

The prosperous, 53-year-old wholesale grocer made medical history Dec. 3 when he received the world's first human heart transplant.

His ailing heart was replaced with the heart of a young woman shortly after she had died in an auto accident.

Heart trouble started in the prime of life for the diabetic businessman. Seven years ago, the first attack nearly crippled him. Two years ago he had a second attack.

"We explained it was impossible to do any surgery except by transplantation," said Dr. Christian Barnard, leader of the 30-member medical team that performed the operation.

A major factor considered by the surgeons was their patient's determination to make the operation succeed.

"When they approached my husband, he snapped up the challenge, not even asking one of the two days Prof. Barnard gave him to think it over," Ann Washkansky recalled.

"My husband could not accept that he might be an invalid for the rest of his life. The thought alone nearly killed im."

"This man's will to live is fantastic," Barnard told reporters.

Steak and Eggs for Dinner

CAPE TOWN (GP) — Louis Washkansky's doctors were increasingly confident he would survive as he began his second week with this transplanted heart Sunday by eating his favorite meal—steak and eggs.

Since they are dealing with the unknown, the doctors said there may be complications they had not foreseen. But one said privately:

"We think we've got our problems licked."

"I am very confident he will pull through," said Dr. Christian N. Barnard, leader of the team which replaced the 55-year-old wholesale grocer's failing heart Dec. 3 with the beating heart of a 25-year-old woman killed in an auto crash.

Doctors said the grocer ate eggs, toast, and soup for breakfast Sunday. For the evening meal, he sat up in bed and ate steak and eggs.

After the operation a week ago, Washkansky could only sip water. Fruit drinks and glucose followed and, as his general condition improved, he nibbled soft boiled eggs and mashed vegetables.

"He is physically capable of getting up and walking about now," surgeon Dr. John Bosman said. "But we would not allow him to do so of course—not with all those stitches and things in him."

Burmese Release Two Canadians

MONTREAL (CP)—Two Canadian adventurers were en route home today after spending 8½ months in a Rangoon jail on charges of having smuggled some watches into Burma.

The father of one of the young men, Vianney Pinsault, 53, said Sunday night he received a telegram from his son Bernard and Guy Lalonde, and then delayed in London for a few days.

Bernard Pinsault, 22, and his 22-year-old companion had been scheduled to arrive in Montreal Sunday afternoon after being turned over to British authorities Friday night on the understanding they would leave Burma as soon as possible.

The young men, whose homes are in suburban Montreal North, had another 3½ months to serve in jail when they were released through the intervention of British and Canadian authorities.

The pair had not been permitted to communicate with anyone following the arrest while in possession of a number of watches when they entered Burma during a round-the-world trip. It was only recently that their whereabouts became known.

The British embassy was given 24 hours to get them out of the country," Mr. Pinsault said, adding that the external affairs department told him the pair probably would be flown home by way of London.

No matter what you've heard, a label has no effect on the wine inside the bottle. Quality has to be tasted. Labels can't be.

If you judge a wine by its taste, we invite you to test any of the fine Canadian wines listed below. If you judge a wine by its label, you won't be impressed. Brights labels are only printed paper. The magic is in the wine.

President Champagne • Canada's prize Champagne.
President Burgundy • A great dry red table wine.
President Sauterne • A delicate light white wine.
President Sherry • Ideal before lunch or dinner.
President Extra Dry • A dry white wine of quality.
President Port • A distinguished dessert wine.

Students Do Volunteer Work in Mexico

OTTAWA (CP) — A girl with tanned young face framed by blonde, shoulder-length braids and topped by a straw Mexican sombrero opened the door of an Ottawa home one day this fall with a cry "buenas tardes" greeting.

A bright yellow and cream woven poncho over her blouse and skirt, 20-year-old Maria Wellington welcomed a gathering of lively university students who shared a common experience: volunteer work among the poor in Mexico.

About 150 Canadian students took part in such work last summer under the sponsorship of the Conference on Inter-American Student Projects.

The students, invited by the Roman Catholic bishops of Mexico, live next to volunteer workers in small villages near six centres in Hidalgo State.

Money to send them is raised through donations or fund-raising projects such as dances and raffles.

The organization was started as a Roman Catholic movement but no consideration is given to religion in membership.

Quality, not quantity, is being increasingly stressed in selection of volunteers. Knowledge of Spanish, Mexican history and culture, and some idea of community development, are required.

On arrival in Mexico, volunteers are given a four-day orientation period in Mexico City where the organization has an office staffed by a social worker and a priest.

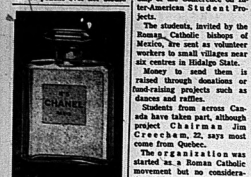
Although talks given at this time prepare the volunteers for eight weeks of life in "dirty, shoddy conditions," the big problem most students face is the shock of idealism meeting head on with reality.

"There is a great feeling of inadequacy when the student arrives at his project," says Pat Leslie, the national secretary. "You're not going as a great white knight."

Success depends on the individual student, Creecham adds. "Some don't know how to work with people and there are always complaints about the lack of Spanish."

After orientation, volunteers like Maria Wellington, Mark Mahoney, 20, and Maureen McCarthy, 21, are sent out to teach writing and English and inject new ideas into the community—everything from how to boil eggs to better ways of marketing produce.

At La Palma, six hours by mule or foot from San Nicolas, the three lived in huts with earthen floors and sugar cane roofs. Water was brought from a swiftly-flowing river one-half mile across the hot, rocky terrain.



"We tried to teach the people what they wanted to know," Maria said. "When I was there, we taught them to play hop-scotch. It doesn't sound like much but it was what they wanted."

The villagers didn't know how to boil corn, one of their diet mainstays. Although they cooked with corn oil, the idea of deep-frying was completely new.

"French fries became the rage."

Swimming lessons in the river brought out the children and adults in full force and gave the students an unexpected opportunity to teach the children, about half of whom do not go to school.

As for the villagers' attitude toward the young people—"It was unbelievable," Mark said. "They're really great to you."

Some Problems Arise From Taking 'The Pill'

OTTAWA (CP) — A darker skin pigmentation in the face, changes in the sex glands, an "unfeminine feeling" and a gain in weight are some of the problems experienced by various women using "the pill" as an oral contraceptive, an obstetrician said Sunday at the annual meeting of Ottawa's Academy of Medicine.

Dr. J. M. Beresford, 33, said in a paper presented at the meeting, that problems caused by the pill are only minimal for most women using it, however.

Dr. Beresford, a British-born physician who teaches at the University of Ottawa, said the pill is the contraceptive he prescribes most often.

A recent survey by the American College of Obstetricians and Gynecologists reported that approximately 95 per cent of the doctors who answered the college's questionnaire prescribed the pill for oral contraception. It was also the most - wanted contraceptive.

Dr. Beresford discussed various problems that have arisen from the use of the pill.

The pill could cause decreased menstruation. If menstruation stopped altogether the woman was concerned, because there is still a mystique in feminine minds that they don't feel feminine if they don't have a period."

Only in three instances would he not recommend that the pill be prescribed to women requesting it.

—When the patient has a previous history of thrombosis, even though there was less chance of thrombosis resulting from the pill than from pregnancy.

—When there is a previous history of breast cancer, because the pill could cause activated hormones. He said, however, it is false that the pill causes breast cancer where there was none before."

—When the patient has a severe liver disease.

An 1867 Luncheon

By MARY MOORE

An invitation for lunch arrived from the president of the U.C.W. of a village church. It was to be part of their Christmas bazaar effort. This village is near where my mother was born and I accepted promptly. Believe it or not there were two women present who knew my Grandmother Dale. We all had a good time eating a replica of an 1867 lunch but I had the best time of all reminiscing.

To have a contribution in my hand I took a trayful of Fruit Tea Bars for the Bake Table. They must have sold like hotcakes for when I took a backward look they were cleaned out.

FRUIT TEA BARS (these freeze)

Dough:
¼ cup butter
¼ cup granulated sugar
2 eggs
1 teaspoon vanilla
finely grated rind 1 lemon
1¼ cups sifted all-purpose flour
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon cinnamon
one-third to ¾ cup candied cherries, quartered one-third cup chopped glacé fruit
one-third cup chopped citron peel
one - third cup California raisins
Glaze:
¾ cup icing sugar
1 teaspoon water
½ teaspoon lemon juice

Cut into bars or squares. I had third-size 1¼" squares to take to the church bazaar.

These Fruit Tea Bars freeze well.

MONDAY

Dinner Menu

Savory Meat Loaf; Mushroom Sauce; Baked Squash; Brussels Sprouts; Torn Spinach and Lettuce Salad with French Dressing; Baked Apple Dumplings with Lemon Syrup; Coffee.

To make Dough, into heater bowl measure the butter and sugar and cream until light. Beat in eggs. Now beating at low speed add all remaining dough ingredients as you measure them. This made mixing easy and fast. I only had to stop beaters once to scrape down dough from sides with rubber spatula. Turn mixture into buttered 9" square pan and bake at 325 deg. Fahr. for 45 minutes or until delicate gold. Now mix Glaze ingredients in cup. When Tea Bars are baked stir glaze and immediately brush over entire top. Cool.

WEDDING

MARRIOTT — BERTRAND

St. Jovite Church, Sudbury was the setting for the marriage of Claire Lillian Bertrand, daughter of Mrs. C. Bertrand of Sudbury to John Lawrence Marriott of Sudbury, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Marriott of Belleville, on Saturday, December 2. Father Clemka officiated at the ceremony.

Given in marriage by her brother, R. Bertrand, the bride wore a full length colored wool suit with brown accessories and carried a bouquet of white mums centred with red roses.

A reception following the ceremony was held at the home of the bride's mother who greeted the guests wearing a brown wool dress with brown accessories and a corsage of yellow pompoms. Assisting was the bridegroom's mother who was wearing a royal blue brocaded sheath dress with white and black accessories and a corsage of red rosebuds.

Following a short wedding trip the couple will take up residence at 28 Clarcmont Avenue, Sudbury, Ontario.

Ann Landers

Reader Has Warped Outlook on Dating

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Someone should write a glossary for unmarried men. Since I have been the victim of at least 150 blind dates, I am well-qualified to give you an assist should you decide to tackle the project in your spare time.

ANN LANDERS

Dozens of well-intentioned friends and relatives have fixed me up with girls whom they described as "perfect for you." I have decided that it's about time I learned to translate into plain English some of their descriptive phrases. Here are just a few:

"She has a tremendous sense of humor. She's a laugh a minute." It means, "She's fat."

"She has a lovely disposition, fine character, a spotless reputation and is dearly loved by all the women she works with." This means, "She's ugly as homemade sin."

"She is easy-going, low-keyed and very casual." It means: She dressed like a slob and her apartment resembles a pig pen."

"She's a good sport." This means, "She knows 500 dirty jokes and can drink you under the table."

"She's a dandy little housekeeper." This means, "She has been divorced three times and kept the house each time."

"She is ready to settle down." This means, "She is over 30, panicky and dying to get married."

"She is very bright, has a terrific job and is highly respected in her field." It means, "She is overbearing, domineering and she shaves."

O.K., Ann, no charge for this start; you can take it from there. — SUNNY.

DEAR GUN: You've done such a peachy job, why don't you take it from there? Thanks for letting us know what your life has been like. When are you joining the monastery Buh!

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My brother, Mike, who is 18, got into a little trouble with the law, so he enlisted in the Army. While in the Army he got into some more trouble. He is being released next month.

My father told my mother he refuses to live under the same roof with Mike and that she had to make a choice She chose Mike.

Now my father is moving out of the house into an apartment and he wants me to go with him. I would have to do all Dad's washing and ironing and cooking and cleaning. To be honest with you, I don't want the responsibility. I also don't want to leave my mother.

I love them both but I think Dad needs me more and I feel guilty for not agreeing at once to go with him. Please tell me what to do. — TORN UP AT 16.

DEAR TORN: Stay home. If your dad wants to leave, that's up to him, but he should not attempt to include you in his plans.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: A friend with whom I had dinner the other evening did something which I feel was wrong. When the food was served, she took a few bites, said, "I don't like this," and asked the waiter to bring her something else. The waiter did so at no extra charge.

Since there was nothing wrong with the food except that she didn't like it, wasn't she wrong to ask for a substitute? — TABLE TALK.

DEAR TALK: Perhaps the food was too highly seasoned, undercooked or overcooked and this is why she didn't like it. A good restaurant does not resent this if the patron is pleasant.

Successful Living

One Seeks Sincerity and Peace of Mind

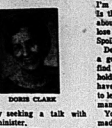
Dear Doris: I would like to change my personality and develop a deeper feeling for religion. I realize that at my age (3), this will be far from easy, but I am most anxious to try.



When I come home from a gathering at the church, I always feel I have said the wrong thing, or talked too much; or when I could have gone over to speak to someone who is alone, I don't bother, as long as I'm enjoying myself. But it is not always an inferior feeling I have; sometimes I find myself feeling very smug, as if I'm very popular.

I feel that if I could develop my spiritual side, this would help. Perhaps there are books that would give religion a deeper meaning to me. I would truly like a more relaxed, stable, sincere attitude towards others and also towards happenings.

I don't lack friends and get gone home with my family, but it is myself I'm not fooling, for I do lack true peace of mind. — Hoping for Grace.

Dear Hoping: Don't throw out the baby with the bath water. You aren't all bad! Self-doubts plague most of us, from time to time. Who hasn't gone home from a social time, at least occasionally, with the depressing thought that we have missed a chance to offer a friendly hand or a smile? All we can do is try again. Enough practice and we lose the reticence which holds us back.

You are on your way when you scribble down that first cry for help. Follow through by reading some of the fine spiritual books I am listing for you in my private letter;

DORIS CLARK

Dear Doris: When a person talks in their sleep, the things they say, are they true? — Wondering.

Dear Wondering: Oh come, now — why should they be? When you dream, do you dream the truth? The talkative dreamer merely gives a listener some idea of what is going on where he is!

A psychologist finds dreams revealing in a symbolic way. But you'd have to specialize in this area, and get a good deal more information, before you could draw any conclusions from a random sample of dream-talk.

Dear Doris: I am 15, belonging to an all-girl group. Last year I was on the executive and got to help plan all the events. This year I was not voted to the executive and felt very sorry for myself. Now that the year is progressing, I'm torn with jealousy.

I hate myself for it. I know I'm acting like a spoiled brat. Is there anything I can do about this jealousy before I lose all my good friends? — Spoiled Brat.

Dear Brat: Club members a good deal older than you find themselves wanting to hold onto the reins after they have been replaced. Learning to let go is part of good sportsmanship.

You show the stuff you are made of by the kind of ecstatic member you make. Next time you feel like groaning, swallow hard and say something helpful and hopeful. Give today's leaders a boost and you'll be becoming a fine leader yourself.

(Don't just muddle along. Doris knows human behavior and can help. Write to her and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope for private reply.)

Dawn After A Long Night

Ministers Will Try to Change NATO

By HAROLD MORRISON

BRUSSELS (CP) — The North Atlantic alliance likely will find both its stature and its manpower challenged as defence and foreign ministers open a three-day session Tuesday to scrutinize the organization's effectiveness and its future.

Intensified pre-conference haggling indicates that exhaustive attempts to turn the alliance into a unified vehicle for a co-ordinated peace approach to the Soviet Union may fail.

The United States and Britain already have signified they intend to reduce their European forces by about 15 per cent through redeployment. West Germany proposes to outline some of its intended cuts and it is understood Canada also has some "pruning" proposals which may be discussed with alliance colleagues before they are announced in Parliament.

Gen. Lyman L. Lemnitzer, supreme commander of NATO forces, is reported to feel this desire to reduce forces, while the Soviet Union maintains its own strength and increases its naval power in the Mediterranean, could spread like a disease though the 14-country defence shield.

External Affairs Minister Martin, who heads the Canadian delegation to the ministerial talks, has emphasized that Canada stands by its NATO commitments. However, one source said Canada is considering some savings on its air division of six squadrons through natural attrition of the Starfighter planes.

In addition to the nuclear-strike air division, Canada maintains an army brigade in Germany and has two mobile battalions at home especially earmarked for swift use by NATO.

Martin may disclose to his NATO colleagues the rate at which the Canadian government will allow the air division to run down.

Work Is for Horses

By SIDNEY J. HARRIS

The search-party from earth that returned from a space-trip to the Alpha 26 Galaxy reported human life on the planet called Reath. This planet contains two kinds of people: white and black.

On Reath, however, the black people are the masters, and the white people are the slaves. Members of our search party asked the ruling blacks why they did not give the white slaves their liberty.

"They don't want liberty," the rulers said. "They enjoy it this way. Besides, whites love to work. They love it better than anything else in the world — and we are just making them happy by giving them so much work to do."

And it seems as if they are right. The ruling blacks enjoy singing and dancing and partying and picnicking — all the traditional aristocratic activities. The whites, who are sullen of face and strained of mouth, think that work is the most important thing in life, and they are full of anxiety and guilt about not working long enough or hard enough.

The whites look with suspicion upon singing and dancing and partying and picnicking — viewing them as signs of irresponsibility, when every educated black on Reath knows they are really patrician virtues.

"Work is for horses," say the educated Reathians, "and if the whites are so taken with work, this proves that they are closer to horses than to human beings. We've tried to civilize them — giving them guitars and drums — but they have no beat. All they want to do is toil away their day until they fall into a stupor at night."

A few schools for whites were set up some years ago, but they didn't fare too well. They taught the customary curriculum, — joy, and rhythm, and friendliness, and laughter — but the whites somehow couldn't adapt to it.

"They're more like the lower animals," the teachers shook their head sadly. "And they foul up the whole environment with the wasteproducts of their work. You see, beauty and pleasure mean nothing to them — all they want to do is dig and build and pollute and squat on top of the biggest pile of debris they can amass. How can you teach anything to people like that?"

A few liberal-minded black Reathians believe that the whites are educable, but they admit it will take hundreds of years more before they are ready for freedom. "You have to know how to enjoy your freedom," they point out, "and most whites just curl up and die when they are no longer permitted to work. Do you call that 'human'?"

Can't Stop Soviet Missiles - - McNamara

By BOB HORTON

WASHINGTON (AP) — Defence Secretary Robert S. McNamara says he is convinced it is technologically possible at this point to build a defence which could effectively blunt an all-out Soviet missile attack on cities in the United States.

He bases his assumption on the belief that "the Soviets would react to our defence as we are to theirs," by turning out more and better offensive missiles.

In an interview with The Associated Press, the defence secretary—soon to relinquish the job to become president of the World Bank—stressed that the planned $5,000,000,000 U.S. anti-missile shield will be geared against a possible Chinese attack of th easrly 1970s.

The Russians, he said, should understand this and not feel compelled to build more offensive missiles to overcome an apparently accelerated intercontinental ballistic missile program already under way.

The secretary's comment came in one of several AP interviews with top defence department officials that reflected deep divisions of thought about how extensive a missile defence the U.S. should attempt to create and, technological problems aside, whether anti-missile deployments are even advisable at a time when strategic weapons forces are escalating in size and deadlines.

McNamara served notice in his September announcement that he would resist any "mad momentum" toward expansion of his authorized "thin" system.

This opposition is based on the premise that any defence, thick or thin, can be outgunned by a technologically advanced enemy capable of firing more warheads, or decoys, than the United States has anti-missiles to intercept them.

In marked contrast are military proposals, promoted mainly by Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, that the $5,000,000,000 general coverage system be broadened into a $20,000,000,000 shield which would include specific protection for 50 American cities.

"To me the idea of building a defence against the Chinese threat which doesn't yet exist, while ignoring an existing Soviet missile threat, just isn't a viable concept," the ranking military officer said.

McNamara told his interviewer that pressures to turn the Sentinel into an anti-missile-for-every-avenue cure-all have been relatively low-key, but he expects them to intensify. He said he is gratified to find that some congressmen side with him, privately if not publicly, in favoring the $5,000,000,000 anti-Chinese system.

Gradually the American people are coming to understand the dangers, the costs and the risks involved in the continuing expansion of strategic offensive and defensive forces," McNamara said.

McNamara said the pace of Chinese progress toward a nuclear missile force, and not 1968 election-year pressures, was the governing factor in the administration's September decision to build the Sentinel defence, formerly called Nike X. It now appears the Chinese might fight—test an ICBM in early 1968.

Today the defence department is moving ahead with preliminary work toward getting Sentinel combat-ready within five years.

Survey teams for the next few months will be fanning out across the U.S. looking for 200- to 300-acre sites for long-reaching Spartan batteries.

The 400-mile-range Spartan, long arm of the Sentinel system, is equipped with a one-megaton warhead which can kill incoming warheads over miles-wide areas outside the atmosphere.

The short arm of the Sentinel system is the one-mile-a-second Sprint, which will be deployed round huge perimeter acquisition radars, the eyes and brains of the defence, and perhaps eventually around about 20 advanced Minuteman missile sites.

The United States depends on the 1,000 Minuteman missiles, plus other Polaris-launched weapons at sea, to deter any Soviet assault on the U.S.

Germany To Back Britain

LONDON (AP) — British leaders won West German backing Saturday night for a make-or-break attempt to negotiate Britain into the European Common Market against the opposition of French President de Gaulle.

Prime Minister Wilson and Foreign Secretary George Brown also rallied the support of fellow socialists of 14 other countries for British entry into the six-nation trading bloc.

The leaders of socialist parties of 15 countries met in a one-day conference at Wilson's official country residence for a survey of the world affairs that also ranged over the Vietnam war and the Middle East situation. T. C. Douglas, leader of Canada's New Democratic Party, was the only North American representative.

On the sidelines of the talks, however, Brown and Vice-Chancellor Willy Brandt of West Germany conferred for several hours.

The upshot of the crucial Brown-Brandt exchanges, qualified insiders reported, was that the British are satisfied West Germany will back them to the hilt when Common Market leaders meet in Brussels Dec. 18-19. That meeting is due to decide whether to begin negotiations on Britain's application for membership.

The big issue before the Brussels meeting is whether to start negotiating on the seven-month-old British application. President de Gaulle is openly opposed to the negotiations.

Medicare Plan Said Backwards

OTTAWA (CP) — Dr. W. James Melvin, president of the Ontario Medical Association, Saturday blasted the federal government for the manner in which it is introducing its medical care insurance program, due to come into operation July 1, 1968.

Dr. Melvin spoke at the annual meeting of the Academy of Medicine of Ottawa here.

"Sure I'm speaking for the Ontario Medical Association," he told reporters after his speech.

"Doctors aren't opposed to medicare, but it's the way the federal government is doing it. It's being introduced backwards and upside down."

Dr. Melvin said the federal government wants to have the doctors lead first.

"This is the last step that should be taken," he said.

Instead, Dr. Melvin said, the money, should be used to "fix hospitals," build convalescent homes, train more physiotherapists, and improve medical schools.

FIRE KILLS THREE

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A pre-Christmas party ended tragically before dawn Sunday when fire, mushrooming with a "whoosh" from a 10-foot tissue-paper snowman, destroyed a University of Pennsylvania fraternity house, killing three persons. Fourteen others, including five firemen, were injured. The fire probably started, fire officials said, from a carelessly tossed cigarette.

THE LITTLE WOMAN

"I'm afraid you have a bad case of infectious hypochondria, which you probably picked up from your wife."

Pope May Make Russian Visit

VATICAN CITY (Reuters) — A five-man Vatican delegation now is in Russia sounding out the possibility of a visit to the Soviet Union by Pope Paul, Vatican experts indicated Sunday.

The delegation is led by Most Rev. Jan Willebrands, head of the Vatican Secretariat for Christian Unity.

Experts here said it is likely the group will also sound out the possibility of a papal visit to Russian Patriarch Alexis which has been considered possible here for some time.

Dickie Moore Scores Winner That Beat Leafs

By STERLING TAYLOR
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Dickie Moore, who didn't react to general manager-coach Punch Imlach's rejuvenation cure three years ago, came out of the past Sunday night to transquilize Toronto Maple Leafs and provide the adrenalin for St. Louis Blues.

Moore, 36, back after a two-year layoff, scored the winning goal in the Blues' 2-1 victory—their seventh in 25 starts—over Imlach's Maple Leafs in regular National Hockey League action.

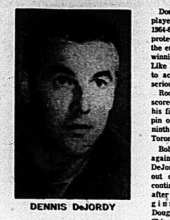
Imlach had talked the man who holds the record of most points in one season—including playoffs—out of a one-year retirement in 1964, but gave up after the 36-year-old left-winger scored only three goals and added five assists in 43 games.

Moore was the first man to score 96 points in a regular season with 41 goals and 55 assists in 1958-59 while with Montreal Canadiens. He added five goals and 12 assists in 11 playoff games to set a record of 113 points.

Bobby Hull and Stan Mikita, both of Chicago Black Hawks, have since scored 97 points, although no one has equalled Moore's 113-point plateau.

Moore, who retired for the first time after the 1962-63 season because the cartilage were removed from both knees, was talked out of retirement for the second time a few weeks ago.

He said he was coming back because of the challenge, the money and the fact that the NHL's new Western Division didn't look as tough as the old Eastern Division.



Moore's comeback was the highlight of a 10-game NHL weekend that also saw the first-place Boston Bruins hampered by the loss of defencemen Bobby Orr and Ted Green and Bobby Hull continue his league-leading pace with three goals.

New York Rangers edged Montreal Canadiens 3-2 Sunday night, while Los Angeles Kings dumped the Bruins 3-1, Chicago shutout Philadelphia Flyers 3-0, and Minnesota North Stars walloped Pittsburgh Penguins 7-4.

Chicago had battled to a 2-2 tie with Montreal Saturday night as Vachon and Boston deadlocked 3-3, Detroit Red Wings edged the Rangers 3-2, Pittsburgh defeated Minnesota 3-2, and St. Louis shutout Oakland Seals 1-0.

The weekend action left Boston top atop the Eastern Division standings with 34 points, with Toronto second with 31, Detroit third with 30 and Chicago fourth with 29. New York is fifth with 25 and Montreal trails with 23.

Los Angeles regained the lead in the West with 28 points, one ahead of Philadelphia, while Pittsburgh is third with 23 and Minnesota fourth with 22. Oakland is fifth with 17 points, one more than last-place St. Louis.

DENNIS DeJORDY

Don McKenney, who also played for the Leafs during the 1964-65 season and was left unprotected along with Moore at the end of the season, set up the winning goal against the Leafs. Like Moore he recently returned to action after treatment for a serious knee injury.

Rookie Frank St. Marseille scored the other St. Louis goal, his first of the season. Jim Pappin opened the scoring with his ninth goal of the campaign for Toronto.

Bobby Hull scored two goals against Philadelphia and Denis DeJordy recorded his first shutout of the season as Chicago continued its drive for the top after a humble early-season beginning. Veteran leftwinger Doug Mohns scored the other Chicago goal.

The largest crowd of the season, 14,045, watched Hull's blazing slapshots and saw him score with two soft rebounds.

Gordon Labossiere, Ted Irvine and Lowell MacDonald scored as Los Angeles snapped an eight-game unbeaten streak for the Bruins, who lost both Green and Orr in Saturday's tie with Toronto.

Eddie Shack scored the only Boston goal.

MIKE WALTON

The Rangers' victory over Montreal was their first against an Eastern Division club since Oct. 29 and their first in four games. Vic Hadfield, Phil Goyette and Bob Nevin scored for New York, rookie Jacques Lemaire and Ralph Backstrom for Montreal.

Montreal has not won in eight starts, although the club has three ties during that time.

George Armstrong scored with three seconds remaining after Toronto goaltender Johnny Bower had left his net in favor of a sixth attacker Saturday night.

Orr suffered a broken collar bone early in the second period after dropping to the ice to stop a shot by Frank Mahovlich and is expected to miss at least three weeks of action.

Green, also a victim of Mahovlich's shot, suffered a badly bruised right knee and is expected to be sidelined until next weekend.

Mike Walton, scoring his 11th and 12th goals in 10 games since being given a regular spot on a Toronto forward line, accounted for the other Leaf goals and assisted on Armstrong's marker.

Fred Stanfield scored twice for Boston and Ken Hodge got the other.

Gordie Howe, who entered hospital for a kidney ailment Friday, passed a kidney stone Saturday and refuted doctors' claims that he wouldn't be able to skate, scored one goal and added an assist in Detroit's 3-2 victory over New York.

Terry Crisp scored for St. Louis and veteran goaltender Glenn Hall shutout Oakland. The shutout was the first for Hall, picked up from Chicago in last June's expansion draft.

Oakland's attendance of 3,780 Saturday night was in sharp contrast to the 16,156 that turned out to see the Leafs-Boston game at Toronto. The crowd was the second largest to see a hockey game in Maple Leaf Gardens.

Gordie Recovers And Howe!

DETROIT (AP) — That six-foot, 205-pound whit the New York Rangers claimed around Olympia Stadium ice Saturday night was not a weakling—it was Gordie Howe, 39-year-old outpatient.

Howe, in his 22nd National Hockey League season, scored one goal and assisted on another as Detroit Red Wings scored three goals in a three-minute second-period burst to nip the Rangers 3-2.

"I felt weak," Howe told reporters after the game, displaying a black and blue right arm riddled with needle holes from medication he had received during a one-night hospital stay.

Howe, in great pain, was taken to a Detroit hospital Friday night with what turned out to be a kidney stone. Howe said his doctors weren't certain, but they believed he had eliminated the stone before game time.

The NHL scoring great first felt ill Thursday in Montreal, where he went scoreless in a 2-2 tie.

"By the time I went to bed Friday I was just doubled over. That's the way they got me to the hospital."

Bantams Win Nine In Row

The OMHA Kinsmen racked up their ninth straight win yesterday defeating Napanee 8-2 in league action.

It was a hard - hitting ill, clelo spitting eight penalties.

Bruins Yet To Prove Power

NEW YORK (AP) — General manager-coach Emile Francis of New York Rangers, who knows how tough it is to play Cinderella atop the National Hockey League, has his doubts as to how long Boston Bruins can play the role.

Francis, whose team led the NHL part of last season as the surprise club before failing to fourth, indicated Sunday night that the Bruins are likely to wind up battling for that spot before the season is over.

The Bruins now lead the East Division by three points over Toronto Maple Leafs with the Rangers stuck in fifth here, only six points back after beating Montreal Canadiens 3-2.

"Boston has improved tremendously," Francis said, "but until its home-road record evens out, it still has something to prove."

The Bruins, thus far, have done most of their playing at home in 26 games and most of their 15 victories have been there with most of their seven losses on the road.

"Chicago will be plenty tough to keep out with its scoring punch and Toronto is Toronto—it doesn't give away much and lets you beat yourself," Francis said.

"And I don't think Montreal will be on the bottom. The Canadiens have been hurt by injuries."

Montreal, winless in eight games after losing to the Rangers without injured top-scorer Yvan Cournoyer and centres Henri Richard and Jean Beliveau back after lengthy inaction because of injuries, is last.

But the Canadiens are only 11 points back of Boston.

"The league has great balance this year," Francis continued. "For the first time in about 20 years all six teams have a chance."

"The race should go to the wire. I can't see anyone fouling up, but the key is to stay away from injuries."

Juniors Closer To Edge

The Belleville Junior "B's" bettered Campbellford's three by playoff oblivion over the weekend dropping two decision in away games.

On Saturday they failed to dent the armour of the Oshawa Crushmen after holding their own for nearly two periods. The score was 10-3.

The wrapped it up in the second with a single goal but were held off the score sheet in the third frame.

Mo-Hawks 3 Goals Up--Then!

TORONTO (Special) — The flicks winds of fortune blew favorably on the Mo-Hawks here Saturday for about twenty minutes.

Then Hurricane Marties took over, blew the figurative roof in on them and breezed home with a 7-3 Senior "A" Hockey League victory.

For twenty minutes of the first period it looked like the Mo-Hawks had found their stride, their shooting eyes and the playoffs form that has been dormant this long while.

They had the Marboros on the run, scored three unanswered goals — a rare occasion of late — and appeared to be on their way to a well-earned victory.

But, it appears, the winless jinx that has been haunting them this long while had just taken time off for a coffee break, or whatever breaks jinx indulge in.

When it returned it found its familiar spot on the Mo-Hawk shoulders — and they sagged under the impact.

Perhaps the Marties sensed it. They roared back, disdaining a three-goal deficit and by the time the official buzzer blew to end the second period had the pastime all even with an extra goal for good measure.

And unlike the Mo-Hawks, they picked up the thread of goals-getting unsinged to fire home three unanswered goals in the final canto to wrap up the win.

The referee and officials didn't earn their travelling expenses with a pair of teams that wore halos — sin-wise.

Only five minor penalties were handed out, three of them to the Marboros. Only one proved costly that to Cheverzty in the second period when the Marties rammed home one of their four counters.

Weller came up with three goals and two assists. Draper scored a goal and two helpers with Hay lending a strong hand with three assists.

Moe Galand, the league's leading scorer added a goal and an assist to his total; Hymers had a goal and an assist with Forban getting the other marker. Ballour and Fuller helped with two goals.

Bobby LaLande, Mickey Chervesty and George Godson powered the Mo-Hawks first-period offence each finding the net. Marchen, Brown, McConnell, Plane and Botly recorded assists.

LaLande got the Mo-Hawks off on the right foot after five minutes of the first period scoring the opening goal on a play with Marchen and Brown.

Two minutes later Chervesty teamed with McConnell and Plane to give the Mo-Hawks a two-goal margin and the Quinte crew appeared to be on its way.

They held off the thrusts of the Marlies and established what looked like a comfortable lead at 13.20 when Godson sank Botlye's pass to up the count to 3-0.

The Marlies took over the scoring in the second frame and set out to hold backwards. Galand started the seven-goal splurge at 9.32 and this was followed by two 30-second quickies by Weller and Hymers at 12.17 — 12.47.

Draper put the win on ice at 14.22 as far as the Mo-Hawks were concerned.

Then came the icing on the Marlies' comeback cake. Weller fired home two more to get his hat-trick and a 6-3 lead with Forban making sure of it by potting Galand's pass to end the hassle at 18.06.

Crowd Bets 5 Million

'Smoothie' Faded; Finished Second!

NEW YORK (CP) — The Maple Leaf didn't exactly fly over the Big A Saturday, but there was plenty of Canadian flavor for the 47,000 fans who bet more than $5,000,000 on the last Saturday of the New York racing season.

There was Canada's Horse of the Year, Dr. J. Smoothie — gamely trying to win the big jackpot in the main stake race at Aqueduct despite top weight of 126 pounds and the Turcotte brothers from Grand Falls N.B., Ron and Noel.

And round was Hedley Woodhouse, the 47-year-old Vancouver-born jockey who has had his leg up on more than 2,500 winners in a 27-year racing career.

The crowd and the handicappers figured that the $58,500 Display Handicap over a gruelling two miles would be a two-horse race and that's exactly the way it went.

He's A Smoothie, owned by Bill Beasley of Toronto and trained by his son Warren, finished second after running in front the lead at the one-mile mark.

Quicken Tree, a four-year-old handled by Fernando Alvarez, had a little more at the finish under the lighter impost of 117 pounds and won the race by three-quarters of a length over the Canadian champion.

Braulio Baeza brought Ile's A Smoothie home 1¼ lengths in front of Argentina-bred Pairo.

Despite the field of 11, the race virtually was a duel between the California horse and Ile's A Smoothie all the way.

Rams Nip Packers; Browns Defeat Cards For Title

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sporters

Writer Jim Houston, Cleveland's 245-pound super-thief, has picked the lock to the Century throne room, leaving only one divisional battle still raging in the National Football League—the coastal war between Baltimore's unbeaten Colts and Los Angeles' relentless Rams.

Linebacker Houston intercepted a fourth-quarter pass Sunday and ran 18 yards for the decisive touchdown as the Browns clinched the Century Division crown with a 20-16 victory over St. Louis Cardinals.

A week ago, Houston's 79-yard scoring run with another pass theft put the wraps on a 24-14 victory over New York that eliminated the Giants from the Century race.

While the Browns joined Green Bay's Central champs and Dallas Capitol kings in the NFL semi-final playoff bracket, the Colts whipped New Orleans 30-10, running their unbeaten string to 13 games and setting up next Sunday's Coastal showdown with Los Angeles.

The Rams stayed alive Saturday by blocking a Green Bay punt in the final minute and scoring with 34 seconds to play for a 27-24 nod over the Packers. They tied the Colts in an earlier meeting and are one game off the pace going into the finale in title-frantic Los Angeles.

In Sunday's other NFL games, Dallas Cowboys drubbed Philadelphia Eagles 38-37; San Francisco 49ers outscored Atlanta Falcons 34-28; Detroit Lions smacked New York Giants 30-7; Washington Redskins edged Pittsburgh Steelers 15-10 and Chicago Bears and Minnesota Vikings played to a 20-20 deadlock.

The Browns led 13-0 when Houston, a rugged, eight-year pro, batted a Jim Hart pass into the air, grabbed the ball on the fly and raced across untouched. Those six points stood up for Cleveland despite Hart's 15-yard touchdown pass to Jackie Smith late in the period. A desperate 41-yard pitch from Hart to Smith carried to the Browns' 18 as time ran out.

Frank Ryan's 38-yard scoring pass to Paul Warfield and two field goals by Lou Groza offset three three-pointers by St. Louis' Jim Bakken before Houston came up with the big play for the Browns.

The Colts toiled to their 11th victory—they have tied two—despite a brilliant performance by quarterback Johnny Unitas, who completed 10 of 24 passes for 148 yards and failed to connect for a touchdown.

Baltimore's tough defence set up short scoring thrusts by Tony Lorick, Tom Matte and Jerry Hill, however, and Lou Michaels booted three field goals as the Colts became the first NHL team to go 13 games without a loss since the 1934 Chicago Bears.

Dan Reeves caught a five-yard touchdown pass from Craig Morton and threw a 45-yard scoring strike to Lance Rentzel, sparking the Cowboy's romp over Philadelphia.

Eagles centre Jim Ringo started his 182nd consecutive game, setting an all-time pro record.

George Mira, making his first start this year, tossed two touchdown passes as the 49ers held off the Falcons and snapped a six-game losing string. Randy Johnson, held in check in the first half, kept Atlanta in the game with three touchdown passes after intermission.

Jump Record Broke

MONTREAL (CP) — Tony Nelson of Montreal broke the Canadian and Quebec juvenile man's long jump record Saturday in the Quebec Track and Field Association's second winter indoor track meet. Nelson's performance was 21 feet 9¼ inches, 7¼ inches farther than Brammucci's record, set earlier this year.

Raiders Take Western AFL Title

By ED SCHUYLER Jr.
Associated Press Sports Writer

An accurate toe and a good passing arm are a tough combination to beat in football—even when they belong to different men who are of different generations.

This was the case Sunday when the kicking of George Blanda and the passing of Bob Griese combined to give Oakland the Western Division championship of the American Football League.

Blanda, who broke in professionally with Chicago Bears in 1949, booted four field goals in five tries in leading Oakland Raiders to a 19-7 victory over Houston Oilers.

Griese, who was hardly strong enough to hold a football in 1949, passed for two touchdowns as Miami Dolphins upset San Diego Chargers 41-24.

Oakland's victory gave the Raiders an 11-1-0 record and a 2½-game lead over San Diego. It also prevented Houston, 7-4-1, from breaking a first-place tie in the Eastern Division with New York Jets, who lost 21-7 to Kansas City Chiefs in the only other Sunday game. Buffalo Bills trounced Boston Patriots 44-16 Saturday.

The 40-year-old Blanda, who quarterbacked Houston to two AFL titles and was No. 1 at the position for most of seven seasons before being dropped by the club early this year, was feeling higher than some of his kicks.

"This was fantastic, the best day of my career, to come back here and show all these rube fans that the booing doesn't bother the old man."

Blanda was roundly booed the first time he went on the field, but it took more than boos to stop him.

Trailing 7-0 at halftime, Oakland got started with Blanda's 12-yard field goal in the third quarter and took a 9-7 lead after Blanda kicked three-pointers of 32 and 31 yards in the final quarter.

The Raiders sewed it up when Hewerti Dixon raced 27 yards for a touchdown and Blanda kicked a 45-yarder. Houston scored in the second quarter on a 26-yard pass from Pete Beathard to Hoyle Granger.

Blanda, signed as a free agent by Oakland for his kicking and insurance quarterbacking, also kicked himself into the AFL scoring lead with 47 conversions and 19 of 28 field goal attempts for 104 points.

Griese passed Miami into a 17-13 lead by hitting Doug Moreau for 10 yards, and then the 22-year-old rookie showed he could use his feet, too, by scoring on a one-yard run.

Two Heavies Out

Shuffle Ring Ratings

MONCTON (CP) — The Canadian Boxing Federation overhauled its ratings Saturday. It dropped two heavyweight contenders and two light heavyweights.

The heavyweights kicked out for lack of action were John Barrazza of Toronto and Charlie Chase of Montreal.

Jake Nelson of 100 Mile House, B.C., and Willie Labelle of Edmonton got the axe in the light heavyweight division.

In a major shuffle, middleweight Ray Christian of Winnipeg, previously unranked, was listed as number one challenger to champion Dave Downey of Halifax. He replaced Jim Meilleur of Windsor, Ont., and New York, who dropped to second.

Other ranked Ontario fighters include:

Light heavyweight — 2. Frank Bullard, Toronto.

Welterweight — 1. Colin Fraser, Toronto.

Bantamweight — 2. Alex Martin, Trenton.

Flyweight — Champion, Alex Martin, Trenton.

Gaels Take First Win Of Season

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Queen's University Golden Gaels recorded their first win of the season defeating McGill Redmen 2-1 and Western Mustangs moved into a second-place tie with an 8-2 win over McMaster Marlins in Saturday's Ontario-Quebec Athletic Association hockey league action.

Skip Kretzer scored for the Redmen.

Wayne Currie scored four goals and had one assist in leading Western to victory and a league tie with the host Marlins. The teams have records of three wins and two losses.

Junior 'A'

Habs Win Seven In Row

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Kitchener Rangers are holding such a hot hand in the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A series that the cry may soon go up—stop the Rangers.

And the team that might do it is Montreal Junior Canadiens who romped to their seventh win in a row Sunday by beating lowly Peterborough Petes 5-3. Canadiens have been picking up wins lately from teams in the lower division but the Rangers, with 16 wins in four games, knocked off the leading Flyers 5-2 Friday night, at Niagara Falls, and clipped the Black Hawks 5-4 Sunday at St. Catharines.

But the Rangers have played three less games than the Flyers, and two less than the Habs. The weekend action left Kitchener and Montreal tied for second place in the standings, each with 29 points on 14 wins and a tie, only three behind the injury-riddled Flyers.

Other games—all played on Sunday—saw Toronto Marlboros trim Ottawa 9-3 and Hamilton Red Wings trounce Oshawa Generals 9-3.

Marlies and Hamilton now are tied, only one point out of second place

Marshall Clipper Standout

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

For Willie Marshall, centre with Hamilton Clippers of the American Hockey League, expansion of the National League came about five years too late.

A minor league workhorse since turning pro with Charlestown Islanders of the old Eastern League in 1951-52, the 36-year-old centre was just too old to consider when the six new NHL teams were formed last summer.

Sunday he scored three times as the Clippers tied Buffalo Bisons 5-5. His second and third goals, both unassisted, created the tie after Buffalo had gone ahead 5-3 with early third period goals.

He's had a goal and five assists in 33 NHL games all with Toronto Maple Leafs. But he never managed to stick in the majors because of his size.

It was a busy game of the weekend for the Clippers. Buffalo beat 5-2 Saturday in Cleveland Barons, leaders of the league's Western Division.

Springfield Kings maintained their Eastern Division lead despite losing 6-3 to Providence Reds Sunday after beating Hershey Bears 5-2 Saturday. The Bears had a lost weekend, dropping a 6-2 decision Sunday to Quebec Aces.

KC Blues Defeat Dallas 4-1

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Kansas City Blues continued their winning ways at home Sunday night, sweeping past Dallas Black Hawks 4-1 in the day's only Central Hockey League game.

Kansas City built a 3-0 lead in the first two periods before Dallas broke through for its only goal on a penalty shot by Jack Stanfield in the third period.

Roger Pi-ette scored two goals for Kansas City while team-mates George Gullbault and Larry Billows each tallied one.

In other games Saturday, Houston Apollos beat Memphis South Stars 6-4, Kansas City whipped Dallas 7-2 and Oklahoma City Blazers blanked Omaha Knights 2-0.

Weather Halts Matches

Newcastle U. Ties Manchester 1-1

LONDON (CP) — Left full-back Tony Dunn hit a ball from the touchline Saturday and gave Manchester United a draw against Newcastle United—a goal that kept United at the top of the English League soccer standings on a day ruined by frozen grounds and snow.

Manchester United now leads the First Division by one point from Liverpool and Manchester City.

Three matches were postponed in the First Division. Two other matches—Arsenal-Sheffield Wednesday and Nottingham Forest—Leicester City—were abandoned before the end of the matches because of the weather.

Altogether 21 matches were postponed in the big freeze on sport throughout Britain.

The weather ruled out play by Scottish First-Division leading Glasgow Rangers. Rival Celtic took advantage of this to advance within two points of their neighbors with a 3-1 victory over Hearts.

Partick Thistle tied 3-3 with Motherwell to stretch its consecutive unbeaten streak to eight games. Tommy Rae scored in the 85th minute to gain the tie.

Four of the six First Division games of the Scottish League ended in ties.

St. Mirren kept its two-point lead over Arbroath at the top of the Second Division with a 2-0 win over Montrose. Arbroath beat Dumbarton 4-3.

Newcastle stormed ahead early in the second half on a goal by Jim Dey in the 48th minute and two minutes later left winger Tom Robson slid a ball into the net on the snow and skidded between the posts himself.

Liverpool stayed on the heels of Manchester United by defeating Leeds United 2-0 on goals by Roger Hunt in the 18th minute from a pass by Tony Hately.

Then Liverpool got what amounted to a free goal. Leeds goalkeeper Gareth Sprake was denied six yards out to grab the ball. He attempted to throw the ball to one of his own men, but it slipped out of his hands and flew into his own net.

Roberto Clemente Tops in Batting

CINCINNATI (AP) — Singles and a lot of them still are the secret of winning the National League batting championship.

Roberto Clemente of Pittsburgh Pirates won the title in 1967 crown for the fourth time with a .357 batting average. His "singles average" was .713.

Clemente went to bat 585 times to accumulate the best hitting average of his 13-year major league career. He collected a total of 209 hits and drove in 110 runs-second only to the 111 of Orlando Cepeda of St. Louis Cardinals. Clemente's hits included 150 singles, 26 doubles, 10 triples and 23 home runs.

In fact, only one of the top six batters came up with a "singles average" of less than .700, and home run king Henry Aaron of Atlanta Braves, who hit 39 homers and 105 singles, wound up in a seventh-place tie with Richie Allen of Philadelphia Phillies. Both batted .307 for the season.

Ivanhoe, Stirling Win Pair

The Stirling Rebels also came up with a brace of victories defeating the Shoemen 5-3 and edging the Merchants 12-1.

Gene Francis was again the big gun for the Knights scoring six goals in two games, four of them against Foxboro.

Harold Bailey had a pair for the Merchants' defeat with Jim Thane and Bud Hill also scoring.

John Hill got two of the Foxboro goals as did Art Deline. Larry Marshall and Dave Cox got the others.

Glen Spencer's two goals paced the Rebels' 5-3 verdict over the Shoemen. Don Potts, Ken McConnell and Jack Knight scored the rest.

Hornets Clip Aces 3-1

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Toronto Marlboros, it seems, need to be losing in order to win.

The Marlies came from behind again Saturday to fire past Belleville Mo-Hawks 7-3 in Ontario Hockey Association senior action.

Galt Hornets clipped Kingston Aces 3-1 in another Saturday game to move to within three points of first place in the standings. Aces lead the series with 30 points on 14 wins and two ties.

Youngster 11, A Five-Pin Sensation

HAMILTON (CP) — Ev Woods of Hamilton won the women's division of the master bowlers five-pin championship Sunday, defeating Arlene Hoult and Jean Kmauss, both of Toronto, by a single pin.

Woods rolled the fourth annual master-bantam tournament, Miss Woods totalled 1,645 for six games. Hoult and Kmauss each scored 1,644.

Ralph Pittaro of Lambeth, Ont., won the men's division with 1,874.

The one-day tournament also featured team play with each master bowling with a bantam girl and boy.

Winners with a total of 3,098 were master bowler Joe Roncadin and bantams Ron Walles and Sandy Young, all of Toronto.

Winning girl was Mary Anne Snow of Toronto with 769.

Chuvalo Returns To Ring

TORONTO (CP) — George Chuvalo, 30, the Canadian heavyweight boxing champion, from Toronto, Sunday announced he will return to the ring late in January or early in February.

Chuvalo's future has been in doubt since he suffered a cheek injury in a fight with undefeated Joe Frazier of Philadelphia several months ago.

The Canadian Boxing Federation announced Saturday in Moncton, N.B., that Chuvalo must announce his intentions within 30 days or forfeit his Canadian title.

The federation said that if Chuvalo plans to continue, he will be ordered to defend his title against Bob Felstein of Toronto.

Irv Ungerman, Chuvalo's manager, said George Galinford of New York City, who managed former middleweight Sugar Ray Robinson, is in England attempting to arrange a fight between Chuvalo and Henry Cooper, the British Empire heavyweight champion.

Canada Defeats Romania

WINNIPEG (CP) — Canada's national hockey team skated rings around its Romanian counterpart but had trouble scoring in a 6-1 exhibition victory Sunday.

The Canadians ran into solid goal-tending by Constantin Dumitraf, who made 28 saves in the first two periods, and Mihai Steiculescu, who made 11 saves in the third period. Canada also blew a handful of good chances with excessive passing.

The Romanians helped their hosts by making little use of the bodycheck, a style of play made to order for big Danny O'Shea. He scored two of the Canadian goals while Terry O'Malley, Gerry Pinder, Jean Cusson and Herb Pinder got the others.

Richard Arlen and Buddy Rogers to Appear on Lucy Show

Arlen and Rogers were part of the glittering Paramount team during the 1920s and 1930s. They are turning up on Lucille Ball's show as a piece of inspired casting. The plot has Lucille and Carol Burnett graduating as airline hostesses and joining the hedge-hopping clrites of Arlen and Rogers. The point is that Arlen and Rogers starred in Wings, made just 40 years ago.

Time has been kind to both stars. Arlen is 67 but still trim of frame and luxuriant of hair. Buddy's curly locks have receded a bit, but he retains his ruddy-faced handsomeness at 63.

Arlen has continued his acting career, appearing in the westerns of producer A. C. Lyles, as well as making bears in the lecture circuit. Rogers has dabbled in production and watches after the investments of himself and his wife, Toronto-born Mary Pickford.

The two old friends met for lunch at the old home lot, Paramount, and talk naturally drifted back to Wings.

"I was making $300 a week at the time, and they couldn't afford to drop me," said Arlen, "so had borrowed so much money from the studio that they had to keep me on until I repaid it. That was a trick I had learned from Bill Boyd, who later became Hopalong Cassidy. He had done the same thing when he was signed by Paramount."

"I was making $75 a week, but they only gave me $65," said Rogers. "They took $10 a week out for a suit they had given me.

"That made me sore. Here we were, doing our own flying in Wings—and being our own cameramen as well; the cameramen were strapped to the planes and we'd turn them on and off. Well, one day I had to make a forced landing in a cornfield, and I came back hopping mad. I was risking my life for Paramount and the studio was tabbing 10 lousy bucks out of my paycheque for a suit of clothes!"

Both actors had the last word. Within a few years Arlen was being paid $5,000 a week on a 52-week-a-year contract. And Rogers' pay jumped to $10,000 a week.

White House Wedding Tops List

NEW YORK (AP)—Viewers may complain these days about the "sameness" of television—the same old plots, the same old jokes, the same old faces. Maybe that is partly true, but there was a particularly interesting demonstration of diversity of programming during the weekend.

Anyone with a television set and access to a network channel on Saturday could have been the next best thing to an invited guest at the White House wedding of Lynda Bird Johnson. And it was a lovely, dignified wedding complete with radiant bride, handsome, uniformed bridegroom and beaming proud parents.

Sunday afternoon there was the usual choice of political interviews and football games. In the evening, viewers from the current stage Hello, Dolly! and then saw Ed Sullivan wring out into a rainy New York street to unveil the marquee of a theatre renamed in his honor.

This was immediately followed by excerpts from the famous Christmas show of the Radio City Music Hall in New York.

Then on the educational network there was a violinist Yehudi Menuhin and Indian satirist Ravi Shankar playing a duet during a concert in the United Nations General Assembly hall.

Sullivan on CBS was having a premature celebration of 20 years in television. It was an arbitrary date for the anniversary show since his first television broadcast took place in June, 1948. But by June, 1968, the Sullivan show will have gone into summer reruns.

Aside from the appearance of Pearl Bailey in the Hello, Dolly! number, there was little in the program's entertainment portion to mark the anniversary—Alan King fuming about the outstretched hands of the holiday season; Gwen Verdon in an elaborate dance number; Robert Merrill in an operatic aside, and the Canadian comedians Wayne and Shuster in a sketch.

Recommended tonight: Winged World, CBS 7:30-8:30 EST, another in the National Geographic Society specials; Movin' with Nancy, NBC, 8-9, Nancy Sinatra's first special with assists from Dean Martin, Sammy Davis Jr., and her father, Frank Sinatra.

Conception Is Rare After Fifty

By Dr. Joseph G. Molner

Dear Dr. Molner: I am 49 and have not menstruated for a little over a year. Can you tell me if I can become pregnant? — Mrs. W. T.

And similar letters from women who are 48, 51, 52, 56, 47, and you name the age.

The question of pregnancy after 45 is a bugbear to many women, and they can usually, body — namely me, a good deal of the time — to give them a positive answer.

It isn't solely a question of age, although age has a good deal to do with it.

There are authentic cases of women from 50 to 52 bearing healthy babies, but it doesn't happen often.

There have been other cases in which women were not sure of their age, birth records were lost or destroyed. There have been still other cases in which women, claiming to be past 50, pregnancy ted on careful quizzing that they were younger than they said — possibly the one circumstance in which women seem to be tempted to fib about their age in that direction!

As women approach 50, fertility is reduced, so pregnancy is unlikely. After 50, chance of conception is negligible (although not impossible).

Rather than trying to judge by age alone, the better way is to be guided by cessation of menstrual periods. Since some (although not many) women still menstruate at the age of 50 or 52, there may be some chance, although small, that they can become pregnant.

But it is likewise generally accepted that when menstruation has ceased, when there has not been a period for a year, pregnancy is as unlikely as to be considered beyond expectation.

No one can say that it is impossible, because some rare and extraordinary exception does occur, but I don't know that it has ever happened. And that, I think, is the most definite answer that can be given to this frequent question.

Dear Dr. Molner: All my records show that I have known eyes but about two months ago I noticed that they are mostly blue. What would cause a person's eyes to change color? — L. G.

Changing eye color is not common but it can occur. The cause usually is a type of iritis (the iris of the eye being affected). I suggest that you have a detailed examination by an eye specialist.

Dear Dr. Molner: I notice that doctors are still recommending buttermilk to people who are concerned about being overweight, intimating that there is almost the same number of calories as in skim milk, therefore better than whole milk. I had understood otherwise. — Mrs. C. R.

According to my figures, both skim milk and buttermilk contain a trace of fat and about 90 calories a cup; a cup of whole milk has about nine grams of fat and 160 calories. Hence buttermilk or skim milk is preferable to whole milk for a calorie-counter.

Note to P.C.: Pressure inside the eye can vary but 20 is regarded as the upper limit or normal. After that, one suspects glaucoma. Your reading at the upper limit, led to the warning of "borderline glaucoma." Your medication brought the pressure down, and it stayed down even after medication was stopped. That is basically an answer to hopeful — but glaucoma can be treacherous, so if I were you I would have the pressure checked at, say, six-months intervals.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Lynda Johnson and Husband Honeymoon at Virgin Islands

CHARLOTTE AMALIE (AP) — President Johnson's daughter Lynda and his new son-in-law honeymooned today in the privacy of one of the Virgin Island's most exclusive resorts after the first White House wedding in 53 years.

Lynda and Capt. Charles S. Robb of the U.S. Marine Corps spent their wedding night at the White House, then slipped aboard a commercial airliner Sunday afternoon and flew to San Juan, Puerto Rico. A private plane took them to St. Thomas, and then they had a 15-minute boat ride to St. John, three miles east of St. Thomas, where they are staying at the Caneel Bay Plantation.

A rumor persisted that the couple would go on to Hawaii, but there was no confirmation. Robb has leave from his military duties until Dec. 29.

Both Lynda and her mother have visited the Caneel Bay home of Millionaire Laurence S. Rockefeller, who has developed the northeast tip of the nine-mile-long island as an exclusive resort.

While the newlyweds relaxed in the Caribbean, Mrs. Johnson planned to fly to Texas today to join the president at their ranch. He flew down Saturday night after the wedding, saying he was "very tired."

Robb's family, from Milwaukee, held a big reunion Sunday at an inn near Winchester, Va., attended by his 83-year-old grandmother, Mrs. Harvey J. Sims, and 59 other relatives.

The White House bustled with workmen changing from wedding to Christmas decorations. They had plenty of red and white flowers, holly, mistletoe and other evergreens left from the wedding.

The traditional floor-to-ceiling Christmas tree was being installed in the Blue Room, where the bridal couple and their parents greeted guests with hugs, kisses and handshakes after the ceremony.

In the place of the wedding altar in the East Room, a creche with a Nativity scene was being installed.

But the wedding itself isn't likely to be forgotten soon.

Lynda, 23, goes into the history books as the seventh presidential daughter to wed in the White House, and the wedding couldn't have been better —everything was great.

Another presidential daughter —83-year-old Mrs. Alice Roosevelt Longworth, who was married in the same spot in 1906, called it the "prettiest wedding I ever saw."

Lynda's wedding dress was by Geoffrey Beene, a simple long white satin A-line with a frilly veil and a 12-yard silk train. Her hair was swept up in a bouffant style she wore pale makeup and false eyelashes.

The bridegroom wore his marine dress uniform.

Leger's Temporary Successor Long-time Friend of Cardinal

MONTREAL (CP) — Msgr. Paul Gregoire, who steps into the shoes of Paul-Emile Cardinal Leger on a temporary basis, has devoted much of his life to education and college life.

The 63-year-old cardinal and the 56-year-old monsignor, friends for many years, officiated at a final mass together Sunday night at Notre Dame Cathedral in the old section of Montreal.

Today Cardinal Leger, who resigned as archbishop of Montreal more than a month ago, departs for Africa and his new role as a humble missionary priest among lepers.

Hardly a ripple appears on the ecclesiastical calm as Msgr. Gregoire, who has been auxiliary bishop of Montreal since Oct. 25, 1961—just one day after his 50th birthday—becomes apostolic administrator of the see until an archbishop is appointed.

It was as an apostolic administrator that Cardinal Leger served since he resigned was accepted by Pope Paul. Bishop Gregoire has so frequently acted in the absence of the cardinal—particularly during sessions of the Vatican Council—that he is thoroughly familiar with the administration of the archdiocese. Biggest in the Commonwealth and second in North America.

A church source defined an apostolic administrator as a "direct delegate" of the Pope in charge during the vacancy of an episcopal see. The decree from the Sacred College of Cardinals gives Msgr. Gregoire full rights, duties and faculties except that the role is temporary.

A Montreal native, Paul Gregoire went to high school in Verdun and then attended Le Seminaire de Ste. Therese—as did Paul-Emile Leger. They both also attended Montreal's Grand Seminary.

But when the young Gregoire was ordained in May, 1937, Leger was serving in Japan, serving as a missionary. Besides the theology studied at Le Grand Seminaire, Father Gregoire also took a doctorate in philosophy from the University of Montreal and a degree in arts, pedagogy and history.

He served as director of the seminary at Ste. Therese, some 20 miles north of Montreal, for eight years. He also was professor of philosophy of education at L'ecole Normale Secondaire here, and at l'Institut Pedagogique.

Father Gregoire guided the spiritual life of many thousands of young French-Canadians as chaplain at University of Montreal for 11 years until 1961 when he was appointed auxiliary bishop of Montreal and bishop of Curubi, an ancient Roman Catholic see not now active.

He was also appointed director of the office of the clergy and president of the episcopal commission on ecumenism.

Associates say the archbishop and auxiliary bishop worked very closely together. Until last year they lived and worked together at the cathedral residence along with some 20 other priests.

Aides speak of Msgr. Gregoire's earnest and sincere manner and the human warmth he brings to personal relationships.

"He is a devotee of the personal approach," said one priest with a smile.

Stapley on Cars

Never Venture Out in Winter On Deserted Wasteland Roads

One of the worst things in the world you can do at this time of year is venture up north in the barren wastelands when the car is not fully equipped. You are not dressed to survive in freezing temperatures. I don't think I shall ever forget my business trip I made to Point au Baril in 1940.

About 20 miles before Point au Baril it started to drizzle, forming a wet coating over the glare ice of the deserted road. I was desperate and had to keep moving. After burning my way up several hills, the overtaxed engine finally boiled. The heater quit and limped into a service station where I asked the attendant to fill the cars tank with gas and, after it cooled, to top up the radiator. Meanwhile I went into the restaurant to thaw out over a cup of coffee.

About five miles further on the engine boiled again. I dared not stop in the wilderness and finally managed to reach my destination, where I removed the cylinder head and discovered an irreparable crack. While I can never be certain, I have the radiator that had been filled before the engine had had a chance to cool.

I finished a new head, finished my business, and started out on the return trip. It began to snow quite heavily, and about halfway up a steep hill the wheels lost their traction and the car dropped down on its side in a huge snowdrift beside the road. It was just dusk and the temperature was dropping fast. I forced the door open and looked vainly for some sign of life, shivering in my light topcoat and rubbers. A wolf howled. Believe me, I have never felt so lonely or so frightened.

I had been warned at a service station further back that it was a dangerous area in the and it was unlikely there would be any other cars on the road that night if I got into trouble. As I stood there pondering my plight, I heard the roar of engines, and waved frantically to two heavy trucks roaring by me. After reaching the crest of the hill 12 hefty bush workers walked back and lifted my car bodily back onto the road and pushed me up to the top of the hill.

Several more close calls later, I finally made Highway 11 where I packed it in and stayed at a hotel. In those days I was a lot younger, but it taught me a lesson I shall never forget. Unless absolutely necessary, never venture out in the winter on deserted rural roads. If you must make the trip, be certain you are adequately dressed for zero temperatures. The car should be equipped with studded snow tires, and there should be a shovel and an adequate supply of sand or ashes in the trunk. People have died under these same circumstances.

Many readers have asked me when it's wise to replace the battery. Before the introduction in the mid-50's of the 6-volt battery on most domestic vehicles, the six-volt battery seemed far more forgiving and would start the motor mist it was aging. The starter would turn over more and more slowly, but the car would usually catch. The 12-volt battery seems to provide sufficient current to spin the motor rapidly until its reserves are exhausted, and within seconds cranking goes dead. It's well to remember that the plates of a battery start to disintegrate from the first day of use — just as a tire's tread is worn with each revolution of the wheel. The chemical reaction that takes place inside the battery gradually takes its toll.

I have dismantled batteries and found the lead coating from 70 per cent of the positive plates and lying in powder in the bottom. I have seen batteries fail in less than a year, but I have also seen them last as much as 5 years. Driving pattern has a lot to do with battery life—short pokey runs in the city where the battery is never given a chance to get fully charged can considerably shorten its life expectancy.

McMinn testing equipment will usually accurately tell you the condition of the battery. Insist that the battery be properly tested when the car is tuned. While this is one of the most important parts of a tune-up, it is frequently overlooked. If the test results are questionable, particularly in zero temperature areas, it's wise to replace the battery immediately. You may squeeze a few extra miles out of the old unit, but sudden failure is aggravating and sometimes downright dangerous.

Incidentally, you stand a far better chance of getting a good buy in batteries from the garage man you know than from a stranger miles away from home. The reassurance of knowing that you have the reserve offered by a new unit should your car fail to start on the first try is well worth the investment.

PC Association Gets Partial Control of Party Headquarters

OTTAWA (CP) — The Conservative national association has gained partial control of party headquarters, up to now the personal responsibility of the national leader.

Under the move, approved at a weekend meeting of the party's national executive, the association was authorized to have its own staff and space at the Ottawa headquarters.

Dalton Camp, association president, indicated to reporters following the meeting that details of the new arrangement are still to be worked out.

He said the move would give the association control over certain "budget matters," but did not elaborate on this point, so the measure of fiscal control passing to the association was not clear.

The association would have at least one appointee at headquarters, Mr. Camp said. Final arrangements would become known after consultations with Robert Stanfield, PC leader.

It was apparent the change had the blessing of Mr. Stanfield, who told the meeting he wanted to lighten the organizational load on the leader and share the responsibility with others.

Some such move had been in the wind for some time.

E. A. Goodman, co-chairman of the September leadership convention which replaced John Diefenbaker with Mr. Stanfield, was appointed by the new leader to head a committee to study reorganization of headquarters.

Mr. Camp said Mr. Goodman had made a preliminary report to the leader, but contents were not divulged.

The president shed no light on how the new arrangement would affect Eugene Rheaume, who has been in charge of headquarters on an interim basis while the Stanfield-ordered examination took place.

In effect, he has been doing the job of national director under the old setup. Whether the reorganization would retain this post is not known.

The national executive also ordered the establishment of a seven-member committee to make a review of the association's constitution including ways to permit the association to review the leadership.

Little Alarm Shown

Most public officials in the Quinte area appear unconcerned about a proposal that Trenton's schools amalgamate westward to Northumberland County rather than toward Belleville and Hastings County.

The provincial government recently announced present boards would be forced to amalgamate on a county basis by 1969.

Trenton Board of Education Chairman, Douglas Whitley said yesterday the town schools should amalgamate with Northumberland County areas rather than move toward Hastings County and Belleville.

Mayor-elect Dr. J. Russell Scott of Belleville said this

NHA Stays Same

OTTAWA (CP) — The federal government today turned down the provinces cold on demands for changes in the National Housing Act.

Labor Minister Nicholson said no NHA amendments will be made despite pleas Monday by most provinces at the federal-provincial housing conference.

Trenton Future Seen in West

By MAURICE SWITZER
Staff Reporter

TRENTON — Provincial government deadlines for amalgamation of local school boards has sent the local board of education westward for allies.

W. Douglas Whitley, chairman of the local board's larger units committee, last night predicted Trenton would be a member community in an east Northumberland County school board, representing as many as 12,000 elementary and secondary students, by the new year.

"As a separated town, we thought we'd be left alone as an 'island' of education — we would actually prefer that," Mr. Whitley said, following last night's board of education meeting.

"But when Mr. Robarts said Ontario's seven separated towns would be involved in the formation of 'county-size' school boards, we knew we'd better act before the government acted for us."

Trenton's geography finds it split between Hastings county on the east and Northumberland on the west.

"Our natural growth is to the west — because of the "barrier" presented on the east by the RCAF base."

Mr. Whitley told the annual ratepayers' meeting several weeks ago, in campaigning for re-election to the board of education that Trenton's educational development, as well as that in other fields, could be "swallowed up" by expan-

News Briefs

TORONTO (CP) — Brig. J. G. Sprague, general manager of the Ontario Liquor Control Board, says Ontario liquor prices probably will go up about 20 to 25 cents a 26-ounce bottle. He says it is possible the increase may be announced this week. No increase has been announced for beer and wine.

OTTAWA (CP) — Almost 23,000 retired civil servants are living on pensions of less than $200 a month and 462 get less than $20 a month. The figures were provided Monday in a written Commons reply to questions by Stanley Knowles (NDP - Winnipeg North Centre.)

Johnson Pledges Rights of English To Be Respected

MONTREAL (CP) — Premier Daniel Johnson of Quebec said Monday the rights of the English-speaking minority in the province "must be and will be respected."

Speaking at a banquet in honor of Jean-Paul Beaudry, Quebec minister of industry and commerce, Mr. Johnson said the English-speaking community in Quebec "will not have to beg for its rights as some of our people (French-Canadians) have had to beg for their rights in other provinces."

Martin Talks To Rusk About Vietnam War

BRUSSELS (CP) — External Affairs Minister Paul Martin schedules two conferences today with U.S. State Secretary Dean Rusk on Vietnam, the unyielding war which Martin believes stands in the way of agreement on East-West arms reduction.

Martin, who met with Rusk for an hour Monday, declined in an interview to indicate the nature of his talks with the U.S. official except to say today's conversation will be on Vietnam.

The Canadian minister also will confer with British Foreign Secretary George Brown and French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville.

But Martin and Defence Minister Cadieux have emphasized in meetings here that there can be no hope of a mutual reduction of east-west arms until the Vietnam war is settled.

As Martin pursued these talks, the 14 defence ministers of NATO's military pact put the finishing touches to a five-year NATO military program which goes into effect in 1968.

Cadieux said in an interview that while each country will give a five-year forecast of contributions, firm commitments will be made for one year only. The over-all program will be reviewed at the end of each year and a new forecast made of forces for the next five-year period.

In this way, the 14 military partners—all the NATO members but France—are looking beyond the day in 1969 when any member country can withdraw.

THE WEATHER

Synopsis: Two vigorous storm centres one in lower Michigan and the other near the Lakehead will combine into a single storm north of the Great Lakes this evening. The result will be at least a temporary surge of colder air down over the province tonight and Wednesday.

Brockville Area Students Miss Second Day at School

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Thousands of rural school pupils in Eastern Ontario took a second consecutive day off today, but travel officers can only blame adverse weather conditions.

Freezing rain covered most of the northern and eastern sections of the province Monday night making secondary roads in rural areas impassable for the second day.

Rural school bus service in four townships in the Brockville and Smiths Falls areas did not operate on treacherous backroads and about 3,000 elementary and secondary school students stayed home.

A total of 750 students in Elgin, 40 miles northwest of Brockville, were also absent from classrooms. Twelve schools in the Smiths Falls area cancelled classes as roads were described as "skating rinks."

Milder temperatures at Orillia, Barrie and Cornwall improved the road situation in those areas Monday night and all school buses were back in operation today.

In Prescott, 20 miles northeast of Brockville, about 200 high school students were reported absent and elementary school buses were not in service in St. Andrew's.

The family formed a solid bloc of seven among the 50 new Canadians receiving citizenship. ## U.S. Senator and Wife Escape Viet Cong Fire

SAIGON (CP) — Senator Charles Percy of Illinois, considered a Republican U.S. presidential possibility, today came under Viet Cong mortar and small-arms fire while walking through the devastated South Vietnamese village of Dakson with other American civilians.

His wife was waiting in a nearby helicopter, which took off as two mortar rounds burst within 20 feet, Percy told correspondents later.

No one in the party was hurt. Other helicopters lifted the Republican senator and his companions out of danger.

Percy, his wife, two photographers and two civilian officials were visiting the Montagnard village where U.S. embassy officials said some 200 villagers were killed by North Vietnamese troops a week ago. The village is near the Cambodian border, 70 miles north of Saigon.

"I left Mrs Percy in the helicopter with the engine ticking over as there was no sign of life in the village," Percy said.

Ten minutes later a burst of automatic rifle fire sent Percy and his party to the ground. The fire was followed by five mortar shells, one of which burst 15 feet from the senator, he told reporters later.

Percy, who had cuts on his hands, said the men had only two weapons between them, a small carbine and a .38-calibre pistol both carried by Dennis Smith, a U.S. refugee official.

"Small-arms fire ripped through some of the huts and Dennis (Smith) gave me the pistol," the senator added.

"Dennis Smith was magnificent," said the senator. "He directed us out. When the mortars came in I started off crawling on the ground toward the bugle. He directed me the right way."

Saigon Region Troops Shelled in Bivouac

SAIGON (AP) — Communist forces kept up their attack on U.S. troops around Saigon today, heavily shelling a unit of the 25th Infantry Division in eight bivouac positions along the southern edge of War Zone D.

The 25th Division troops who were hit 25 miles northwest of Saigon, countered with a steady stream of mortar, artillery and machine-guns fire across open rice paddies.

Sweeping the battlefield at dawn, the Americans found the bodies of 39 Communist troops, some of them North Vietnamese regulars and others Viet Cong.

American casualties were only six wounded, a spokesman said.

Mrs. Barbara Cooney checks out organization details with United Steelworkers' representative Hogan. The Belleville woman was elected president of newly-formed union local at Amplifone at Club Canara meeting last night.

Public School Board
Purchase Site for Expansion

The Belleville public school board last night approved the purchase of about four acres of land adjacent to Sir Mackenzie Bowell School for $18,000.

The land will be used for future expansion of the ten-room school.

In one of the final acts approved by the 1967 board, chairman of the special planning and building committee, Gerald Joyce, recommended the purchase of the site.

"By buying the 4.25 acres at the present time we can save the taxpayers some money," he said." The land will be worth much more than this amount once a sub-division is formed in the area." The site would hold about 25 lots.

The land was purchased from Gowanbrae Ltd. and will increase the size of the Sir Mackenzie Bowell site to 10.45 acres. Mr. Joyce said the price had been negotiated over a period of weeks.

Board members also approved the re-appointment of Nelson McKibbon as their representative to the new Bay of Quinte High School Board.

On hand at the meeting were the three new 1968 board members — Max Haggerty, Walter Galt and Harvey Bronson. Retiring members Gerald Joyce, William Van Tassel, and Morley Lovelace thanked their fellow members for support over the years. Mr. Van Tassel has been a board member for 16 years.

Board superintendent L. A. Kells noted that the final statement for the legislative grant totalled $929,160. The board had budgeted for $900,168.

Farmers Seeking Better Deal

Canadian farmers will speak with a more effective national voice in the year ahead than they have done in the past.

This was the optimistic note detected by Walter Miller, newly-elected president of the Ontario Farmers' Union, from discussions at the Manitoba Farmers' Union annual convention held last week in Winnipeg.

Mr. Miller, of RR 2, Tara, in Bruce county was elected president of the Ontario Farmers' Union at its recent convention in Chatham.

Mr. Miller said the stronger national unity will be demonstrated early in the new year when Roy Atkinson, president of the National Farmers' Union, adds the weight of the national body to demands of the Ontario Union.

Speaking at the Manitoba convention, Mrs. Miller stressed that farmers can get a better deal only through unified action. But this unity must start at provincial and even national levels.

"We need one big union, not several groups that can be played off against one another, the trade unions found that out long ago. Let the farmers find out before it's too late."

Commenting on growing farmers' support for the Farmers' Union, Mr. Miller stressed that "if we don't fight their battles and fight them well we have no right to expect their support."

"But if the union fights the farmers' battles they'll give their support." He added that membership in the OFU had never risen as rapidly as it did when the Union organized last year's tractor demonstration.

"We're getting on our feet now. You're going to hear a lot more from the farmers in Ontario. They're going to decide whether they want a 'nice' organization or an effective one. They don't mind if they raise a little noise."

Amplifone Workers Unionize

Belleville's newest union local has a woman as president — but no number

The United Steelworkers of Canada Ltd., last night held its first major meeting at Club Canara since certification last week.

It immediately named an executive — headed by Mrs. Barbara Cooney as president — and a committee to begin negotiating the local's first contract with Amplifone

The local claims membership of 150 from the plant's 169 employees, most of them women.

Women also hold most of the executive posts in the new local. Three are three women on the five-member negotiating committee which will sit down with company officials to discuss Amplifone's first union contract.

The local will receive its charter and number immediately it notifies United Steelworkers' headquarters it has appointed its executive, said Lorne Hogan, international union representative.

Mr. Hogan said bargaining with the company will not begin until after Jan. 1.

Other local executive members are Donald Darrette, vice - president; Barbara Brenton, recording secretary; Aileen Maher, financial-secretary; Josephine Taylor, treasurer.

release federal money on better terms so provinces can buy up tracts of land for servicing and resale at low cost.

He also disclosed that the reduction in federal housing loans next year will mean the cancellation of the usual program for speculative construction.

Traditionally, builders apply under this program to put up homes during winter months without first negotiating contracts for their sale. This year Ottawa advanced the program to the spring months and sank $200,000,000 into special funding.

The second day of the conference is tackling problems of this area's rapidly growing Ontario's Stanley Randall, economics and development minister, said in Toronto today a new Ontario-Ottawa working party on federal-provincial housing will be established by year's end.

Finance Minister Sharp said there is a limit to the amout Ottawa can borrow and its needs for net new cash in 1968 will be only $250,000,000 less than 1967 as plans now stand.

Ontario Premier John Robarts urged that various federal programs for subsidized housing be played down to leave more money for programs that would "turn housing over to people," providing them with a chance to own their homes.

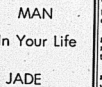
Mr. Nicholson said the federal government would "eventually" make changes to accomplish that objective, but not in 1968.

Premier Manning of Alberta and Premier Johnson of Quebec warned that if Ottawa does not borrow money for land assembly, they and other provinces will. The effect on the capital market will be the same.

Mr. Johnson said he has made a political commitment to buy up land for municipalities and prevent exorbitant cost increases by speculators.

Mr. Pearson's main suggestion Monday was the formation of a Council on Housing and Urban Development, a permanent agency that would put federal and provincial experts to work setting priorities on urban needs and suggesting ways to meet them.

The response from the premiers was cool.



Premier Smith said Nova Scotia is concerned about CMHC's policy of channelling loans to low-risk areas with healthy economies. Regional need, and risk, should be the basis of allocation.

Rotary Raises $600

Thompson Misses Vote--Speaks in Area

By MAURICE SWITZER
Staff Reporter

TRENTON — If he had to be absent from last night's Parliamentary vote of confidence a plate of beans was an appropriate alternative, said former Social Credit leader Robert Thompson.

"I couldn't show my respect for Mr. Sharp's mini-budget any better than by commiserating austerity dinner," said Mr. Thompson, one of 200 to sit down to a bean plate dinner in aid of African charities.

As it turned out, the Red Deer MP's support wouldn't have been enough to help the Opposition carry their vote of non-confidence in Finance Minister Mitchell Sharp's Nov. 30 budget. They only raised 95 votes.

But Mr. Thompson's commitment to attend the local Rotary Club's "Austerity Supper" made some months ago, served as the drawing card to raise some $600 to be distributed by CARE in Africa.

"We don't often think how well-fed we are here in Canada," said Mr. Thompson.

"Our second most critical task — next to preserving our national unity — is that of increasing international economic development, of setting the example as a country every ex-colony would want to be."

But the underprivileged nations don't want handouts, he stressed. Rather, "assistance to help them develop their own successful economies and futures."

"The greatest potential explosive force in the world today lies not in our atomic weapons, but in the character of those peoples who have survived for years on the threshold of starvation.

Now they have seen there is something better in life than they have.

It was the task of nations like Canada to preserve individual dignity and to lend assistance in a world where:

- 20 per cent of the population consumes 80 per cent of the wealth.
- $200 billion is spent annually on warfare, but less than $10 billion on peaceful development.
- 250 million children between the ages of five and 14 will never have the chance to attend school.
- More people will starve in the next 10 years than have died in all the wars of history.
- Two-thirds of the population have a per capita income of less than $200 annually.
- The rapidly expanding population will double to six billions in the forseeable future.
- One-third of the global community now faces starvation, another one-third are barely surviving.

"No nation, like no man, is an island," said the former national Social Credit leader.

"For a country like Canada, where distribution may be a problem — but not production — a major objective must be to set examples for the rest of the world."

Rotary club president W. J. Wilkinson told last night's audience in the Legion auditorium over 200 — $2 tickets had been sold for the Austerity supper, which offered bread, beans and coffee as the main-and only-course.

A $200 cheque contributed by the Branch 119 Legion Ladies' Auxiliary boosted the night's receipts.

Mr. Thompson himself put the finishing touches on the project.

He donated a box of prize locally-grown apples, presented as a gift, to a Christmas food fund of the Rotary Club's choice.

Two Dollars for 'Beans'

TRENTON — The "why's" of giving were put bluntly at last night's "Austerity Supper" by Rotary Club president W. J. Wilkinson.

"Why should you pay $2 for a plate of beans?

"Because millions of children are starving while you eat them.

"And what about poverty at home?

"It's infinitesimal when compared to that in Africa."

The local Rotarians sponsored last night's dinner, with Social Credit M.P. Robert Thompson as guest speaker to raise funds to be distributed to African charities through CARE.

An acknowledged expert on African issues, the former national Social Credit Party leader is a member of the House of Commons Standing Committee on External Affairs.

Mr. Thompson has participated in numerous delegations to Africa and Asia, and served as the deputy-minister of education in Ethopia for a time after World War II.

William J. Morrison, Educator, Laid to Rest

The funeral service for William John Morrison was held Monday afternoon from the chapel of the Pinkston and Luscombe Funeral Home to Bridge St. United Church for services. Dr. H. M. Davis officiated at the church and at the grave side at Belleville Cemetery.

The bearers were Dr. J. G. Demeza, Arthur Clare, John Hodgson, Bryson Leslie, Harold Mott and John Deacon. Representatives of the board of the church and Rotary Club as well as former and present teachers from the Ontario School for the Deaf and their students paid their last respects to the well known educator.

Mr. Morrison of 137 Bridge St. East passed away at his residence on Friday in his 85th year. He was born in Beeton, Ont., son of the late Mr. and Mrs. James C. Morrison and has been living in Belleville for the past 22 years. He previously resided in Brantford.

Mr. Morrison donated over half of his life to education beginning his career as a high school teacher in Listowell before he attended Queen's. He was an honor graduate of chemistry at the University of Toronto and continued his career as high school principal at Bowmanville and Inspector of Public Schools at Brantford.

Mr. Morrison came to Belleville as superintendent of the Ontario School for the Deaf in 1925. He retired from the position in 1953.

In the community Mr. Morrison was as active as he was in education. He was a member of the official board of Bridge St. United Church and an elder and had also been very active in the recent building campaign of the church.

He was also past president and an honorary member of the Rotary Club and past president of the Red Cross branch in this city. Mr. Morrison was past president of the Community Concert Association, a member of The Belleville Lodge A.F. and A.M. No. 123 and a member of the Board of Governors of Albert College.

Surviving him are his son, John Morrison of Ottawa and his daughters Miss Isabelle Morrison of London and Miss Kathleen Morrison (a teacher at B.C.I.) of Belleville. He was predeceased by his wife, the former Isabelle Clapman.

Urban Renewal Surveys Under Way in Trenton

TRENTON — The first of two scheduled urban renewal surveys is under way.

Project Planning Associates Ltd., began a detailed structural and social study of a west Trenton area off Front St. this week to determine what improvements the town might carry out in the district.

A second survey, in east Trenton along Bay St., will be undertaken by the same firm in the first two weeks of January.

Householders are being asked to co-operate with the four survey assistants conducting the study.

Total cost of the two surveys is about $20,000.

Federal and provincial subsidies cover all but 25 per cent of the cost, with the town's share in the $4,000 range.

Town council authorized the projects earlier this year.

Loyalist Campus Marks First Anniversary

MADOC — The board of governors for Loyalist — Sir Sandford Fleming community colleges marked their first anniversary here last night with another first.

The first certificate issued to a student by the Belleville-area Loyalist campus — which opened September — was formally approved and signed.

It goes to John Ormsby, a 40-year-old Trenton man, who successfully completed six advanced technology subjects in night school at Belleville Collegiate.

The board of governors also marked the anniversary by retstalling Bancroft parish priest Rev. H. J. Maloney as chairman for another year, and Judge J. C. Anderson, of Belleville, as a vice-chairman.

Father Maloney steered the board through perhaps its most crucial period — the formative months when it began from scratch to establish the community college movement in the Kawartha-Quinte region of Ontario.

In that time it took the decision to split the college campus with two units in the Belleville and Peterborough areas, established basic operational formats and launch the colleges in temporary quarters.

The first year of operation also was crowned with recent provincial government approval for a $139,000 purchase of land for the Loyalist campus just west of Belleville.

PEOPLE INDUSTRY GROWS

Now tourism is probably the world's fastest-growing industry — in 1966 some 116,000,000 people journeyed outside their homelands

Two Thefts in Trenton Show Similar Technique

TRENTON — Police are working on the theory a pair of daylight thefts, totalling some $700 from Front St. locations within a week, are connected.

Saturday, $500 cash was taken from a bag in a desk door in an unlocked office at MacDonald's Hardware.

Owner, Mayor D. James MacDonald, told police receipts were being kept in the office desk until the store's cash register could be repaired.

A number of cheques in the money bag were left behind, by the thief.

And town police are still conducting an investigation into the Thursday noon hour theft of $205 from the motor vehicle license bureau in the Chamber of Commerce office.

No new license plates were taken in the theft, scene of which is no more than 100 yards from MacDonald's hardware store.

School Ground Lighting Sought by Trustee

TRENTON — A pilot lighting project for town school properties has been recommended by a board of education member.

Buildings and grounds committee chairman Louis Aziz told last night's board meeting additional lights needed to protect school areas from vandals could be obtained by rental immediately, and, in the last run, not incur much extra cost.

Mr. Aziz suggested the rental of four concrete light standards for North Trenton School as a "pilot" project used in more fully illuminating other school grounds one by one.

The four standards could be rented, for $316 a year, said Mr. Aziz, and, since they depreciate in value at the rate of 10 per cent a year, they could be purchased for a nominal sum at the end of 10 years.

Mr. Aziz said the concrete standards are designed to last about 35 years.

"The present annual cost of lighting North Trenton School is about $225 a year. The $316 rental would give us four times the lighting, and a chance to purchase the lights cheaply at a later date," he noted.

The board has been discussing problems of insufficiently-lit grounds in recent months, making particular reference to incidence of vandal-ism and mischief on school property.

Mr. Aziz said an estimated $2,500 wilful and-or accidental damage was caused to Trenton schools during 1966.

Canadian Politicians Should Follow Their Predecessors

TRENTON — Contemporary Canadian politicians would do well to follow some examples set in pre-Confederation days, says Social Credit M.P. Robert Thompson.

The Browns, Macdonalds, and Cartiers had an ability that seems to be lacking in the House of Commons of 100 years later. They could let things that divided them be set aside, at times, to be replaced by the common ties that bound them."

It was this basic quality in three main areas of discussion that led to Confederation in 1867, said Mr. Thompson.

Firstly, a mutual conviction that there should be a country called Canada. (The beginning of our much talked about "national identity," says Mr. Thompson.

Secondly, an agreement that Canada should be based on the British Parliamentary system of government, guaranteeing majority rule, and, at the same time, the rights of minorities. (Today's Parliament can't even agree on amendments let alone an entire constitution, he says.)

And thirdly, the belief that Canada should be a nation "under God."

"Today, a politician saying this would be considered 'way out in right field'."

Mr. Thompson said Canada's motto — "From sea to sea" — was coined from an Old Testament verse contributed to the 1864 Quebec conference on Confederation by Sir Leonard Tilley:

"Ye shall have dominion from sea to sea."

"Our problems in the House of Commons aren't really any different now than they were 100 years ago, and often less serious.

Housing Talks

Premier Bennett of British Columbia is playing his own separatist game these days.

He was absent from the recent Confederation of Tomorrow conference in Toronto attended by Canada's nine other provincial leaders including Premier Johnson of Quebec. Nor is he attending the federal-provincial conference on Canada's critical housing shortage which opened in Ottawa yesterday.

Whatever the reasons for Mr. Bennett's decision not to be present at either of these important meetings they give an impression of disinterest and unconcern for the affairs of the country at large.

If other premiers can find time to attend, why not Mr. Bennett?

Amid some initial doubt as to whether the proceedings will be open to the public, yesterday's opening session was televised live. This is one conference that should be public. Housing is a matter of intimate concern to each and every Canadian. That many today are without adequate accommodation is all the more reason why the whole issue should be thoroughly aired.

Water Supply

The issue of a regional water supply system for the Belleville-Trenton area is up in the air again following word from the Ontario Water Resources Commission that development of any such plan will not be pursued at this time.

The OWRC letter noted that a majority of the municipalities in the Quinte area had stated they were not interested in the proposal and accordingly no further action was contemplated.

However, Belleville for one has not lost sight of the idea completely. This is all to the good in view of the fact that sooner or later the Quinte area will be faced with the problem again — and at a time when natural growth will make it imperative that something be done.

Granted this question of water supply has not reached crisis proportions, but it is right that the broad issue should be tackled now with a view to having plans ready when the time is ripe.

Smith's Falls

Does it have an 's' on the end? Does it have an apostrophe? These two questions have plagued us on and off with regard to the town of Smith's Falls.

Now we know — and so do the citizens of the attractive community on the Rideau River some 30 miles north of Brockville.

For 40 years Smith's Falls has survived without an apostrophe. Now nemesis has arrived in the shape of the Ontario Municipal Board which has ordered the apostrophe on pain of having a request for $400,000 worth of bonds turned down.

The town needs the debentures for renovation of two hospitals. Council has readily agreed and the apostrophe will now appear on all legal documents.

An Old Master

What is there in a painting by one of the old masters that excites so much interest and commands such a tremendous price on the auction market?

Technical skill is one element, but other indefinable qualities combine to present a medium whose message is more interesting than most, to borrow from Marshall McLuhan.

In the Claude Monet work, "The Terrace at St. Andresse," which has been sold in London for $1,411,200, it is the exotic Riviera scene with the gentlemen and their ladies at leisure on the terrace and the sailboats in the bay that take one back to a more restful era.

Still, human nature has not changed much. Nostalgia is a strange emotion. It causes one to romanticize situations that at the time were a bore. The Monet scene conveys sun and warmth and a life of ease, but we wonder what were the thoughts of the two middle-aged couples on the terrace. Well now, we might begin by asking how long they had been married. !

Tax Hangover Harms Sharp's Leadership Prospects

By GREG CONNOLLEY

OTTAWA — Finance Minister Sharp may ask himself these days if he has run out of luck at a crucial time for one who would like to be leader of the Liberal party and prime minister.

Earlier this year Mr. Sharp was generally considered to be the leading candidate to succeed Prime Minister Pearson when the latter retires.

Mr. Sharp had been a good Trade and Commerce Minister. He also had shown himself to be competent in the finance portfolio.

He had a good image in Ottawa. He knew his way around in his department, in the senate and in the broad spectrum of federal administration.

His previous experience as a top civil servant and his business career were obviously helpful in his blossoming career as Liberal politician and cabinet minister.

Things looked pretty good for Mitchell Sharp until just a few months ago when it became apparent that the happy times of centennial year and Expo 67 were the prelude to a man-sized economic hangover in Canada.

For some time past Mr. Sharp had found it to be his duty in sound warnings to the nation about the price-cost spiral and inflation.

He did this in speeches up and down the country, calling for restraint by business and labor and among Canadians generally.

As 1967 moved along Mr. Sharp began to take a much tougher line and finally declared that he would have to impose tax measures to help cool out the economy.

Along with this too, he spoke of the giant economies the federal government itself was making — something of the order of $1,000,000,000.

On November 30 he unveiled his mini-budget with some tough taxing on personal income, tobacco and liquor.

Obviously Canadians were not going to like these new taxes even though they were not nearly as severe as they might have been.

But by the very fact of imposing these taxes — did Mr. Sharp harm himself as a prospect for Liberal leader?

You might guess that he could lose some support as a candidate but that perhaps he could make it up with those citizens who respected him for taking an unpopular line for the good of the nation.

Unhappily though the finance minister is being criticized from all directions for his November budget. Business and industry are complaining that it won't solve the inflation problem. These interests demand much greater economies by the government itself.

Some ordinary Canadians complain about having to pay more income tax, more for their cigarettes and booze.

Yet, other citizens who are really concerned about what inflation is doing to savings and pensions, may think Mr. Sharp should have imposed harsher tax restraints.

Any way the matter is viewed, the odds are that Mr. Sharp's political future has been harmed by the economic circumstances in which he has found himself.

And there is more to come for this would-be prime minister.

He has another budget coming in the spring. From all appearances now the prospect could well be for more taxation in some areas.

The new taxes he imposed last month and the acceleration of corporation tax payments are going to yield him an extra $320,000,000 for the next fiscal year.

This will enable him to cut an anticipated deficit of $600,000,000 to $80,000,000. But about $240,000,000 of accelerated payments from the corporations is non-recurring.

What does he do the next time around?

Hold it there, though!

Maybe he won't be minister of finance by spring.

Could it be that Mr. Pearson will have retired by then and the Liberals will have held their leadership convention?

That kind of arrangement would be good for Mr. Sharp.

It especially would be nice if it came before a showdown on whether national medicare goes ahead next July 1.

It was only a few weeks ago that Mr. Sharp warned about medicare costing $1,000,000,000 in a full fiscal year with all provinces participating. And he declared that the federal share of that — $500,000,000 — would be paid from taxation.

Mr. Sharp, it seems, needs a break to keep his image attractive to the country and the Liberal party in particular.

And the timing could be as important too.

Dr. Bert Howard, Principal of Albert College, was the guest speaker at the regular Y's Men's dinner meeting. Dr. Howard, who was introduced by Program Director Don Amos, spoke on the Belleville Inter-Service Club Council its aims and value. ## Front Street Wine Store Is Recalled

Editor,
The Intelligencer.

I have a five gallon earthen cask with the following on it — Wesley Bullen Wines and Liquors, Belleville, Ont.

I wonder if you would have information on the name of the man he was in business or perhaps some one who has knowledge of same.

FRED L. FROST

Editor's Note: Mr. Bullen was the proprietor of a wine and liquor store on Front Street a few doors north of the Bank of Montreal. It is thought that the store was closed around 1921 or about the time the Ontario Temperance Act came into force. Anyone having more detailed information might write to Mr. Frost, P. O. Box 465, Tweed, Ontario.

Finger Jabbers

Windsor Star

There is a category of individuals who are annoying. These are the people, thanks be rather rare, who point their fingers at you while talking.

They usually are dogmatic people who want to force their ideas on you. They are not interested in conversation for the sake of conversation. They are not interested in what anyone else says.

They are, of course, bores. They tend to talk incessantly, often about something in which they are interested but of little interest to others. Perhaps it is because others pay little heed to them that they resort to the pointing of fingers.

It is not always necessary that they point the finger in physical sense. They can do so by their other attitudes. They talk at you instead of with you. They are pests and nuisances and it is difficult to put up with them—and, after all, why should one?

Relations With Quebec

An Improvement in the Political Climate

Montreal Le Devoir

If one wants to draw up a balance sheet in the light of criteria normally used to judge such events, the interprovincial conference in Toronto balances out, on the whole, with fairly thin results.

Timid acceptance of a constitutional revision which could be carried out in progressive stages. Recognition, without very precise commitments by most of the premiers, of the unsatisfactory place given French outside of Quebec. Finally, the formation of a committee to ensure continuation of the work started. That, in a few words, is the baldish sheet of the Bedspread.

For the avowed or camouflaged separatists, this rather thin balance sheet is excellent: They will find in it their confirmation of preconceived opinions. For others, for those who, without making it a dogma, still believe in the possibility of a binational Canada, it is nevertheless necessary to record important progress which gives hope for the future.

First of all let us underline, and this is not to be over-looked, a net improvement in the psychological and political climate.

On the one hand it was feared that the Quebec delegation at Toronto would borrow the not very representative voice of an organization such as the Estates General. On the other hand there was fear of an undertow of Anglo-Canadian opinion.

These divergences did not occur. At Toronto, Mr. Johnson was a remarkably worthy, courteous and firm spokesman for Quebec.

Without renouncing any of his ideas, he knew in Toronto how to win sympathies, how to make friends. As a result, he succeeded, perhaps for the first time, in penetrating into the very interior of a certain Anglo-Canadian opinion which until that time had remained closed. In the other camp, even a man such as Mr. Manning, while maintaining his fundamental positions, ended by recognizing the necessity to give more attention to Quebec's point of view. . . .

Quebec, in effect, wanted two things. It demanded that there be agreement to work without delay on giving juridical recognition to the rights of French within the Canadian federation. It asked also that, through a new division of powers, Quebec be given the freedom to realize to the full its vocation as the main base of operations for French Canada. . . .

Once again, Quebec has wagered on the goodwill of English Canada. . . . Now it is the turn of English Canada to say what it wants. If it wants a Canada that includes Quebec, it should consent to a union compatible with the free flourishing of Quebec. If it wants to keep Quebec in the same conditions as in the past, it will lose it perhaps faster than is thought.

Experience of Other Countries

Linguistic Differences Could Cause Strife in Canada

By TOM HOGE

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — Canadian government endorsation of the principle of linguistic and cultural equality for the country's two founding races — French and English — holds out a language problem that has caused strife and bloodshed in other nations.

Linguistics has caused confusion in Switzerland, which has three official languages — French, German and Italian. Luxembourg made both German and French working languages, but most of its people stick to their native Luxembourg langliage.

Throughout Central and South America, Spanish is the official tongue except for Portuguese in Brazil. But millions of the hemisphere's rural population still communicate through Indian dialects that date back before Columbus.

The report of Canada's royal commission on bilingualism and biculturalism presented last Tuesday, said Canada is passing through the greatest crisis of its history.

In its report, the commission recommended that it be called a new charter, including constitutional changes, to guarantee minority language and education rights to both French- and English-speaking Canadians throughout the country.

The quest for a unifying tongue has been one of India's thorniest problems since independence was won 20 years ago. The country's 300,000,000 people speak 13 major languages and countless dialects.

The Indian constitution provides that Hindi — spoken by about 30 per cent of the population — should become the national tongue. But a vocal minority, especially in India's south, has violently opposed any switch to Hindi and threatened two years ago to bring down the government.

As a result, English remained the nation's "associate" official language.

Only this week, rioting broke out over a government bill to give English official status in non-Hindi-speaking areas. About 1,000 students raged through Old Delhi tearing down English signs.

Linguistic strife in southern India has taken at least 60 lives and there has been violence elsewhere over the language question.

Belgium, as host country to the European Common Market, has become a symbol of unification of Western Europe. But Belgium itself has long been torn by a "linguistic frontier."

North of this irregular line are the farmlands of Flanders, inhabiles by 5,000,000 Flemings who speak Flemish, a variety of Dutch. South of the border in Belgium's industrial belt, live 5,000,000 Walloons who speak French.

The government attempted two year ago to make Dutch the official language of the north and French that of the south, instead of having both tongues official throughout the nation. The move was voted down.

Party leaders have carefully avoided forcing the issue for fear of a recurrence of the language riots that nearly engulfed Belgium in civil war in 1961.

In Ireland, where nationalist resentment still burns over decades of British rule, in which nearly obliterated the ancient Gaelic tongue, attempts have been made to make Gaelic the official language.

The government uses both English and Gaelic on both street signs and official documents, and encourages schools to teach Gaelic as well as English. But few Irish know Gaelic well enough to use it in conversation.

AP News Analysis

U.S. Is Expected to Eliminate Gold Cover by Next Year

WASHINGTON (AP) — It's a matter of time before the U.S. government must cut the last remaining domestic link between gold and the American dollar. The final snip could come next year.

Most Americans, however, will hardly notice the change. Business will go on as usual. U.S. dollar bills will still be dollar bills to be spent for groceries, drugs, gasoline and thousands of other everyday items.

Internationally, the cut will free more than $10,000,000,000 in gold to defend the dollar abroad.

Those consequences would confront U.S. consumers if nothing were done and the U.S. gold pile continued to shrink. Higher international rates plus weakened confidence in the U.S. dollar abroad are two potential results.

This type of bill is the only kind now placed in circulation by the U.S. Federal Reserve Bank and each dollar must be backed under law by 25 cents in gold—the 25-per-cent gold cover.

When the United States had plenty of gold this gold cover was well in excess of the 25-per-cent ratio. It's still beyond it but not by much.

Last week's switch of $475,000,000 in gold to a special fund to cover, in part, the U.S. share of gold sold on the London market following the 14.3-per-cent devaluation of the British pound put more pressure on the gold cover.

The $475,000,000 was taken from supplies available to back paper money.

Before the switch, the available gold stock equalled 29.9 per cent of all federal reserve notes in circulation—more than $40,000,000,000. After the switch the ratio was 28.5 per cent.

The supply of gold available for backing paper money now is $12,400,000,000, lowest in 36 years, and more than $10,000,000,000 of this already is being used.

Chairman William McChesney Martin Jr. of the Federal Reserve Board has repeatedly called for quick removal of the gold cover to end any remaining doubts and uncertainty about U.S. policy.

One reason for the substantial drop in the gold pile since 1949 is that Americans spent more money overseas than foreigners spent here. This net drain is continuing. Dollars obtained by other governments in this way can be cashed in for gold at $35 an ounce.

Domestic use of the metal for such things as wedding rings and filling teeth eats into another $150,000,000 while normal growth of paper money absorbs another $500,000,000 yearly.

The treasury department, which must make the final decision, agrees the gold cover eventually must be removed but sees no immediate emergency. Officials have indicated, however, that Congress will be asked next year to remove it.

The gold cover on currency was dropped in 1945 to 25 per cent from 40 per cent. It was eliminated on bank reserves in 1965.

Corby Net Earnings Show Drop

MONTREAL (CP) — The president of H. Corby Distillery Ltd. told the annual meeting Monday that because of various "unfavorable factors to be faced in the current fiscal year" ending Aug. 31, 1968, the firm's earnings will be down from the previous year.

G. Ross Herington said the drop "perhaps" might be "as much as 50 cents" a share.

For the Aug. 31, 1967 fiscal year, Corby had a net income of $3,617,873 or $3.25 a share on sales of $34,250,452.

The president told shareholders that "devaluation of sterling has affected our investment in scotch, rum and to some extent, Tia Maria in the West Indies" and this will result in a "book loss" in these investments for the current year.

morning the matter should be investigated completely before any decision is made. "We'd certainly co-operate with Trenton if they want to amalgamate. I think this is basically an education matter."

Mayor James MacDonald of Trenton claims "There is some logic to what Mr. Whitley says. We're closer and more comparable with the western areas and I don't have any objection to their (the board of education) proposal although it is a matter for the board of education to decide."

Orval Kerr, chairman of the Bay of Quinte High School Board, says his board has discussed the issue. "We're waiting until the new board takes office in January and also for the provincial government to pass legislation. We're all speculating — nobody knows what the legislation is going to be," he said.

Mr. Kerr feels an all-inclusive board of education for Hastings County would be difficult to administer. "I don't think we can make a decision until the legislation is passed."

Frank Stakman, assistant planner with Belleville and Suburban Planning Board said, "it seem logical for Trenton to go west and plan together with Murray Township. The airport blocks Trenton's development on the east side."

The planner added that Belleville's development would probably move in a westward direction as well.

"The same may come in the distant future when Trenton and Belleville will be one unit for planning purposes," he said. "Everything points in that direction, with the provincial government urging the setting up of regional planning on a county basis."

George Bussey, Belleville and Suburban Planning Board chairman, refused to comment on Mr. Whitley's statement until he had had a chance to examine and analyze the content.

sion towards neighboring Belleville.

Meetings with Northumberland educationists were only hinted at during last night's local board meeting.

"We're still very much at the discussion stage," said Mr. Whitley.

"But we've got to get some plans going, or the province will suggest something first. It's a case of taking the initiative."

Mr. Whitley and board member Reeve Weaver will meet with Campbellford officials within the next week for further discussion on the matter.

Meanwhile, public school inspector E. T. Morris has prepared a survey of some of the schools that would be involved in a Trenton-Northumberland education board amalgamation.

"The area would involve from ten to 12 thousand pupils in all — about two-thirds more than are now under the Trenton board's jurisdiction," said Mr. Whitley.

The "discussion" stage of the proposal has also reached the point where the Trenton board has prepared a suggested outline for an East Northumberland board area.

Mr. Whitley would only say the proposed area would be cutting across some existing township lines.

"The way things are now, we have students living practically next-door to Trenton high school, but because they are in Northumberland, they must bus the ten miles back and forth to Brighton every day."

Mr. Whitley said formation of the area board would mean much shorter daily bus trips for hundreds of students now attending Northumberland County schools.

Bata Has Year of Progress Long Term Employees Told

BATAWA — Workers attending a banquet for employees with 25 years service with the Bata company here were told last night the year 1967 was good for the Canadian operation.

Dr. C. K. Herz, president of Bata's Canadian operation, substituting for Thomas Bata, informed the group representative of the company's 1,100 employees "this is a year of progress; perhaps a very important turning point in the history of the company." Telling them "Mr. Bata is especially happy with your attainments" he added "you have made all of us pleased and proud to be on the same team."

Last night 15 company personnel with more than a quarter of a century service, received awards for long service and loyalty. Mr. Bata, son of the founder of the world-wide organization, attended making the awards presentations but when he returned from Europe he was taken ill and had to postpone the trip from Toronto to the dinner.

Mr. Bata sent word he plans to present scrolls and medals to the 25 year employees on his next visit to Batawa.

Asked to elaborate on Dr. Herz's words of optimism concerning company affairs, resident managing director L. Kurzweiss said the reference was to an undertaking to streamline the Canadian operation started about two years ago and now completed. It means, he explained, normal growth will continue in both the footwear and engineering divisions. It does not mean physical expansion have yet although production and sales have improved.

Recipients of 25 year awards were footwear: Arthur Bamber, George Findall, Peter McGown, Gerald Richardson, Jerry Savara, Mrs. Muriel VanHedegen and John Reichert; and engineering: Dominic Angelo, Harry Chalk, Joseph Ian, Robert Kidd, Ivan LaBrash, John Ploc and Lorne Thompson.

Area Housewives Flock to Local Job Market To Earn Extra Cash for Christmas Gifts

Housewives who jam stores each year for Christmas shopping are increasingly likely to find their next door neighbors smiling at them from behind the counters.

Women in Belleville who need a little extra cash for the Christmas season are in the majority of a growing number of temporary workers who man cash registers, sort mail and sell personal items during the Yuletide rush.

The 250-plus women who take Christmas jobs will earn from $1. an hour up for tasks that range from selling the merchandise to tying hundreds of bows for neatly wrapped gifts.

Canada Manpower reports the majority of the ladies will be working in department stores in the city.

Most extra staff has already been hired, Jim Stavely of the Manpower Centre said today.

He estimated more than 100 women have been hired to man the counters over the Christmas rush. The basic wage for women with little or no experience is $1. per hour. More experienced girls can earn as much as $1.50 per hour.

Most stores hiring women insist temporary help go through a short training course to get acquainted with the products. "They're all told how to make out sales slips and other internal store memos," one employer said today.

"We don't hire people who want a full time job. We ask at the beginning if they are willing to work as much or as little as we want."

Christmas staff usually works anywhere from a minimum of four hours a day to two days a week to eight hours a day, five days a week for the five weeks before Christmas.

The post office is a major employer of Christmas help; 110 women will be among the mail sorters and deliverers for the Christmas rush.

"We hired about 140 people last year but we will take on 185 people this Christmas."

Most of the women workers at the post office earn $1.25 per hour. The extra men earn $1.50 per hour.

Smaller stores in the city don't usually hire extra help until later in December.

"And by the time they get around to deciding how many people they need and placing an order for them, it's usually too late, said Jim Stavely of the Manpower Centre.

"By that time pretty well everyone who wants a Christmas job has got one."

Each year, companies that sell products such as cosmetics on a door to door basis try to increase the number of women promoting their products as Christmas gifts.

Local stores are looking for women with a pleasant personality and appearance, who have what one store manager called "spark".

They also like an artistic flair and dextrous fingers in people hired to work in the gift wrapping department.

The post office looks for people who are willing to stand for long periods, reads English and sort letters — right-handed.

They leave left handers out in the cold because left handers interrupt the right handed routine of letter sorting — unless a complete bank of the lefties becomes available.

Woman Named Montreal District Prosecutor

MONTREAL (CP) — A 25-year-old woman who is "fascinated by the psychology of the criminal mind" has been named Crown prosecutor in the Montreal district.

Lise Pominville, a recent graduate of the University of Montreal law school, handles prosecution in criminal cases that may include anything from murder to bootlegging.

Miss Pominville regards her new appointment with a certain amount of detachment.

"It will be very interesting, I think. I'm very happy to have the job. You see, I've always been interested in criminal law and I'm fascinated by the psychology of the criminal mind."

She applied for the position because it "will give me tremendous experience in the courtroom."

Unlike many young women lawyers, Miss Pominville does not come from a family of lawyers. "My father has his own butcher business."

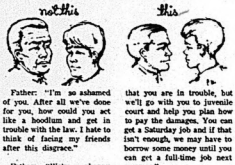
St. Julien Chapter Entertains Albert College Students

The St. Julien Chapter I.O.D.E. held a dinner meeting at Holloway Street United Church recently when they had as special guests ten students from Albert College whose homes were outside of Canada. A delicious turkey dinner was served by the women of the church, and an entertaining social program conducted by Mrs. J. Parrott followed.

Following the party a short business meeting was conducted by the Regent Mrs. George Hume, when arrangements were made for volunteers to work at the Blood Donor Clinic on December 19th, and also look after the Christmas hampers for three veterans families in the city.



Members were saddened to learn of the death of Mrs. H. Thompson, a highly esteemed member of St. Julien Chapter since 1936. Mrs. Thompson was a life member and had looked after the afternoon bridge marathon since its inception.

Points for Parents

By MARY BRYSON

Father: "I'm so ashamed of you. After all we've done for you, how could you act like a hoodlum and get in trouble with the law. I hate to think of facing my friends after this disgrace."

Father: "We're unhappy

When a boy is in serious trouble is not the time for recriminations. That is the time when a family should rally around, give him evidence of affection and concern — and help him find practical solutions to the immediate problem.

that you are in trouble, but that we'll go with you to your court and help you plan how to pay the damages. You can get a Saturday job and if that isn't enough, we may have to borrow some money until you can get a full-time job next summer."

Club Activities

ARGYLL IODE

The December meeting of Argyll Chapter IODE took the form of a potluck supper at the home of Major and Mrs. F. R. Allan.

The officers have once again asked the Chapter to assist with refreshments for the Boxing Day Tea Dance.

A needy veteran's family will be assisted at Christmas time. The Rotary Clubs of Belleville and Trenton are entertaining New Canadians following the Citizenship Court Dec. 11. Regents and conveners from the two chapters have also been invited. Gifts were received from the members to be given to the Mental Health Association.

The Centennial Cook Book is now available and may be purchased from any of the members.

Tentative plans were made for the annual Winter Fashion Ball to be held later in January in the Officer's Mess.

Choir Presents Christmas Cantata

The Christmas cantata "Night of Miracles," by Peterson was presented by a 25-voice choir from Hawkesville, Ontario near Waterloo under the direction of a former Belleville resident Barry Daniels B.Th. B.A. The presentation was given at Bethel Chapel in the morning and at Holloway Street United Church in the evening. The choral group was accompanied by Mrs. Barry Daniels.

C.A.R.S. Yule Party Held for Area Patients

The annual Christmas dinner party given by the Belleville Women's Auxiliary of the Canadian Arthritis and Rheumatism Society was held in Christ Church Hall on Wednesday evening. The room and tables took on a festive air with Yuletide decorations.

The president of the Auxiliary, Miss Gladys H. MacDonald welcomed the guests. Reverend Canon R. B. Wright asked the blessing and Dr. J. S. Loynes, president of the Belleville Branch, brought greetings from the board and thanked the Auxiliary members for the tasty dinner and the splendid work they have accomplished during the years.

Entertainment consisted of a quartett called "A State of Mind" composed of Sandra Gemmell, Lynda Welch, Gary Howard and John Campbell, with a medley of folk songs. Mrs. Betty Colden favored with a Christmas reading.

Gifts were distributed to the patients by Mrs. A. W. Hume. Conveners of the dinner were Mrs. A. A. Gemmell and Mrs. Don McKinney.

There were patients present from Belleville and the surrounding area.

Dinner Held to Mark 50 Wedded Years

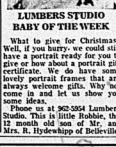
MARYSVILLE — Recently, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Mowbray of the Marysville area celebrated 50 years of marriage in the farm home where Mr. Mowbray was born and to which he brought his bride. They have never had any other home.

"I did not know anything about farming." Mrs. Mowbray said, "as I had been brought up in Point Anne, the daughter of a commercial fisherman. Fishing was good then in the Bay of Quinte. But, I soon learned all about farm life from my husband's mother. I was also baking bread, milking cows, skimming the cream from pans of milk and churning it into butter. Cleaning the coal oil lamps every day was the job that I liked the least."



Dressed in white chiffon and carrying white roses and carnations, Myrtle MacDonald was married to Fred Mowbray in the parlor of the bride's parents home. The minister was Rev. T. J. Anderson of the Methodist Church. Although both are living, their attendants, Mrs. Mowbray's brother Timothy and Emily Long were not well enough to attend the anniversary "at home".

Both Mr. and Mrs. Mowbray are frail, and have been hospitalized frequently of late. Mrs. Mowbray returned home from a Kingston hospital only the previous Wednesday. But, as all four of their living children live quite near, it was easy for them to make all the arrangements for the "at home." Jae, the unmarried son at home, was in hospital, but Delbert and his family, living only 40 rods away, Mark, on a nearby farm, and their daughter, Irene, now Mrs. Daincourt Fretts, looked after various arrangements.

The house was beautifully decorated with white and gold streamers and a profusion of gift flowers. Mrs. Claude Nugent received the guests, and invited them to sign the guest book. There were between 250 and 300 names before the evening was over. Pouring tea, serving the guests and assisting in many other ways were Mrs. Mark Mowbray, Mrs. Peter Murray of their granddaughter Miss Frances Foster, who lives with them, Miss Elaine Murray, Miss Darlene Murray and Kenneth Murray.

There were many lovely gifts. The neighbors and Empey Hill Church members combined to present them with a rug and a chair. From family members, they received a pole lamp. The individual gifts were many and varied.

Messages offering felicitations came from several notable people, including Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson, Robert Stanfield, the Ontario government, Premier Robarts, Lee Grills, MP, Clarke Rollins, MPP, Douglas Alkenbrack, MP and from the reeve and council of Tyendinaga township. Many came, also, from relatives and friends.

Tasty Dish From Left-over Beef

By MARY MOORE

Two different and superior meat dishes from common meats that you can serve to family and - or guests are my topic. There is no space for small talk — just action.

BEEF PIE: An unsignified English pastry and beef-over roast beef with vegetables — serves 6)

Filling:
3 cups cooked beidover pot roast (or roasted or boiled beef)
2 ozs cubes
½ cup rich gravy (or ½ cup boiling water with 1 extra ozo cube dissolved in it)
3 medium carrots, quartered
6 small onions, halved
3 stalks outer celery cut into 1" lengths
2½ cups boiling water
½ teaspoon salt

Pastry: (English)
2 cups unsifted all-purpose flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
1 cup shortening — divided
⅓ cup boiling water
1 egg yolk
2 teaspoons lemon juice

TUESDAY

Dinner Menu

Make Pastry first: Cut half shortening into flour, baking powder and salt with pastry blender. Melt remaining ⅓ cup shortening in boiling water and stir it and the lemon juice into flour mixture. Stir in egg yolk until all are blended. Chill.

Make Filling by cooking prepared carrots, onions and celery in boiling water with salt until nearly tender. Add ozo cubes and gravy and meat.

Roll out chilled pastry on well - floured board to ¼" thickness. Cut off two 2½" strips (using about one-third of the pastry) to line sides of large baking dish 9½" in diameter by 3¼" deep. Tip in meat and vegetable filling. Shape remaining dough into a round a little larger than top of baking dish, gash centre attractively. Carefully cover filling. Pinch edges of side lining and top to seal. Brush top with an egg yolk mixed with 1 teaspoon cold water. Bake at 450 deg. Fahr. for 20 minutes then reduce heat to 350 for 40 minutes longer. Serve hot. Could be used as a hot item on a Christmas buffet.

MARINATED DOUBLE LOIN LAMB CHOPS (serves 4)

4 double loin lamb chops each weighing 5 to 6 ozs.)
½ cup canned pineapple juice
½ teaspoon curry powder
1½ teaspoons Worcestershire sauce
½ teaspoon salt
8 slices pineapple

Six hours before mealtime mix together pineapple juice, curry powder, Worcestershire sauce and salt. Arrange lamb chops in single layer on platter and pour marinade over. Turn chops over in marinade 4 or 5 times during soaking period. Transfer to broiler pan. Drizzle a little of marinade over each. Broil under preheated burner 4" from source of heat until dark brown. Turn over. Surround with the eight pineapple slices. Stir remaining marinade and pour evenly over pineapple slices and other side of chops and broil same. When is cooked through and surfaces are dark brown. Serve on preheated platter, each double chop topped with 2 slices of broiled pineapple. Garnish liberally with parsley. This combination was a great success here.

Reader Has No Patience for Lazy Husband

Dear Doris: Just a Up for "Thinking Ahead" (wife whose husband has no work in winter).

This woman has a problem; she has a lazy husband. Why doesn't he get to work instead of sitting around the house growling at his wife and drawing unemployment insurance? We can't always get just the type of work we want but there are certainly plenty of jobs available to anyone who wants to work and is willing to take a little lower wage than he may make in the summer, but isn't this better than being, as you call it, an idle breadwinner?

Just in case you wonder, I have been working for 22 years, paid unemployment insurance and have never drawn unemployment benefits once, nor do I expect to. I have no special training but have worked at various types of work.

I must say I have no use for leeches that work a few months in the summer and live off what the steady employees pay in all winter. — Down On Unemployment.

Dear Down: Your sentiments are those of many another. A good deal depends on a person's "ambish"; and individuals aren't likely to be nearly as touchy if they are occupied.

Dear — "there are plenty of jobs available? Doesn't this depend on where you are and what you can do? I could quote some notable exceptions.

Dear Doris: My father is an alcoholic. He refuses to admit it and he has made my mother very sick, wondering where he is at nights.

My mother has wanted to leave him for many years now but because he is a sensitive man who seems to never have grown up she's afraid he will go straight into the gutter if she does so.

None of our family really love him any longer; I guess we pity him more. When he is sober he asks us to forgive him, but how much can we take? Sorry But Losing Patience.

Dear Sorry: High time your mother stopped ruining her own health by covering up for him. As long as you all pamper him he'll keep on the down grade till he lands in same gutter.

Some alcoholics have to come to their senses the hard way. Once he does, there are agencies which can help.

Dear Doris: Have you the words for an old skit I once had — three immigrants who are taught to say "All three of us", in answer to all questions even when faced by a robbery and, I believe, a murder?

It is simple and very funny and I believe was once in a C.G.I.T. pamphlet. Girls' Leader.

Dear Leader: Can't say I've met the hounders. Can any reader help us?

Confidential to Betrayed: It was a horrible experience. You have told the police; you have written it to me, in a long letter. Now forget it. Unless you want to be classed with The Ancient Mariner this story belongs in the sealed-up past.

Life is for living. Do you want everyone you know to talk about you behind your back?

(When writing in, allow Doris four weeks to private reply which will be sent if a five-envelope is enclosed.)

Ann Landers

Not-so-Pretty Girl Seems More Vulnerable

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Please warn mothers that outward appearances mean nothing. Tell them to keep their eyes on their daughters and not to take anything for granted. Just because a girl seems withdrawn doesn't mean she's leading a quiet life.

ANN LANDERS

My friend who has two daughters learned this lesson the hard war. Her 20-year-old Linda was beautiful, well-built and she attracted boys like crazy, starting at age 13. The mother felt she need not keep close tabs on this girl — and she did. They had frequent heart-to-heart talks and the lines of communication were open. After every date the girl sat on her mother's bed and told her what the evening had been like.

Daughter Number Two (Marie) was 18 months younger — not at all pretty. She was noticeably overweight and had a bad complexion. This girl spent most of her time in her room with her nose in a book. The mother never concerned herself about Marie's morals because she seldom had a date and expressed little interest in boys.

In September Linda was married to a fine young law student. She wore a white gown and I'll bet she deserved to. A week Marie wore a white gown also — but it was a hospital gown. She gave birth to a 9-pound baby boy. (No husband in sight and not a clue as to who the father might be.

The mother nearly had a nervous breakdown. She repeated over and over, "I never dreamed such a thing could happen to her — of all people!"

I'm sure you get the message, Ann. Will you please get it across to the mothers? Thank you. — JUST AN OBSERVER.

DEAR JUST: Your letter got the message across well But here's a recap.

The not-so-pretty, not-so-popular girl is infinitely more vulnerable than the charmer with good looks and personality. An ugly duckling, in her eagerness to be loved, can be easy prey for the smooth operator who makes her believe that if she gives in he will love her. She also may feel that since she has less to offer she must be excessively generous with her physical favors. Are you tuned in, mothers? I hope so.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My husband is a jerk. All his life he has done people favors. He repairs their electric appliances, drives them wherever they want to go, lends them money, signs notes at the bank and sits up half the night doing their income returns. Just name it and my schnook does it.

I've told him for 22 years that he is a fool — that he should charge for his services, that people don't appreciate what they get for nothing. He pays no attention to me whatever.

He thinks you are a smart woman. Will you please give him some of your common sense, down-to-earth advice? — IGNORED.

DEAR IGNORED: The advice is for you, Lady. Get off his back. You say he hasn't listened to you in 22 years so why not take the hint?

If your husband charged for his favors he'd lose the pleasure of giving — and this, my friend, can be a lot more rewarding than a buck here and a buck there.

Scientist Outlines Program

He Wants Permits to Have Baby Sold on Stock Exchange

HAMILTON (CP) — A birth control program under which certificates to become pregnant would be sold on the stock exchange was described here Monday by a Nobel Prize winner.

Dr. William Shockley, who shared the 1956 Nobel Prize in physics for his part in developing the transistor, said the system would limit children to people who would want and could afford them.

The professor of engineering science from Stanford University in California, who has recently become a strong advocate of research into hereditary and racial differences in the United States, spoke to 400 professors and students at McMaster University. He is here to deliver a series of three lectures.

Dr. Shockley produced statistics based on draft- board tests during and during the First World War, which, he claimed, show the median intelligence of Negroes was, and still is, below the median intelligence of whites.

He said the difference in median intelligence between whites and Negroes increased between the First and Second World Wars.

He said unskilled Negroes are reproducing at a much higher rate than unskilled whites, while skilled Negroes are reproducing at a lower rate than skilled whites.

The decrease in intelligence among Negroes may have been reflected in the quality of leadership in recent race riots.

"If such effects are occurring, and if entrenched dogmatism is blocking their discovery, then the consequence can be a form of genetic enslavement that could provoke extremes of racism."

Dr. Shockley said his birth control system would begin with a public vote on the rate of population increase desired. He suggested as increase of one-third per cent a year which would allow the population to double in two centuries.

The census bureau would decide how many children could be permitted each girl and still stay within the population objective.

Public agencies would see to it that every girl was temporarily sterilized by means of a time-capsule-type contraceptive while she was young.

Upon reaching maturity, each girl would be issued with 22 desi-child certificates. A married couple could use 10 of these to pay for capsule removal until a child is born. Then a new contraceptive would be installed.

After two babies, the couple could either sell the remaining two certificates on the stock exchange or buy eight more and have a third pregnancy. A girl intending to become a nun could sell the certificates as soon as she received them.

Dr. Shockley said his system would get around the "thought-blocking cliches of who-decides and what-is-the-perfect-man?".

In a two-hour lecture, he accused "intense pressure" of blocking research into inherited intelligence differences between whites and Negroes. Such research could help solve slum problems, he said.

Failure to investigate the question and establish the facts could offset the splendid progress of the Negro middle-class, the professor said.

He suggested that attempts to provide better schools and welfare programs for ghetto Negroes will only lead to frustration if their intelligence and capabilities are low.

Dr. Shockley said many of his statements are applicable to whites of low intelligence, but the problem is relatively more dangerous and devastating among Negroes.

Bachelors, Girls Will Pay More Car Insurance

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Some Ontario drivers may get up to six- or eight-per-cent reductions in automobile insurance rates in 1968 but at least two classes of drivers face significant increases.

At a meeting of 250 western Ontario insurance agents Monday it was learned the temporary rate structure recommended recently to insurance companies by the Insurance Bureau of Canada suggests rate decreases for the over—25, married, accident-free driver.

The meeting dealt with changes being introduced Jan. 1 in category classification of drivers, for which it is expected the 1968 rates will be announced in about a week.

Included in the major changes are:

—The under—25 daughter driving her father's car will pay only a higher rate, roughly comparable to that paid by her male counterpart for several years. Until now the addition of the daughter as a driver had had no affect on the father's premium rate.

—The bachelor between 25 and 29 will pay more. Previously he had reverted to the regular category at age 25 as a married man will continue to do.

—An under—25 son will be insured separately on his father's policy. His premiums will show separately and if he has an accident his premiums will go up but his father's will be unaffected. The total of the two premiums is expected to remain relatively unchanged.

Harold Barnes of the insurance bureau outlined the new system and said it was intended to make those drivers who have accidents pay greater premiums rather than have a blanket increase apply to innocent drivers.

Don McGhee of London, vice - president of the Ontario Insurance Agents' Association, said the 1968 rates are not yet available. However, he said the rate category revisions indicate the majority of drivers who use their cars for pleasure only could "reasonably expect" a rate increase and in some cases there could be reductions.

The national insurance bureau recommendations suggested rate decreases of up to eight per cent for Toronto, Chatham and Windsor drivers.

THE LITTLE WOMAN

"I'll thank you not to get crumbs all over my living room!"

Simcoe County Plans Parties for E. C. Drury

BARRIE (CP) — Ernest Charles Drury, Ontario's oldest living former premier, will be 90 next Jan. 22.

But he won't be able to spent it quietly, as usual, on the rustic farm homestead near here where he lives with his son.

For on the week preceding and the months following, his birthday residents of his native Simcoe County hope to stage a long series of events aimed at commemorating him and to stimulate interest in Ontario's history.

Mr. Drury, eighth premier of the province who held power from 1919 to 1923, is currently in hospital here receiving treatment for an undisclosed ailment. His government was a coalition of labor and the old United Farmers of Ontario.

All details of the celebrations have not been worked out. A special Drury birthday committee, endorsed by the Simcoe County Council, is planning the events which will, in effect, be a series of parties.

Already, heads of civic, municipal and provincial governments—including Premier Robarts—have been invited to participate.

One proposal is to stage treeplanting parties to commemorate the reforestation projects that were begun during Mr. Drury's administration.

Mr. Drury was born in 1878 in the hamlet of Crown Hill in Ovo Township, Simcoe County. He inherited the farm from his father, Ontario's first agriculture minister, and still lives there with his son, Harold and his family.

Atlantic Patrol Fleet Is Discussed by NATO

BRUSSELS (AP) — Establishment of a permanent allied destroyer fleet to patrol the Atlantic is under discussion at the ministerial meeting of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

A decision on such a fleet may come at this week's sessions NATO sources said, although a number of problems remain. A decision in principle to create such a force was announced last June and it now awaits approval at NATO political level, the sources said.

Fleets of destroyers from several NATO nations have been operating for limited periods during the last three years, the sources said, under what has been called the Matchmaker project. Matchmaker has been proved out as a practical idea to extend and develop allied cooperative within the 15-nation alliance.

The mission of such a permanent force would be to deal with any emergency situations that might arise in the alliance area of NATO.

It would be similar in this respect to the airborne NATO mobile "fire brigade" force which long has been available for use in the NATO European area.

Nixon Favored By Voters

WASHINGTON (AP) — Richard M. Nixon is running decisively as the favorite for the presidential nomination among Republicans but again has slipped behind President Johnson among voters of all U.S. parties, the Harris poll said Monday.

The latest survey by Louis Harris, copyrighted by the Washington Post, found Johnson ahead of Nixon, 47, per cent to 44 per cent. This is a shift from early November when Nixon led Johnson for the first time, by 48 to 41 per cent.

The poll pairing Nixon off against the other potential leading Republican contenders, found him ahead among Republican voters by these margins: over Governor Ronald Reagan of California, 63 per cent to 22; over Governor Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York, 52 per cent to 33. The remaining percentages among those polled were undecided in all three pairings.

Area Stores Become Christmas Bonus For Youngsters Taken on Shopping Tours

Why wait for Santa Claus and Christmas morning — there are still fun-filled shopping weeks to celebrate . . . so say the children.

Maybe mothers and store owners aren't quite as enthused about Christmas shopping, but just watch the children when they get to that toy department.

Well, Christmas only comes once a year and toys were meant to be played with. Some of the youngsters are just being practical. They want to try out the toys before they make up their Christmas list and send it to St. Nick.

"It really isn't any problem . . . maybe a few instances, but without the kids what kind of a toy department would we have," said Robert Diamond, manager of Towers Stores. "After all, they do write the letters to Santa."

Douglas Thompson, manager of Simpsons-Sears agrees — "Kids are kids! But you do have to watch the unsupervised children, especially if they are between the ages of eight and 10. We don't have much of a problem though," he commented.

When the children tire of toys, another problem is created. Using a rug display for a slide or a pile of sponge for a trampoline could result in injuries. Although it doesn't happen often, it is a minor worry for store personnel.

Stores don't really mind the youngsters playing around a little and to be sure the junior shoppers just love it.

Perhaps the biggest irritation comes to mothers when it's time to go. The lost and found department in stores is a great idea, isn't it Mom?

Rotary Welcomes New Citizens

Pennsylvanian James Power became a Canadian yesterday, along with 37 others from nine countries who received their citizenship papers in Belleville from County Court Judge J. C. Anderson.

Mr. Power hails from near Erie, Pa., but he has been a resident of Frankford, Ont., for a number of years. At a Rotary Club reception following the ceremony he told his audience Canadians were inclined to take their liberties for granted. "In Canada," he said, "he had encountered no prejudice or discrimination."

To Mr. Power, Canada is also a land of opportunity. A line superintendent with Ontario Hydro he is being sent to Nigeria to work in an advisory capacity on projects there.

Seven members of the Huyo Koomans family from The Netherlands were among 18 new citizens from that country welcomed by Rotary President James Marker who is himself a native of the United States.

Other countries represented were Italy and Greece, 4 each, Germany 3, China, Armenia and Yugoslavia 2 each, Denmark and Hungary one each.

Citizenship Court clerk Mrs. Marjorie McCaw who in the past 12 years has processed more than 1,800 applications outlined the procedure for those wishing to take out citizenship.

The principal requirements before application for citizenship can be made are five years' residence in Canada and a knowledge of English. For British subjects — that is citizens of the Commonwealth — the process is less complicated. They may become citizens without having to appear in Citizenship Court. However they too must make application in the ordinary way and take the oath of allegiance.

Alternatively, British subjects become Canadian citizens automatically after 20 years' residence in this country.

Mrs. McCaw said that since 1947 more than 3,000,000 immigrants had entered the country.

Mrs. Annie Verhart of Brancredt, one of the new citizens from Holland, thanked the Rotary Club for its hospitality.

Nick Mika and Stan Kvarda, two Rotary members who came to this country from Europe, also spoke. Another speaker was Rotarian Arnold Campbell, a prime mover of the club's reception which featured Christmas carols led by the Dutch group.

Lee Grills, M.P., who spoke earlier at the Citizenship Court, was present, as were representatives of the Independent Order of Daughters of the Empire, and Constable Don Pelley of the Belleville detachment of the RCMP.

Representing the clergy were Bi. Rev. J. A. Carley and Dr. Harry Davis.

Garage Loaded With Repair Parts Burns

PICTON — Cause was still being sought today in a fire that gutted a garage loaded with repair equipment here yesterday.

Burning tire and oil rags marked the scene with heavy smoke as firemen fought nearly two hours to extinguish the blaze on the property of Robert McNally, on Lake Street outside town limits.

Bloomfield firemen reinforced firefighters from Camp Picton in controlling the blaze.

An estimate of loss was not immediately known.

Two Suffer Injuries In Mishaps

Separate accidents sent two Belleville district teenagers to hospital with injuries last night.

On highway 14, a mile north of the city, Carol Wiley, 19, of R. R. 3, Belleville, suffered a broken arm when hit by a car driven by John Michael Clark, 16, of Stirling.

At Canniffon, 15-year-old George Paul Thomas received a fractured leg when, police say, his bicycle was hit by a car driven by John Skurka, also of Canniffon.

Damage to the automobile was estimated at $175.

Helpers Seek Financial Aid From District

Last week, the Belleville Firefighters' Association, which delivers Christmas hampers to u n d e rprivileged youngsters, feared a drastic cutback in its 1967 program through lack of funds.

Donations immediately began to flow toward the fund.

Today, the firefighters report they need about $200 to ensure the success of their program.

The deadline is this weekend. Early next week deliveries begin to needy families.

Electronic Technicians Meeting Held

Two electronic technicians from the Belleville area have expressed an interest in forming an association in the city.

C. Long of Shannonville and Robert James of Belleville were on hand at a recent meeting of the Trenton and District Electronic Technicians Association to gain first hand knowledge of the group's activities.

Among items discussed was the apprenticeship and tradesman's qualifications act. The provincial government presently operates a training program which requires any person entering the radio and television servicing industry to serve four years apprenticeship.

Trenton's Lighting Ceremony

TRENTON — Lights; music and Santa Claus proved an unbeatable attraction last night, drawing several hundred youngsters and parents into the heart of downtown Trenton.

"Lighting up" ceremonies of a large Christmas tree erected in front of the police office, and of the old post office itself, marked the official ushering - in of the Christmas spirit — 1967 version — to the downtown area.

Mayor James MacDonald, Centennial Chairman Robert Carlson, and Chamber of Commerce president Ian Darling all did their verbal bit at the occasion for the crowd of pre-supper spectators.

And Public Utilities Commission chairman Clifford Baker rounded out the PUC's role in the event by throwing the switch to illuminate the tree which had been erected by commission workmen last week.

Then the door in the prefabricated "Santa Shop"—donated by Allore's Lumber — swung open.

Master of Ceremonies Jack Wilson scurried aside, just in time to avoid a stampede of kiddies bent on bending the ear of a familiar old gentleman with a fluffy white beard.

Santa will have office hours in his shop weekdays and Saturdays from now until Christmas.

He's in There Someplace

This was the scene in downtown Trenton last night as several hundred youngsters pressed for a first glimpse of Santa Claus. St. Nick set up quarters next to the old post office for daily visits from local children.

Speed Up Needed If Christmas Exchange to Reach Goal

By LENNY WILLIAMSON
Staff Reporter

A cheerless Christmas faced 365 Belleville families this year — until the spirit of holiday generosity gripped the community.

Now, 133 of the 365 families have been provided for, thanks to 23 donors who have promised to give Christmas food hampers and cash. More donors, both individuals and groups, must be found for the remaining 233 families as yet uncared for, and about 100 additional requests for assistance are expected before Christmas.

These figures were released today by Mrs. Selma Bochnek, director of the Christmas Exchange. Operating out of the United Community Services office on John Street, the exchange acts as a central clearing house, bridging the gap between groups or individuals who wish to help and those who need help. The exchange was started this year to match applications and avoid duplication.

"Before this year," says Mrs. Bochnek, "we knew in a general way that some families got two or more food hampers and many families got no help at all. Now we have uncovered the amount of duplication and the identity of those who missed out entirely in the past."

Mrs. Bochnek received 473 applications for Christmas assistance and weeded out 108 cases of duplicate giving, a startling 23 per cent. As a result, donors' contributions can be spread around to aid a larger number of families.

"I'm getting a little anxious," confesses Mrs. old Bochnek. "With only 11 days left until the Dec. 22 delivery date, we must match donors with those remaining 233 families. At the rate registrations are coming in we may add another 100 to the list before Christmas I've been told Belleville has a big heart and I'm counting on it to reduce the size of our file."

Donors have only to call 962-9507 to offer their help. Mrs. Bochnek will match them with a family and give them a list of suplies to buy for the Christmas hamper. The donor then packs and delivers the hamper personally. To save the family the anxiety of wondering if help is on the way, it is notified when a donor takes over.

Out of supressed items on the exchange's food hamper lists range from $10.50 for a family of four to $20 for a family of eight. A list of mostwelcomed extras is also included. Families who can handle money and need the boost to their self-respect will be given cash to buy their own Christmas groceries if enough donations for the purpose come in.

The exchange has registered 815 children under 13 who need toys. The names have been turned over to the city firemen, who operate the Christmas toy project. Clerical help has also been given the firemen in the preparation of their lists.

Mrs. Bochnek heaps praise on the contribution of the local teen-agers.

"Our donor list of 23 would be much shorter without the help of the young people," she says. "They have come through magnificently. Keynote and Key Clubs and high school organizations each have taken from one to six families on our list and Moira Secondary School students collected $110."

"We hope this pre-planning will eliminate the need for emergency Christmas Day service, but if we have resources of food, cash or toys to spare we will man the telephone here for calls," Mrs. Bochnek adds.

With 233 families still to be cared for, the possibility of left-overs to meet Christmas day emergencies seems remote, but Mrs. Bochnek is counting on Belleville's proverbial big heart.

Louisville, Kalntuck. The home of the mint julep, blue grass, blue-blooded equines and southern belles on Derby Day.

Louisville, Kalntuck district. The home of the cotton fields, cotton-pickers, bourbon, dunky bucks — and Cassius Clay.

As the home of the famous Kentucky Derby, Louisville will never be forgotten. As the home of Cassius Clay it will never be forgotten — but the controversial ex-world heavyweight champion is slipping into the dunky buck rooms of memory.

In fact his once proud position is being taken over by a close friend, an aspirant to Clay's world title and considered by some to have more than a modicum of chance.

Now the city, boxing-wise, belongs to one Jimmy Ellis former sparring partner of the ex-champion who dismissed the clumsy Argentine Oscar Bonavena in the recent semi-final of the heavyweight title tourney.

Should the 27-year-old Ellis eventually win the crown, he will have created an ironic epilogue to Clay's controversial saga.

Clay and Ellis were schoolmates in a Louisville high school. It was here that Ellis proved to be the last opponent to register a win over Clay, a three-round amateur decision.

Their friendship grew and Ellis became Clay's most dedicated sparring partner. But the finish off the theory that sparring partners eventually become used to taking punishment and become a punching bag.

Said he, "I never liked to take a beating. Clay and I fought each other. We had a lot of fights in the gym, not grudge things, not straight-out mad. But I wanted respect. If he's the champ, he had to earn it. I never pulled up on him."

The aura of the Black Muslim sect fallout to envelop Ellis as it did Clay. He did not change his name. He remained true to the beliefs of a respected family.

If was born an Ellis and will always be known as one. He has been a Baptist all his life and will remain so. His father is the ordained pastor of the Riverview Baptist Church in Louisville. Ellis and his wife are members of the popular Riverview Spiritual Singers.

He lives at the moment in a three-room flat crowded with five children. But that will change soon. A new handsome home is in the offing with his recent rise to financial well-being.

He banked $50,000 after his first tournament fight with Leotus Martin whom he stopped in the ninth round of the merry-go-round operator.

More recently he deposited $75,000 when he roadblocked the lumbering crudish Bonavena.

Now he is in line for a crack for the title against either Thad Spencer or Jerry Quarry. This fight will enhance his bank account to the tune of $125,000.

Boxing men in the know say that the move of Sudden Ellis to the heights hasn't changed Ellis one iota. He is quiet-spoken, modest, and personable. He is a dedicated fighter who has refused to be enveloped by a miasma of sordiness that has darkened the executheon of the world of professional boxing.

Fame is beckoning to this young man who has advanced to the threshold of the mansion of world heavyweight championships.

But the frail ahead is not smooth. There will be tough roadblocks before he reaches ultimate success — if he does.

Should he win the crown he can go on to further glory. There's a young man named Joe Frazier, reckoned by some to be the best heavyweight extant. He disdained taking part in the tournament, but his backers insist nobody will be champion until their boy has been disposed of.

That could mean a million-dollar gate — And Ellis could be in on the financial party.

The Eagles are to be Canada's representatives in Europe early next year in an 11-game series for the Buddy Ahearne trophy.

Hull Back On Top

Hawks' Pair Eyes Scoring Title

MONTREAL (CP) — The Art Ross Trophy—awarded annually to the National Hockey League's top point-getter in regular-season play—has been won exclusively by Chicago Black Hawks players since 1964.

And statistics issued today by NHL headquarters indicate the same pair that won it for Chicago over the last four years are making a determined bid to take it to the Windy City for the fifth straight time.

Bobby Hull, who lost the individual scoring leadership to Johnny Bucyk of Boston Bruins last week, is back on top today. Stan Mikita, the second member of the Hawks one-two punch, is making a determined run at the leaders.

Mikita won the title in 1964, 1965 and 1967, while Hull did the honors in 1966 and was runner-up in 1967.

Hull now has 36 points, including a league-leading 24 goals, in 27 games. Bucyk slipped to one spot place with 35 points on 18 goals and 17 assists.

The Boston left winger watched the longest point-scoring streak of the season come to an end Sunday night. The Bruins' 3-1 loss to the expansion Los Angeles Kings marked the first time in 13 games Bucyk failed to net a point. It also ended Boston's longest undefeated streak in 11 years—eight games—six wins and two ties.

It also ended Boston's longest undefeated streak in 11 years—eight games—six wins and two ties.

Stanfield is two points behind Bucyk with 33 and leads the league in assists with 24. McKenzie has scored 11 goals and assisted on 20 others for 31 points.

Three weeks ago, Mikita had scored only seven goals and three assists in 15 games. But he's shaken off an early-season groin injury and now holds down fifth place behind McKenzie with 15 goals and 11 assists in 25 games.

He is on one of the hottest streaks of the season during the Hawks' last eight games, counting seven goals and 11 assists.

Alex Delvecchio, Detroit Red Wings' veteran captain and centre, is two points behind Mikita in sixth spot with six goals and 21 assists for 27 points.

Mike Walton, Toronto Maple Leafs' fine young centre, is one point behind Delvecchio with 16 goals and 10 assists. He is followed by Detroit's Gordie Howe and Art Stratton of Pittsburgh Penguins. Both have 25, with Stratton the top point-getter in the new division.

The Toronto goaltending combination of Johnny Bower and Bruce Gamble continues to lead with a goals-against-average of 2.15, a shade better than Doug Favell and Bernie Parent of Philadelphia Flyers who have a combined average of 2.24. Lorne Worsley of the east division's cellar-bound Montreal Canadiens is the individual leader with a 1.73 mark.

Bower, Favell and Worsley share the shutout lead. Each has two.

Boston defenceman Don Awrey leads the individual penalty parade with 87 minutes of uninvited rest, while his club leads the team totals with 389.

TED GREEN

BOBBY ORR

Orr, Green Out

"Bruins Won't Fold!"

BOSTON (AP) — Boston Bruins are in physical trouble, with Bobby Orr and Ted Green on the sidelines, but general manager Milt Schmidt says his surprise team of the 1967-68 National Hockey League season isn't about to collapse.

"Certainly we're going to miss them—let's not kid ourselves," Schmidt said Monday after medical reports revealed Orr would be out about three weeks with a broken left collarbone and Green a few days with a severe right-knee bruise.

"There's only one Bobby Orr," Schmidt said of the sensational 19-year-old defenceman who was rookie of the year and a second-team all-star selection last season.

But Schmidt said he "likes to think positively" and believes the Bruins, leading the NHL's East Division after years as doormats, can stay in the race until the two return.

Both men were injured during Saturday night's 3-3 tie at Toronto. Orr's injury came when he was checked hard by Frank Mahovlich while carrying the puck. Green was hit inside the knee by the puck as he dived to block a shot by Mahovlich.

Orr is expected back late this month after missing possibly seven or more games.

Junior 'A' Scoring

Marlies Duo Shows Way

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP) — Rickey Bayes and Terry Caffery of the defending Memorial Cup champion Toronto Marlboros have become the one-two scoring punch of the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A series.

Bayes has 18 goals and 26 assists for 44 points. Caffery is one assist behind.

Tom Webster and Steve Atkinson, both of Niagara Falls Flyers, who have been at or tied for the top since the season opened, slipped to third and fourth place. Webster has 18 goals and 23 assists for 41 points while the injured Atkinson remained at 38 points with 18 goals and 20 assists.

Hamilton's Dan Lawson, the top goal-getter, is clicking at a goal-a-game average with 21 goals.

Hamilton's Gerry Gray has closed the gap on Flyers' Phil Myre for top netminding honors. Myre moves into the lead on the goals against averages with his 2.59 mark but Gray has a 2.63 mark.

Seals Look For New Location

Oakland is in last place in the NHL's Western Division in both the standings and in attendance, and the Seals' millionaire owner has been permitted by the league last Friday to look into possible new sites.

"With the lack of support in Oakland, we have to consider alternatives, which could mean the transfer of the franchise," said Van Gerbig.

Swingin' Gypsy Joe Wins Decision; Draws 60-Day Suspension

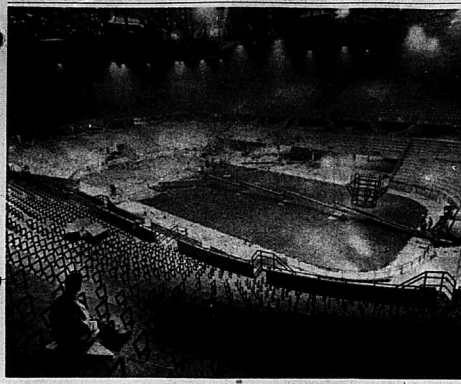
PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Unbeaten Gypsy Joe Harris, the unpredictable Philadelphia fighter, scored a split 10-round decision over Miguel Barreto of San Juan, Puerto Rico, Monday, then lost a verdict to the Pennsylvania state athletic commission.

Commission chairman Frank WilCman suspended Harris for 60 days starting Jan. 1. He delayed the suspension because of an exhibition Harris has scheduled this month with Young Walcott in Washington, D.C.

Harris, dancing the frog, bowling to his rooters and performing all the gyrations that have made him one of boxing's most unorthodox performers, edged Barreto with a slashing late-round right- and left-hook attack to the body and face for his 23rd victory.

Judge Earl Vann scored Harris a 46-45 winner, and referee Zach Clayton voted for Harris 48-44. Judge Jimmy Weston felt Barreto's early body attack had stood up for a 46-45 verdict. The Associated Press scored Harris a 48-45 winner.

Immediately after the fight, Wildman told the bald Harris of his suspension. He said the action was the result of Harris being late for the weigh-in, failing to make the weight differential, jeopardizing the show, defying the commission and putting boxing in a poor light.



Pennsylvania has a rule which prohibits more than a 10-pound weight differential in all divisions except heavyweight. Harris weighed 161 pounds when he stepped on the scale at noon on Monday. Barreto was 148.

Wildman ordered Harris, the No. 1 welterweight contender, to take off at least three pounds and return at 6 p.m. or the fight was off.

Co-manager Yank Durham took Harris to the gym where he says Gypsy shadow boxed two rounds, skiped rope, sweated in a rubber suit and had an alcohol rub.

Durham says he then telephoned the commission and asked the deputy secretary if he could come back with Harris at 6 p.m. and weigh-in again. "I was told it was okay and we went back and weighed 157½," Durham said after the fight.

Barreto, who lost a controversiel decision to Harris here last August, returned at 6 p.m. and weighed in a second time. He

Bigger Purses; Or Else

TORONTO (CP) — The provincial government must make bigger purses available next year or Ontario horse owners and breeders will not race their horses, the chairman of the breeders and owners thoroughbred and standardbred association said Monday.

George Frostad said the government must improve the quality of horses to protect its own revenues — more than $15,000,000 in 1967.

He urged the government to reduce its six-per-cent tax on money bet at tracks so purses given winning owners can be increased and better horses entered.

Frostad was commenting on statements made Saturday by E. P. Taylor, chairman of the Jockey Club Ltd.

Taylor said if the government does not reduce the tax, the five Jockey Club tracks might be opened only five or three days a week until they could be sold or developed for real estate.

Frostad said owners and breeders lost about $12,000,000 last year.

He said horsemen "won't sit still for Taylor's suggestion" to hold only two or three days of racing a week.

Frontenacs Here Tonight

The Belleville Junior B's, still looking for that elusive first victory, entertain the Kingston Frontenacs in their first visit here tonight.

The Frontenacs and Peterborough battled to a five-all tie last night giving the Frontenacs 12 points.

The standing as of now is Peterborough 13 points; Cobourg 10; Oshawa 10; Kingston 12 and Belleville 1.

The Belleville B's have now won none, tied one, and lost eleven.

It looks like nothing but a miracle reversal of form will get the city crew into the Eastern Ontario Junior B league playoffs.

"I can't understand it" says manager Jim Matthews, "the boys spirits are high and they go out there fighting. Then they seem to have a mental lapse and that's it."

"It's not the coach's fault" he said." Charlie Drake seemed to think they thought it was but they gave him an unanimous vote of confidence."

"We hope to break that loss string tonight," he said with a brave smile.

And some fan support would help, no end. After all it takes 200 paid admissions for the club to break even financially, so how about it.

Computer Boxing

Marciano Whips Jeffries

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (Reuters) — Rocky Marciano pounded Jim Jeffries in a 14th round defeat here Monday night to get into the finals of a computer version of a boxing tournament designed to find out who was the greatest-ever heavyweight champion.

The machine's answer to one of the great controversies of sports history will come next Monday when it pits Marciano against Jack Dempsey, who last week ousted Joe Louis from the semi-finals with a points decision—according to the computer.

A computer making 4,000,000 calculations each round has matched 16 heavyweights selected as the world's best by 100 sports experts.

Holding 150,000 memory positions and checking 2,064 variables on each boxer, its columns of statistics are transformed into vivid descriptions that are broadcast over about 400 radio stations across the continent.

The winner of the contest, arranged by a Miami radio production company, will receive a prize of $10,000 and a Jewelled belt.

Marciano's nose was cut in the ninth and the next five rounds were marked by wearisome. But in the 14th Marciano exploded into action and, after claimed Harris never took off the weight and was over 161 when the fight began.

But after the fight, Larosseux had no complaint about the decision.

It was Barreto's third defeat against 17 victories, before a crowd of 5,000 that paid $22,535 to see the bout.

Announce New Healing Substance... Shrinks Piles, Checks Itch

Exclusive healing substance proven to shrink hemorrhoids... and repair damaged tissue.

A renowned research institute has found a unique healing substance with the ability to shrink hemorrhoids painlessly. It relieves itching and discomfort in minutes and speeds up healing of the injured, inflamed tissues.

One hemorrhoidal case history after another reported "very striking improvement." Pain was promptly and gently relieved . . . actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

Among these case histories were a variety of hemorrhoidal conditions. Relief even occurred in cases of long standing, and most important of all, results were so thorough that this improvement was maintained over a period of many months.

This was accomplished with a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne) which quickly helps heal injured cells and stimulates growth of new tissue. Bio-Dyne is offered in ointment and suppository form called Preparation H.

In addition to actually shrinking hemorrhoids, Preparation H lubricates and makes elimination less painful. It helps prevent infection which is a principal cause of hemorrhoids.

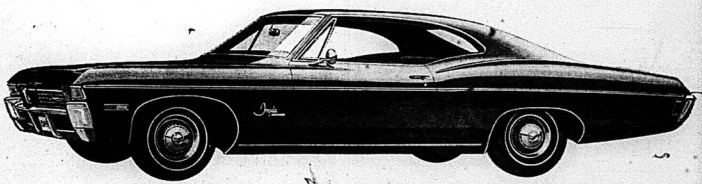
Just ask your druggist for Preparation H Suppositories or Preparation H Ointment (with a special applicator).

Satisfaction or your money refunded.

New Impala Coupes: with fastback or formal rooflines.

A great idea! Two different rooflines for Impala Coupes... from Chevrolet by design. Some Impala buyers want the spirit-stirring excitement of the fastback look. The Impala Sport Coupe is just for them. Other Impala buyers want the town car sophistication of a formal roofline. The Impala Custom Coupe is just for them.

Whichever style you choose, you'll come out way ahead with Chevrolet's 1968 out-in-front features such as:



Chevrolet's quietest ride ever. Smoother riding, too, with newly engineered springs and shocks. Computers have been utilized to place body and engine mounts at precisely the right spots to keep road vibrations away from you.

Chevrolet offers you even better performance for '68. The standard V8 is a bigger 307-cu.-in. engine. And the new optional 250 horsepower V8 runs on regular fuel.

Chevrolet has more that's new all around. Hide-A-Way windshield wipers have an articulating left blade that sweeps a greater windshield area. An Ignition Alarm System buzzes a reminder not to leave your key in the ignition when you leave your car. And there's more . . . much more that's new inside and outside on Chevrolet for '68. # Wanted; A Bank Pit On Auto-Racing

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — Anthony Joseph Foyt Jr., variously known as The Flying Texan, The Houston Hustler, Tex and A. J. is fast picking up another title—Mr. Moneybags.

The 32-year-old Texan, probably the most versatile auto racing driver in the world, surely is the wealthiest after 11 years as a pro.

He has just won his fifth United States Auto Club driving title and a record $253,166.67 in prize money from that sanctioning body alone.

Add to that a contract with Goodyear, estimated by several sources at $750,000 to cover the cost of building and operating his championship cars, plus about $150,000 from an oil company sponsor, and Arnold Palmer's golf earnings seem small in comparison.

Furthermore, Foyt had brilliant driving stints in some of the world's other top racing classics, including LeMans where he was co-driver of the winning Ford car with Dan Gurney; and in some of the South's big money superspeedway stock car events. No one will even guess what his cut of Ford's "performance" money amounted to.

But some people who know the inner workings of auto racing contracts say Foyt almost certainly banked in the neighborhood of $500,000 this year.

For eight straight seasons, 1960 through 1967, Foyt failed only once to finish either first or second in the season's point standings. His title was in 1966 when he didn't win a race.

In copping the Indianapolis 500 this year, Foyt joined Louis Meyer, Mauri Rose and Wilbur Shaw as the only three-time winners of the most important of all auto races.

He competed in all 18 championship races, won six and finished out of the top 12 only four times. Oddly enough, he started in the front row only twice, and never on the pole.

Foyt now has won 37 championship events, more than any other driving living or dead. He also is the all-time champion ship point leader with 20,115.2. His closest competitor, now retired Rodger Ward, has 18,824.4 points and 26 victories.

Cobourg, Flyers Win Cage Tilts

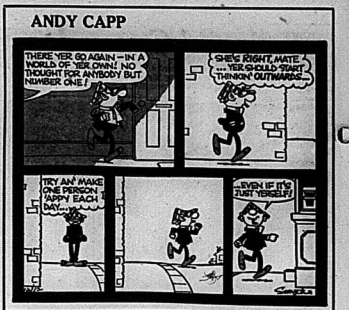
In Quinte League basketball last night at Centennial, Cobourg turned back Pointe Traschers 62-50, while RCAF downed Belleville Aces 56-38.



In the first game, Cobourg took a 35-29 half-time lead and stayed off a 30-point threat by the teachers in the second half to win. Dennis Clarke led the winners with 18 points, followed by Lyn Dottons with 12, and Wally Cook, with 10. Dave Talbot paced the Teachers with 16 points, while Gord Smith had 11, and Bruce Fauldes 9.

In the second contest, RCAF held a 20-18 half-time lead and never looked back. Don Brennan led the scoring effort for the winners with 17 points. Ernie Clark added 14 points, and Paul Hargreaves 11 for RCAF. Bill Lankford was high man for the Aces with 16 points, and Don Smith scored 7.

Belleville's intermediate C basketball team won an exhibition game on the weekend when Quinte Carm's Cleaners defeated Smiths Falls Royals 77-73.

The Cleaners, made up of players from the local city league, came from behind a 34-29 deficit to win. Jeff Ravensdale and Claire Leahy each had 17 points for the winners. Joe Theriault was top man with 18. High scorer in the game was Smiths Falls' Don Thom with 22 points. Other scorers were Ron Learmouth with 13 and Bill Dobson with 12.

Golf Gal Sues Golfer!

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—A onetime leader on the ladies' professional golf circuit filed suit Monday asking damages from a male golfer who she alleges twisted her arm and threw her to the floor in her own apartment in 1965.

Marlene Hagge filed the suit in Palm Beach County circuit court against Frank Stranahan. She asked more than $5,000 in damages.

Stranahan, a wealthy businessman, formerly was one of the country's top amateur golfers and later played on the male professional tour.

The suit alleges that Stranahan entered Miss Hagge's apartment the morning of Feb. 7, 1965, in Delray Beach, Fla., and "did then and there by force, unlawfully, violently, wantonly and maliciously grab the plaintiff Miss Hagge by her arm and twist it severely" and threw her to the floor."

The suit claims Miss Hagge, who finished the 1967 golf season 22nd in money winnings in the Ladies' PGA with $7,350.30, suffered severe and grievous injury to her left arm, and great mental and physical pain, all of which is continuing and permanent.

Ed Kirkland, an Orlando attorney who filed the suit, said that prior to the alleged incident his client always earned $20,000 to $30,000. "Marlene has definitely suffered a great loss to her earning power as a result of the injury," Kirkland said. "She cannot even grip her club without undergoing great pain. She is also unable to practise as she should."

Curling Tourney Opener

TORONTO (CP) — Bruce Roberts of Seattle skipped his rink to an 11-4 victory over Hersh Lerner of Winnipeg in the first game of an international curling tournament here Monday night.

Poor ice conditions caused cancellation of Monday's second round between Ernie Richardson of Regina and Hec Gervais of Edmonton.

All eight curlers in the first match said the ice, less than 24 hours old, was like natural ice in the middle of a spring thaw.

The tournament also includes Alf Phillips Jr. of Toronto, defeading champ, and Chuck Hay, defeading Scottish champion.

Bunning Work Horse!

CINCINNATI (AP) — Jim Bunning is a glutton for work—and for a pitcher of 36, he sure seems to thrive on it.

He led the National League in 1967 with 302 innings on the mound—down from 314 in 1966 —started 40 times, shut out the opposition in six of them and struck out 253 of the 1,216 batters he faced.

For sheer labor, his closest rival was Gaylord Perry of San Francisco Giants. That 29-year-old right-hander worked 293 innings and faced 1,178 batters.

Perry ended up with a 15-17 record and an earned run average of 2.61, while Bunning was 17-15 and had ERA of 2.29—second only to Phil Niekro of Atlanta Braves on the league's list of top 15 pitchers.

Niekro, 11-9, had an ERA of 1.87 and became the first reliever-starter to win the title since the Giants' Stu Miller did it in 1958.

Ferguson Jenkins of Chicago Cubs, who got tagged for 30 home runs, completed 20 games —two more than anybody else. Jenkins comes from Chatham, Ont.

PC Motion Lost When 20 MPs Absent

OTTAWA (CP) — A Conservative non-confidence motion that drew support even from a Liberal back-bencher was defeated 111 to 95 in a Commons vote Monday night.

The motion criticizing recent federal tax increases won New Democrat, Creditiste and Social Credit support, as well as the vote of John Addison (L—York North).

However, the absence of 20 of the 85 Conservative MPs ensured the defeat of the motion which would have brought down the government if carried.

David Lewis, the NDP deputy leader, said in an interview before the vote that his party had no alternative but to vote for the motion, although it was not in sympathy with the Conservative approach in moving it.

The Canadian press reported earlier that the NDP had indicated it would not support the motion.

There were 75 Tories in the House but only 73 voted, two others abstaining because of agreements with absent Liberals.

Also supporting the budget debate motion were 18 New Democrats, two Social Credit MPs, one Creditiste and Mr. Addison.

Voting against it were 110 Liberals and J. A. Mongrain (Ind —Trois-Rivieres).

Standing in the 265-seat Commons is Liberals 132, PCs 85, NDP 22, Creditiste 8, Social Credit 4, independent 3, vacant 1.

Henri Latulippe (Creditiste—Compton-Frontenac) was in the Commons but registered a rare abstention.

"I didn't want to vote for nothing," Mr. Latulippe said later, "The Conservatives didn't offer any solution.

"I'm not obliged to follow my leader."

Creditiste Leader Real Caouette, only other of the party's eight MPs present, supported the motion.

Mr. Addison, a 39-year-old Toronto businessman elected to Parliament in 1962, was not available for comment after the vote and there was no indication why he had sided with the opposition.

Ralph Cowan (L—York Humber), another Liberal maverick, said in an interview the party can take no action against Mr. Addison for breaking ranks.

"He is a representative of the people of York North," said Mr. Cowan. "The caucus can't and won't take any action."

Earlier this fall, Steve Otto (L —York East) voted against the government's housing policy in another isolated back-bench revolt.

An NDP sub-amendment was smothered 186 to 24 in a non-confidence vote last Thursday night. Moved by David Lewis (York South), it said the government had ducked taxing the rich and put the burden on the poor.

The Conservative amendment moved by J. Waldo Monteith (Perth) took a different approach, saying the government had raised taxes to meet its own extravagances.

Mr. Lewis said Monday the NDP wasn't in sympathy with the Conservative approach set out on Mr. Monteith's speech but would support the motion because it attacked government mismanagement and the tax increase.

The six-day budget debate, which continues today, is to end Wednesday with a vote on Finance Minister Sharp's budget resolutions.

He introduced a special budget Nov. 30 raising personal income taxes five per cent and increasing by 10 per cent the excise taxes on beer, liquor and tobacco.

Maritime Labor Leaders Claim Region Neglected

MONCTON, N.B. (CP) — Separation from the rest of Canada may be the cure for economic ills of the Atlantic provinces, disgruntled leaders of labor federations in the area heard Monday.

"Quebec is not the only area of Canada where there is talk of separation," Martin Mercer of Sydney, N.S., told a news conference after a closed first meeting of presidents of various Atlantic provincial labor councils.

The meeting discussed the possibility of commissioning a study of the economic feasibility of the Atlantic provinces seceding from the rest of Canada.

A spokesman told the news conference the question of separation reached only the discussion stage. Delegates agreed to present a brief to the federal government early next year outlining economic conditions in the region.

If the steel industry cannot survive in the Atlantic area, other industries "might as well pack it up," said Mr. Mercer, president of Local 1064 of the United Steelworkers of America.

John Simonds of Ottawa, a Canadian Labor Congress representative, said delegates felt the region has been "neglected too long." Atlantic Canada was not sharing fully in the nation's growth and prosperity.

"We have taken a united stand and we are going to fight hard for our rights," said John Lynk of New Glasgow, president of the Nova Scotia Federation of Labor.

He said the meeting was the first move toward closer co-operation among all labor federations in Atlantic Canada.

The delegates agreed to seek federal government assurances that it will assume full financial responsibility for the modernization and diversification of the Sydney steel mill and maintain the mill under a crown corporation.

They also suggested the government establish a national policy for the steel industry and called for federal enforcement of a moratorium on cutbacks in railway service until a "sensible and realistic" national transportation policy is adopted.

David James of Grand Falls, Nfld., president of the New foundland Labor Federation said his group is concerned about CNR plans to eliminate passenger train service in the province and replace it with bus service.

He said the railway's proposal is "unworkable" and has not taken into consideration the conditions of the Trans-Canada Highway during the winter months.

Railway service was essential to many Newfoundland communities where it was the lone communications link.

Barry Hould, field representative of the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway, Transport and General Workers, said about 450 CNR employees in the Atlantic region were laid off this year and more would be affected because of a decision to cutback express freight service to a five-day-week. He said his union fears more layoffs next year.

The labor leaders condemned the federal governments announced plans to review the Northumberland Strait causeway project.

"The Atlantic area doesn't need any slowing down of its economy," said Mr. Simonds. "If anything it needs more public money to stimulate the economy."

The delegates said they realized there would be a large number of layoffs if the Prince Edward Island ferries were replaced by a causeway.

They suggested a program be started to retrain present employees or providing them with alternate job opportunities.

With the presentation of their bill to the cabinet early next year the labor officials will also meet in Ottawa with the region's 32 MPs to protest government implementation of Bill C-186, dealing with amendments to the Labor Relations Act.

Union leaders fear the bill will establish regional bargaining units for country wide services. They claim it will break up national bargaining units, resulting in regional wage disparity and a disruption in the normal pattern of collective bargaining.

Radioactive Gas Leaks From Nuclear Explosion

FARMINGTON, N.M. (AP) — Radioactive gas from an underground nuclear explosion Sunday leaked to the surface but was contained there by a heavy metal cover, a U.S. Atomic Energy Commission spokesman said Monday.

He said the radioactivity, forced by high pressure up a timing and firing cable that extended down to the 4,240-foot detonation point, was contained within the cable in the cement filled test hole.

The explosion, called Project Gasbuggy, was conducted jointly 55 miles east of Farmington as a natural gas recovery experiment by the AEC, El Paso Natural Gas Co. and the U.S. bureau of mines. Gasbuggy officials said there is evidence the explosion created a 335-foot-high underground chamber from which he gas could be recovered.

The spokesman said that after the radioactive gas was measured in the cable Sunday night a heavy metal cover was bolted over the hole's casing "to prevent possible escape of radioactivity."

400 Left In Refugee Camps

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — There are only 400 left, but some of them have been rattling around in Europe's displaced persons camps since the Second World War. They are mentally disturbed refugees rejected by every country in which they have sought haven.

Some are alcoholics, others drug addicts, seeking solace from the dreary existence as the rootless, a mere number on a roster.

A STORY OF A BRONZE MEDALLION
HOME —
"I'M STILL AVAILABLE"

I am situated on the Beautiful Bay of Quinte on what is known as the Sunset Strip. I was built in 1967 by Mr. Bronze Medallion Builder. At the depth of 200', I am constructed of Brick, Stone, Cedar and Aluminum Siding throughout with the most modern conveniences. Wall-to-wall broadloom throughout, 2 full bathrooms, built-in electric stove and oven, built-in dishwasher and vanity mirror, custom engineered overhead doors, attached garage with a finished recreation room that I can call my own. Also, I have a fireplace with fireplace screen, raised hearth and wood mantle. I am situated on a beautiful treed lot, where one can watch the deer at dusk.

To sleep I have 3 lovely bedrooms with built-in chest of drawers in each custom closet.

To keep me cool I am enclosed I have a double garage extra large size driveway. I am close to schools and within 5 minutes drive to all shopping so feel no pressures in my lovely residential area.

To keep from being thirsty I have a clear well with plenty of water, with a private filtration system that will last a lifetime.

I could write a book about myself but I will just rather say come and see for yourself, and you will agree with me that I am a beautiful home to live in. Phone 962-4328 or 962-4329.

Hulme Quits Brabham Team

LONDON (AP) — Dennis Hulme, 1967 world racing drivers' champion, said Monday he is quitting the Brabham team.

Next year Hulme, a 29-year-old New Zealander, will join the compatriot Bruce McLaren, 33, in a two-car McLaren team in both Formula One and Indy car races. They will also compete in the Canadian-American sports car series.

Hulme has been with the Jack Brabham team since 1965. Besides winning the world title this year, he won the valuable Canadian-American series driving a McLaren car. The team was named Rookie of the Year after finishing fourth in the Indianapolis 500 classic at his first attempt.

Bombing Effects Filmed

NEW YORK (Reuters) — The first full-length movie showing the effects of U.S. bombing on North Vietnam went on view to the American public Monday.

The 85-minute documentary, North Vietnam, was edited from 10 hours of footage shot by color by Felix Greene, British writer and movie maker, during a three-month visit there early this year.

Greene said in an interview he considered the movie "a personal report," but also the most complete visual picture of life in North Vietnam yet seen in the West.

It shows U.S. jets bombing targets and anti-aircraft batteries and peasants firing back. In a brief scene, filmed by Japanese cameramen, a jet plunges earthward in flames after being hit.

Much of the movie is devoted to showing the devastation of towns and roads by the bombing and casualties among civilians.

There also are scenes of mass mobilization of the population to repair roads, railways and bridges and training in guerrilla warfare.

To Your Good Health

Losing Some Height Not Uncommon

By Dr. Joseph G. Molner

Dear Dr. Molner: We are three ladies, all 60 years old. I was once an inch or inch and a half shorter than the others, who are twins. I am heavy boned and weigh the same as I did the day I finished school: 158 pounds and 5 feet 8 inches. The others were smaller boned bo. tall. They weigh 130 or better and have had a blood deficiency all their lives. At present they are nearly two inches shorter than I am. Please tell us what is happening. — L. I.

Losing some height is not uncommon as one gets older.

A slouching posture is a common cause, but there also may be an actual decrease in the size of vertebrae due to certain bone changes. That is the spine can actually decrease in length.

In the particular instance you cite, the excessive weight — 190 pounds and more — could contribute to both postural and bone defects which could make your friends shorter while you have kept more trim and maintained your weight — and doubtless your good posture.

Dear Dr. Molner: My brother has gout. What food can he eat and what can't he eat? — M. S.

Diet isn't the whole thing. He should follow a diet low in purines. Briefly, he should avoid organ meats (liver, kidney, sweetbreads), no anchovies, sardines, roe. Also avoid meat extracts, such as bouillon, broth gravies. Other meats, fowl and fish are allowable in small amounts.

Among vegetables, limit the amount of beans, peas, spinach, asparagus, lentils.

But do not depend on diet alone, because medication these days is bringing welcome comfort to gout sufferers. Read my booklet, "Gout, the Modern way to Stop It." Send 25 cents in coin and a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Dr. Molner, in care of this newspaper, for a copy.

Dear Dr. Molner: I have been given the liver function test three times in the last year and each time the fat retention was between 4 and 14. My doctor says I should give up drinking for at least a year. The extent of my drinking is about two highballs each evening and maybe four on Saturday and four on Sunday. Would you say this amount of alcohol would cause this condition? Of course, I have drunk more in the past. — G. M.

Yes, I'll bet you have drunk more in the past.

But there's a difference between what caused liver damage in the first place, and what may increase the damage now.

If you are smart, you will do what your doctor told you to do — for at least a year. And unless the doctor then gives his specific approval to start drinking again, don't. The test does not measure fat retention but rather it dye retention. Five is upper normal, 14 is high.

Note to Mrs. G. R. S.: I consistently refuse to tell anyone whether she should have her tubes tied to prevent further pregnancy, or whether her husband, instead, should have the operation. This is a question the individual must decide, on the basis of all the facts. But keep in mind my warning: If you have it done, do give the expectation that it will be permanent. There is no assurance that it can be "undone" later. Anyway there are other methods of preventing pregnancy, the "pill" as well as others.

Eric C. Naylor, Inspector with the Enforcement Branch of the Unemployment Insurance Commission, marks 25 years' service. Affixing "pin" are Mrs. Gertrude Culver, and Cecil Hiuser, U.I.C. office manager.

Season Poses New Threat To Children

Fire Chief Ted Poste has warned citizens that the Christmas season poses a new threat to children.

"Many activities," says Chief Poste, "at this time of year may tempt parents to leave small children unattended. Even the intention may be to slip out for only a few minutes, only a few seconds may be needed to turn a happy holiday into a family tragedy."

It has been pointed out that the Criminal Code of Canada forbids negligence which may endanger the life or health of any child under the age of ten years.

According to Chief Poste, the best method of safety the lives of children is a prearranged fire program which outlines the procedure of a family if a fire should break out "Baby-sitters should be made aware of the program"

Campbellford Salvationists Hold Tea

CAMPBELLFORD — Campbellford Salvation Army Corp held a tea at the Citadel Saturday with a capacity crowd in attendance. Conveners were the wife of the officer in charge of Salvation Army activities in Campbellford and Mrs. J. Brethour.

The serving table in charge of Mrs. L. Johnson featured articles handcrafted by a group of retarded children which have been placed in Campbellford homes. The women are perfectionists in their field and contributed finely made items to the sale.

The novelty table also held articles made by the semi - retarded, showing the benefit of craft training in the Home League.

Mrs. E. Flint was in charge of the home baking table and Miss Kate Stover sold candy. Miss Brenda Cochrane looked after the fish pond and Mrs. Rogers supervised the country store. Aprons and children's mitts were sold by Mrs. W. Cubitt.

Mrs. C. McSween, wife of Rev. Creba McSween of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church opened the bazaar and these pouring tea were Lieut.-Col. Mrs. Hawkes, Belleville, Mrs. M. Austin, Mrs. Cochrane and Mrs. R. Bennett.

Long Service Recognized

A man who for the past 17 years has acted as "policeman" for the Unemployment Insurance Commission this week marked completion of 25 years' service in the different branches of the federal employment agency.

He is Eric Naylor, inspector with the enforcement branch of the U.I.C. at Belleville, who joined the former National Selective Service back in 1942, shortly after the federal agency took over the role of the Ontario employment service.

Mr. Naylor was presented with his quarter century pin yesterday by C. Cecil Hiuser, manager of the Unemployment Insurance Commission office in Belleville.

An inspector with the enforcement branch it is Mr. Naylor's role to guard against "unemployed" workers trying to get an unfair advantage in insurance payments.

In this role Mr. Naylor has made literally "hundreds" of court appearances in the East Central Ontario area. His area ranges from Brighton to Deseronto and from Lake Ontario to Algonquin Park.

One of Mr. Naylor's first jobs with the former National Selective Service was directing wartime workers into more essential jobs.

Then as now, the role of employment officer had its problems, but the problem was to find workers for the job, not jobs for the workers.

Later Mr. Naylor worked temporarily as veterans' officer and in 1945 became employment branch supervisor and in 1950 was transferred to the legal branch of the insurance department. He has been at it years in his present job as inspector.

An enforcement branch inspector Mr Naylor is required to have certain legal knowledge. Cases have to be received a Doctor of Laws degree from the Fre Protestant University at Stoneb ridge, England.

Kiwanis Club Will Present Bonus Program

Five colored films through the courtesy of the National Film Board and the local Kiwanis Club will be shown as a salute to Canada's Centennial. These include: "The Great Toy Robbery", "Canada Can Dance": "Helicopter Canada", "Precision"; and an enchanting Christmas fantasy, "The Christmas Cracker."

This program has been made available through the efforts of Jim Schillings, manager of the Kingston office of the National Film Board.

Three Youths Charged with Break, Enter

DESERONTO — Three Deseronto youths, Clayton Brant, Ralph Sparks and Earl Maracle, have been charged with break, enter and theft as the result of an incident on Friday night, when the old high school was broken into.

It was disclosed by police that a window and a door had been broken during entry to the building.

The break-in followed entry in the United Church last week and is the latest episode in a miniature crime-wave of petty theft and vandalism that has hit Deseronto.

Cheque Presented To Cancer Society

CAMPBELLFORD — Students of Campbellford District High School presented a cheque for $900 to the cancer fund as a memorial to the late Harry Burgis, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Burgis. The youth died recently of cancer.

The cheque was received by Mrs. Murphy, Peterborough, at a brief ceremony. Mrs. Burgis was presented with a bouquet of red roses and expressed her deep appreciation to students and staff.

Quebec Leads Fight Against Bankruptcy Fraud

OTTAWA (CP) — Enforcement of bankruptcy law is expected to reach "a level never attained before" as a result of closer federal-provincial liaison being pioneered in Quebec, Registrar-General T u r n e r said today.

An agreement which will be sought with other provinces puts the prosecution of all administrative or criminal offences under the Bankruptcy Act in federal hands.

However, new arrangements with Quebec clearly outlined responsibilities.

The federal superintendent of bankruptcy had opened a Montreal regional office made up of a team of accountants and RCMP investigators, operating through the whole province.

This office was not only initiating investigations but was prepared to aid provincial and municipal agencies in their work.

Meanwhile, the federal justice department would prosecute offences under the Bankruptcy Act whether the investigation was federal, provincial or municipal.

The Quebec justice department, meanwhile, had the responsibility to initiate all prosecutions under the C r i m i n a l Code, including those resulting following federal bankruptcy investigations.

The press release followed talks r e c e n t l y in Montreal among representatives of the registrar-general's department, the Quebec justice department, the RCMP, Quebec provincial police and Montreal municipal police.

Mr. Turner said federal bankruptcy teams also are being set up in Toronto and Vancouver and the government hopes to make s i m i l a r arrangements with provinces other than Quebec.

Tires were impossible to find in a country such as Sweden. When tires could be bought, one tire cost $350, provided one had a permit from the Royal Automobile Club. The only German car running with inner tubes was the Kaiser's automobile.

Most other casings were stuffed w i t h compressed cork, paper, rags and sausages made of ground cork.

DRIVING TIPS

It's a temptation during cold weather months to keep all the windows in your car closed when you're driving. But it's good practice to open at least one or two windows open a little. Fresh air keeps you more alert when you drive.

Opening your car door into the traffic lane is dangerous. We don't recommend it. The OML warns that one should enter and leave a car from the curb side and not the traffic side. It's good sense, and also perfectly good manners, to precede a lady into the car, say the experts.

OML recommends that motorists lock car doors before starting to drive. In the case of an accident, a locked door is less likely to be flung open and passengers are in less danger of being thrown out.

WARNING TO TRAVELLERS

Studded snow tires were recently made legal in Ontario for use between October 1 and March 31. However, the Ontario Motor League warns motorists planning trips south this winter that there are still many states which have applied for, and received, an auto licence.

Centre Reports Increase in Employment

NAPANEE — Largely because of the recall of welders and material handlers to Napanee Industries, there was a great improvement in November in employment conditions in the area covered by the Napanee Manpower Centre, Parliament was told today.

Other areas which also met the required specifications were recommended by the Napanee Manpower Centre office for different courses in other adult education courses in the province.

The major need at present is professional help in the various industries and in the hospital: a structural steel draftsman, a mechanical engineer, a stationary engineer, an accountant, and grade XIII or grade XIII graduates for manager-trainees. There is an urgent demand for registered nurses, registered nurses aides, and a director of nurses.

It will be seen in color on CHANNEL 9 - Tuesday, December 12th from 9.30 - 11.00 p.m.
Written by Toronto's Dr. Sandy Stern, "Rumble of Silence" tells the story of a young deaf girl whose fairytale existence becomes shattered by her first emotional responses to womanhood. Unwittingly handicapped by a possessive mother (Kate Reid) and unprepared for maturity, Stephenie Williams (Joy Tepperman) suddenly asserts her independence and discloses a rumble of discord in the superficial family conviviality. Paul Harding plays the role of Stephanie's two-timing father, Marc Strange appears as an impoverished Yorkville artist with whom Stephanie goes to live, and Gino Marrocco is featured as the artists's dope-pushing friend. Approximately 40 Yorkville "hippies" appear in Rumble of Silence as extras.

Cyprus Peace Force Not Likely to Be Expanded

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — The UN Security Council meets this week to extend the life of the 4,300-man Cyprus peace force, but the council is expected to put off action on Secretary-General U Thant's call for a bigger force with a broader mission.

Informed sources said the council would meet Thursday or Friday to extend the six-month mandate of the present force, which expires Dec. 26. There are almost 800 Canadians in the force.

Diplomats expressed belief, however, that it would take weeks of hard bargaining before the council acts on Thant's call for a larger UN force with a wider mission.

President Makarios of Cyprus, leader of the Greek-Cypriot majority, is expected to oppose a wider role for the UN force. Rumors circulated at UN headquarters that Thant would try to ease tension on the island by seeking to reinstate his pacification program, which calls for plazation of travel and economic restrictions against the Turkish-Cypriot minority.

The council recently endorsed the appeal by Thant, setting forth the principles of an agreement ending Turkey's threat to invade Cyprus. Although UN delegates felt President Makarios got what he wanted, the Turkish government warned that it would still intervene if necessary to protect the Turkish-Cypriots.

The agreement called for dispersal of the invasion force the Turks had assembled on their south coast, 40 miles from Cyprus, and withdrawal of Greek and Turkish forces sent to Cyprus in excess of the levels specified by the island's 1960 independence treaties. These permit 950 Greek troops and 650 Turks.

Thant's appeal made no direct mention, however, of Turkey's demand for disbanding of the 10,000-man Greek-Cypriot national guard.

Makarios insisted that disbanding of the national guard must be linked to international guarantees against invasion by Turkey. But Thant has declared it will not give up the right accorded it in the independence Agreements to intervene on behalf of the Turkish-Cypriots.

Nancy Sinatra Variety Special Had Style, Pace and Class

NEW YORK (AP)—Nancy Sinatra, with only a casual assist from her father and his friends, moved into television's big time Monday night with one of the season's most imaginative and well-produced variety specials.

The NBC program, produced and directed by Jack Haley Jr., was a tasteful blend of interesting backgrounds—most of them taken on location up and down the California coast—and unusual camera work. Added to this were dandy musical arrangements, attractive singing and a fashion show, for Miss Sinatra's costumes and hairdos were in the mode and mood of young moderns.

Dean Martin strolled into view for one number with Nancy. The number used mannequins instead of human beings for background. Sammy Davis Jr. turned up for a number—perhaps the most forced part in the show—and played a fashion photographer.

The famous father of the show's star sang at the show's end, after a long, sentimental but interesting preliminary in which we saw blowups of baby pictures of both the senior Sinatra and his elder daughter.

It had style, pace and class, ranking with the first Man and His Music special of Frank Sinatra.

Earlier, and partly in conflict, there was CBS's second National Geographic Society special of the season, Winged World. It was a fascinating study of birds. We saw closeup films of the woodpecker finch which uses a stick to dig food out of tree cracks, illustrating a discursive of whether birds have intelligence. We saw the sheerwater of the British Isles, a bird with such keen homing instincts it can find its way back to its nest again when thousands of miles away.

Birds, observed narrator Alexander Scourby, can usually survive the onslaught of any of its enemies except one: Man.

The program was informative and well photographed.

Danny Thomas' NBC hour was an amusing, good-humored takeoff on the elaborate movie musicals of the 1930s. The Royal Follies of 1933 had a lot of songs, dances, broad comedy and a plot about a prince falling in love with a show girl. It was a happy, entertaining hour.

On the serious side, NBC's early evening news program showed some film taken by a former hippie at what was described as a glue sniffing party. Most impressive was the agonized writhing of one young man in the resulting hangover.

Carmichael Returns to U.S., Has His Passport Taken Away

NEW YORK (AP) — Black Power militant Stokely Carmichael was back in the United States today, his passport in the hands of federal officials and his presence stirring Congress to consider penalties for U.S. citizens who travel to forbidden countries.

Carmichael, whose five-month trip included calls in Cuba and North Vietnam, flew into Kennedy airport Monday and was met by a cheering group of his admirers and by U.S. marshals.

U.S. Attorney Joseph P. Hoey of Brooklyn said Carmichael's passport—issued with the provison that he not go to either Cuba or North Vietnam—was seized by a marshal executing a federal search warrant.

Shortly before Carmichael arrived, the state department asked Congress to authorize penalties of up to one year in prison and $1,000 in fines for unauthorized travel by U.S. citizens for forbidden countries.

Undersecretary of State Nicholas Katzenbach termed lifting of a passport to prevent repeated violations of travel restrictions "inadequate to secure the foreign policy interests which are at stake."

Representative Emanuel Celler (Dem. N.Y.), chairman of the House of Representatives judiciary committee, said: "The Carmichael case points up the need to invoke criminal penalties for forbidden visits."

"Carmichael has made statements which have given great aid and comfort to our enemies in Vietnam, Cuba and elsewhere.

"It would be most anomalous if a great country like the United States did not protect itself against flagrant violators of passport laws by desperadoes like Carmichael."

Senator Karl E. Mundt (Rep. S. D.), a member of the foreign relations committee to which the administration bill was referred, said he favored legislation of that kind.

He said Carmichael's trip had "dramatized the fact that this country is pretty defenseless to protect itself" against activities of this nature.

A U.S. Supreme Court decision on passports earlier this year left the state department without the power to seek criminal penalties for unauthorized visits to countries to which travel had been forbidden.

Katzenbach said that although Carmichael's passport has been officially revoked "no penalty today can be applied to him for the fact that he visited Hanoi."

When Carmichael arrived at Kennedy airport his supporters chanted "Mau, Mau! Mau, Mau!" Among those greeting him was Charles Kenyatta, head of the Harlem group known as the Mau Mau.

Together they drove to the Harlem branch of the YMCA where Carmichael met with H. Rap Brown, his successor as head of the Student Non-violent Co-ordinating Committee.

Carmichael had been out of the country since last July when he started the trip with a visit to England.

Later, when Carmichael was in Cuba calling for "urban guerrilla warfare within the United States," the British home office barred him from any return to England.

During his subsequent visit to North Vietnam, Carmichael said the United States was "the greatest destroyer of humanity." He also made stops in Algeria, Guinea, France and Sweden.

TV Gets Steadily Worse

By SIDNEY J. HARRIS

I almost never comment about television, for what is there to say without sounding like a common scold? But I would like to give a little today, and remind readers of some of the things I said 15 or more years ago, when TV was still a relative novelty on the American scene.

I then observed that television was not going to get any better, but was most likely to get worse, for it was called a cynic, a pseudo-intellectual, a bleak pessimist, and a darkly subversive character. I was reminded that TV was an "instant" art, and it should be given a chance to grow up.

In rebuttal, I observed that the drama in its infancy gave us Aeschylus, Sophocles, Euripides, and Aristophanes, still among the greatest of playwrights. Sculpture in its infancy gave us Praxiteles and Phidias, whose work has not yet been surpassed.

Architecture in its infancy gave us the magnificent pyramids of Egypt, the temples and public buildings of Greece. Literature in its infancy in their infancy gave us the Songs of Solomon, the Odyssey and Iliad of Homer, the Aeneid of Virgil, the odes of Horace — which moderns are still translating into inferior versions.

An art-form, I pointed out, does not develop with time—if it did, our contemporary playwrights would be 300 years better than Shakespeare and we know they are three hundred million light years behind him.

In point of fact, television has grown down in the intervening 15 years since I made that melancholy prediction. Each season, sillier and sillier shows are put on the tube, and each season the majority of them are cancelled after a few weeks, because their standard of intelligence and taste is even lower than the public common denominator.

The familiar argument of the TV producers, half pack-agers that "we're only giving the people what they want," has collapsed like a popped balloon — for it is distressingly evident that the producers don't know what the people want, or they wouldn't make so many colossally expensive mistakes season after season.

It is criminally stupid to misuse and debase so tremendous an instrument as television — which has the power, as nothing before it, to upgrade the intellectual and esthetic levels of hundreds of millions of people, and to bring them into the mainstream of 20th Century life. Never before in history has there been such a pressing need for an educated and aware public — and never before have we been so relentlessly bombarded with the trivial, the infantile, and the inane.

Liquor Hours Extended

TORONTO (CP) — Liquor Licence Act regulations have been officially amended to extend the hours in which liquor can be served with meals in Ontario when the last day of December falls on a Sunday as it does this year.

This change allows liquor to be served in a properly-licensed dining lounge, dining room or club from noon Sunday Dec. 31 to 3 p.m. and from 5 p.m. to 1 a.m. the following Monday.

The new evening hours apply also to functions covered by special-occasion permits if meals are served.

The previous closing hour was 9:30 p.m. Sunday.

Another change would allow licensed premises to re-open when polls close following a provincial or municipal election.

The changes announced Monday in the Ontario Gazette had been promised earlier by Judge W. T. Robb, chairman of the Liquor Licence Board of Ontario.

Firefighters Assoc. Active In Community

NAPANEE — While the Napanee Firefighters' Association has been in operation nearly two years it has received little publicity, although it has been far from idle. When asked to outline some of their accomplishments President Harold ("Pepper") Martin a bit reluctantly complied with the request.

The Association was organized early in '66 and that summer held 'teen age dances in the Armouries. The proceeds of the dances were held in the arena. Their only other source of income, other than their own donations, has been from the sale of a large Panda to which 50 one-dollar bills were attached. W. R. Steinman, who won the draw, turned back the money to them, but this is the only donation they have had so far.

With this limited revenue they have managed to do a lot of good in the community. Donations to the Salvation Army as well as contributions to the Red Shield fund have been given. They also have paid for bursaries to the NDSS. Several young people, each accompanied by a parent, were sent to hear the Beatles in Toronto, with all expenses paid by the firefighters.

The Association sponsored the contest for Miss Firefighter of '67 and '67 and in June the Santa Clause parade, afterwards sending a donation to the recreation fund of the Collins Bay Penitentiary, whose inmates had made the float.

Each year since their organization the members have purchased a wreath which they place on the Cenotaph Remembrance Day.

Their horse-drawn fire wagon with its ancient uniforms and equipment was featured Napanee on several occasions in parades during Centennial Year, and was always well received.

The members have also been active in sports, For two years they formed a hockey team to assist the recreation committee, and played a baseball game with the police one summer, a benefit game, and with proceeds from the second game going to the muscular dystrophy fund. When occasion arises they assist the police with traffic control.

The Napanee Fire Department has four full time members. At present Fire Chief F. W. Pallon are active members of the Firefighters' Association. The chief is an honorary member. Meetings are held monthly. With one exception the officers are the same now as when it was organized. Tom Kimmett resigned as treasurer at the end of the first year and was replaced by Alfred King. Vice-president is Reg Vic, and secretary is George Hawley.

Housing Help Will Be Late

OTTAWA (CP) — A federal-provincial conference that despaired of early solutions to Canada's housing problems ended Tuesday, a day ahead of schedule.

Lacking federal pledges of more housing money in 1968, the provinces settled for discussion of long-term prospects.

Eight premiers turned up for Monday's opening session. Two were on hand at the conclusion Tuesday night.

Late in the day Ottawa unloaded a series of proposals for new legislation covering both housing and urban development, the formal topics of the conference. But there was a hint that Canadians would not feel the benefits until 1969 or later.

Labor Minister Nicholson said the promised help for urban planning, land assembly and individual home-owners, would come only when Ottawa could afford the tab.

Premier Johnson of Quebec fought quietly and firmly against what he called intervention in his own programs from new federal initiatives.

He said Tuesday night such a full-fledged conference was "premature," and could have been held at the official level. But it had proved the provinces and Ottawa would co-operate on urban problems. The best prospects of "a new kind of federalism in which Quebec could feel at ease."

Premier Robarts said Ontario was nothing to meet the immediate problem of "finding more homes for more people." The conference had been useful only as a discussion of long-term trends and avenues of possible co-operation among governments.

One existing federal program and a new joint venture proposed by Prime Minister Pearson were killed at the conference.

Mr. Nicholson, federal minister responsible for housing, said the annual program of lending to builders for home construction without presale contracts will be abolished.

This so-called "speculative building" cost $200,000,000 this year and the money would be better spent in public housing, he said.

Mr. Pearson's concept of an independent national council to advise on housing and urban development was unanimously crushed by provincial reaction. The provinces favored a co-operative exchange of information among existing housing and planning authorities.

With Ontario in the lead, the provinces promised the benefits of home ownership and urged new measures to help Canadians establish equity positions.

But Mr. Nicholson said Ottawa intends to increase assistance only to public housing. Lending through the Central Mortgage and Housing Corp. next year will drop from the 1967 total of $950,000,000.

The labor minister said the government established a flexible and higher National Housing Act mortgage rate in 1967 to attract private lenders into the mortgage field.

He promised to consider Ontario's proposal that public housing be sold to tenants, that terms of NHA mortgages be extended to 45 or 50 years from 35, and that mortgage rates be made negotiable during the life of the contract.

Civil War Is Possible

ATHENS (AP) — King Constantine of Greece, evidently backed by part of the army, called on his people today to oust the military dictatorship and restore democracy to this land where it was born.

His appeal raised the spectre of civil war in the wake of withdrawal of part of Greek forces from Cyprus in the face of Turkish demands

The king repudiated the military coup of last April.

Shortly before he spoke troops and tanks took up positions around key buildings in Athens, and the state-run radio said the government was ready to defend itself

The 27-year-old monarch declared leaders of the April 21 coup were only a segment of the army.

"A spirit of revenge will not prevail," he said, "but I will not accept any disobedience from now on and it will be crushed mercilessly.

"There will be no compromise."

He referred to the Communist-led civil war of 20 years ago and asked the people to support him.

The king spoke by radio from Salonika, the major city of northern Greece.

There were reports that the 3rd Armored Corps in Salonika had rebelled against the military dictatorship. The leader of the corps is a Gen. Peridis, known as a strong supporter of the king and an opponent of the April coup.

The Greek embassy in London said the ministry of information in Athens reported a coup had been attempted by a group of army officers

A bulletin over the state-run national radio declared:

"The April 21 revolution is determined to fulfil its mission."

The radio did not elaborate but it was clear the junta colonels were determined to crush any move to oust them.

Athens remained outwardly calm as the king staked the future of Greece and his crown on a move to oust the colonels.

He had been obviously reluctant to endorse last spring's coup that overthrew the constitutional government of Premier George Papandreou.

CAPE TOWN (CP) — Hundreds of telephone calls and letters have been received here since Louis Washkansky became the first man in the world to undergo a human heart transplant, hospital officials said today.

"Great work fellows, now you can cone over here and transplant some guts into our politicians."

War Plants Big Factor In Politics

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. military-industrial complex has become a major political force through such steps as locating defence installations and plants in the home districts of key congressmen, Senator J. W. Fulbright said today.

Fulbright, chairman of the Senate foreign relations committee and a long-time critic of administration Vietnam war policy, commented in the second of two appraisals of the effect of the Vietnam war on the United States.

It was prepared for Senate delivery.

He said "generals, industrialists, businessmen, workers and politicians have joined together in a military-industrial complex" that has become "a powerful new force for the perpetuation of foreign military commitments, for the introduction and expansion of expensive weapons systems and, as a result, for the militarization of large segments of our national life."

Martin Urges U.S. Gamble for Peace

BRUSSELS (CP) — Canada today called on the United States to "gamble" for peace in Vietnam.

External Affairs Minister Paul Martin told the 15-country NATO council: "The time has come to risk as much as a gamble for peace—and I recognize that it would be a gamble—as has already been risked in ever-widening attempts at a military solution."

While Martin did not spell out what he meant, Canada has been pleading with the U.S. to halt the bombing in North Vietnam in the hope that this might lead to negotiations and a settlement.

U.S. State Secretary Dean Rusk was reported to have told the council the bombing would stop only if the U.S. could be sure this would lead to useful discussions and if assurance could be given that the Viet Cong would not take advantage of the situation. Informants said Rusk also stated that in his view the Vietnamese war is going in the right direction for the side of freedom and democracy.

Martin also proposed that NATO continue to study ways of promoting a mutual East-West reduction of arms even though the West cannot expect explicit agreements from the Russians at this time. Even prospects for tacit agreements "do not seem very bright," he said.

Quebec Storm Kills Six

MONTREAL (CP) — Freezing rain accompanied by high winds swept over south-central Quebec Tuesday leaving at least six dead and thousands without electricity and heat as hydro poles toppled.

At Cap-de-la-Madeleine, 90 miles northeast of Montreal, a Montreal-Quebec City passenger train rammed into a car, killing three occupants.

Two died at Joncaire, 100 miles north of Quebec City, when their car slid off an icy road.

In St. Jerome a man opened the door of his car and was electrocuted. High-tension wires had fallen onto the vehicle.

Solar Weather Watchman Ready to Warn Spacemen

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) —Beaming back strong signals to earth, a robot "interplanetary weatherman" named Pioneer VIII rocketed into orbit around the sun today to help weave a network that could warn astronauts of deadly solar radiation storms in space.

En route to the sun-circling path between that of earth and Mars, Pioneer VIII's fiery Delta booster rocket successfully kicked a radio-relay communications satellite into orbit around earth to be used for testing America's man-to-moon tracking network.

"We now have the Pioneer VIII spacecraft in a solar orbit," a National Aeronautics spokesman said 25 minutes after the double payload blasted off at 9:08 a.m. EST. The tricky two-in-one shot closed out the 1967 launch scheduled at Cape Kennedy

Scientists refer to the Pioneer family of spacecraft as "interplanetary weathermen" and said sensors aboard Pioneer VIII could provide the best information yet on how much a danger radiation storms emitted from the sun pose to astronauts

Working with other craft previously launched, drumshaped Spacecraft VIII could possibly lead to a foolproof means of predicting when dangerous flares will erupt on the sun — just as earth-orbiting weather satellites help forecasters predict climate on this planet — so manned space flights can be scheduled around them, officials said.

Giant Airlift Bolsters Vietnam Force

SAIGON (AP) — The biggest airlift of the Vietnam war pushed U.S. troop strength in South Vietnam to about 475,000 today—more than the peak of 472,800 Americans in the Korean War at its height 14 years ago.

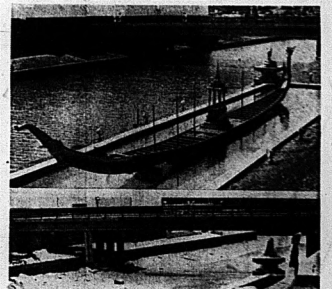
The U.S. command took the security wraps off the transfer from the United States of two more brigades of the U.S. 101st Airborne Division. About 7,000 of the paratroops have been flown across the Pacific since Nov. 17 and another 3,000 are due by Dec. 29.

The 101st commander, Maj.-Gen. Olinto M. Barsanti, snapped a salute on his arrival today at Bien Hao Air Base and reported to Gen. William C. Westmoreland: "The 101st Airborne Division is present for combat in Vietnam."

Westmoreland, now commander of all U.S. troops in Vietnam, was 101st Airborne's commander from 1963 to 1960. The division's 1st Brigade has been in Vietnam since July, 1965.

When completed, the airlift will have involved 373 trans-Pacific flights, which after discharging men and supplies generally took off within 15 minutes on the 8,785-mile flight back to 101st Division Headquarters at Fort Campbell, Ky.

U.S. spokesmen said the airlift is "the longest and largest ever staged direct from the United States to Southeast Asia "and gave us an excellent opportunity to test our airlift capabilities."



The airlift of the two brigades gave Westmoreland the additional manpower about six weeks ahead of schedule. President Johnson has promised 525,000 men by early next year.

Dollar Volume Increases

Tourist Income Exceeds Target

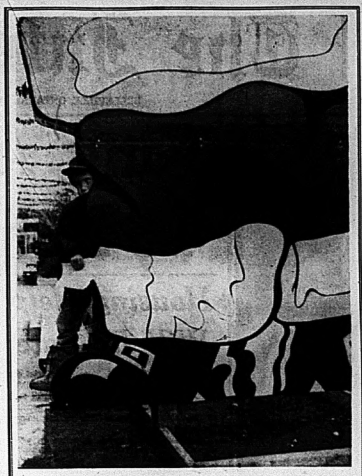
The events of centennial year and Canada's attractions are going to pull in a total tourist income this year far beyond the Centennial Tourism target of $1,000,000,000.



Trade Minister Robert Winters announced this week that tourist income for this year will total close to $1,250,000,000. "We expect that when the full year's returns are in our total tourist income from foreign visitors will have been close to $1,250,000,000 — $400 millions more than in 1966."

"At the same time, Canadian travellers in other countries will have spent about this year's $2000 million total," said the Minister.

Mr. Winters continued, "We therefore expect a surplus on travel account of $750 millions to $400 millions — a welcome change from the 1966 deficit of $60,000,000 or the $200 millions deficits that were the rule at the turn of the decade."

Credit for the tremendous increase in tourism was attributed to promotion programs, centennial events and Expo '67.

"Expo alone appears to have accounted for roughly half of the total improvement in our tourism accounts."

Meeting Will Discuss Formation Of Lower Trent Conservation Authority

With the view of reviving interest in the formation of a Lower Trent Conservation Authority, an information meeting is being called for January 9 at the Trenton High School.

The meeting is being sponsored by the Murray Township Ratepayers' Association and the Lower Trent Conservation Committee.

Paul Heisler, chairman of the Murray Ratepayers says officials from five neighboring conservation authorities — the Otonabee, Moira, Ganaraska, Crowe, and Prince Edward will attend the Trenton meeting to outline Authority programs and accomplishments.

John Guertin, Trenton high school teacher, is head of the Lower Trent Conservation Committee.

Also during the Trenton meeting two films, "Valleys and People", and "Back to the Trees" will be shown following a question and answer period.

Seventeen municipalities ranging from Trenton to Campbellford and Hastings would be included in the Lower Trent Conservation Authority if it is formed.

On two previous occasions attempts have been made to form a Lower Trenton Authority but the proposal died from lack of interest.

35 County Employees To Join Civil Service

Approximately 35 county of Hastings employees who operate the county jail and staff the law courts are to be absorbed into the Ontario Civil Service on Jan. 1.

County Clerk Treasurer Carl Bateman said he had received word yesterday of the change. Affected will be the 18-man jail guard staff; seven employees in the county registry office and another seven working in the county court and juvenile court departments.

Mr. Bateman said that the employees involved would continue on at their present rate of pay until a review of salaries was made.

Two Hurt In Crash

Two men are in Trenton Memorial Hospital after they were injured in a one-car accident early this morning on Highway 62 between Milbridge and Bannockburn.

A car driven by Maurice Roy Mitts, 18, of Trenton went out of control about 2 a.m. and collided with a Bell Telephone pole crib. The crib was demolished.

Mitts and his passenger, Wilfred Orr of R.R. 3 Trenton were both injured in the collision which caused $1200 damage to the vehicle. The injuries were not defined.

Rabies Vaccine Developed by Dr. Walker

The International Seminar on Rabies to discuss and present views on the present rabies situation was attended in Buenos Aires recently by Dr. V. C. Rowan Walker, assistant administrator of the Connaught Medical Research Laboratory, Dufferin Division, Toronto.

Research workers in medical and veterinary professions attended the seminar at the Pan-American Zoonoses Center to discuss the tremendous problem. It is especially serious in South America due to the Vampire bat.

The extensively used rabies vaccine was developed at the Connaught Laboratory where Dr. Walker, son of Rev. and Mrs. W. H. V. Walker of Belleville, is assistant administrator.

Cost Estimates Considered

Consideration of cost estimates for carrying out a proposed urban renewal study in downtown Belleville and in Foster Ward will be among the first items of business for the 1968 city council.

About a month ago council retained consulting engineers Procter, Redfern, Bousfield and Bacon of Toronto to do a cost estimate on the urban renewal study. The firm has now made a preliminary submission which will be discussed with city hall staff before going to city council early in the new year.

When the actual urban renewal study is carried out it is expected that 75 per cent of the cost of the study will be paid by federal and provincial grants.

The local Chamber of Commerce last spring initiated interest in a downtown urban renewal scheme when it unveiled development proposals including a Front Street mall area and a circle traffic route down the river bank and north along Pinnacle Street.

The idea met with considerable enthusiasm on the part of city council which decided that the Foster Ward area should be included in any urban renewal study planned for the downtown district.

Clergy Discuss 'The Press'

Relations between the clergy and the press were aired by the Belleville Ministerial Association at its monthly meeting yesterday. The speaker, R. Barclay Warren, who has been writing a weekly column for newspapers for 26 years and editing a monthly paper for 16 years, ran into some stormy weather.

Mr. Warren maintained that in this secular age, newspapers couldn't be blamed "for printing all the news that's fit to print. If this does sometimes scandalize the clergy, well — that is part of the price for being in public life," he said. Clergy should be thankful that such episodes are not so common among the clergy as to be no longer news.

The speaker pointed out that what may seem newsworthy from a clergyman's viewpoint, may not be so from the editor's viewpoint. Reports of the trivial are too often submitted. The editor has the final say as to what will be printed as news.

The paper always welcomes advertising, he said but "certainly, threatening will not help". The minister must remember that "Blessed are the meek, for they shall inherit the earth."

Printers make errors. So do ministers but, not being in print, they cannot be scrutinized so closely.

Mr. Warren called for a better rapport between the clergy and the local press. It will make for better ministers, a more interesting paper, and a better community, he stated.

B of M Changes Hours

Al Cameron, manager of the Bank of Montreal, Front and Bridge Streets, Belleville, announced today that effective Monday, Dec. 18, his branch will open at 9.30 each morning and close at 5.00 p.m. Monday to Thursday inclusive.

On Friday the bank will open continuously from 9.30 a.m. until 6.00 p.m.

For the present these extended hours of service will also be offered at the main downtown branch only. The move is designed to make it more convenient for people to do their banking.

CARDS OF THANKS

I would like to take this opportunity to say a sincere "thank you" to my neighbors, friends and relatives for flowers, visits, cards, and gifts received while a patient at Belleville General Hospital. Deepest appreciation to Rev. Small, also Rev. Broadfield for pastoral visits and prayers. Drs. Douglas, Hipwell and Bates, wonderful nurses and nurses aides for their efficient care. Laila Hartner.

I wish to thank our relatives and many friends and neighbors for their kind acts and cards and flowers received during my illness. I also special thanks to Dr. Henry Bateman and nurses who looked after me. —Mrs. Thomas Smythe.

Christmas Store Hours

"Whenever you buy or agree to buy something you make a contract", came as a shopping tip from the Chamber of Commerce yesterday, "no matter whether you pay cash, make a deposit, or by installments or charge it."

Both the seller and buyer have the same right to expect the other to live up to his bargain. If the buyer should change his mind and wants his money, deposit or credit back, the seller does not legally have to agree to break the contract.

Some retailers may follow the policy that all sales are final but according to O. F. Bradley, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, most of the local stores will accept exchanges within reason and allow cash returns or credit slips if the circumstances warrant such adjustment.

Mr. Bradley suggested that shoppers ascertain the policies of retailers concerning exchanges and refunds and to shop wisely. Examining purchases before Christmas so that any damage claim can be made immediately is also a good idea.

Mr. Bradley said that food stores would be open Dec. 20, 21, 22 until nine p.m. and on Saturday, Dec. 23 until six p.m. Other retail stores will be open until nine p.m. on the Monday through Friday preceding Christmas. On Saturday, Dec. 23, they will be open until 5.30 p.m. (Plazas will be open until six). All stores will be closed on Boxing Day because of the municipal bylaw.

Banks will be open their regular hours and will also open on the 23rd (Saturday) from nine in the morning until noon.

No Increase

PUC to Absorb Power Rate Boost

Good news for Belleville hydro users.

Despite the fact that Ontario Hydro will boost power rates by six per cent next year, the increase will not be passed along to its customers by the Belleville Public Utilities.

Utilities Commission Chairman, Lyle Langabeer, said today that the Commission will absorb the power costs and by dipping into operating surplus will be able to maintain the present consumer rate for another 18 months.

At the same time the commission will make every effort to carry on its scheduled program of street lighting and other construction.

But even without a hydro increase, local utilities customers are likely to find their monthly bills creep up a bit shortly after the New Year.

The reason is that the city sewer charge is to be increased. The present sewer charge of $1.60 for domestic users is to be doubled, while the hike for industrial and commercial users will be a percentage of the water bill.

City council approved the sewer rate increase early in the fall and has given two readings to the draft bylaw.

However, the Ontario Water Resources Commission still hasn't approved the bylaw, but instead has replied with a counter proposal for the sewer rate increase.

City hall says the sewer rate increase is necessary to help defray the costs for the proposed expansion of the city sewage plant.

Archdeacon A. S. McConnell presided over the meeting of Belleville clergymen yesterday at the YMCA. The meeting was held to discuss the current YMCA Building Fund drive and to determine how the churches would support it. Most of the ministers agreed to all of the suggestions made by campaign organizer, Joe Douglas.

Bus Passenger Increase Drops

City transit officials still haven't figured out the reason, but the rate of increase in the number of fares being carried by the Belleville buses is tapering off.

Last year the city transit service carried about 50,000 more passengers than it did in 1965, while this year the increase is expected to be only about 20,000 just half of that for 1966.

The number of fares carried this year to the end of November totalled 823,378. In November 80,477 passengers were carried and in October 70,974.

But local transit commission officials say Belleville is not alone in the smaller increase in the number of passengers being carried. They say the same situation exists all across the province.

One possible reason could be the fare increase put into effect last May which saw adult fares increase to 20 cents or six for $1.00.

It is pointed out, however, that bus fares in Belleville are still lower than in most other centres where the tab is 25 cents.

There was no rate increase for children or student last spring, these remaining at 10 and 15 cents.

Revenue from fares this year was estimated at $135,720 and the over expenditure so far this year is said to be kept in line with budget estimates.

Behind the Glass

Representatives from the Quinte Curling Club in the Governor-General's and Tankard playdowns have been selected after a series of games over the weekend. Rinks skipped by Ron Benn and Murray Johnson will represent the club in the Governor - General's playdowns to be held at the local rink, while rinks skipped by Bill Henderson and Neville Burroughs will play in the Tankard playdowns to be held in Kingston this year. Two games were played with Benn and Johnson winning both contests. In the morning game Benn defeated Neville Burroughs while Johnson won over Henderson. The combined scores count. In the evening Benn took on Henderson while Johnson played Burroughs and again the Benn-Johnson combination were successful.

Also over the weekend the seniors, those over the fifty mark, held a round robin series to determine the rink that would then enter the playdowns and at the present time Bill Spinelli and his rink are in the top position. In the first round Bob Bastable defeated Hazen Starrs while Spinelli defeated Charlie Coz on the last end. In the second round Spinelli won over Bastable and Coz defeated Starrs. The third round will be played this weekend.

A rink of Wilf Mills, Harold Mott, Jack Sills with Dave Brown as skip won the president's spiel on Saturday. In second place was a rink of H. Garland, Ken Monson, Ernie Sultan with Gordon Edwards as skip. The two-game high score was won by A. Barwick, Everett Fairman, Bill Henderson with Murray Johnson as skip and in second place was a rink of Ron Walmsley, J. Thicke, Don McKinnon with Al McCullen at the helm. The one-game winner was a rink of R. Kelley, Bill Dorrowsky, Lloyd Lantz with Charlie Cox as skip.

Lake Ice Conditions Hazardous for Skating

TWEED — District children are literally walking on thin ice and George Cole and Gordon Fraser of Tweed are concerned about the consequences.

The police chief and the climatological authority with the Department of Lands and Forests say no local lakes are really safe for walking or skating until January They say at least one week of below zero temperatures is needed before ice is thick enough to support skaters.

The two men have warned of the hazard to children who have been skating and walking on both the Moira River and Stoco Lake. General low temperatures coupled with higher precipitation rates have caused an earlier than normal freeze-up and cessation of growth Now, rain and higher temperatures have made the situation more hazardous.

Mr. Fraser says children weighing 30 to 40 pounds may be safe on a short distance from shore, but if a child should break through so adult can go out on the treacherously thin ice to rescue him

Recent light snow cover over the ice has acted like a magnifying glass, focusing the sun's rays on the underlaying ice and "rotting" the foundation. Larger lakes in the Tweed district are not yet frozen over and smaller ones are full of air holes, cracks and underwater streams. The Lands and Forest official lists ice formations on lakes in Tweed, Napanee and Kingston area as from one to two inches thick and unsafe

Two Cottage Subdivisions Get Ameliasburg Okay

AMELIASBURG — At its final meeting for 1967 here last night Ameliasburg township council gave final approval to two summer cottage subdivision undertakings.

R. F. Hiscock, developing an area on Weller's Bay at the west end of the township, was authorized to proceed with a subdivision comprising 42 lots. Carmen Coon received the go ahead signal for a subdivision of 17 lots he proposes to develop east of Highway 14 south of Rossmore.

Originally Mr. Hiscock planned a larger subdivision but the Ontario Water Resources Commission insisted on a central water supply if more dwellings were to be connected in the site area. Under the plan as approved the developer is permitted to drill wells and install septic tanks to provide water and sewage for clusters of an acre in size in most instances. The developer has already built a permanent road through the subdivision at a cost of more than $100,000.

In addition council dealt with other subdivision business by approving the draft of a 27-lot proposed summer development for Peat's Point south of Belleville submitted by Belleville businessman Jack Allin.

Home building in the township has set a record and at the end of 11 months the amount of new construction totalled $490,625 township building inspector Harry Bidee reported. Permits for $161,955 were issued during November.

Clergy Supports 'Y' Campaign

The Belleville clergy got together yesterday at the YMCA to discuss the part they will play in the "Y's" Building Fund campaign.

Archdeacon A. S. McConnell presided over the meeting of 18 local ministers who listened to remarks by William Holway, president of the YMCA and Bert Messacar, general secretary, on the $457,000 campaign and the part the "Y" plays in the community.

Youth Sunday will be on January 21 and Joe Douglas, organizer of the campaign asked the clergy to co-operate. He suggested use of the YMCA Sunday's bulletin, displaying campaign posters and placing a notice in the Church bulletin

Mr. Douglas felt that on January 21 a sermon on youth should be preached and that two minutes of the worship service be donated to a Lay speaker. An announcement by the pastor was also asked for.

The ministers in attendance indicated how many of the suggestions they would use. Out of the 18 different churches represented eight or nine checked all of the suggestions. All of the churches are going to support the campaign to some degree and most of them intend to go all out.

Mr. Douglas termed the meeting "very successful — I'm sure it will be a big help to the campaign."

Quinte Industry

Trenton is showing enviable initiative on the industrial scene these days.

Inclusion of the community in the province's new Equilization of Industrial Opportunity program has given it a fresh boost. It follows the recent announcement that the Moore Corporation, the world's largest producer of business forms, will establish a Trenton plant on a 19-acre site near Highway 401.

The industrial incentives program for secondary industries is an innovation that should benefit many communities besides Trenton. Indeed, it was announced last week that Picton had qualified for entry.

A further encouragement to industry is the Ontario Development Corporation's grant of up to 75 per cent of a new or expanded industry's equipment costs, provided new machinery is purchased.

Incentives of this nature are long overdue. Similar programs, including the building of "advance factories" that are made available to any interested enterprise have been pursued with success in Britain since the end of the last war.

Perhaps Trenton's recent successes will serve to focus attention again on the Quinte area generally. It is significant that the proximity of Highway 401 and fast transportation links were factors in the Moore Corporation's choice of the Trenton site. Here in Belleville the new Superior Electric plant is similarly placed near the highway. These are all grounds for believing that the industrial pace is quickening in this region.

Cardinal Leger

Two humans out of three still suffer from hunger while the third impairs his health by overeating. While a whole generation seems to reject faith, it is more urgent than ever to bring God's truth to under-privileged nations.

These words were spoken by the remarkable Paul-Emilie Cardinal, Leger who at 63 has resigned as Archbishop of Montreal to carry out missionary work in Africa. About 5,000 heard him deliver his last sermon in Notre Dame Church on Sunday.

By now Cardinal Leger will have reached his destination — Dakar, in West Africa. He plans to meet bishops in the former French colonies of Senegal, Cameroun and Dahomey to discuss the establishment of a leper colony.

How many men take up a new career at the age of 63, and after serving in a high administrative capacity? What Cardinal Leger is doing is in the great tradition of Christianity. And yet few at his age answer the call — whether it is the businessman wanting to get away from it all, or someone in high office in the Church who feels, as does Cardinal Leger, that the real sphere of service lies in regions where two humans out of three are hungry and many are diseased.

Red Running Short

North Vietnamese regulars and Viet Cong soldiers killed in recent clashes with United States forces in Vietnam were aged between 13 and 17 years. They were "green, young and apparently hopped up on heroin," according to one report.

Young as some of the American, Australian and Korean soldiers battling the communists are, the United States and its allies are not sending children into the fray.

Are the communists driven short of men? This is unlikely in a region of such teeming population. But it does suggest an element of desperation on the communist side. Recently an entire unit of some 30 men gave themselves up after being in action with little respite for about a year.

The destruction of a refugee hamlet and the murder of 121 people, most of them women and children, by Viet Cong using mortars, grenades and flamethrowers was another incident of late that reflects weakness rather than strength on the communist side.

Welfare Administration

It has taken a two-thirds majority vote to win Hastings County Council's approval of a welfare administration system taking in the entire county and Belleville.

Some county representatives are against the ending of local autonomy with regard to welfare administration. Others take the view that while it may cost more the concept of an overall jurisdiction will be more advantageous in the long run. For one thing it will remove welfare from the taint of local prejudice and gossip.

Whether we like it or not growth in all aspects of public administration is such that the regional type of administration is the only kind likely to succeed. Sooner or later it will enter every phase of the administrative process and we might as well get used to it.

American States Meet Again

Canadian Aid to Latin America Is Under Review

By ARCH McKENZIE

WASHINGTON (CP)—President Felipe Herrera of the Inter-American Development Bank is in Ottawa for a "broad review" of Canadian aid to Latin America.

Canada's commitment now totals about $95,000,000 in development capital and it has been growing at about $10,000,000 annually. Herrera, last in Ottawa in 1964, conferred with top ministers and was to speak in Montreal to Canadian exporters.

Meanwhile, the 22-nation Organization of American States —most of the hemisphere's independent nations except Canada and with Cuba suspended— meets here Thursday to seek a way out of its latest crisis.

After four ballots, a stalemate exists on choosing a new director-general.

The two situations provide support for the view that Canada can play a useful role and discharge its Western Hemisphere responsibilities outside the OAS—a group often characterized by elaborate diplomatic ritual dances such as the current leadership impasse.

Why bother to accept the standing invitation to join the OAS, it is said, at the time when Canadian links with Latin America are growing anyway and remain strong, with the Caribbean a special responsibility in some ways?

Canada has provided the Inter-American Bank with $40,000,000 at extremely low interest rates and more than half has been allocated for development projects in eight countries and through the Central American Bank, the Canadian Export Credits Insurance Corp. has set aside $15,000,000 for long-term financing of Canadian exports for development projects.

Canada participates in some but not all of the special agencies established by the OAS. It has observers at sessions of others. Last year it was host to the Western Hemisphere section of the International Labor Organization which discussed aid and heard retiring OAS Director-General Jose A. Mora repeat a call to Canada to join the OAS itself.

Canada also has been involved with Britain and the U.S. in talks about a Caribbean development bank, required to meet the new situation created by the independence of former British colonies such as Trinidad and Tobago and Barbados.

Britain's capacity is cautious with development aid to be diminished by her own economic straits. The U.S. is understood to be wary of underwriting the bank because Congress, which must approve such a step, has gone sour on foreign aid.

The upshot could be special reliance on Canada to meet the current historical and economic ties that exist.

While Canada's effective contacts with Latin America have grown considerably in the last few years, the OAS can be said fairly to continue often to display the same old chaotic tendencies.

There hasn't been much noticeable growth in the democratic processes as opposed to the military dictatorship.

Selecting a successor for Jose Mora, has bared deep schisms among the 21 countries.

One OAS official has been fired on grounds he tampered with the election; threatening the Dominican delegate over how to vote.

Former president Galo Plaza Lasso of Ecuador is deemed the best of the three candidates, but backing by Latin American countries—the U.S., Brazil and Argentina—he seems suspect and his chances slender.

The small nations of Central America and the Caribbean have united behind ex-Panama man who has been just shy of victory, A Venezuelan candidate is too democratic for Latin American regimes controlled, if not openly run, by the military. The impasse may be allowed to sit until January, it is being said.

Divorce Reform Closer

Windsor Star

The divorce reform bill now before the Commons represents more than just another problem created when marriage, in the true sense of the word, have failed to exist. It provides a way out.

Heretofore adultery was practically the only legal cause for divorce in Canada. This ignored other reasons, some of them more morally valid than adultery. (Adultery is mentioned in only one of the Ten Commandments.)

The new legislation would allow sodomy, bestiality, homosexuality, bigamy, physical or mental cruelty, or a marriage breakdown, as reasons. There surely can be no objection to most of these being regarded as causes.

"Marriage breakdown" is a less tangible (though no less real) justification for divorce. It can encompass many conditions such as when one partner is serving a long term in jail, or incurably mentally or physically sick, or where a spouse has been deserted. Or it can apply where two people find it impossible to live together except in abject misery.

There is no moral justification for forcing two people to live together in marriage, with all that marriage implies, when they have come to hate one another. That is the minds of most, is an immoral situation.

The present restrictive divorce law has resulted in thousands of people "living in sin."

In a large proportion of cases these are not dinners in the ordinary meaning of the word They have built illicit relationships because it is no longer possible for them to live decently in licit ones.

This measure should be passed promptly by Parliament. It will be such an instance where public opinion has been far ahead of parliamentary processes.

One reason for delay was the political fear in the past of the position of the Roman Catholic Church, then strongly opposed to divorce. That attitude has changed. The Roman Catholic Church, though not an advocate of divorce, no longer stands in the way of those who believe in it.

Marriage is a sacred rite in all Christian faiths. All Christians believe in its sanctity. It when sanctity, in the fundamental sense, no longer exists that divorce is warranted. The new legislation will not compel anyone to seek divorce against his or her own conscience.

Japanese Immigrants

Brantford Expositor

In any year Canada receives immigrants from some 60 countries. Hitherto Japanese have formed a very small part of this number — 209, or one in every 727 arrivals, in 1965. But they are appearing that this could soon be different. Last year settlers coming to Canada from Japan trebled to about 600, more than half of them non-working dependents. Now the Japanese Foreign Ministry has found through a survey a strong desire among young people to emigrate. Of 42,000 persons interviewed, two-tenth of those between ages 20 and 30 expressed a wish to settle abroad, and Canada was high on their list of preferences. Similar surveys in 1960 and 1965 showed relatively little interest in emigration.

The primary motive of would-be emigrants, as of those who have already pulled out, is economic betterment. But whereas farmers formed half of Japan's postwar emigration, driven short by shortage of land, those Japanese now eyeing Canada, the U.S. and other developed lands are a substantial part of the educated, skilled elite. They want a wider opportunity to use their skills and earn higher salaries. They also want to escape from a rigid hierarchical job system. These reasons, it may be noted, resemble those often given for the brain drain from Britain, and to a lesser degree from Canada to the U.S.

Japanese industry, now enormously expanded and keenly competitive in quality as well as price, is not likely to check emigration muster. But even if adjustments are made to accommodate the ambitious and competent to advance faster in their careers, some loss of needed professional and technical skills Canada is better placed than it was to gain from this outflow because of the immigration rules that came into effect two months ago have opened wider the door to the kind of worker now keen to quit Japan.

Our selection system gives a 20-point top rating for education and training, another ten points for occupational skill and the same for being under 35 years of age. On these and other counts Canada is also planning to seek a new life in Canada can score well. Even under the Liberal government's new professional and technical qualifications entered Canada in 1962, 1963, 1964 and 1965 number who came to work. Most of them settled in Ontario and British Columbia. If the rate of entry continues to rise at its present pace, more Japanese than Finnish will be taking up residence in Canada within ten years.

Housing Needs Across Canada

The Globe and Mail

Participants in the accommodation of a conference, in Ottawa, should have difficulty arriving at agreement on a definition of their common problem. What Canada really wants is housing, a great deal of housing. There is not a single province that is free of difficulty in meeting this basic human need.

Essentially, the provision of housing is a provincial responsibility, but a key role is played by Ottawa as the banker of the whole operation. Federal Government policy influences the availability of mortgage money, and according to a national survey reported in Report on Business last week, builders and officials of provincial governments are equally unhappy with how that policy has been working.

British Columbia Government officials concede that changes in the Bank Act may make more private money available for housing, but they feel that any gain in this area will be offset by higher National Housing Act interest rates, which went up recently by one percentage point to an unprecedented 8¼ per cent.

The wisdom of the increase was defended last week by H. W. Lipsett, president of Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation. He claimed there would be at least 160,000 starts before this year and there was a chance that 1965's record of 168,565 would be approached. The alternative to having homes built with more expensive mortgage, he claimed, would have been a total withdrawal of approved lender participation.

It is of little comfort, however to learn that in terms of housing starts we are doing better than last year and almost as well as the year before. The critical situations reported by the provinces, the rising costs of housing which place it beyond the reach of the low-wage earner and an ever-growing portion of the middle-income group, the consequent inflation of rental costs, all add up to a lot of human misery.

And, no matter what Mr. Hignett says, complaints about the shortage of mortgage money persist. Builders' associations in Regina and Saskatoon say that unless more financing for housing construction is found very soon, building in both communities will come to a halt.

In Alberta the cutback in direct loans to builders has been criticized as a cause of the housing shortage. Vacancies in rental accommodation in Calgary have dropped below 1 per cent, and rents have soared. The problems facing low-income groups will lead the city into its first public housing project next year.

According to the CMHC's own income-based standards, about 40 per cent of wage earners in Nova Scotia cannot afford to buy homes that cost $18,000. This leads Provincial Welfare Minister James Boyd to fear the Government purchases large tracts of land, servicing it, developing it and selling it to individuals at reasonable rates — a proposal which sounds similar to Ontario's Home Ownership Made Easy plan.

In Newfoundland the average price of a conventional house in urban areas is $22,500—5 per cent higher than in 1966. And 200 per cent higher than the average Newfoundlander could afford.

Ontario has made some headway in dealing with its own housing difficulties, almost entirely through the initiatives of the Ontario Housing Corporation, but the need—particularly in Metropolitan Toronto—is crucially pressing. Vast numbers of families are condemned to hopelessness and they know that between the dilapidated slum or the ruinously expensive apartment.

What kind of answers, explanations or formulas will be offered by the federal representatives at the conference? Finance Minister Mitchell Sharp says that by taxing us more, he will have less need to dip into the money pool so that no more money should be available for mortgage purposes. Meanwhile the pool is there on NHA loans and continues to defend the 11 per cent federal sales tax on building materials.

He will need all his persuasive powers to fend off critics of the cutback and the tax. Whatever energy he may have left will be needed to explain why—when housing is the thing Canadians need most—the Finance Department has plunged on with other projects and, in the process, run out of money.

Yes—Truth Is Stranger Than Fiction

Winnipeg Free Press

The charge is often made against modern novels and films that they are far removed from life as it is really lived and are far-fetched as to detail. Those who read their newspapers regularly, however, know that this is not true and that truth can often be stranger and more unbelievable than fiction. For example here are two recent items from the British press: "Terrified, the girl took off her clothes and sat on the bed. She was then raped. At one stage in the proceedings he hit her on the legs with a flute." — Daily Express. "The parents of David Hilborough, aged 14, who allegedly his collar bone was broken by a teacher during a lesson on religious instruction, say they will take legal action unless they receive a full explanation from the school" — The Guardian.

If either of the above incidents had appeared in novels by, say, William Golding or Harold Robbins, critics and public would have tossed their heads in scorn. The struggle to bridge the gap between life and art continues apace.

History and Minority Groups

Hamilton Spectator

The Ontario Human Rights Commission has announced it will screen provincial school textbooks to see how fair they are to Canadian minority groups. Look out, history!

It can be assumed the commission will pinpoint only those references which could conceivably be termed prejudicial. But there is a tendency in Canadian schoolbooks to pile several even facts that might offend one group or another.

Is a rather Confederation Train, with its story of Canadian history? None of its excellent exhibits alluded to the British conquest of Quebec or United Empire Loyalist migration.

Textbooks offer greater scope for historical whitewashing.

To be certain no minorities are offended, European history alone would need a major launching. England, France, Germany, Holland, Denmark, Sweden, Italy, Russia, Spain, Portugal and Hungary, to name some, have drunk the blood of other nations. The bloody imperial epic of Confederation Train could try to draw a rosy veil over the conquest of Ireland, Indonesia, Ethiopia, Poland, Mexico and Peru, the Napoleonic Wars, World War Two and the Thirty Years War.

The Human Rights Commission will achieve a noble end if it can erase prejudice from the pages of Ontario schoolbooks.

Public Takes The Blame

Calgary Albertan

The finance minister appeals for all Canadians to rally behind the government in this time of financial emergency. But when the emergency were of a kind that could not have been avoided. In actual fact, of course, the public is taking the rap for government profligacy in recent programs, committing the nation to non-productive, entrenched budgetary expenditures on a scale matched as yet by Canadian productivity and wealth.

GM Offers Canadians Wage Parity if They Work to U.S. Rules

TORONTO (CP) — General Motors of Canada today offered its auto workers wage parity with its employees in the United States provided the United Auto Workers Union agrees to work practices in force in the company's U.S. plants.

The offer proposes achievement of wage parity in five steps over a 3½-year period, ending in June, 1971. It would apply to those employees involved in producing auto products covered by the Canada-U.S. auto trade agreement.

The company's proposals also include wage increases over a three-year period and an improved benefit plan.

The wage offer calls for an immediate increase of 20 cents an hour for all UAW workers and an additional 20 cents an hour for those in skilled trades classifications.

There would be annual improvement factor increases for these employees ranging from nine to 18 cents in the second and third years of the new contract.

In a proposed memorandum of understanding presented at a negotiation meeting for a new contract with the UAW, the company said wage parity with comparable job classifications in U.S. plants also requires parity of work conditions.

The production line at GM's assembly plant at Oshawa, Ont., now is stopped for 30 minutes on each shift for two 10-minute rest periods and two five-minute washup periods.

The company is seeking a change to the system used in the U.S. in which workers are replaced by others while they take their relief time, with no stopping of the production line.

A. G. Slapleton, director of personnel at Oshawa and chairman of GM's bargaining committee, said in a statement: "Current practices mean that expensive machinery and equipment in our plants lies idle for 30 minutes of each shift.

"To be competitive with plants in the U.S.—to move toward parity of wages and of prices for our products—we cannot afford to have our facilities working only 44½ hours while our competitors are producing for eight hours. This 30-minute handicap can be reversed from our operations by adoption of the 36-minute tag relief system presently in effect in U.S. assembly plants."

Mr. Stapleton said another obstacle to wage parity "is an outdated layoff and recall procedure which slows down production in Canadian plants at model changeover time."

A company spokesman said Tuesday application of the tag-relief system would mean additional employees would be hired to do the relief work.

Clifford Pilney, UAW international representative in Oshawa, said Tuesday Canadian workers are not accustomed to this system and would not accept it. He said that of GM's seven plants in Canada the system is in force only at St. Therese, Que.

The wage differential at GM is 29 cents an hour for assemblers on a base rate of $2.12 in Canada and $2.01 in the U.S.

Some 23,000 Canadian GM workers voted in October for strike action if necessary. Negotiations between GM and the UAW for a new contract begun after agreement was reached to extend the old contract beyond the Oct. 31 expiration date.

Auto Sales Counter Slumping Exports

OTTAWA (CP) — Rising sales of crude petroleum, automobiles and auto parts countered slumping exports of other Canadian products in August, an analysis by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics showed today.

Total exports for the month dropped four per cent to $888, 666,000 from $925,147,000 in August, 1966.

But oil exports climbed 46 per cent to $39,686,000 from $27,111,000 in August, 1966, as United States demand increased in the wake of the Middle East war.

For the eight-month period to the end of August, crude sales totalled $253,484,000, up 22 per cent from the same period of 1966.

Exports under the major categories of the U.S. auto pact increased 300 per cent to $86,972,000 from $21,613,000 in August, and for the eight-month period were up 122 per cent to $794,094,000 from $353,222,000.

All exports for the January-August period totalled $7,-334,000, up 112 per cent.

Above-average increases occurred in sales of copper and its alloys, but wheat sales declined 12.3 per cent to a value of $579,945,000.

Candy Stripers Receive Caps

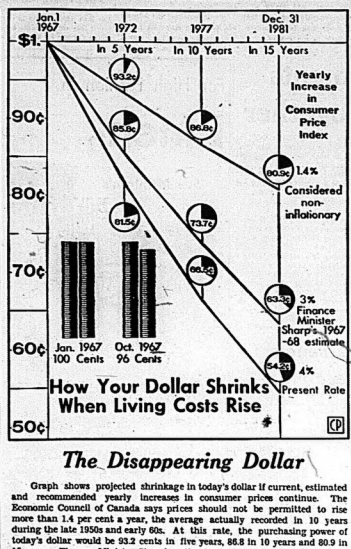
CAMPBELLFORD — The candy striper program, a service offered in larger hospitals, has now been initiated in Campbellford General Hospital.

Fourteen girls received their candy stripe hats and a candle in a capping ceremony in the high school Friday evening. They are: Karen Carter, Joan Cuhlt, Pamela Conner, Mary Graham, Theresa Hicks, Kathy Holmes, Kathy Machesney, Judy Oliver, Margaret Shirley, Dinah Hilbhun, Ginger Pollock, Dianne Thomas and Janice Bennett. All are from 13 to 15 years old.



The candy striper's relieves registered nurses of chores not requiring professional care. They received 50 hours of training. Twenty-six girls have enrolled and 15 more are on the waiting list.

The success of the plan has prompted Campbellford District High School Board to consider making the project a co-curricular activity. A bus trip will be provided to Civic Hospital, Peterborough where the girls may observe a similar plan in operation.

Real Estate Board Now Incorporated

There is no Belleville and District Real Estate Board after their meeting this morning at Johnny's Restaurant at the plaza.

It was announced by Edward McKinney, president of the board and Secretary E. J. Sanders, that the board has now been incorporated into the Belleville and District Real Estate Board Ltd.

The Disappearing Dollar

Graph shows projected shrinkage in today's dollar if current, estimated and recommended yearly increases in consumer prices continue. The Economic Council of Canada says prices should not be permitted to rise more than 1.4 per cent a year, the average actually recorded in 10 years during the late 1950s and early 60s. At this rate, the purchasing power of today's dollar would be 93.2 cents in five years, 86.8 in 10 years and 80.9 in 15 years. Finance Minister Sharp's estimate for 1967-8 was a three-per-cent rise, a figure which would whittle today's dollar to 63.3 cents in 15 years. If this year's price inflation were to prevail over the same period, today's dollar would be 54.2 cents in 15 years. (CP Newsmap) tutional government. Informed sources said at the time he was not informed in advance of the coup and was forced to approve the military takeover.

Soldiers poured into the city and Greek Air Force jets took to the skies and swooped low over the capital.

Athens was cut off by telephone from the rest of the country, but some other countries could be reached by telephone and cable.

The first sign of trouble came when armored cars and tanks surrounded the Parliament building shortly after noon.

The building houses the offices of the junta strongman, Col. George Papadopoulos, who led the April coup.

Soldiers and police appeared outside the national telecommunications centre.

Foreign diplomatic officials had been predicting for days that this would be a critical month for the military junta, and that a counter-coup could come any moment.

The junta was weakened by two blows. The Cyprus crisis forced it to begin pulling 12,000 Greek soldiers off Cyprus at the demand of Turkey. Former Premier Constantine Caramanlis publicly denounced the regime from his self-imposed exile in Paris.

Greek officers returning from Cyprus were resentful because the military regime backed down in the face of Turkey's threats to invade the Mediterranean island to protect the Turkish minority there.

Caramanlis is a conservative and the junta had hoped to obtain his support. The colonels said they organized the spring coup to prevent a Communist takeover.

Nice and easy.

It's nice work, making a whisky that tastes as easy as 5 Star. But it's no easy job.

It means selecting very special whiskies from our five distilleries across Canada. (Only Seagram's has five, by the way.) Then blending and re-blending them to get 5 Star's easy taste.

Is the taste worth all the trouble? Very easy for you to find out.

League of Mercy Performs Many Services

NAPANEE — The Salvation Army's League of Mercy was formed a little over a year ago in Napanee, but already it has done much good. Patients in the two nursing homes are their special concern, especially those who have few friends. These are visited regularly.

At Christmas time a special effort is made to see that all are remembered. On Wednesday the League of Mercy held a service and at the close presented each patient with a small gift, a copy of the Christmas War Cry, and a Salvation Army sunshine bag containing fruit. The following evening its members are assisting with the "open house" in this home during the evening.

A number of shut-ins and chronic cases in the local hospital are also on their list.

After Christmas their special project will be to make layettes for needy mothers. Some of the work has already been started. These will contain not only clothing, but also all the accessories the mother will need, such as soap, powder and other necessities.

The League of Mercy now has three active uniformed members, and about a dozen associate members who work behind the scenes, helping with the sewing and the preparation of gifts. It is a separate unit of the Salvation Army, responsible for its own financing. This is all through donations as rules do not permit them to have any fund-raising projects such as the tea held by the Home League recently.

25 Per Cent Gold Cover Coming?

WASHINGTON (AP) — The good faith of the U.S. government and the strongest economy in the world—not the gold at Fort Knox, Ky.—is the real strength behind the U.S. dollar.

That's why government officials see no technical problem in eliminating the last domestic link between gold and dollars—the 25-per-cent gold cover. They feel the only obstacles are political and psychological.

Next year, the treasury department is expected to ask Congress to remove the requirement that each $1 placed in circulation must be backed by 25 cents in gold.

This will free more than $10,000,000,000 in gold for possible sales to foreign countries and reinforces U.S. policy to buy and sell gold at $35 an ounce—a policy officials say has made the dollar as good as gold.

It's a keystone of the present international money system.

The decline in U.S. gold stocks since 1949—from $24,560,000,000 to less than $13,000,000,000—has increased pressure on the gold cover. The available gold now is 28.5 per cent of the paper money in circulation.

Government and many private economists contend the gold cover idea is archaic—a throwback to the era of hard money when a dollar could be exchanged for gold.

Despite the gold cover, dollar bills now cannot be exchanged for gold, even at the rate of 25 cents to the dollar.

Republican leaders already have taken aim at the expected bid to remove the gold cover but their major criticism is of administration financial policy.

"Eight years of deficits and irresponsible spending have brought the nation to the brink of financial crisis," the Republican co-ordinating committee said Monday.

"We deplore that the Johnson administration may soon find it necessary to request removal of the remaining gold backing behind our currency, now 25 per cent, thus turning it wholly into paper money," the committee statement said.

The United States is one of the few remaining industrial countries still linking its currency to gold internally.

Of the free world's major countries, only Switzerland, Belgium, The Netherlands and South Africa have such a link. Even France, where the foolishness for gold is beyond question, has none backing the franc.

Since the federal reserve now holds more government securities than paper money in circulation they could become a possible substitute for a gold cover.

Despite de Gaulle's Comments Canada, France Work Together

BRUSSELS (CP) — The Canadian government is seeking to promote closer relations with France despite President de Gaulle's open support for separatism in Quebec, a position which Prime Minister Pearson has described as unacceptable and intolerable.

External Affairs Minister Paul Martin told a press conference Tuesday that Canada may sell plutonium to France. Steps also had been taken to implement agreement for exchange visits by young persons in the two countries and for joint cooperation in space research.

After a meeting with French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville, Martin insisted that relations between Canada and France are "harmonious and friendly."

No one need undersell Canada, Martin said. In the next 15 years Canada would be more united than either Britain or France. There would be no break-up of Canadian Confederation.

His meeting with Couve de Murville, he said, could not have been better.

Martin said he had not discussed de Gaulle's statements with Couve de Murville.

The plutonium, if sold, would go to the French Atomic Energy Commission for peaceful use. France would have to agree to international inspection safeguards.

The fabricated plutonium, he added, would come from Canadian plants, probably from Douglas Point, Ont., but would have no bearing on the sale of uranium by France. France had shown interest in buying Canadian uranium a few years ago but negotiations collapsed, partly because Canada insisted on rigid inspection safeguards.

While Martin conferred with Couve de Murville and other representatives of the Big Four, Defence Minister Leo Cadieux told the Security NATO military alliance Canada agrees in principle to contribute a destroyer to a new Atlantic task force to keep an eye on an expanding Soviet fleet of trawlers and submarines lurking off the Canadian and other coastlines.

Cadieux declined to say how close Soviet submarines and trawlers have come to Canadian coastlines, but suggested they were outside the territorial waters—"on the high seas."

Canada also agreed to continue to maintain her current commitments to NATO for at least another year and endorsed the NATO five-year plan for estimated military contribution—a so-called rolling plan that would be subject to review annually.

An adjustment will be made to turn a heavy Canadian brigade, in reserve in Canada, into a light brigade which can be moved quickly into NATO use through existing and additional aircraft soon to be acquired. These will include four C-141 Lockheed transport planes.

In addition to his talks with Couve de Murville, Martin conferred for the second day with U.S. State Secretary Dean Rusk on the inflexible Vietnam war but indicated no progress was made to get either side to budge from its position.

Canada has called for a halt in U.S. bombing of North Vietnam because, Martin said, the Canadian government can think of no other way of trying to get peace talks started.

Martin told reporters he had made a suggestion to Rusk and is waiting for his reply. He would not say what the suggestion was.

One of the major NATO issues remaining is whether to adopt a plan by Belgian Foreign Minister Pierre Harmel to turn the alliance into an institute for co-ordinated peace drive. France has indicated it will refuse to sign any document which will limit her own independent negotiations with the Soviet Union and the Warsaw pact countries.

Federal Government Intervenes In Matter of Press Freedom

VANCOUVER (CP) — The federal justice department has intervened in a freedom-of-the-press battle between the Georgia Straight, a hippie-style weekly newspaper, and the city of Vancouver.

Publishers Dan McLeod and Peter Hlookoff went before the B.C. Supreme Court Tuesday asking for a declaration that the city licencing department's suspension of the business licence Sept. 28 to Oct. 20 was illegal.

The men also want damages and an injunction to prevent the city licensing department's suspension of the Straight's licence, which allows it to sell copies of the paper in the city.

Lawyer Norman Mullins of Vancouver appeared before Mr. Justice D. R. Verchere during Tuesday's court session. He said he had been asked by the justice department to appear because the case involved a constitutional question.

He told the judge he plans to submit today that city licensing inspector Mill Harrell acted without legal authority in lifting the newspaper's licence because a section of the city charter under which he acted was illegal.

Mr. Mullins said he will attempt to prove that the legislation which created the city charter section "purports to encroach on freedom of the press."

Mr. Hlookoff and Mr. McLeod have named Mr. Harrell, Mayor Tom Campbell and the city as defendants in the action.

They claim the mayor and the inspector were acting as self-appointed censors when they halted street sales of the paper, an act which had no legal or moral basis.

Part of Tuesday's hearing was occupied with playing of a television videotape of a live program in which Mayor Campbell described the Georgia Straight as filth which should not be sold in schools.

Mayor Campbell was asked by the newspaper's lawyer, John Laxton, if he sets himself up as a censor for the public.

"When something affects youngsters of tender age, I do," the mayor testified.

The case continues.

Police Arrest Religious Leader

MONTREAL (CP)—A religious leader involved in a court battle over the custody of about 30 children was arrested here Tuesday night, several weeks after he came out of hiding assuming he was no longer wanted by police.

Father Jean de la Trinite, head of a breakaway Roman Catholic sect called the Apostles of Infinite Love, was arrested as he visited friends in Montreal on a trip from his sect's Laurentian monastery located near St. Jovite, Que.

Police said he was arrested for failure to appear in court. Father Jean had been ordered to appear before welfare court last spring on charges that he had not provided proper education, food and lodging for children of sect members living at the monastery.

He reappeared in St. Jovite last month after police began a search for him for failure to appear. The bearded leader said he had been travelling in the United States and Canada but had returned to St. Jovite when told by fellow Apostles that the warrant for his arrest had been withdrawn.

He will appear in court in St. Jerome, Que. today to face the charges concerning his alleged failure to provide properly for the children.

The Apostles are appealing a welfare court decision which ordered 80 children from the monastery be turned over to welfare officials.

High Farm Machinery Prices Blamed on Uneconomic Sales

OTTAW A (CP)—High prices of farm machinery are the result of uneconomic sales and service programs, according to a brief submitted today to the royal commission on farm machinery.

Canadian Co-operative Implements Ltd. says in its brief that farm machinery companies get more blame and less credit than they deserve.

It gives the manufacturers credit for developing good machines and testing them adequately before putting them on the market. Farm machines formed the base of the agricultural revolution.

"While farmers have undoubtedly had some hand in the development of those machines there is no doubt that it is the farm machine companies and their engineers who have played the really more important role."

But it argues that the competition which produces economies in production, results in costly sales and service.

"If distribution of goods were carried on as economically as production, prices would be a lot lower than they are."

The brief admits that the most significant failure of the co-operative has been its inability to effect economies in distribution.

It lists its achievements since it was founded in 1940, but admits that farmers have been reluctant to support machinery co-operatives and have preferred to deal with the commercial manufacturers.

The brief said the farm Implement acts in the Prairie provinces were based on the misconception that the farmer needed protection against the farm machine companies.

Texas Imposter 'Relieved' Following Arrest

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)-Freddie Brant, 39, ex-convict who successfully posed as a physician and psychiatric interne at a state mental hospital and as an East Texas town's only doctor for more than three years, says he feels "a great deal of relief" at being unmasked.

"It just all sort of skyrocketed," the crewcut, slender 44-year-old Brant said Tuesday of his career as an imposter.

He posted $10,000 bond at 2 a.m. Tuesday at the Kaufman County Jail. Last Friday he was charged with perjury and forgery for his impersonation of Dr. Reid Brown, a Chattanooga, Tenn., physician for whom Brant had worked as a laborand x-ray technician for four years.

"I thought many times I'd like to get out of it," Brant said of his dual role at Terrell State Hospital and in the East Texas lumber town of Groveton.

Brant said at a press conference in the office of his lawyer, Emmett Colvin, that he had delivered four babies during his tenure as a physician. But he said he referred all critical or terminal cases to physicians in Lufkin, about 35 miles away, or to specialists in Galveston.

In Groveton, meanwhile, citizens circulated petitions on behalf of their only doctor and were pledging help to support him in efforts he might want to make to become a legitimate physician.

"I'm amazed by these people, by their faith in me and their desire to help," said Brant.

The Louisiana native said he'd like to return to Groveton, after his legal troubles are cleared, and be a laboratory and x-ray technician, which he is licensed to do.

Bennett Wants Direct Tax Fields Returned

VICTORIA (CP) — Premier Bennett said Tuesday British Columbia will provide more funds for housing if the federal government agrees to vacate the direct tax fields which rightfully belong to the provinces.

"I couldn't agree more," said the premier when asked to comment on Prime Minister Pearson's statement Monday that long-range urban development should properly come from provincial and municipal tax revenues rather than federal coffers.

"All that the federal government must do now is get out of the province's field of direct taxation," Mr. Bennett said. "And I thank the prime minister for that belated admission."

Mr. Bennett said B.C. briefs to federal-provincial fiscal conferences have consistently taken the position that revenue from direct taxation, mainly income and corporation taxes, should belong to the provinces.

The provinces only gave up these sources of tax revenue to the federal government during a wartime emergency and have never received more than a share of them in the post-war years, he said.

Earlier, Mr. Bennett refused to answer questions from reporters who asked what action would be taken by the B.C. housing management commission created Friday by the cabinet.

Mr. Bennett indicated British Columbians will have to wait until the next session of the legislature, opening Jan. 25, to learn in detail what the commission will do to alleviate the province's housing shortage.

Elderly One Resists Help

Dear Doris: Should one be silent if one sees a dear friend who is over 80 in danger?

We have been friends for 50 years. Her relatives live far away. They have told her to let her friend be mindy and visit. She cannot manage alone. That is one thing the aged will never do.

She is alone in a two-storey house. She has a bad fall in the bathroom is upstairs; she is beginning to be careless about her appearance. She won't let me do a thing for her.

Last time I visited, her bread was a mouldy and there was a parcel of cold ham in the refrigerator which wis full of maggots!

Dear Doris, will you tell me if I should write to these people that it is time for action? — Puzzled

Dear Puzzled: I'd say so. Just tell them of your concern and suggest they come and see for themselves before she poisons herself or breaks a leg!

Dear Doris: At the Christmas tree yard near town, there is a sign reading "Xmas Trees". "No," what's wrong with that?" you say. "Lots!" I say.

The truth is, it's only one letter: X. It's just a great big blot over the Savior's name. There ought to be a law. — Help!

Dear Help!: Agreed. That contraction is one of my pet peeves, too.

Dear Doris: I think your column is just great; it really helps people out. I have a problem I'd like you to help me with. I am 16 going on 15 and need a bra badly. I'm about 35 inches around.

My mother is terribly old-fashioned, and I don't think it has even entered her mind to get me one. Please publish this to help others in my shoes. — In Need

Dear In Need: Write a note to your mother. Old-fashioned girls wore brassieres as well as other figure-shaping garments. What she must be is blind.

To Leaving After Ten Years: Best open the gift right then and there. The staff members who contributed will want to see it and your pleasure in it. Then you say how beautiful it is, or how useful it will be, and that it is a lovely token of the friendships you have made. Make your remarks short and sweet.

* * *

Has Doris helped you with a problem? Write and tell her so!

Dessert for Christmas Dinner

By MARY MOORE

Clip this now for Christmas Entertaining

Since polls are such good things to conduct I took a miniature one of 14 people on the subject of this fruity ginger steamed pudding. All but one liked it very much. The one — my sister-in-law Wyn — did not like the candied ginger in it. She said it stung her tongue.

So you ginger lovers make it as is. The non-ginger people OMIT the candied ginger and add only the powdered.

STEAMED FRUIT PUDDING (serves 12)

NOTE: This pudding is easy to make

1 cup scrubbed carrot ground through coarse knife of grinder
1 cup scrubbed unpared potato ground through coarse knife of grinder
3 oz. suet ground through knife of grinder
2 oz. candied (crystallized) ginger ground through coarse knife of grinder
1 medium slice white bread ground through coarse knife of grinder
1 cup brown sugar
one 8-oz. package (1 cup) cubed lemon peel
1 cup chopped pitted dates (or figs)
2 tablespoons sour milk or dairy sour cream
½ teaspoon baking soda
½ cup unsifted all-purpose flour
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon powdered ginger
½ teaspoon cinnamon

The first five ingredients—carrot, potato, suet, ginger (if used) and bread are put through the food grinder in order in which they are listed. Thus the bread goes through last and cleans out the machine. Let them fall into a large mixing bowl and then mix well. Add all other ingredients and mix well.

Butter generously a 6-cup mould. It must be big for this pudding rises. Cover with foil and tie foil on with string under outside upper edge. Stand mould on trivet in steamer, add boiling water to come halfway up mould, put on lid and steam 4 hours, replenishing water in steamer as it evaporates. Serve with Hard Sauce: Beat together ¼ cup butter, 1¼ cups unsifted icing sugar, ¼ teaspoon salt and ¼ teaspoon lemon juice, until light and fluffy. Add 1 tablespoon rum flavoring (or 2 tablespoons light rum) and beat in. Turn into attractive serving dish piled high, sprinkle delicately with nutmeg and chill until hard.

NOTE: This pudding may be made in advance if it is steamed in crockery or pyrex bowl but must not be stored in metal mould. Then it is reheated in steamer for at least an hour before serving as dessert for Christmas dinner.

Ann Landers

Boy's Allergy Likely Related to Home Zoo

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Please tell me what is wrong with a woman who has an asthmatic child and yet insists on keeping two chipmunks, a dog, a cat, a rabbit, a flying squirrel and three ducks. All this livestock walks around loose in the living room.

The child is forever wheezing and is now broken out all over with a terrible-looking rash.

ANN LANDERS

I've told her if she would get rid of the zoo her boy might get well. She says I am crazy.

Please give me your opinion on whether or not this boy could be allergic to the animals. She might listen to you. — A FRIEND.

DEAR FRIEND: It is more than likely that the boy's allergy is related to the zoo, but only a doctor can say for certain. If the woman has not taken the boy to a physician, I certainly hope she will do so at once.

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I would like to comment on the letters you get from mothers who do not approve of their daughters' boyfriends. When my daughters are old enough to have boyfriends, I'll remember my own bitter past.

I was 18 and a high school graduate when I fell for a 30-year-old man who was separated from his wife. My mother kept telling me, "He's too old for you. He's no good. He'll never marry you.

I was determined to prove to my mother that I could get on to marry me. I nagged him into getting a divorce (which I know now he didn't want) and I even paid for it to knock down his excuse that he didn't have the money for a divorce.

That was eight years ago and now we have three children. The man is no good and I am miserable. I've left him twice, but with three kids it's too hard to go it alone, so now I am back with him. My mother keeps saying, "You made your bed. Now lie in it. If you had listened to me, you wouldn't be in this mess."

The truth is, if she had kept quiet, I would not be in this mess. Say so, please. — DETERMINED.

* * *

DEAR D.: The most difficult thing for a mother to learn is when to lay off. Mothers — and fathers, too — have an obligation to speak out and warn their children when they see them heading in a wrong direction. But having spoken out, they should keep quiet. Repeated nagging will serve only to drive their children to some rebellious act which, as you know so well, can be disastrous.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I came to work in this office two months ago. Everyone has been terribly kind to me, especially a woman who is about 10 years my senior. This woman would be quite attractive if she didn't have a mustache. I've been dying I noticed about her when we met. Others have mentioned it also, so it's not my imagination.

She's so sweet about so many things it's hard for me to understand why she is unaware of this. I know of a good cream that removes unwanted hair. I use it myself. Shall I mention it? — CELESTE.

* * *

DEAR CEL.: Yes, it would be a real act of friendship. Some people who seem alert about many things don't know what's going on right under their noses.

WHY IS FILTER QUEEN SO DIFFERENT?

Only Filter Queen Has the Non Clog Sanitary Filter Cone!

You have to see this new concept in home cleaning to believe it! Filter Queen's pure pure white filter cone and powerful cyclon-cleaning action traps dust and dirt as no other vacuum cleaner can; it is based on an entirely new and different principle; no other cleaner in the world has this patented flow of cleaning and cyclonic action; air flow is not impeded and suction reduced by continually passing through all collected dirt as in the case of all cleaners having any kind of a bag. For this reason Filter Queen can be used until the dust container with its 2 gallon capacity is completely filled without material loss of cleaning efficiency. On the other hand, in the bag type cleaner the suction falls off progressively as the bag accumulates dirt plus exhausting foul smelling air that has been drawn through the accumulated dirt back into the room; furthermore, after months of use the pores of the textile or paper bag becomes clogged with dust and matted with fine lint; therefore by reducing cleaning efficiency even after the bag has been emptied.

Filter Queen with its powerful 2¼ developed horsepower motor and effective dirt separation is enhanced by a patented floor nozzle with a floating brush that is put into operation by a flick of the finger and does an extremely fine job of picking up dog hair, lint, threads and etc. It is self cleaning, never needs to be detached, very gentle on your rugs and does not beat and sweep and rip and tear or get clogged up as do revolving brushes.

The powerful suction of Filter Queen is maintained by patented straight, easily separated, positive locking joints on all the various cleaning tools. The floor nozzle is equipped with the same type of stright joints which swivels from left to right. It is the only swivel type connection known today that will not leak air. These stright joints are very important because considerable loss of efficiency can take place through joints that leak air.

Your new Filter Queen is covered by 13 patented features including on purchase by the original owner the exclusive lifetime service warranty; plus, fire insurance coverage in case the machine is destroyed in the dwelling by fire. Every conceivable part of your new Filter Queen that proves defective or wears out through fair wear and tear will be replaced absolutely free of charge for a period of two years from date of purchase (Commercial use, motels, hotels, two year warranty on motor only, one year on attachments). Nothing else like it on the market. Ask for a free home demonstration. You name the time. Liberal trade-in allowance on your old cleaning equipment. An all-Canadian made product with factories in Toronto, Chicago and Mexico City.

4-H Girls Demonstrate Skills

Achievement Day for 4-H homemaking clubs in South Hastings for the project, A World of Food in Canada, was held in Madoc Secondary School, Belleville, Dec. 9. Clubs participating were Bethel-Zion, Carmel, Foxboro, Harold, Melrose 1 and 2, Plainfield, Quinte, River Valley, Sidney South 1 and 2, Wallbridge 1 and 3.

During the morning each girl answered a map quiz and a questionnaire and identified 20 foreign foods such as pepperoni, cinnamon sticks, and gouda cheese. In the afternoon, each club presented either an exhibit, a demonstration, or a skit on such topics as dining in a country of its choice, or a July 1, 1867, celebration.

Those receiving county honors for completing six homemaking club projects were Joyce Evans, Sharon Shorey, Gail McMechan, Joy A. Livingstone, Karen Clapp, Debra Glidden, Jane Bush, Joyce Carr, Judy Donohue, Judy Bush, June Ingram and Kathy Demille. Provincial honors for completion of 12 projects was presented to Yvonne Zaidema.

Certificates of achievement were presented to each girl completing her second project and a silver spoon was given to each member and leader completing this project.

Miss Mary MacEachern, county home economist, invited all members to take part in the spring project, Accent on Accessories. Each member will make a hat and tidy for a scarf.

Two Montrealers Home From Burmese Prison

MONTREAL (CP) — Two young Montrealers, their world tour cut short by a prison term in Rangoon, came home subdued but smiling Tuesday night.

Students Bernard Pinsault and Guy Lalonde, both 22, told reporters they spent 256 months on a diet of rice in a bleak Burmese jail because of an "international misadventure."

Convicted of smuggling the watches into Burma, they were sentenced to serve an additional 3½ months in prison but were released last Friday after British and Canadian diplomats interceded with Burmese authorities.

The students said that in Singapore they paid $45 at the most for 17 watches, intending to use them "as presents and when we didn't have local currency."

"We didn't know it was a crime to carry them in Burma," Bernard said.

"As far as we were concerned, this was no more wrong than illegal parking," said Guy, who admitted, however, that they had not declared the watches at the border crossing.

The students said they spent months in jail awaiting trial—it was only this month that they were convicted and ordered to serve the rest of a nine-month term—and were held incommunicado.

Their parents said they started worrying in June, when Bernard's brother got married and there was no word from the traveller.

They petitioned Ottawa for help, and an investigation was undertaken by the British embassy in Burma and the Canadian high commissioner in Malaysia. Canada has no resident mission in Burma.

The students were turned over to the British embassy in Rangoon Friday night and flew home via London, where they said they spent time in hospital being treated for dysentery.

Dodd Drops His Libel Charges

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senator Thomas J. Dodd (Dem. Conn.) filed an amended motion Tuesday which at least temporarily eliminated his charges of libel against columnists Drew Pearson and Jack Anderson.

A spokesman for Anderson said he construes this as withdrawal of the libel suit, in which Dodd originally asked for $6,000,000 damages but later cut it to $2,000,000.

The new motion made no mention of libel but asked U.S. District Judge Alexander Holtzoff for a hearing on other Dodd charges. These allege that Pearson and Anderson conspired to commit trespass, a misdemeanor, in obtaining copies of documents from Dodd's personal files.

"Under recent Supreme Court decisions requiring proof of malice," Dodd said, "it is almost impossible . . . for a public official to win a libel suit even when he has been seriously maligned. . . ."

John F. Sonnett, Dodd's lawyer, said only matters of law are involved in the trespass charges and that there could be a court ruling on this without the long legal delay and the expense of a jury trial.

Distillery Raises Prices

TORONTO (CP)—In the wake of increased federal and provincial taxes on liquor, a major Canadian distiller announced Tuesday night it is raising the prices of its products across Canada.

H. Clifford Hatch, president of Hiram Walker-Goodeham and Worts Ltd., said a five-per-cent increase will apply across the country.

Other distilleries indicated Tuesday night they are studying their price structures.

C. O. Sherry, secretary-treasurer of McGuinness Distillers Ltd. in Toronto, said his company is "working on prices for the Liquor Control Board of Ontario, but it's a little early to say anything yet."

Toronto representatives of Distillers Corp.-Seagrams Ltd. declined comment. John Shaughnessy, Ontario sales manager for Adams Distillers Ltd., one of Seagram's subsidiaries, said: "Decisions of that sort are not made at this level."

The Hiram Walker increase comes on top of the recently imposed 16-per-cent increase in the federal liquor tax. That increase triggered provincial tax hikes in at least six provinces, because the provincial tax is based on the distillers' prices plus the federal tax.

Rawdon

RAWDON — Mrs. James Shaw entertained Monday at the Glenburnie Restaurant on the occasion of the birthday of Frank Hutchinson. Guests included Mrs. Hutchinson, Mrs. H. C. David and Miss Lenora Williams.

Mr. and Mrs. Mac Sharp and Kenneth, Mount Pleasant, attended the 4-H graduation night at Madoc.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Morgan and Lisa, Fort Hope, spent some time last week with Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm McMullen.

Gordon Morton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Burton Morton, underwent surgery at Belleville General Hospital Wednesday.

Charles Morton has returned home from Belleville General Hospital and is recuperating at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Burton Morton.

A recently married couple, Mr. and Mrs. Doug Potts, (Ina Coombes), were given a party in Mount Pleasant-Rawdon church hall Friday night. Rev. W. C. Cox was master of ceremonies. Miss Judy McAdam led a sing-song with Miss Jean Sharpe as accompanist. Miss Carolyn Merrick played a piano solo, Douglas Pyear sang a song and Robert C. Hoard read a humorous selection. A mock wedding was performed and Howard Jeffs presented the couple with a gift.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Mumby, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Mumby, has accepted a position at St. Thomas.

Mr. and Mrs. Ted Preston spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Bob Wickens at Scarborough.

BAN REMOVED

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—Strip-tease is legit again in the Argentina capital. Mayor Manuel Iribarr, a retired general, told a news conference he had revoked a ban on it imposed by his predecessor, Eugenio Schettini, a retired colonel.

Canada Joins Top Four In Earning Travel Cash

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada has joined Italy, the United States and Spain in the big four money - earners of tourist dollars and if it uses its resources well, can stay in that league, Trade Minister Winters said Tuesday.

"By hard work, by persistent promotion, we have moved into tourism's billion-dollar-league," Mr. Winters told delegates to the federal-provincial tourism convention.

But both Mr. Winters and director Dan Wallace of the Canadian travel bureau agreed Canada cannot expect to match the $1,250,000,000 it reaped in tourist dollars in 1967.

Expo 67 and other centennial events pushed Canada's earnings from tourists this year and it isn't realistic to expect the same result in 1968.

Mr. Wallace set $1,100,000,000 as the 1968 target and looked forward to 1972 when he predicted the total would rise to $1,500,000,000.

Mr. Winters said facilities for tourists in Canada—hotels, restaurants and transportation — are among the best in the world.

"Our centennial has left us a legacy of new theatres, libraries, museums, aquariums, planetariums, community centres. We have overnight accommodation for more than 500,000 guests, 60,000 miles of paved roads, excellent air services."

Mr. Winters said few Canadians realize how important the tourist industry is to the country as a provider of jobs, a market for Canadian goods and an earner of essential foreign exchange.

The federal government would not be able next year to put as much money in travel promotion as it would like, Mr. Winters said the budget would be $10,000,000, slightly over the 1967 total.

The crackdown on government spending also will delay for one year a planned survey of interprovincial travel by Canadians.

The Dominion Bureau of Statistics will be unable to provide the increased staff for the study estimated to cost about $1,000,000.

The study would establish the amount of money Canadians spend visiting other provinces.

"No Public Demand"

Senate Asked to Add to Stature by Defeating Abolition Bill

OTTAWA (CP)—Two Conservative senators called on the upper house Tuesday to defeat the Commons-approved bill to limit the death penalty to the murderers of prison guards and police officers.

Senator Lionel Choquette (Ontario) said the Senate would "gain in statute" if it killed the bill brought down by the Liberal government. Senator W. M. Aseltine said there is no public demand for the measure.

"This may be the opportunity the Senate has been waiting for to justify itself," he said. He hoped the Senate would have "the courage of its convictions" and defeat the bill.

Three Liberal abolitionists took the opposing view during the first day of Senate debate leading up to second reading, approval in principle, for the bill. The debate resumes today.

Senator Choquette said "the appropriate punishment" for calculated, cold-blooded, planned murder is death.

It was a mockery for the cabinet to commute death sentences continually. The death penalty should not only be retained for capital murder, but the sentences should be carried out except in special circumstances such as a jury recommendation for mercy.

Senator Arthur Roebuck (L—Ontario) said the Commons, which approved the bill, is the best criterion of public sentiment. Almost every Canadian newspaper supported it. Senator Roebuck said he is convinced the death penalty is a more effective deterrent than jail for killers.

Senator Donald Cameron (L—Alberta) said Parliament has a responsibility to be slightly ahead of public opinion on such matters as the death penalty; to lead and guide it.

The average person, for emotional reasons, might favor retention, but would change his mind if he had the opportunity to make a study of the matter as the Senate had.

Senator David Croll (L—Ontario) opened the debate with a plea to help end the "whole sorry process" of execution.

Starr, Hees Call Sharp "Last of the Big Time Spenders"

OTTAWA (CP) — Two former Conservative cabinet ministers lashed the government Tuesday for adding to inflationary pressures by its tax increase and excessive spending.

Speaking during the fifth day of the budget debate—which ends today—Conservative House Leader Michael Starr said Finance Minister Sharp has "lost control of inflationary tendencies in the country because he cannot control the inflation in his own government."

The former Conservative labor minister was followed by George Hees, trade minister in the Diefenbaker government, who termed Mr. Sharp's five-per-cent income surtax "an inflationary tax."

He said Canada could face an economic crisis like the one that forced Britain to devalue the pound.

Both former ministers urged a system of government priorities. Along with other opposition speakers, they again painted a picture of the government as the last of the big-time spenders.

Earlier, Trade Minister Winters announced that China will buy and take delivery of up to 78,000,000 bushels of top grades of Canadian wheat in the first 10 months of next year.

Industry Minister Drury announced a new tariff program for machinery that will enable Canadian manufacturing and service industries to import highly-specialized foreign-made equipment free of duty, provided similar products are not available in Canada.

The object of the program is to encourage Canadian industry to improve productivity, cut costs for domestic markets and penetrate foreign markets in the more competitive field opened by the Kennedy Round of tariff-cutting negotiations.

In a third announcement, Northern Development Minister Laing said the government has joined with a consortium of 20 oil companies to explore for gas and oil in the Arctic Islands.

Panarctic Oils Ltd. plans to spend $20,000,000 to $30,000,000 over the next three years investigating some 44,000,000 acres, much of it long regarded as potentially rich in oil and gas.

In the budget debate—already the subject of two unsuccessful opposition non-confidence votes—Mr. Starr said Canadians were generally fed up with "paying through the nose for the extravagance of this government."

The government did not know where it was going from one day to the next. Revenue Minister Benson had said recently on television that the medical care insurance program will cost $80,000,000, while Mr. Sharp had said the cost will be $950,000,000.

Mr. Sharp interjected:

"No, he did not. And I did not say that, Mr. Speaker. I said we would have to raise $200,000,000 in order to pay our share, namely half, and the minister of national revenue agreed with this. The minister of national health and welfare agreed too."

Fernand Leblanc (L—Montreal Laurier) said the five-per-cent income surtax announced by Mr. Sharp will last only until the economy is stabilized.

Youngsters From Tyendinaga Fitting in at Belleville School

The integration of Indians into Canadian society is being aided by a change in the schooling of 51 youngsters from the Tyendinaga Indian Reserve — they now attend classes in Belleville.

Prior to this change in policy students attended classes on the reserve. This year, for the first time, the Grade 7 and 8 pupils were on hand opening day to enrol in classes at Harry J. Clarke Public School.

According to the local Indian supervisor, Andy Hrytzak, the change is working great. "The system lets the children get started in the outside world at an earlier age," he said recently.

The move to Belleville came as a solution to an overcrowding situation at schools on the reserve rather than any concerted effort to integrate the children. But whatever the reason the students themselves appear to be thriving under the new set up.

Principal of the Harry J. Clarke school, M. M. Hackett claims the youngsters are getting along very well. "It's a bit early to make a judgment but they are certainly fitting into our pattern of work."

Mr. Hackett says a few of the youngsters were a little bewildered at the 22-room school but they're getting used to their surroundings. "After all, they moved from much smaller schools and this was expected," he continued.

The students arrive by bus from the reserve each morning and return after class in the afternoon.

Mr. Hrytzak says several parents were reluctant at first to send their children to Belleville. "But I think they now have a different outlook."

"The overcrowding in our reserve schools was caused by an increase in the population as well as a desire on the part of the people for kindergarten classes," he said. "When we found we were at a point where a new school was a necessity we decided to approach the Belleville Public School Board to see what sort of reception the integration idea would receive."

"Following negotiations the Belleville Board decided to accept the children and this means we can now operate the desired kindergarten class, and give the senior public school youngsters better facilities for education."

Mr. Hackett says the pupils receive extra benefits from classes such as music, physical education, a library, science labs, oral French and the use of a guidance director as well as home economics and industrial arts classes. "They wouldn't have these in a smaller school," he said.

"We have the students placed throughout the school. Of the 51 youngsters, 34 are attending grade 7 classes while the other 17 are in Grade 8."

H. B. Rodine, superintendent of Indian Schools in Ontario, says he is happy the children from the reserve are adapting to the Belleville school system.

Mr. Hrytzak looks on the move as a step in the right direction. "We've had high school youngsters attending school in Belleville for the past 15 or 20 years and now we have moved into the area of younger students.

As far as cost is concerned the Belleville Public School Board is paid by the department of northern affairs which is responsible for the education of the Indian youngsters. This means the change is not costing the Belleville taxpayer anything extra.

Northern Electric Publishes Journal

MONTREAL — The Northern Electric Company released recently the first issue of its new technical journal Telesis. It will be directed towards the engineering staffs of telecommunications companies, both at home and overseas, to university faculties and libraries and many others involved in telecommunications throughout the world. Initially Telesis will publish twice yearly, in May and November.

Robert H. Tanner, chairman of the editorial board and editor of Telesis said the new magazine is striving for the highest quality of technical content. He also elaborated that engineering and scientific personnel who do not receive the first issue should address their requests to the Editor, Northern Electric Laboratories, Ottawa.

The first issue contains a feature article on antenna couplers for satellite ground stations as well as a brief history by Dr. A. Brewer Hunt on the birth and growth of the Northern Electric Laboratories. The remaining articles cover such subjects as a novel cable strander, Northern Electric's new SP-1 switching system for telephone central offices and an experimental "electret" microphone.

Mr. Tanner pointed out all articles are published in the language in which they are received from the various authors. Although the first Telesis is entirely in English, he expects future issues to contain some articles in the French language as well as Spanish.

Production and editorial staffs have endeavored to achieve a good graphic presentation as well as the highest printing quality. The format is on an eight and a half by eleven inch stock featuring a full color cover. Photographs, diagrams and graphs are presented in black and white. Each copy of Telesis contains a separate index card sheet of the various articles for library and personal filing systems.

The name Telesis, which the dictionary defines as "progress intelligently planned and directed" indicates the role this new technical journal intends to play in communicating developments in research and manufacturing taking place throughout the company to the scientific and engineering communities of the world. In outlining this role in his guest editorial, Company President V. O. Marquez said "our scientists and engineers of Northern Electric stake their claim to a place among the telecommunications leaders of the world scientific community."

Editors Note: Dr. A. Brewer Hunt and Robert H. Tanner, who is chairman of the Telesis Journal, resided in Belleville at the time the new plant was established.

Strictly Personal

By Sidney J. Harris

Whenever I hear someone say, "Well, my parents (or grandparents) came over to this country without a penny, lived in the slums, and worked themselves up out of it — so why can't Negroes do the same?" I am tempted to observe that false analogy is one of the most treacherous contortions of the human mind.

Let me illustrate concretely what is meant by "false analogy." In his splendid book, "Personal Knowledge," Michael Polanyi tells of taking a Hindu to tea in New York. When his tea arrived, the Hindu opened the tea bag and poured the loose tea into his cup.

Polanyi gently explained that he didn't have to do that — the bag was porous and the tea would seep through it into the water. The Hindu politely thanked him, and then promptly dropped a lump of sugar — still wrapped in paper — into his cup of tea.

The Hindu was making a justifiable, but utterly false, analogy: if the tea soaks through its container, then the sugar must soak through its container. But the tea bag was designed to let the tea out, and the sugar-wrapper was designed to keep the sugar in. To the ignorant or thoughtless, however, paper is paper, and people are people, and it is far easier to lump them than to like or understand them.

The fact that other ethnic groups came over here and worked their way out of the slums would be relevant to the Negro situation only if other factors were similar; but they were not, as a moment's honest reflection would tell us.

The ethnic groups who made it in America had a religious background that was deeply-rooted in the Old World and effectively transplanted here.

They had a cohesive family pattern, a tradition of the father taking care of the family, and the mother working in the home.

They had the opportunity to live where they could afford it, go to school freely with children of other classes and backgrounds, and make their way in business or the professions as fast as their talent would allow.

The Negro was kidnapped from his homeland, enslaved, made to do the most menial work, denied an education, humiliated and despised, his family broken up and sold to different slave owners, his old religious ties obliterated, and a passive pie-in-the-sky Christianity substituted for it. His incentive was steadily and remorselessly extinguished, and his individualism was ground into a stereotype.

Given these long-term handicaps how do you imagine your parents or grandparents would have fared in the New World, Mr. Stinky?

The Old School Cheer!

BCI Girls Tops In Quinte District

By HARRY MULHALL
Staff Reporter

There's a lot to cheer about around Belleville Collegiate these days — and they've got the girls to do it.

For the second year in a row, BCI's cheerleaders have been hailed as tops in their field in the Quinte district.

It happened this past weekend at Picton with the girls edging out competition from all other high schools with effortless ease.

But they have more than a trophy to keep polished.

The appearance of ease in a cheerleading routine means much effort, and yesterday the girls were back practising as usual.

"They have to do simple things with precision," explains physical education instructor Margie Tyrrell. "And it takes a lot of hard work to make them happy."

Making it snappy means constant practice with the cheerleaders rehearsing during lunch recess or after school hours during the week.

It can also mean some book work. Cheerleading, like most other specialties, also has its own guide books.

"There's a lot more to it than is first realized," points out Miss Tyrrell.

Membership in the squad also lays down some hard and fast rules.

The girls must observe all the school rules of conduct.

"As soon as they break any of the rules they are out of the squad — no matter how good a cheerleader they are," emphasizes the teacher.

Any girl who misses three rehearsals also has little to cheer about — she ceases to be a member.

Reason for the strict regulations is that the cheerleaders are the school's representatives at football time.

"The most important thing is that they're the school's hostesses when another team comes to play. They have to work hard making the other team feel at home," says Miss Tyrrell.

Enthusiasm for the cheerleading routines received a boost at the school about two years ago — the same time it suddenly took on new interest across the province.

Miss Tyrrell, once a cheerleader herself at Queen's University, re - organized the squad.

At the same time, cheerleaders across the province organized a conference in Toronto to promote the art.

From that seed of interest the Quinte-area contest bloomed — one of the few of its kind in the province.

The Trenton Real Estate Board put up a trophy — and the Belleville Collegiate squad has retained it since.

Now, says Miss Tyrrell area squads are pondering the possibility of holding the annual conference in Belleville next year.

Such a demonstration would "bring in thousands of cheerleaders from all over the province."

Meantime, however, there is still the routine daily exercises for the squads.

The girls, all of them top gymnasts must keep their teamwork in shape for the next football game.

"It's a matter of getting rhythm and a beat—simple enough that a crowd can follow them," says the teacher.

"They're not there to make a song and dance for everybody. They're there to lead a cheer."

Follow The Leader

Cathy Goyer (front) is captain of BCI cheerleaders. When it's time to cheer the whole squad takes its cue from her.

Daily practice ensures girls keep their hands in on cheerleading routines Being member of squad also means strict adherence to school rules and means cheerleaders must always toe the line in conduct as Vicky Joblin, Judy Joblin and Cathy Dean are doing rehearsal

Young More Moral Than Adults: Minister

"Young people today are probably more truly moral than are adults," said Rev. Lawrence Fetter in addressing the fourth session of the Youth in the Modern World series sponsored by the Canadian Mental Health Association. True morality, according to Mr. Fetter, is a morality based on the still valid standard of love — the desire to look for the best that can be achieved for the other person.

Mr. Fetter discounted the tendency of today's adult to look backward and imagine that things were all wonderful. Actually, he claimed, society has made real progress since the pre-1900 years when immorality in business was accepted and practised by the church leaders of the day — the days of the robber barons.

Although today there is a great shaking of the foundations of our society and nothing is too sacred to be questioned, there is also a great deal of morality, that is, concern for the less fortunate. Mr. Fetter cited the many youth projects such as Canadian University Service Overseas, Crossroads Africa, Operation Beaver, the Peace Corps or, more simply volunteer candy stripers in hospitals, as evidence of the new kind of concern being shown by youth today. The younger people seem to be more and more ready to look at the broader moral questions of the day and to respond to them.

The negative side of the teenage picture involving drugs and illegitimacy needs to be balanced by the very positive concern the young so often express.

"Most young people today are as good as their parents will allow them to be. They usually are what their parents expect them to be," said Mr. Fetter. "Parents are too often afraid of losing the love of their teenagers. They are afraid to take a firm parental role — to make it clear who is the boss, who is in charge."

"Children," he said, "need specific, secure regulations so they can grow up in the knowledge of where and what they are. As they mature the area of freedom and personal independence can be broadened."

Young people, argued Mr. Fetter, see all around them examples of the double standard. Parents smoke, drink, lie and cheat all the while telling their children that such practices are wrong. It is no wonder that the children question such attitudes.

The "shaking of the foundations," the questioning of traditional values, is viewed with alarm more by adults than by teenagers, he suggested, and wondered if this did not reflect the insecurity of the adult group.

In all this confusion, the standard of love is all the more valid. Young people, he felt perhaps sensed this more than do adults.

In the question period that followed, Mr. Fetter discussed Fletcher's book, "Situation Ethics" which says right and wrong being decided according to three main attitudes: 1, the lawful attitude that decides each question according to the rules; 2, the anti-law attitudes which recognizes no rules or standards and decides each question by expediency; 3, the situation ethic which bases each decision on the standard of love.

To the question "Where do we find the answers?" he replied that one must ask oneself in each situation "What is love asking me to do?"

Next week, this series will conclude with a discussion of the adult role led by Mr. Fred Pile, principal of Owen Blvd. School in Toronto.

200 Agencies Listed in Directory

Belleville's directory of health, welfare, recreation and education services came off the press today.

The directory lists over 200 agencies serving the people of the community with social, sport, cultural and educational activities, not to mention a complete roll call of churches and trade unions.

United Community Services prepared the reference work for health, welfare and social service personnel in the city, but it will be available at $1 to anyone who can use its concise listing of organizations and services. The address to mail enquiries is P.O. Box 815, Belleville.

As well as local associations (from the Air Cadet League to the World Federalists) the directory lists Toronto-based agencies whose services are available to Belleville residents. These include organizations such as the John Howard Society and associations for sufferers of chronic diseases.

Sub - headings under each organization outline the service it offers, area served, fees, time and place of meetings, to whom membership is open and hours of service.

Lumpy Sofa Smoothed When Boa Removed

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (Reuters) — There was a large lump in the sofa of a furnished apartment rented six months ago by Manuel Valencia, his wife and small child, but they got used to it.

Then suddenly the lump disappeared—and Valencia found a seven-foot-long Columbian boa constrictor nesting happily under the refrigerator in the kitchen.

Police, who are looking for the former tenant, said the boa was stolen from a local zoo earlier this year.

They speculated it had gorged itself on a heavy meal and then contentedly gone to sleep in the sofa.

Jury Urges Old-Age-Pensioners Be Given Yearly Check-ups

A Belleville coroner's jury last night urged that all old-age pensioners be given a yearly medical examination.

The recommendation came as the jury ruled an 84-year-old woman was "definitely" neglected while in the care of her daughter.

The inquest was called to probe circumstances in the death of Mrs. Margaret Craighead, who had been in the care of her daughter, Mrs. Jean Haig at 205 East Dundas Street.

The five jurors — including a woman — discussed their verdict after coroner Dr. D. C. McVicker said.

"We hear stories of people being neglected by the medical profession. But you don't hear stories of people being neglected by their own families. Here is a case where a daughter has wilfully neglected her own mother."

Mrs. Craighead died Nov. 24 in Belleville General Hospital from what the jury found was "a bloodclot aggravated by pneumonia."

Several witnesses confirmed the presence of bed sores on Mrs. Craighead's body when she was admitted to hospital.

Mrs. Haig said she had been caring for her mother for the past four years at the house on Dundas Street and latterly Mrs. Craighead had become "senile."

During that time "her skin was given every care," said Mrs. Haig, and she regularly rubbed her mother with alcohol.

She said she took her mother to Dr. Sam Cronk for a checkup in summer 1966.

She later had prescriptions refilled about twice afterward.

Queried by the coroner why she had not latterly called in medical aid, Mrs. Haig said her mother had become "terrified" of doctors.

"Oh terrified nothing," snapped Dr. McVicker" . . . Sure-ly that's more reason for calling in a doctor or seeking medical assistance of some sort."

Mrs. Haig said she decided to call an ambulance for her mother the night of Nov. 23 when she discovered the elderly woman's breathing was affected.

"Aren't you stretching it a bit?" demanded the coroner. "Weren't you afraid she was going to die and you couldn't get a death certificate?"

At another point in her testimony Mrs. Haig protested to the coroner "I certainly did care. I loved my mother very much."

Mrs. Haig told assistant Crown Attorney Glen Deline she thought she could cure her mother's bed sores.

"Wouldn't it have been a good idea to get outside help?" asked the Crown.

"Yes," answered the witness "But I thought I could do it myself. I had promised her faithfully that I would look after her myself."

Mrs. Haig confirmed she also had an uncle living with her — 80-year-old Garnet Donald —and she had recently called doctors twice to tend him.

Dr. S. D. Horne who attended Mrs. Craighead on admission to hospital confirmed the presence of bed sores and said the woman was semi-conscious at the time.

Dr. Sam Cronk said he could not recall Mrs. Craighead at his office, but he might have seen her.

"If somebody comes in I have their names down but I don't write a chart on everybody," said the doctor.

"If you'd done a complete physical (examination) on this woman you would have recalled it?" queried the coroner.

"I think I would," said Dr. Cronk.

He explained: "If she was a patient of mine she wasn't a very close patient, because I don't remember her."

The doctor could not recall prescribing medicine for Mrs. Craighead.

In its verdict the jury also recommended that all prescriptions issued by a doctor "specify a deadline ""

The jurors also suggested the house on Dundas Street "be visited immediately by health authorities to ascertain the care being given to Mr. Garnet Donald and make whatever recommendations they deem necessary."

Concluded the verdict: "We arrive at this recommendation in the light that we feel that Mrs. Craighead was definitely neglected."

BOBBY DENNIS GARY

It's a long way from California's televised Ponderosa to the productive acres of Prince Edward county and other Ontario areas, but a real "Cartwright Empire" up here may become a reality in the not too distant years.

In this real-life drama you can visualize one Robert Marven Hull at the Ben Cartwright (minus silver hair, of course) of the Canadian ranch or series of ranches with Dennis the "Hoss" and Gary the "Little Joe."

A lot of people saw the CBC special "This Is Bobby Hull" on television a short time ago. It pictured mainly the Golden Jet in the heat of hockey action but one of the features was the unveiling of the Hull homelife and "Home on the Range" as far as the Hull brothers were concerned.

Knowing Bobby since he was knee-high to a shingaard I can say that the TV show didn't need any rehearsal. The fact the cameras were on him did not affect his modest manner nor his attitude towards the family. There was no affectation in his manner and he spoke plainly as though it were a person-to-person conversation.

It showed Bobby parading with one of his championship Hereford bulls. Brother, there was a handsome hunk of beef, who would look a lot better on a steak plate than in a pasture-field charge.

By the muscular looks of both the bull and Bobby, it would be a choice as to which would be the better to meet in a back-alley brawl.

And according to Marse Robert he may not consider his potential ups on the battlefields of the National Hockey League.

He said, as he has said several times before, his family, its education and well-being come first and he'll devote the latter years to this ole ranch future.

In fact he hinted very strongly that when he has acquired sufficient financial security to take care of these items he will hang up his hockey gear.

Both Bobby and Dennis have a spring theme song "Home, Home on the Range" and that is where you'll find them when peace is declared on all hockey fronts.

They doff the hockey gear for their "Ponderosa" stetsons, western jeans and shirts. They exchange hockey sticks for pitchforks, and bodychecks for hustling Herefords.

In Chicago recently Bobby said "It's a big business and we have a lot of money invested in it."

Said Dennis, "I could retire and live off the ranch right now."

The home spread of this Canadian Ponderosa is the 750-acre ranch near Picton called the "Golden Hawk." Nearby is the Hull-vue ranch a 340-acre spread. The 400-acre Hull Valley is situated near Peterborough.

The overall cattle population of the three ranches is 750 head. And feeding them all winter just "shut all hay" the brothers and their associates will tell you.

Bobby breeds and raises purebred Polled Herefords. At present he has three hundred. Dennis has raised 400 steers and just to give the herds a feminine touch fifty cows round out the cattle family.

Ranching and cattle-raising come natural to the Hull brothers. When they were small boys, Bobby says, a number of relatives owned cattle-raising farms "where we spent a lot of time."

And brother Gary is in on the deal, too. He helps look after the herds in the winter-time and is teamed with Dennis on the Peterborough spread.

MONTREAL (CP) — Marcel Dostie has won this year's hockey championship at Blue Bonnets Raceway with a win average of .417. In 109 programs Dostie rode 123 races. He had 33 firsts, 26 seconds and 19 thirds to make the ending money. Second was Henri Filion with .353 and third is Gilles Lachance with .310.

He has spent the last four years with Washington Redskins following an eight-year stint with New York Giants. Rated one of the National Football League's greatest middle linebackers, Huff, 33, said his job was an important factor in his decision to retire.

Weakened Bruins Face Tough Test

By GRAHAM COX
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Pittsburgh Penguins could be in a fair way to make a positive challenge for the Western Division championship of the National Hockey League after Earl Ingarfield returns to action tonight.

The hardrock centre only got into eight games with the expansion club, after being their first choice in the spring draft, before suffering ripped ligaments and a cracked kneecap in a game against Oakland Seals Oct. 25.

To that time he had picked up a goal and three assists and was just starting to hit the stride that made him one of the strong men for New York Rangers during the seven previous seasons.

Tonight he's going against Toronto Maple Leafs, hot on the trail of Boston Bruins— leaders of the veteran Eastern Division by three points.

The Bruins are at home to Montreal Canadiens in a second game, but are expected to be in some difficulty for the next three weeks until star defenceman Bobby Orr recovers from a broken collar bone.

Orr and Ted Green were both lost to the Bruins Saturday when Orr was checked by Frank Mahovlich of Toronto and Green went down to block a Mahovlich shot.

YVON COURNOYER

In other games tonight, New York is at Chicago against the Black Hawks, Los Angeles Kings play the North Stars in Minnesota and Oakland is in St. Louis against the Blues.

In Thursday's only games, Chicago plays the Red Wings in Detroit and St. Louis takes on Philadelphia Flyers, second in the west behind Los Angeles.

The Penguins are six points off the pace set by Los Angeles, but have a wealth of scoring power which Ingarfield is sure to enhance.

Only Los Angeles has scored more than the 70 goals produced by Pittsburgh players — 74 — in the west but while they have only 10 players among the top 30 league scorers, the Penguins have four.

Art Stratton leads the team with 10 goals and 12 assists followed by Andy Bathgate with 10 goals and 14 assists, Ab McDonald with 10 goals and 10 assists and Ken Schinkel with eight goals and 12 assists.

Ingarfield, a native and resident of Lethbridge, Alta., from where he turned pro with Saskatoon Quakers of the Western League in 1955-56, had two 20-goal years while with New York.

But his big year was 1957-58 when he scored 30 goals and 41 assists for Winnipeg Warriors of the WHL the season that proved his ticket into the NHL.

His first two years were not very productive but after 25 goals and 40 assists for Cleveland Barons of the American League in 1959-60, the Rangers brought him up to stay.

A year later he rewarded them with a 26-goal season fallo-ed by 19 goals in 1962-63.

Before slipping to 12 goals last year, he scored 20 goals and 18 assists for New York in 1965-66 on his way to an NHL total of 122 goals and 142 assists in 527 games prior to this season.

Although the Canadiens have captain Jean Beliveau back in action, they still will be without right - wingers Claude Larose and Yvan Cournoyer tonight.

Larose was to start skating today following a knee injury, but Cournoyer, Montreal's leading scorer, still is under treatment for a groin injury.

For Thursday's game, Detroit will have left - winger Rick Marsh in action in place of Rick McCann. The Wings traded the players in a deal with Fort Worth of the Central League, where Marsh has scored 12 goals and 13 assists so far this year.

Share Of Draft Take

Ontario Amateurs To Get $17,500

WINNIPEG (CP) — Teams in the Ontario Hockey Association will get $17,900 this week as their share of the take in the 1967 universal draft, the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association announced Tuesday.

A total of 18 players were taken in the draft last June and professional clubs turned over $54,000 to the CAHA for distribution under the new professional-amateur agreement.

The CAHA this week sent $42,100 of the draft receipts to 45 teams and minor hockey associations who assisted in the development of the 18 players over their last six years of amateur hockey.

Executive director Gordon Juckes said $11,900 still remains to be distributed once further development background on several players is obtained.

In addition to the draft payments direct to clubs responsible for the development of specific players, the new pro-amateur agreements also provides grants for minor and junior hockey and for amateur hockey administration and development work.

Under the program more than $600,000 is being spent this year to assist amateur hockey in Canada and the United States.

Individual clubs receiving the largest amounts from the 1967 draft were Sault Ste. Marie Greyhounds, $4,800, and Pembroke and Fort Frances Royals, $3,700 each. All are Junior A teams.

The league's standing sees Ivanhoe on top with 22 points Then comes Bata with 15; Stirling, 13; Cloyne, 12; Foxboro and Wallbridge three each and Thomasburg and Frankford two each.

Clippers Clip Canucks

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Rochester Americans missed a golden opportunity to move into serious contention in the Western Division of the American Hockey League Tuesday night.

Playing an interlocking series in the Western League, the Clippers dropped a 5-3 decision to Vancouver Canucks and remained four points behind leader Cleveland Barons.

To make matters worse, they play a second game—against Portland Buckaroos—in the WHL tonight with Cleveland still idle. Victories in the two games would have pulled them even with the Barons.

In the only other game Tuesday, Hershey Bears came back from a 3-2 second-period deficit for a 4-4 tie with Quebec Aces.

Unitas NFL All-Star Quarterback; Packers Place 6, Dallas 4

JOHN UNITAS

NEW YORK (AP) — John Unitas, without a vote last year, today was named quarterback of the National Football League all-star team selected for The Associated Press by a panel of sports writers and sportscasters.

Unitas' skill in guiding Baltimore Colts through 13 games without defeat was recognized by a landslide vote of the committee, three from each league city.

Despite the Colts' fine record, the old reliable Green Bay Packers still had the most men on the team with a total of six, two on offence and four on defence. Dallas Cowboys placed four and Baltimore three. Nine of the teams had players on the first team.

New York Giants, Philadelphia Eagles, Pittsburgh Steelers, New Orleans Saints, Minnesota Vikings, Detroit Lions and San Francisco 49ers were blanked.

Looking ahead to Sunday's meeting of the Colts and Los Angeles Rams for the right to play the Packers in the Western Conference final, Baltimore has Unitas, tight end John Mackey and flanker Willie Richardson on the first offensive team.

The Rams put two subs on the defensive line—end Deacon Jones and tackle Merlin Olsen.

Unitas' running backs on the first team were Gale Sayers of Chicago Bears and Leroy Kelly of Cleveland Browns. His receivers were Mackey, Richardson and split end Charley Taylor of Washington Redskins.

Bob DeMarco of St. Louis Cardinals was the centre, flanked by Jerry Kramer of Green Bay and Gene Hickerson of Cleveland at the guards and Ralph Neely of Dallas and Forrest Gregg of Green Bay at the tackles.

The five repeaters from 1966 on offence were Mackey, Gregg, Kramer, Kelly and Sayers.

There were only three changes in the defensive unit, two linebackers and one cornerbacker. The same front four were back. That meant Willie Davis of Green Bay at one end and Jones at the other with Bob Lilly of Dallas and Olsen at the tackles.

Tommy Nobis of Atlanta Falcons pushed his way into the middle linebacker job, held by Green Bay's Ray Nitschke last year. Dave Robinson of the Packers, replacing teammate Lee Roy Caffey, and repeater Chuck Howley of Dallas, were the other linebackers.

Bob Jeter of the Packers outed veteran teammate Herb Adderley from one starting cornerback job. Cornell Green of Dallas was a repeater at the other corner and both Larry Wilson of St. Louis and Willie Wood of Green Bay were back again as safeties.

In the night's other game St. Catharines Black Hawks edged London Nationals 3-2 to move into sole possession of sixth place in the 10-team series.

Fred O'Donnel scored three goals O'Donnel scored three and Bryan Flywchuk got two. Ron Dunnam got the other. Don Tannahill and Doug Brindley scored for Niagara Falls, leaders of the series with 32 points.

Juniors Bow To Frontenacs

By STEVE BISHOP

A flukе goal by the Kingston Frontenacs opened a three-goal second period spree that sent the Belleville "B's" down to defeat by a score of 5-1 in a Junior B contest at the Belleville Arena last night.

The first period featured some good, solid hockey and evenly-matched play, with the home team collecting the only goal of the period, when Rick Rosebush poked the puck in from a scramble around the Kingston net.

An easy, sliding shot by Kingston's Russell Clarke slid under the stick of Belleville goaltender Paul Smith as he attempted to clear it, breaking the scoring ice for Kingston, and turning the tide of play in their favor. Before the period was out, Scott Nicholson and Larry Toner had scored for the Frontenacs to give them a 3-1 lead.

Early in the final period, a Belleville clearing pass was deflected to Toner, who slid it past goalie Smith. The remaining spark went out of the Belleville attack, and they posed few serious threats thereafter. Bob Kindon added a final goal for Kingston midway through the period to complete the scoring.

Paul Smith performed well aside from the one easy goal he allowed. His teammates' spotty backchecking and failure to clear the puck hurt his performance, as he was tested with 40 shots. Dave Gavel gave a good account of himself in the Kingston nets in the first period, when Belleville fired 15 shots at him. Over the final two periods, he had only 16 shots to handle.

Belleville will wait another week to try and get into the win column. They play host to Oshawa at the arena next Tuesday night

May Transfer Seals To Vancouver!

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

To move or not to move may be the question haunting Barend van Gerbig II today, although both he and Clarence Campbell, president of the National Hockey League, poohed the idea.

Van Gerbig, majority owner of Oakland Seals of the NHL, is having trouble getting fans to watch his fledgling team perform and reports are swirling around him that he is considering moving the franchise—possibly to Vancouver.

Oakland attendance problems were reportedly discussed at a meeting of the NHL governors last week in New York and Monday van Gerbig was in Vancouver, where he toured the city and visited the new Pacific Coliseum.

In an hour-long talk with Jim Kearney, columnist with The Sun, he suggested that unless attendance picked up in Oakland, then a franchise transfer, possibly to Vancouver, would be considered.

Saturday in New York, Campbell said after the governor's meeting that one of the troubles, other than attendance, was that they were suffering "a lack of liquid working capital."

The problem, he suggested, was that while van Gerbig and his partners had plenty of money to run the club, it was tied up and not readily available for emergency use.

Reports from Vancouver Monday and again Tuesday indicated that while van Gerbig was not officially scouting a new site for his club, he wasn't missing the opportunity afforded by an invitation from Vancouver businessman Frank McMahon to look the situation over.

The Sun report indicates that van Gerbig is distressed on two counts about maintaining the Seals' franchise in Oakland—poor saturation of the San Francisco Bay area with major league competition and a lack of fan response.

He said there was no immediate concern with club financing, but that there was no way the club could be financed as a long proposition for as long as five years.

Of the New York meeting, he was reported as saying:

"Historically, the NHL always helps teams in trouble.

"We're not in financial trouble. In fact we're one of the better financed teams. But we cannot go on this way for, say, five years.

Oaks Clip Aces

Orillia Vacates Cellar!

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Orillia moved out of the cellar of the Ontario Hockey Association Senior series Tuesday night by trouncing Guelph Regals 7-3.

It was Orillia's third win in a row over clubs from the top half of the series.

As Orillia's fortunes climb, first-place Kingston Aces are finding the going rough.

The Aces, still ahead by three points in the standings, were downed 4-3 by seventh-place Oakville Oaks in a game at Kingston.

In Tuesday's only other action, Collingwood Kings moved into third place with a comeback 8-6 triumph over Barrie Flyers.

At Orillia, George Vail was the spark plug with two goals for the hometown team. Singles goals went to George Westfall, George Ford, Danny Patrick, Ken Knapton and Allen Micks. Guelph, holding down fifth spot, got goals from Floyd Martin, Bob Ertel and Larry Jones.

Oakville fired three unanswered goals in the third period to take its first victory in 11 road games this season. Pete Bettiol, Bob Bishop and Jim O'Brien scored the third-period goals. Bettiol also scored Oakville's first goal.

Jim Gebhardt, Garfield Ball and Bob Rawson scored for Kingston.

Collingwood got two-goal performances from Dave Fiter and Heck Brainard.

Other Kings' scorers were Dave McComb, Clare Alexander, Butch Keeling and Fern St. Onge.

Groucho Marx, Elder Statesman Of U.S. Comedy, Has Special

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—"When I turned 69, I thought I was washed up, that nobody would want to hire me. And now I've got more offers of jobs than ever before!"

Such is the position of Groucho Marx, the irreverent elder statesman of American comedy who refused to act his age, which is 72.

Those who hark back to the mad musical comedies of the Marx Brothers will be able to view the master in his fine old form tonight on NBC's Kraft Music Hall.

Groucho is host and performer on a special called A Taste of Funny, and he will be performing in his classic roles as Captain Spaulding and Dr. Hackenbush. He clings to his dances, he jopes about the stage like a lecherous fox. His performance may prove a revelation to youngsters who know him only as the acid quipmaster.

"We all learned to do a bit of everything in the old days," explained Groucho. "That's why the veteran comics can perform in any kind of sketch, I'm thinking of men like Bobby Clark, Willie Howard and George Burns. Bob Hope is darned good at it, too.

"Soupy Sales, who is on this show with me, is excellent at sketchy comedy; I think he has great possibilities that haven't been revealed yet.

"But most of the new crop of comedians can do only one thing: stand-up comedy. And they can do it get up in front of an audience and tell jokes. It's a pity, because this leads to deadly sameness in comedy style."

Groucho claims that humor has fallen upon bad times in recent years, and he offered his reasons for the decline.

"The laugh track," he declared. "Those phoney, recorded laughs on television comedies have done more to destroy comedy than anything else. The laugh track has made it too easy for writers. They no longer have to struggle to write funny material. They know that if a joke doesn't go over, it can be covered with a laugh track."

Little Boy Frightened by Illnesses

By Dr. Joseph G. Molner

Dear Dr. Molner: I have a problem that frightens me. It concerns my 2½-year-old son. He can't sleep. I don't mean insomnia. He is very tired and falls asleep easily only to wake every few minutes with a shriek and loud crying.

I can't find out the problem by questioning him.

He is an only child and has been subjected to hospital stays, pain and surgery. (Five times to date for surgical procedures alone.) Most of his life has been spent wearing large plaster casts on his legs as he was born with a compound clubbed condition. He's in plaster now.

He is handsome, intelligent, large for his age and fine during the daytime, though he is high strung. Can you recommend something for us? — A. G. T.

If he were my child, poor little fellow, I would consult a child psychiatrist. As I've often tried to make clear in this column, psychiatry isn't only for patients with a severe mental illness. It's for patients with any sort of emotional problem with which they can't cope.

At 2½ the little chap would not have the vocabulary to tell you what is disturbing him. It's with all the misery, all the hospitalization, all the business of being cut from home and not understanding why, it is not surprising that he has the jitters.

I would guess, in fact would assume, that after so much happening to him in his 10 months on earth, he wakes up at night fearing whatever may be going to happen to him next.

I am reluctant to try to suggest anything you can do for him by yourself (except comfort him and try to make him feel secure). Either your pediatrician, or, as I suggested above, a child psychiatrist should be guiding you.

You can tell the little boy, in words, that eventually his casts and operations and trips to the hospital will be a thing of the past. A child so young can't understand that. You feet some experts help on finding ways to imply this to him. And the sooner the better. Such a burden of care can leave lasting problems for him unless he can be given a sense of security.

Dear Dr. Molner: For the last year, since I began dyeing my hair, I have been getting sores on my scalp. They itch or itch or are sore. Is this serious in any way? Is there any way, other than to stop dyeing my hair, to get rid of the sores? — Mrs. P. G.

The essential danger is infection either from scratching but you can't scratch the scalp. Depending on the type of infection, hair might be lost too.

You apparently are sensitive to the dye and should stop using it. After the scalp clears you may find some other dye which won't bother you. Before using an dye, a skin patch test should be done to determine whether you have a sensitivity to the chemicals.

Dear Dr. Molner: In your articles on herniated discs, I was surprised that you didn't mention a laminectomy as a very effective cure for the trouble. — F. N. H.

I didn't see much to be gained by using that technical term, which is merely one type of surgery which often helps some types of cases. It involves removal of part of a vertebra when it is exerting undue pressure. There are several techniques, and it is to the surgeon to select the one which will be most helpful in the individual case.

Note to Mrs. J. H.: Don't apologize and don't feel bad about anything. Readers have a perfect right to write as bluntly as they choose.

Hector Defeats Ernie

There's No Feud Like An Old Feud!

TORONTO (CP) — There was a time when Ernie Richardson of Regina was the king of curling and Hec Gervais was a fat boy from Edmonton who made good in Newfoundland.

That was in 1959 when Gervais brought a rink out of Goose Bay to the Canadian final but had to watch Richardson win the Dominion and world championship.

Gervais, at 255 pounds, returned to Edmonton in 1961, collected a rink and won the Canadian and world titles. Big Ernie, meanwhile, notched Canadian victories in 1960, 1962 and 1965.

But 1962 marked the continuation of the feud between Ernie and Hec—the jolly giant from Edmonton. They met in the finals of the Canadian championship at Kitchener and the Regina rink won 14-7.

The feud continued Tuesday in an international tournament sponsored by the CBC. But this time Richardson and his rink took a back seat to Gervais, a trimmed-down 215, who walloped the Regina rink 13-5 in eight ends of the regulation 10-end match.

In Tuesday's only other game, Alf Phillips, jr. of Toronto, defending Canadian curling champion, blanked world champion Chuck Hay of Scotland 13-6 in a match that was conceded after nine ends.

Gervais and his rink-third Merv Mann, second Bob Hawkins and lead Wally Ursulak—had a three-ender on the opening end, gave up a single on the second and collected three on the third. Richardson, known for his accouts and drawing full, made a temporary comeback in the fourth end with three, but the Edmonton quartet retaliated with three in the fifth and stole another three on the sixth when Richardson missed a draw to the four-foot circle.

Then, Richardson hit and rolled out with last stone on the seventh end and Gervais stole another two to wrap the game up.

TV-Radio Column

Dickens' Christmas Story Told With Fine Camera Work, Color

NEW YORK (AP)—Charles Dickens, who died in 1870, seems to have a special place in Christmas lore.

That certainly results from the invention of Tiny Tim and old Scrooge, so it seemed natural Tuesday night to find a television special which was a fanciful stroll around mid-19th century London in the company of the writer, played by Michael Redgrave.

It seemed inevitable that it would all lead somehow or other to Dickens' Christmas Carol. Well, it did not, more's the pity.

Mr. Dickens of London chose instead to recreate another Dickens Christmas fiction, The Seven Poor Travelers. And this was primarily a visit to an old charity lodging house and the sight of an assortment of bedraggled creatures enjoying a holiday feast.

The ABC program was leisurely and dignified. And even if it was not exactly an intellectual stimulant it was a delight to the eye. The camera work was most artful and the colors rich and beautiful.

CBS's news hour was devoted to a reprise of the political debut of actor Ronald Reagan from film good-guy to governor of California and potential presidential candidate. "What About Ronald Reagan?" tackled the subject in the kind of balanced fashion, leaning heavily on facts and television clips of press conferences, speeches and public appearances, plus an assortment of interviews with Reagan's associates, past and present.

The resulting portrait had a bland quality. But now that a presidential year of politicking is upon us, the major networks have that old problem of balance. Documentaries, in fairness, must present a balanced picture. Unfortunately, the balancing often results in a slow-moving TV show.

China Buys Wheat

OTTAWA (CP)—The third sale under a long-term wheat agreement with China was announced in the Commons Tuesday but Trade Minister Winters gave no indication of the amount of money involved.

He said China will buy and take delivery of 2,000,000 long tons of wheat, plus or minus five per cent, in the first 10 months of 1968. The maximum amount under the five-per-cent variation would be 79,400,000 bushels.

The three-year wheat agreement that went into effect Aug. 1, 1966, calls for China to buy between 4,500,000 and 7,500,000 long tons of wheat from Canada.

The latest sale negotiated by Canadian wheat board officials brings the total amount of wheat sold under the agreement to 4,700,000 tons, 200,000 tons over the minimum under the agreement which expires in the middle on 1969.

The sale, negotiated over the last two months, covers the top grades of wheat—No. 1, 2 and 3 northern—and a small quantity of durum wheat.

Mr. Winters said China will pay 25 per cent of the cost of the wheat at the time of loading and the balance within 18 months, with interest.

But he would not say what price the Chinese were paying. He said it has not been the practice to do this in the past because of possible adverse effects on international trade.

Alvin Hamilton (PC—Qu'Appelle) said the Chinese had proved themselves canny bargainers, waiting until world wheat prices fell before concluding the purchase.

In reply to a question by Ron Basford (L—Vancouver-Burrard), Mr. Winters said not all of the wheat will be exported through Vancouver, "but, for some of us in other parts of the country, it will be a disappointingly high amount."

Mr. Winters is a former Nova Scotian who now represents the Ontario riding of York West.

Machinery May Enter Duty Free

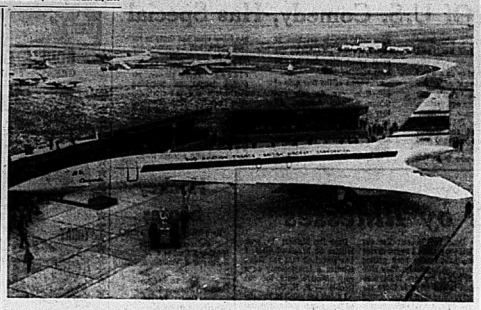
OTTAWA (CP)—A sweeping plan to encourage Canadian manufacturing and service industries to expand and specialize, to meet sterner competition at home and abroad resulting from Kennedy Round tariff cuts, has been unveiled by Industry Minister Drury.

He announced Tuesday the government will set up a high-level five-man board to recommend waiving import duties on production machinery which must be bought abroad because it is not available in Canada.

About 60 to 65 per cent of Canadian machinery imports will be covered by the plan. Eighty-five per cent of it comes from the United States.

Hitherto, importers of such machinery had to pay duties of up to 22½ per cent of the invoiced price, plus federal sales tax.



Under tariff cuts Canada agreed to in Geneva last summer, the top rate of duty will be cut to 15 per cent, starting Jan. 1. In cases in which similar machinery is not available from any Canadian source, the duty will be waived completely.

Application forms have been prepared and are ready for companies wanting to get advance approval for duty-free imports.

Practical factors, rather than legalistic argument, will be important in deciding for approval of individual applications, Mr. Drury said.

Appeals from the committee's decisions can be made to special three-member committees which will be set up whenever required. But Mr. Drury hoped the plan will work effectively enough to cause few if any appeals.

The tariff reductions on machinery, accessories, attachments, control equipment, tools and parts were announced last summer at the conclusion of the Kennedy Round negotiations under the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade in Geneva.

Alewives Called Big Asset

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — Alewives, generally regarded as a problem on the Great Lakes, are actually a "tremendous asset," says Charles W. Huver, associate professor of zoology and curator of fish at the University of Minnesota.

He says wildlife managers should "recognize the alewife as a tremendous asset on which to build a number of sports fisheries" and that suggested crash programs to eliminate the fish should be disregarded.

Huver told a fish wildlife conference Monday that a recent study in Michigan indicated that sports fishing has 10 times the economic value of a commercial fishery, based on the same numbers of fish.

He said that striped bass would be well suited for planting in southern Lake Michigan, and alewives are the preferred food of striped bass along the Atlantic coast, where both species live together.

Carmichael Returns

French School Sought in BC Community

COQUITLAM, B.C. (CP) — A district school board official in this Vancouver suburb says French-Canadians across the nation are watching with interest efforts to have French made the language of instruction in classrooms at nearby Maillardville, a predominantly French-speaking community.

Maillardville, with a population of 8,000 is the largest French-speaking community west of the Rockies. Its schools come under the jurisdiction of the Coquitlam district school board.

E. P. Murphy, school board chairman, made the comment Tuesday night after hearing submissions urging the move presented by the French-Canadian Association of British Columbia.

The brief urged the school board to ask for an exchange of teachers between Quebec and B.C. and for the board to consider French as the language of instruction in Maillardville schools.

Romeo Paquette, who presented the association's brief, said the exchange of teachers would combat the difficulties of recruiting teachers for the community.

Mr. Murphy said later: "We were very interested to hear Mr. Paquette and we are going to discuss his brief and then take it to Victoria."

"I feel that this is a stage with the eyes of all French Canadians watching."

Liberal Says Stanfield Unfair

OTTAWA (CP) — Bryce Mackasey, Liberal MP for Verdun, accused Opposition Leader Stanfield in the Commons Tuesday night of an "unfair and unwarranted reflection on my conduct."

The accusation came as round three in a series of speeches by the two, touched off last Thursday when Mr. Mackasey said Mr. Stanfield had endorsed separatism.

Mr. Pennyfeather, M.C. Mackasey had supported the idea of calling the recent meeting of the Estates General of Quebec "as being a body of serious men discussing serious subjects."

Mr. Stanfield replied last Friday that he doubted whether "anything so poisonous" as Mr. Mackasey's speech had been said in the House for some time.

He suggested that the Liberal caucus should deal with "politically irresponsible people in their ranks" and said the issue of national unity should remain above partisan politics.

Tuesday night, Mr. Mackasey noted that Mr. Stanfield had referred to him as "official hatchet man of the caucus and of the Liberal party." These were hardly words one would expect from a man who was to bring a new tone of debate to the Commons.

The Quebec MP said he had reviewed his speech and found "no apology is indicated." Mr. Stanfield had "over-reacted to what he presumed I was going to say."

Mr. Mackasey said he would not retaliate. He had not intended even to imply that Mr. Stanfield had endorsed separatism.

Mr. Stanfield said he considered Mr. Mackasey's speech had been "an indication that serious men were discussing a serious question in a serious manner."

Mr. Mackasey read several extracts of speeches he had made in the Commons on national unity and quoted praise he had received from various Conservative members for his words.

He said he has "no lesson to take from anyone else in this House" on the unity question. He had been calling for "tolerance and understanding" for several years.

Patient Needs Privacy

CAPE TOWN (CP) — While Louis Washkansky, the first man in the world to undergo a human heart transplant, continued to make "satisfactory progress" 11 days after the historic operation, the doctors who performed it appealed today for more privacy for their patient.

Since Dec. 2, when the heart of a 25-year-old woman killed in a traffic accident was implanted in the 55-year-old South African wholesale grocer, the Groote Schuur Hospital has been overrun by newspaper men and television crews.

"You've had quite a ball," said a hospital official. "Now leave us in peace to get on with the job of saving a man's life."

The spokesman said the grocer "is impatient to be up and about."

Today Washkansky was allowed to dangle his feet over the side of the bed, although he has not been permitted to get out of bed yet.

Washkansky's brother-in-law, Solly Sklar, visited him Tuesday and remarked that he was amazed at how Washkansky looked.

"He said he hoped to be out by Christmas, and that he wanted a party," Sklar reported.

I WISH TO THANK

RICHARD ELLIS

To the Citizens of Belleville:

In the process of public service and decision making, one cannot hope to please everybody, if positions are taken which appear to be in the public interest. Therefore I am very grateful that so many of you were convinced that I should continue to serve you on City Council.

Thank you most sincerely and may the approaching Holiday Season bring you and your families happiness and contentment.

LBJ Won't Let Polls and Elections Influence War Policy

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — President Johnson says he will not be deterred, influenced or inflamed by the Vietnam war critics "regardless of any polls and regardless of the elections."

Departing from his prepared text in a televised and broadcast speech to the AFL-CIO convention here Tuesday, the president said: "I am going down the centre of the road—doing my duty as I see it—for the best of my country."

The representatives of U.S. organized labor roared their approval when Johnson said he would always be ready to hear and act on any proposal for ending the Vietnam war. And their volume increased when he added:

"But in the meantime I want you to know—and I want all Americans to know— that I am not going to be deterred, I am not going to be influenced, I am not going to be inflamed by a bunch of political selfish men who want to advocate their own interest."

The president's pledge to stand firm on his Vietnam policies drew repeated backing from AFL-CIO President George Meany.

"We support you, Mr. President, and we urge you to carry on," said Meany.

The only part of Johnson's speech that met with silence was his plea for voluntary wage restraints, similar to his request last week for price restraint from business.

The labor delegates earlier this week said they wouldn't be bound by any voluntary restraints.

Whee; That's Me!

Listening to their own voices being played back on a slightly-delayed tape recorder is a fascinating and hilarious experience for these two girls. The delay produces an erratic speech pattern. A group of exhibits, primarily for young people, is being tested for the Centennial Centre of Science and Technology at Christmas Fairyland at the CNE Automotive Building. The exhibits will go on permanent display when the centre, in north Toronto, is opened next year. (CP Photo)

Bus Driver Sticks to Ship, Rest Jump

SMITHS FALLS, Ont. (CP) — In the tradition of great naval skippers who don't give up the ship, Justine Doughty of Peterborough stayed with his charge Tuesday night.

But there was a difference —he was driving a bus.

When the bus began to slide backwards down an ice-covered hill toward the Rideau River, Doughty ordered his 12 passengers to jump for safety. They did. None was injured.

Meanlle, the bus crossed a motel parking lot, jumped a curb, crashed through a wooden fence before stopping —with Doughty still at the wheel—its rear wheels hanging over the water's edge.

The Colonial Coach Lines bus was on its way to Toronto from Ottawa when it made a stop at the Smiths Falls terminal, 40 miles southwest of Ottawa.

Leaving the terminal, Doughty started up the steep hill which leads to the street. However, the bus lost traction and began its backward slide.

Doughty, a reluctant hero, said he did not know what he would have done had the bus not stopped.

Point Anne

POINT ANNE — The United Church in Point Anne held a dessert social recently.

Mrs. Gordon Chisholm is a patient at Belleville General Hospital. Mrs. Phil Loft is also in hospital.

Mrs. Milton Abey, Mrs. Percy Abey and) Mrs. Wesley Reid spent a day in Kingston.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Uens and family are preparing to move into the house vacated recently by Mr. and Mrs. Bud Doxtator.

Pontiac Parisienne Sport Sedan

Pontiac styling begins face-on looking like a leader. Our new reinforced peripheral front bumper is bigger, stronger and heavier giving all-round front end protection. The separate, integrated centrepiece can be replaced easily and inexpensively if ever necessary and gives a distinctive look to Pontiac's famous split grille styling.

Neat touch. New concealed windshield wipers are very stylish, more efficient and hidden away so they can't cause glare or reflection. When in use, they clean more glass area than ever, too. Exclusive with GM.

Vinyl-filled protective side molding is a new feature of our Parisienne series. Wards off carelessly-opened doors in parking lots. Color-keyed to exterior.

Style and elegance abound. Luxurious foam-padded safety arm-rests shield the door handles —and are a feature of GM's standard equipment safety package.

You can tell just by looking at a Pontiac it's made with tender loving care. But it's when you find that sharp corners and tough back-roads aren't sharp or tough anymore, that you really discover the difference in a Wide-Track Pontiac. So forget about plain ordinary driving. Come Wide-Tracking. Like our styling leadership, Wide-Tracking didn't just happen. We worked at it. So you could love it.

Government Joins Oil Firms In Arctic Hunt for Minerals

OTTAWA (CP)—The federal government went into the oil and gas exploration business Tuesday by investing at least $8,000,000 in mineral research in the arctic islands.

But the risk—amounting to three hundredths of one per cent of the federal budget—was one worth taking, Northern Development Minister Laing said.

He told the Commons the government is joining with a consortium of 20 Canadian oil companies to explore the potentially-rich mineral acreage of the islands. Permits held by the Panarctic Oils Ltd. amount to 44,000,000 acres or 63 per cent of the islands.

The 20 companies will invest $11,000,000 over a three-year period and the federal government $8,000,000. An additional $10,000,000 may be tacked on to this amount.

Mr. Laing said geologists agree the potential is high and the federal government will hold 45 per cent of the common shares and 45 per cent of the preference shares. The government share will come from its existing five-year northern development fund which already has been budgeted for.

"It's the happiest day I've had since becoming a minister," Mr. Laing told a press conference. The joining of government and private interests was the best way to tackle problems associated with Arctic exploration.

He said discovery of oil "could conceivably change Canada's role ultimately from that of a net importer of oil to that of a net exporter with all the consequent benefits to our balance of payments position and our economic well-being generally."

A statement by the company said scores of thousands of Canadians will have a direct interest in the arctic program as shareholders of corporations involved in Panarctic.

Conservative, New Democratic and Creditiste MPs hailed Mr. Laing's announcement.

Mob Carts Off Postmaster To Prevent Post Office Move

LIBAU, Man. (CP) — Post office officials overcame an emotional storm Tuesday and delivered the mail.

But the events surrounding a decision to transfer the local post office from one store to another across the street aroused many of the 230 mail subscribers in and around this community 35 miles northeast of Winnipeg.

Feelings came to the fore Monday when former acting postmaster Ray Gilson was prevented from signing transfer papers by a mob of 50 that carried him off to a farm to elude postal authorities.

Similar action was planned for Tuesday, but faced with no legal alternative Mr. Gilson was unhindered as he signed "under protest the papers that made the move official.

The people and Mr. Gilson object to the appointment of Ewald Greening as new postmaster in the town, an appointment that also means the postal facilities are now located in his store across the street from Mr. Gilson's general store.

The transfer was completed when postal officials took the mail from Mr. Gilson's store Tuesday and carried it across to Mr. Greening's.

The dispute had its beginning four months ago when Mr. Gilson bought the store and was appointed acting postmaster because the post office was on the premises.

Mr. Greening decided to apply for the job and was successful.

Many of the subscribers, however, feel "they have been swindled," as one of them put it, because no applications for postmaster were invited by the federal department. Those objecting to the new appointment sent a petition to Ottawa, but they claim it was ignored.

Pearson's Resignation Startles Whole Nation

PM Will Quit Next Spring

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister Pearson announced today he has decided to resign as leader of the Liberal party but will continue as prime minister and party leader until a convention selects a successor.

The 70-year-old prime minister dropped the bombshell announcement at a press conference, reading a letter in which he asked Senator John Nichol, president of the Liberal Federation of Canada, to call a convention.

He said the convention is expected by April and that the new leader will take over almost immediately as prime minister.

Mr. Pearson said he will not be a candidate in the next election but will remain as an MP for the life of this Parliament, which was elected in 1963.

He said he had decided it is "an appropriate time to take this step."

Mr. Pearson's resignation has been rumored for a year or more. But when the announcement came, it caught Ottawa with dramatic suddenness.

Among those who have been prominently mentioned as possible successors are External Affairs Minister Paul Martin, 64, Finance Minister Mitchell Sharp, 56, Transport Minister Paul Hellyer, 44, Health Minister Allan MacEachen, 46, and Registrar-General John Turner, 38.

Asked whether he will express any preference about a successor, Mr. Pearson replied:

"I will indicate in no way any preference for a successor and I will have no part in this aspect of party activities."

He said that from his discussions with Senator Nichol he understands it will take three or four months to set up a leadership convention.

Mr. Pearson, replying to a reporter's question, said he had always intended to hand in his resignation this year.

At first he thought he would step down in the spring or early summer but the "pleasant" pressure of Centennial Year engagements prompted him to put it off until now.

Mr. Pearson concluded the press conference with the words: "Well, c'est la vie." (That's life).

He said he does not have the slightest misgivings that cabinet ministers who may be seeking the leadership will stay in Ottawa as ministers and MPs to carry on the government's work.

At another point, he said he does not want to scoop his own autobiography.

He and John Diefenbaker might meet each other on the daily walks in suburban Rockcliffe to discuss how their respective memoires were progressing, he said jokingly.

Mr. Pearson said with a chuckle that he and Mr. Diefenbaker might be members on the same parliamentary committees.

Pearson Announces Retirement

Move Shock To MPs

OTTAWA—Capital Hill reacted with "complete surprise" to Prime Minister Pearson's resignation announcement today.

That was the response described early this afternoon by Lee Grills, Conservative MP for Hastings South.

Mr. Grills also said he felt personal regret at the Prime Minister's announcement at this time.

"It came as a complete surprise. He has led us to believe he would be staying on for some time," added Mr. Grills.

Mr. Grills also said there was a current rumor that External Affairs Minister Paul Martin might assume temporary leadership of the Liberal party before the Spring convention — and thus become acting prime minister.

"I might say I'm particularly sorry the announcement came at this time," said Mr. Grills.

"Mr. Pearson has been the prime minister during Centennial Year and it's a pity this happened so close to the end of the Centennial.

Mr. Grills believed "tremendous pressure" had been recently exerted on the Prime Minister prior to today's resignation announcement.

He said Mr. Pearson had been faced with problems caused by "quite a few empire builders" in the Liberal party.

U.S. Sees Little Alarm if Troops Enter Cambodia

WASHINGTON (AP) — Officials at a U.S. state department briefing Wednesday said the United States would have the sympathetic understanding of major world capitals if it gave U.S. forces permission to pursue Communist troops into Cambodia.

They added there's no plan to attack Cambodia, but that if incidents occurred near her border during "hot pursuit" actions, such incidents would be disturbing but nevertheless understood by governments friendly to the U.S.

Canadian Prime Minister Lester Pearson said he's sure the U.S. knows Canada would have "grave reservation" if U.S. forces pursued Viet Cong into Cambodia.

Canada's position is that this would risk widening the war with other powers getting involved, Pearson told the House of Commons.

Ontario Promised Housing Aid

TORONTO (CP) — The Globe and Mail says Stanley Randall, Ontario's minister of economics and development, is "very encouraged" that the province will receive an increase in federal financial aid for housing next year.

In an Ottawa story, the newspaper says Mr. Randall made his comment after a 45-minute meeting with Labor Minister J. R. Nicholson Wednesday.

Mr. Randall described his meeting with the federal minister responsible for housing as successful, although he declined to discuss any sums of money.

The Globe and Mail says the government will not decide exactly how much Ontario will receive until it knows the requirements of all other provinces, but says the total will likely be more than the $150,000,000 received this year, but less than the $400,000,000 alcohol.

THE WEATHER

Synopsis: The pattern of weather over the greater part of Canada and the United States is governed by a massive low pressure area over southern Quebec and an equally massive high pressure area over the Dakotas and The Rockies. As a consequence all Ontario and the Great Lakes area lie in a westerly to northwesterly flow of increasing colder air.

Reds Halted, NATO Seeks Stable Peace

BRUSSELS (CP) — Foreign ministers of the North Atlantic Alliance agreed today to intensify their East-West disarmament studies, search for more ways of overcoming the division of Germany and pursue attempts to gain a stable peace in negotiations with the Soviet Union.

In a set of principles adopted by all 15 member countries, the NATO Council said in its closing session that Communist expansion has been stopped in Europe and "the political tasks of the alliance have assumed a new dimension."

The council agreed military strength and political solidarity must be maintained to deter aggression and to provide assurance of a climate of stability, security and confidence.

But now the emphasis would be on seeking solutions to problems that lie at the heart of Europe's tensions — settlement of the German issue and mutual reduction of East-West forces.

"The way to peace and stability in Europe rests in particular on the use of the alliance constructively in the interest of detente," the ministers said in their statement of principles adopted after a year-long study of the alliance's political needs by Belgian Foreign Minister Pierre Harmel.

"Sure NATO's a great idea. How else would we get to visit Brussels?"

New Christmas Tree Grows Own Ornaments

PLACERVILLE, Calif. (AP) — A little Christmas tree, pampered for several years, has been sent out into the world to make it on its own.

Developers say the new evergreen — which grows its own "ornaments" — may revolutionize the Christmas-tree industry in four to six years. Its ornaments are decorative cones developed at an early age.

At the request of commercial growers, the U.S. agriculture department asked its Forest Genetics Institute here to experiment with new conifers.

Dr. F. I. Krugman of the institute says the hybridization of two types of lodgepole pine three years ago produced a fairly quick growing, compact tree.

Unlike other commercially-grown Christmas trees, the new pine requires no pruning. It will attain usable size in about six years with little attention.

About 15,000 of the young trees will be exposed to varied conditions to determine the most favorable elevation, temperature, moisture and so on.

Dr. Krugman predicts some will reach the market in about four years and that in about six years large numbers of them will be on sale.

Giant U.S. 'Shotgun' Shells Can Kill Hundreds in Jungle

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Army has started using what amounts to huge artillery shotgun shells against the Communists in South Vietnam, sources report.

Now artillery rounds fired in regular 105-millimetre howitzer pieces spray thousands of dart-shaped steel shafts over broad areas of jungle or open territory.

One well-aimed round can kill hundreds of troops massing for an attack.

Military men report the weapon has been used with lethal effectiveness in such actions as Communist charges against American artillery positions below the demilitarized zone separating North and South Vietnam.

"I've seen reports of enemy soldiers actually being nailed to trees by these things," one officer commented.

Holiday Truce Periods Cut

SAIGON (Reuters) — South Vietnam and its allies have agreed to cut the Christmas and New Year's truce periods to four from eight days this year, Vice-President Nguyen Cao Ky said here today.

Ky said the South Vietnamese government agreed on a 24-hour truce for Christmas and New Year's and a 48-hour truce for Tet, the lunar new year celebrated by the Vietnamese.

'Friendly Action'

High School Board May Sue City, Townships for $21,000

The Bay of Quinte High School Board is considering suing the city of Belleville and Thurlow for non - payment of $21,000 in 1968 school assessments.

The possible "friendly action" arises out of a dispute over the method used in assessing the various municipalities in 1966.

The three municipalities claim the board should have used the 1965 arbitration in assessing the various districts. The department of education and municipal affairs feel the board is correct in using the school set as a guide to the assessment.

The dispute arose when the township of Ameliasburg had an increase in township assessment of more than 10 per cent.

When this happens the previous year's arbitration is not considered, the school board contends. The law apparently states area assessments will be made under a formula which is part of the provincial school act.

The city, on the other hand, claimed in the latter part of 1966 when it was approached for its payment, that such was not the case. They referred to an earlier case in Leamington where the change to the school'sct formula was not legal.

So for the past year the Bay of Quinte Board has been listing the $21,000 as an accounts receivable. Now it wants action.

At a meeting last night the board decided to leave the matter on the books until the new board is appointed — but seemed in agreement that something should be done.

The city of Belleville owes about $10,000, the township of Thurlow about $8,000 and the township of Sidney approximately $3,000.

Mr. Dulmage said the auditors feel the board should "write off" the amount.

At last night's meeting board members were informed they cannot follow this procedure. A letter from the department of municipal affairs claimed the amount should be paid.

Board member James Clarke said if city council voted to pay the amount they might be personally liable for the amount. "I think this is the way their solicitor feels," he said.

The board has received legal opinions on the matter but finds it might have to go all the way to the supreme court to collect the amount. "This could cost between $7,000 and $12,000 one board member said.

Trustee Nels McKibbon claimed the city has already taxed the people of Belleville for the amount and are therefore obligated to pay the money to the board.

So far none of the municipalities involved has gotten together with the school board to try and find an answer to the problem. "The only thing we can do is take a friendly action against those involved or carry it on the books," board member John Flynn said.

"If we went to court and got a judgment it would release everyones involved from further obligation," he said.

Mr. McKibbon claimed the board was not being fair to the other municipalities by not collecting the money.

A board member from Sidney said they were prepared to pay as soon as the city paid its share.

The matter will be again discussed by the new amalgamated high school board when it is appointed next month.

Board May Stop Raises For Instructors

If Bay of Quinte High School Board trustees have their way, Program Five instructors may not receive a salary increase next year.

Apparently some of the Program Five instructors receive more money than an equivalent teacher in the secondary school system.

To rectify the difference raises will probably be cut-off for at least one year.

Board members were informed last night in a letter from the Manpower and Immigration Department that the board had full responsibility and authority over the Program Five teachers.

Superintendent Donald Stirling claimed the board previously was not sure who had responsibility over the instructors.

The instructors were hired by Program Five director E. J. Buckley. A committee will meet with Mr. Buckley next week to inform him of the changes.

Principals May Receive Increased Responsibility

A new budget format, placing more responsibility on Secondary School principals, was accepted by the Bay of Quinte High School Board at a meeting last night.

The budget proposal presented by Assistant superintendent Les Reid would replace the present system in 1968, if accepted by the new board.

The system, patterned from a budget set-up used in the North York school system, would give each principal more control over—purchasing. "It would mean the board would be able to place a lesser amount of attention on detail," Mr. Reid said.

In his presentation Mr. Reid claimed the present system is restrictive and ineffective and more information should be available.

"The present system doesn't let the schools purchase between October and March and this is when most of the principals need supplies," he said.

He claimed the board should set the policy and leave the details to the schools. "The principals would present a list of priorities on a budget. Once his list was accepted the principal would be expected to live within the amount of money available," he said

Mr. Reid said the priorities on the budget must be justified. "We must have faith in our principals and place the money in their hands."

Although the board only approved the format for the new budget system, most members appeared to be in agreement that a change is required.

The Sounds of the Season

The sounds of Christmas music are ringing around Belleville. Striking the seasonal note are these players from the Salvation Army band. They're muffled against the chill night air but their music comes across loud and clear as they canvass door-to-door seeking Christmas donations for the needy.

Cafeteria Changes

The Bay of Quinte High School board is considering hiring a private company to operate cafeterias in two or three schools.

A committee looking into the matter reported at a meeting last night that the lunch counters are losing about $15.-200 a year at the present time. "We served 78,000 meals in 1966 and subsidized each of them by about 13 cents," a spokesman said.

The committee will meet with two of the companies looking for the franchise at a meeting next week.

They may also meet with the present cafeteria staff.

Vandalism at Bata Shoe Forces Display Cutback

TRENTON — Batawa, the shoe making village north of here known far and wide for its colored illumination during the Christmas season, will not be as elegant a scene this year.

According to a Bata company spokesman continuing vandalism resulted in the management deciding against a display as elaborate as other years. Theft of electric light bulbs on the large trees at the entrance by the footwear plant became a serious concern and finally this part of the undertaking had to be abandoned.

The colored lighting on the main plant, however, is out of reach and still very attractive. People from nearby communities who made the trip along Highway 33 to Batawa an annual sight-seeing excursion will not be disappointed.

Proctor Silex Workers Vote To Switch Unions

A majority of the plant's 212 employees approved to switch bargaining representation from the United Mill and Minework-ers to the International Union of Electrical Workers.

The decision now goes to the Ontario Labor Relations for certification of the changeover.

The vote in favor of the switch was 192-20.

Nurse Mentioned by Haig Dies at Belleville Home

One of the few women personally mentioned in field despatches by the commander of British Armies in World War I has died in Belleville.

She is Mrs. Anne Maria Rawson, 19 Yeomans Street, whose death occurred yesterday in her 80th year at Belleville General Hospital.

Born in Manchester, England, Mrs. Rawson joined British Territorial Nursing Service at the height of the war in 1915 and served through until 1920.

In 1916 she was sent to the Western Front to serve at a British army base hospital in France.

During the next two years—the war ended in 1918 — she established her singular record of war service.

Her individual contribution was such that she was mentioned in despatches for "gallant service" by the British commander himself — Field Marshal Sir Douglas Haig.

After her arrival in Canada, she resided at St. Catharines.

Mrs. Rawson had been living in Belleville for the past 38 years, and during that time her outstanding war record also was noted by a local veterans' organization.

She became the first woman air charter member of the Army, Navy and Air Force Veterans Association.

Her death followed a two-year illness.

Predeceased by her husband Arthur, Mrs. Rawson is survived by a son and two daughters.

They the William Rawson, of Belleville; Mrs. Frank (Peggy) Green, of Belleville and Mrs. John (Marian) Mowle, of Ottawa.

Also surviving is a sister, Miss Agnes Williams, of England.

Mrs. Rawson is resting at the Grant Funeral Home, where the service will be held tomorrow at 2.30 p.m. Interment will be in Belleville cemetery.

Walkers Fund Boosted

TRENTON — The generosity of Trenton and District people exceeds the expectations of nearby Glen Miller's long distance walking team of Jim Brennen and George Clarke.

So far the twosome who staged a Kingston to Trenton heel and toe marathon to raise money for the Salvation Army, have collected $331 and a number of promises for more.

On Monday they received their biggest donation from local industry when Quinte Machine and Repair Co. turned over a cheque for $103.

Recently the two men both employed by a nearby paper making company, walked from Kingston to within five miles of Trenton until fatigue and sore feet forced them to give up.

Unfolding the Legend

Ontario School for the Deaf students are preparing to unfold their Nativity pageant for another year. Checking prop scrolls before dress rehearsal curtain time yesterday were Arnold Lewis, Michael Lavigne and John Mackay. They're costumed as tax collectors of Biblical times.

Thurlow Twp. Accepts Church For Area Community Centre

Thurlow township council yesterday formally accepted the Bethel United Church, together with furnishings, for use as an area community centre.

The church, on the 5th concession of Thurlow near Harmony School was officially closed last summer and the Belleville Presbytery will deed the building to the township for $1 on the understanding that it be used as a community centre.

The replacement value of the former church and attached hall would be in the order of $30,000, although the current market value of the property would be considerably less than this figure.

Yesterday's meeting of the township council was the final session of the year with a long business agenda keeping councillors at work from 10:00 a.m. to 8:00 o'clock in the evening.

The last two of a long list of widening agreements with property owners on the 8th concession were signed with Dr. Keith Harrison and E. G. Hanley.

The extra right of way width is required for a road rebuilding program which is expected will be carried out over a period of two years. The initial reconstruction will be from highway 62 east to what is known as Wright's corners, a distances of about four miles.

Council received a request from the Thurlow Township School Board for railway crossing protection on the 5th concession just west of the Foxboro Cheese Factory. Council will request information from CN as to the amount of train traffic over the crossing before mailing application to the Board of Transport Commissioners.

Consent was given for the Belleville Hand Gun and Rifle Club to establish a shooting range on the Hans Raffael farm on the Mudcat Lane.

Township appointments made at the last meeting of the year were as follows:

Moira River Conservation Authority — Cecil Ketcheson; Bay of Quinte District High School Board — Grant Kerr and Douglas McLean; Belleville and Suburban Planning Board — Reeve Carl Thompson.

Party Given for Blind

A special kind of Christmas party marked its second decade in Belleville last night.

The event occured at St. Andrew's Presbyterian church where city Rotarians held their annual dinner fo t h e blind.

Blind residents of Belleville and district were diven to the church by Rotarians and seated at a turkey dinner prepared by the church women.

M. J. Stotesbury, chairman County Advisory Board, noted that the Rotary Club had been sponsoring the event for 20 years.

Rev. Laurie Sutherland, pastor of St. Andrew's, told the guests that the dinner was in the Christmas spirit of sharing.

The Christmas story unfolds for another year at the Ontario School for the Deaf tomorro wright. The succession of colorful cenes are as familiar as the Biblical tale itself. OSD studen ts have been presenting the pageant for more than 15 years.

Nativity Pageant Will Be Presented by OSD Students

One of the world's oldest stories is being retold in Belleville this weekend — by students of the Ontario School for the Deaf.

The nativity pageant is also one of the longest-running events at the school. Unchanged in format, it has been presented at the OSD for the past 16 years.

This year, however, the audience is being brought closer to the action.

Teacher - producer Kenneth Graham has had platforms built into the auditorium in front of the regular stage area and the young actors and actresses move along these aprons almost in the laps of spectators.

A dress rehearsal at the school yesterday — attended by staff and students — showed the innovation to be a success.

Otherwise the Christmas play follows the lines of its 15-year-old tradition.

The cast is chosen from a representative group of students with varying degrees of hearing. To aid the audience, the text of the action is projected on slides as the action unfolds.

The object of the production has a more serious intent than the usual school Christmas play.

For the students, it's an exercise in communication, some of them playing before an audience for the first time.

For the public it has always been an enlightment. Spectators watch, not only a smoothly-unfolding theatrical production, but the youngsters' skilfully overcoming a handicap in its presecutation.

The OSD pageant is being presented tomorrow and Saturday nights.

5 New Homes For Thurlow Twp. In November

Building permits for the construction of five new residences, were issued for Thurlow township during November.

Township building Inspector A. J. Beudrie said construction value for the month totalled $88,600. In addition to the five permits for new houses there were five permits for residential additions and three for garages.

Employees at NE Change Office Union

Members of the Northern Electric Office Employees Association at Belleville yesterday voted in favor of joining the United Auto Workers Union.

Mr. Wilson Curzwell, in charge of organizing for office and technical workers for the union said the UAW will apply to the Ontario Labor Relations Board for recognition as the Northern Electric office workers bargaining agent.

Yesterday's vote to secede from the Office Employees' Association was carried out under section 47 of the Ontario Labor Relations' Act.

More than 85 percent of the office workers attending yesterday's meeting voted to affiliate with the UAW.

Office workers at the London plant of Northern Electric last week voted in favor on joining the UAW.

The 138 member N-E. Employees' Association at Belleville was formed in 1945. The current chairman is John Hatfield.

Housing Crisis

From all accounts the federal-provincial conference on housing has been something of a flop.

It ended a day earlier than scheduled and drew from Ontario Premier Robarts the comment that nothing was achieved to help the province meet the immediate housing crisis.

Premier Johnson of Quebec was a little more optimistic, but he thought there should have been better advance preparation by officials prior to a conference at the political level to discuss matters in principle.

Prime Minister Pearson's proposal for a national advisory council on housing and urban development along the lines of the Economic Council of Canada similarly failed to arouse any enthusiasm.

As the Globe and Mail observes: "Housing has been studied and committe-ed to death."

Or as Mr. Johnson says: "Royal commissions and this type of committee have a perfect mania for not consulting those who have to take the responsibility for implementing decisions . . . It is just another way of governments getting out of shouldering their responsibilities."

Thus, apart from some measures to be undertaken, such as increasing the limits on NHA housing loans from $15,000 to $18,000 for houses and from $12,000 to $18,000 for apartment units the conference offered no concrete proposals to ease the housing crisis.

Ottawa and the provinces will just have to try again.

Boost for Canada

External Affairs Minister Paul Martin is seldom as explicit as he was at the NATO ministerial meeting in Brussels the other day.

When Mr. Martin speaks it is usually to display a mastery of the political art of giving nothing away — saying an awful lot but saying in effect nothing. Shadow but no substance.

In Brussels, however, Mr. Martin evidently was goaded into saying Canada was not going to be pushed around. At least, that was the burden of his statement.

"There is not going to be any breakup," said Mr. Martin. "Canada in 15 years or so is going to be bigger than France or even Britain. Nobody should undersell Canada."

Brave talk for Mr. Martin! We need more people to speak up for us like that. Not just reply defensively when de Gaulle gets up and acts in a meddlesome manner, but rather to present Canada to the world positively and in no-nonsense terminology.

As it is, Canada is the second largest land area in the world after the Soviet Union. We are many times bigger in area than Britain and France put together and our potential is far greater. All we need is people, while still remaining selective with regard to immigration. Otherwise there is the danger of encountering the vast problems of crime and civil disorder that face the United States and to a considerable extent, Britain and France as well.

Meantime, there is nothing wrong in having this land boosted in the manner of Paul Martin in Brussels.

School Board Merger

Amalgamation of school boards in Ontario is now only a matter of time.

There have been some objections to the idea, but it is gradually winning acceptance. One way or another the Government has indicated it is going ahead with its plans in this regard.

If geographic anomalies existed before, some may be eliminated when amalgamation comes into effect. Trenton is a case in point. Split between Hastings county on the east and Northumberland on the west, the town's natural growth, according to committee chairman W. Douglas Whitley, is to the west.

To the east is what he terms the "barrier" presented by the Canadian Forces air base, not to mention the prospect of the town's educational and other needs being "swallowed up" by expansion toward Belleville.

Although only at the discussion stage, Trenton is showing foresight in mapping out possible areas of amalgamation before — as Mr. Whitley warns! — the province suggests something first. In other words if amalgamation is a must, at least the existing educational authorities should have the most say in what form it takes.

As to the curious geography of the Trenton area (similar situations may be found in other parts of the province), Mr. Whitley illustrated it thus: "The way things are now, we have students living practically next-door to Trenton high school, but because they are in Northumberland, they must bus the ten miles back and forth to Brighton every day."

If amalgamation can tidy up situations like this it will be worth while.

Ottawa Offbeat

Americans Shortchanged in Knowledge of Canada

By GREG CONNOLLEY

OTTAWA — Canada is largely ignored in American schools which give more attention to Europe, a survey of U.S. institutions has revealed.

At grades five and six in U.S. schools, Canada gets some attention in geography courses. Also at this level some Canadian history may be taught, integrated with United States history.

The survey of education in the U.S. was made by Dr. Gerald Nason, secretary-treasurer of the Canadian Teachers Federation. He spent two months on the project, visiting New York, Boston, Albany, Chicago, Denver and San Francisco.

He found that in U.S. high schools, broad courses in government or other subjects that might touch on Canada were usually optional.

"They say though that we get mentioned in current affairs discussions."

Dr. Nason said the greatest emphasis in the U.S. as in Canadian schools was on the "good neighbor" aspect of Canada-American relations.

"This in itself creates an unrealistic picture. Americans assume we always see things as they do and should do as they wish."

The tendency, Dr. Nason found, was for U.S. teaching to focus on trouble spots in the world. "If we have enough trouble in Canada, we will get attention."

Dr. Nason believes Canada must make Americans realize "that we are different."

"I hadn't realized this until I made this tour. Coming home was like slipping into comfortable old shoes. Surface similarities are deceptive."

He said Americans were more nationalistic than Canadians. He concluded that in the U.S. melting pot theory, nationalism had been firmly formed.

"The schools and many other institutions are regarded as instruments of national policy and purpose."

Dr. Nason prefers the Canadian mosaic concept. He is opposed to the proposition that Canadian patriotism should be stimulated.

During his visit he was able to deduce that superficially Canadians know more about Americans than the latter do about Canada.

"That's because we hear a lot more from them than they do from us. However we are just as ignorant of their real culture as they are of ours."

Dr. Nason praised American education and thereby knocked down as a "myth" a Canadian belief that U.S. schools are inferior.

"Many Canadians now living in the U.S. told me that the schools teach French better than we do and are more demanding in science and mathematics.

"I have some reservations about the teaching of English, though."

He said teachers in the U.S. school systems were better qualified than Canadians, with a higher proportion holding university degrees.

Dr. Nason was sent to the U.S. by the federal Department of External Affairs because of interest in Canada aroused by Expo 67.

Part of the department's work is to spread knowledge of Canada abroad through books, films and other materials supplied through Canadian embassies and consulates abroad.

"We must persuade American schools to want to learn more about Canada."

He thought this could best be done by working through national organizations of U.S. educators who had publications and links with local schools.

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FILES OF BYGONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO

December 14, 1947

Two new bungalows will be erected on the site of the old John Street United Church which was burned 11 years ago. Aldegman Charles Hyde, local heating and plumbing contractor, recently purchased the lot on which the damaged church stands and will raze the portion still standing to make room for the two houses.

Serious Shortage

Locating A Doctor Stumps Even Toronto's Academy of Medicine

The Globe and Mail

A special feeling of anguished helplessness goes with the experience of trying, without success, to summon a doctor for someone who needs one urgently. Unhappily, it is by no means an unusual circumstance in Toronto—a city which stands in the front rank in some areas of medicine, but where doctors are not easily come by.

Toronto's Academy of Medicine, in a voluntary effort to ease matters, has been running an advertisement in the yellow pages of the telephone book: "If assistance is required in locating your doctor, or a substitute, we will endeavor to help you." The notice is to be withdrawn. The Academy has evidently been no more successful than the rest of us in locating doctors, and the abuse heaped on its telephone operators as a result has often been violent.

The Academy's decision to throw in the towel probably will not make matters much worse than they were, but it is a gesture that carries a rather grim significance. If a medical organization cannot find a doctor for us, who can?

This is, of course, just one more dismaying confrontation with the fact that Canada as a whole is grievously short of doctors, particularly general practitioners, and that very high priority must be given to training them in greater numbers.

Letter to the Editor

Council Broadcasts Are Appreciated by Many People in City

Editor,
The Intelligencer.

I have read in the editorial column that a newly-elected Alderman has suggested that the broadcasting of Belleville city council meetings should be discontinued.

I hope this does not happen. My husband and I are life long residents of Belleville and are getting up in years. I am an invalid and could not attend the Council meetings. A great many working people like my husband could not take the time off in the afternoon to attend either.

We never miss a meeting of the Council—at the radio and we do not have the idea that it is a comedy show. There are some very dedicated Aldermen in the Council, and I am happy that they are re - elected. I am disappointed by one of the new ones elected after reading the editorial recently about discontinuing the broadcasts of the Council meetings.

I, like many thousands of listeners, am now taking a keen interest in the affairs of our city by listening to these broadcasts.

"A WORRIED TAXPAYER".

A Look at University Education

Peterborough Examiner

A St. Catharines university professor made headlines the other day when he told a conference of high school guidance counsellors they should discourage the idea that a university degree is the only ticket to a good life. What surprises is not the professor's thesis, but that his allegation should cause eyebrows to raise.

As he correctly pointed out, some students, bright as they may be, should not go to university. There are today many other kinds of post-secondary education — community colleges, teachers' colleges, vocational schools, apprentices and schools of nursing, to name a few — that, for some, would be far more valuable. Students should not be made to go to university simply because it is accepted thing to do, or because a degree is considered a passport to eternal happiness and prosperity. There are those who derive immense benefit from a university education and there are others, no less intelligent, who are incapable of applying the values of a superior education to their lives.

Portugual Holds on in Africa

Ottawa Citizen

Portuguese Premier Antonio de Oliveira Salazar says Portugal's hold over its African colonies "can endure indefinitely." Salazar, at 78, has ruled his country for 40 years, and has been a dictator much too long to have a flexible mind. A dictator can have scant respect for the rights of others — in Portugal or Africa. He talks the langu- e of force. He raises the bogey of communism — which most dictators of old colonial powers do — to confuse the issue. But the Africans are not pawns to be used in a game of ideology. They are humans with the same rights — including the right to be free, in their homeland — which others enjoy. One by one, the colonial powers have quit their former possessions. Portugal is one that refuses to move with the times.

Belgian Plan Studied

Improved Relations with Reds Possible Goal of NATO

By HAROLD MORRISON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Difficult times appear in store for those political tailors who want to dress up the Atlantic alliance in new clothes. It appears the old lady doesn't take easily to the modern gear of the post-Berlin era.

As the Big Four and other Western powers get down to another intensive review of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization in Brussels next week, the major issue is whether this is the right time to reshape the institution into a central unit to seek a political peace with the Soviet Union and Eastern Europe.

Bickerings of all descriptions appear evident even before the diplomatic and defence leaders meet. As usual France is showing no enthusiasm for joint preplanning with her NATO allies on this particular project. And it is understood some other countries also are beginning to have reservations.

The upshot of all the discussion and continual re-tailoring to meet all opinion may be a plan as politically limp as the current military relations between France and her old allies.

At the heart of discussions are a series of ideas worked out under the over-all direction of Belgian Foreign Minister Pierre Harmel. This is known as the Harmel plan to ensure that the allies have plenty of opportunity to consult each other before they start sweet overtures with the Communist side.

More than that, the Harmel idea is that with NATO as the focal point, the allies agree on some pre-conceived peace approach or even try to do the job as a team, to make sure one ally doesn't make a step that may embarrass another.

Consultations have been a sore point in NATO operations for many years. It is not only a matter of wooing the Communists but of getting advance signals from the most powerful of the Western countries, the steps in other regions—be it Cuba or Vietnam—that could involve or embarrass other NATO members.

Operations to bring peace to Cyprus are reported to have been fairly well-r ar ranged. There was much efficient consultation suggesting this could be accomplished in other fields. But neither the U.S. nor some other Western powers want to be completely tied to multilateral decision-taking.

The U.S. now suggests that perhaps the European side of NATO may want to form a caucus of its own, as part of a reconstituted Western alliance.

Th.i would mean the European allies would have to reach a consensus of their own in order to engage with the U.S. as a full partner.

The absence of such a consensus under current conditions are slim. Britain and France are barely talking to each other. The hope among some countries is that this is only temporary and that conditions will change once President de Gaulle vacates the French leadership.

Meanwhile, the alliance may be forced to daily, marking time while some of the allies compete with each other for Moscow's attention.

Central Bankers' Gold Strategy Puts Squeeze on France

LONDON (AP) — A new strategy in the world gold market emerged Wednesday to protect the dollar and possibly put a squeeze on France, chief opponent of the United States in the international monetary wars.

The broad aim of the strategy, worked out last weekend at a meeting of central bankers, with France excluded, is to channel gold sales through the official international pool in London and freeze out speculators.

Since the Bank of France has dropped out of the pool, the French and their shaky economy may have to bear the brunt of private speculative hoarding. That means the French could be forced to put up their own resources or back down in President de Gaulle's fight against the U.S. dollar.

As the new plan became known, first indications were that speculators already were beginning to be frozen out of their past sources and were returning to the Paris gold market, or to less serious speculation in silver.

Central bankers of the seven members of the gold pool met in Basel, Switzerland, last weekend—these seven—the United States, Britain, Switzerland, West Germany, Italy, Belgium and The Netherlands—are pledged to co-operate in supplying gold buyers from their own reserves at the official U.S. price of $35 an ounce.

Reports of the Basel agreement first leaked out in two of London's leading newspapers, The Times and The Financial Times. They were later confirmed in broad outline by official sources, but there was no public statement. Under the new plan, the central banks of the seven gold pool countries have agreed to ban gold sales on credit or for future delivery. This ban limits the speculators' manoeuvring and has in fact been in force in London since the gold rush began just after the 14.3-per-cent devaluation of the pound Nov. 18.

In addition, the gold pool members agreed to restrict all sales to other central banks except through the pool. That would give the pool members a chance to scrutinize all potential sales and refuse orders which result from large scale speculation. The policy now is to supply only legitimate requests for gold to back up currency.

Removing A Beauty Spot

Time has run out on a downtown beauty spot, on East Bridge Street, temporarily donated three years ago to the city's Jaycees and the Horticultural Society. Walls and buildings behind the patio area have been found unsafe and the owners have ordered them removed. The little park must make way for the project and last night Jaycees John Morton, Bob Johnston and Doug Baldwin moved in to start the job.

CALVERT OF CANADA LTD., MONTREAL • TORONTO • VANCOUVER

How Calvert found a new way to make rye incredibly smooth.

The name of the rye is Grand Prix. We made it incredibly smooth by making it dry.

And we made it dry by discovering a new way to make rye without any cloying sweetness.

This makes Grand Prix a full-bodied rye so smooth you can actually sip it straight. And like it.

Nobody ever made a rye as smooth as Grand Prix before because nobody ever knew how. It took Calvert ten years to do it, and naturally our Master Blender is pretty proud of it.

But try it yourself. In ten seconds you'll know why he's so proud.

Calvert Grand Prix. The world's first dry rye.

Husband Resists Holiday

Dear Doris: My husband and I are in our late fifties. I had always looked forward to when we would be alone again and yet not too old to enjoy ourselves and do a lot of things we had dreamed of when we were younger and poorer.

The problem is I can't get my husband to take a holiday. When I mention planning one he hits the roof and accuses me of not understanding. Well, I don't! Everyone else in the firm seems to be able to get away on holiday, but whenever we have one planned, something seems to interfere. I am beginning to think my husband likes his work more than he does anything else in this world.

Do you think I would be selfish if I took off on vacation alone? I have relatives overseas whom I would love to visit. I am very outgoing, and would have no trouble traveling alone. I would prefer my husband to come along, but don't feel like letting time pass without doing something about it and then perhaps regretting it later if my health were not good and I was unable to go.

Do you think I'm out of my right just shake my husband up and he would agree to come along.
— Young Grandma

Dear Grandma: And so it might. But go anyway. It's later than he thinks. If he should capitulate and find himself on deck when they pull up the gangplank, I'm betting he'd have the time of his life.

All too often an older couple finds that one day finally think they can spare the time and money to take a trip, all their energy has evaporated. Go!

Dear Doris: I am to be married this coming summer, but I haven't got too much knowhow about the planning of it. I have no parents to get help from.

Who would I get to walk me up the aisle? Would it be proper for the bride and groom to walk up the aisle together? I've seen it done, but is it acceptable? — Uncertain Bride

Dear Bride: No. Symbolically, the arm on which the bride leans belongs to the one who is to give her away. Lacking a father, look around for someone to fill his shoes: a brother male cousin, uncle, family friend.

Dear Doris: I am 14. Mostly all the other girls have a boy friend. Then at dances, they have a boy to fool around with.

I stand away from the crowd, unless I ask a boy to dance. Is this proper?—Feeling Left Out.

Dear Left Out: Sorry, no. Not unless it is ladies' choice.

But you'll get there. Some girls take boy-girl talk right in their stride from the start; they may be used to having brothers around. My "Tips on Talking" may have an idea or two for you. This ten-cent leaflet will be on its way to you when you send me a name and address, a stamp and ten cents.

Leaflets mentioned by Doris are available to readers for ten cents and a large stamped, self - addressed envelope, unless otherwise specified.

Points for Parents

By MARY BRYSON

Child: "Where are my puzzles and coloring books?"

Mother: "Oh dear, I forgot to bring the sack of toys Jimmy always takes when he spends the afternoon here."

Child: "Grandma doesn't have any toys to play with."

An afternoon without toys can be an adventure. A house is full of things a small child will enjoy doing.

Grandmother: "I don't have any toys but there are plenty of things we can do. We'll start by straightening out my sewing box. I'll thread a darning needle and you string all the black buttons for me first, and then the white buttons . . ."

Grandmother is an adventure. A house is full of things a small child will enjoy doing.

Lemon Slices for Entertaining

By MARY MOORE

A competent and independent caterese of my acquaintance offered me the recipe below. She said she always gets "raves" when she serves it at Teas and Gala Openings. I was able to offer her some help so this recipe is a "thank you".

(Received on the day I made it I had guests coming for a belated birthday party,I used it for a "birthday cake". I had to line the pan with double heavy wax paper to lift this mixture out of the pan after without cracking. I transferred it to a silver tray and put four short candles in four small candle sticks—although the birthday girl-is in her fifties—and there was my birthday cake.)

RUTH'S LEMON SLICES

Base:
1 cup stirred but unsifted all-purpose flour
1 tbsp. baking powder
1 tbsp. butter
1 tbsp. shortening
1 egg

1 egg white
¼ cup granulated sugar
1 tbsp. melted butter
2 cups shredded or desiccated cocoanut

To make Base cut butter and shortening into flour and baking powder with pastry blender until size of small peas. Stir eggs in until blended. Press evenly into buttered and lightly floured 8 x 8" square pan.

To make Filling into a saucepan grate the apple and immediately mix in sugar to prevent browning. Add remaining Filling ingredients and cook, stirring all the time until it thickens and boils. Remove from heat.

To make Topping beat egg white stiff, gradually adding sugar as you beat. Add melted butter and cocoanut and mix well.

Pour warm Filling over Base and spread evenly. Cover Topping mixture over and with tines of fork spread it to cover Filling evenly.

Bake at 350 deg. Fahr. for 40 to 50 min. or until firm at centre and evenly pale gold all over top. Cool in pans and mark into 2" squares.

Highly recommended. Clip this now for Christmas entertaining when Topping could be decorated at even intervals with quartered maraschino cherries.

Filling:
1 large apple pared and grated on ¼" shredder (I used a Mac)
½ cup granulated sugar
1 large lemon, juice and finely grated rind
1 tsp. butter
1 egg

Topping:

Ann Landers

Adopted One Resents Continual Questioning

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm a steady reader who was adopted at birth. For the 50th time I've been asked by a "friend" if I ever wonder who my real parents are. How can I get it through their unthinking heads that I am living with my real parents?

ANN LANDERS

Is there some set rule that says parents must be through the motions of explaining? Where does love come in? I mean no disrespect my natural mother but I often thank God for putting me into the hands of the wonderful people who raised me. It was a lucky break.

I don't think I've said this very well, Ann, but I've been wanting to say it for a long time and I feel like a million dollars, now that I've said it. Thanks for the opportunity. — NO STRANGERS LIVE HERE.

DEAR NO STRANGER: What a wonderful letter! It sounds as if someone has done a beautiful job of making you feel wanted and loved. Cheers for the whole family.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Recently you published a letter from a woman who was bemoaning the fact that she was overendowed. When the salesgirl saw her coming, they used to sigh, "Good grief, here comes old D-cup!"

You answered by telling her about a survey made in your office which revealed that 19 out of 11 girls said they would rather have too much than too little.

Surveys don't help the women whose bra straps cut into her shoulders like knives because they are carrying such a load. Surveys don't help the unfortunate girl who can't wear sweaters or scoop neck dresses or clingy fabrics and is called by nicknames you couldn't print in your column.

Why didn't you tell the women who wrote that the super-blessed females can now be helped by surgery? The operation is not dangerous. The surgeon merely removes the fatty tissue and the woman emerges with normal measurements.

So many problems are insoluble. When one comes along that can be solved, I should think you'd be happy to pass the word — BEEN THERE.

DEAR B.T.: You are right. The surgery you describe has helped many women. I was aware of the procedure and I should have suggested it. My apologies to all whose cups runneth over.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: The letter from the teen-age boy who signed himself Pressure Cooker was especially interesting to me.

When our son Bob was 14 he came to me and said he didn't know what to do about his "terrible temper." Bob expressed himself much in the same way as the boy who wrote. He described his uncontrollable feelings of anger and confessed that he had once kicked the dog because someone had been nasty to him at school.

I bought a big rubber barrel at the hardware store and told Bob that whenever he got mad to go to the basement and kick the barrel.

It worked wonders, Ann. "Kicking the barrel" became a family affair. When my husband and I had a disagreement we would go down to the basement together and kick the barrel. There were times when that barrel did the job of two marriage counselors!

Our "little boy" is married now, and when we asked him what he wanted for a housegift guess what he asked for? The barrel. — PROBLEM SOLVED.

DEAR SOLVED: The barrel idea is well worth imitating. Thank you!

White Cane Club Enjoys Yule Party

The Kiwanis Centre was the scene of a gay Christmas party and Tuesday evening when members of the Kiwanis Ladies' Auxiliary were hostesses to the White Cane Club.

President Clarence Morris welcomed the large gathering and Mrs. Maude Rollins played for the opening songs.

Wilma Blaind announced the names of members having a December birthday and Lillian Bridge won the draw.

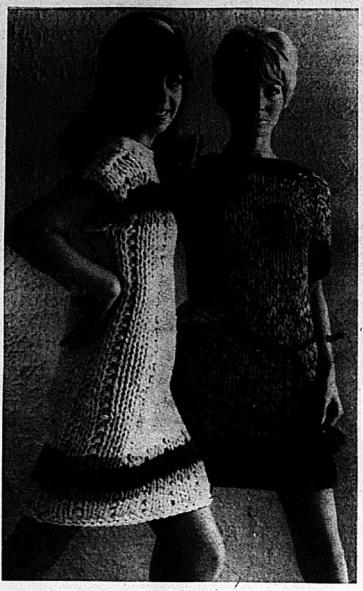
Christmas greetings from Mary G. Patterson, national president of the C.C.B. and from Jack Bews, Kingston, president of the Ontario division of the C.C.B. were read.

A letter of appreciation to the Club for its generous donation to the Centennial year project was read from Mr. George P. Neal, executive secretary of the Canadian Council of the Blind.

The Quintebelles barbershop singers entertained with favorite songs and a number of carols. They also led a most enjoyable sing-along.

Harvey Bailey expressed thanks for the enjoyable entertainment.

The winners of the contests were Pat Baverstock and Clarence Morris.



Soft drinks were served during the exchange of gifts between the members.

The Kiwanis group served special Christmas refreshments and also presented each member with a box of chocolates. George Zimmele thanked the women for a most enjoyable party and for their kindness during the year.

President Clarence thanked the Lions Club for transportation and extended season's greetings to all.

Newest Fad in Knitwear

Knit a dress for the weekend tonight? You must be joking! With these new jumbo knits anything is possible. The craze sweeping Canada is the dress you can knit yourself in six to eight hours using 2¼ inch needles and four to six strands of wool. Be creative, choose your own colors and patterns, mix and match, be as wild, as psychedelic as you like and be sure no one else will be dressed the same. These two are simple stocking stitch, one belted with a contrasting hem and the other white with two bright stripes. Both dresses were made using "Jumbo" needles and Canadiana pure virgin wool hand knitting yarn.

Spring Bridal Gowns to Accentuate Curves

MONTREAL (CP) — Despite the attempts of some fashion wear designers to disject the female form into unbelievable shapes — without bustlines, with no hips or with misplaced waists — the creators of spring bridal gowns are accentuating the natural curves.

The grace and elegance of the Victorian era, highlighting candlelight tones, satin and lace, marked a spring selection of gowns and headpieces previewed Wednesday by Portrait Gowns and Bride Beautiful.

One gown, described by commentator Edna Jewett as a "baby doll bridal gown," featured yards of filmy ragamuffin.

Re - embroidered alencon lace formed the bodice and fragile pleating fell gently to the elbow.

Flowers were evident on many gowns and appeared in clusters to form neckbands and wristlets, with several selections featuring hand-painted lace daisies sprinkled on flowering trains.

A gown, simply called Candlelight Splendor, achieved the candlelit glow through the use of overlaid white ragama on the same fabric champagne-tinted.

Another unusual gown was a dramatic Caftan sweeping into a graceful train. Fashioned from Chiny cotton lace, the gown was bordered with Venice edging.

LSD Can Cause Physical Damage to Unborn Child

OTTAWA (CP) — The drug LSD can cause serious physical damage to children born to mothers who take it during pregnancy, and produce mutations that can deform future generations, the Academy of Medicine of Ottawa was told Sunday by an internal medicine specialist.

Dr. Owen Kealey, 37, who teaches at the University of Ottawa, compared the drug's effects to those of radiation or thalidomide.

The public is not sufficiently aware of the drug's physical effects, he said. The layman had no access to the considerable information appearing in medical literature on this matter.

takes the drug—lysergic acid diethylamide—during early pregnancy is risking the physical well-being of her child, Dr. Kealey said.

The drug was compared to radiation exposure in that it produced similar abnormalities in one white blood cells.

Fourteen of 17 "users" of LSD, studied by Dr. Namoides Cohen, a geneticist at the State University of New York, and reported in the New England Journal of Medicine, bore out this conclusion, Dr. Kealey said. The cell changes in the "users" were similar to those seen in victims of the Hiroshima atomic bomb explosion. One of the 17 "users" with the abnormal cells had been on only LSD "trip."

"LSD goes right through the placenta of the pregnant woman to the child like thalidomide," Dr. Kealey said.

Like thalidomide, LSD is only dangerous during the first three months of pregnancy, he said.

U. S. Court Dodges Atheist's Challenge

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A German-born woman who says she is an atheist will be granted U.S. citizenship because a judge has ruled that, under the law, she isn't an atheist.

U.S. District Judge Warren J. Ferguson ordered the government Wednesday to administer the oath of allegiance required for naturalization to Mrs. Elfa Kuhe Nomland, 53.

Mrs. Nomland has been a research associate at Occidental College for 15 years. She testified Tuesday she considers herself an atheist because she doesn't believe in a supreme being.

"To me, Nomland's belief is an ordered universe, one that was created by any human beings or animals, qualifies as religion," the judge said. "That's the same as believing in a supreme being."

Ferguson's ruling avoided another issue raised by American Civil Liberties Union lawyers for Mrs. Nomland. They argued that the oath of allegiance of naturalized citizens, with the mention of belief in a supreme being, is a religious oath and violates the constitutional guarantee of freedom of religion.

Hidden Enemy Terrorizes Louisiana Oil Fields

LAFAYETTE, La. (AP) — A hidden enemy is carrying on a strange guerilla war against the $1,000,000,000 oil industry of southwest Louisiana. Dynamiting pipelines, oil wells, service stations and communications lines.

Twenty-two times in the last two years dynamite bombs have exploded in the secrecy of night, causing damage roughly estimated at $1,000,000.

Resulting tensions have cost two lives.

One of the most recent blasts, a bombing of a 22-inch pipeline near Gueydan, La., Oct. 3, prompted the Texaco Oil Co. to post a $50,000 reward. No one has offered information to claim it.

The enemy is unnamed, his motives unclear. Only meagre clues have been found at bombed sites. And counter-measures taken by state police and sheriffs of 10 counties have not achieved a single arrest.

Disturbed citizens have formed committees, pooled their money and hired private detectives.

One drilling contractor has armed his 22 employees with shotguns.

The big oil and gas corporations have tightened security and joined civic leaders in offering rewards totalling $80,000.

"There must be 3,000 wells in southwest Louisiana," notes one industry spokesman. "We can't have a man at each well 24 hours a day.

"What can we do? Nothing!" State and local investigators note that because dynamite can be planted hours before it is detonated, a bomber has ample time to escape. The only clues discovered so far have been a pocket knife, a piece of clothing, packing from fuses and items similarly difficult to trace.

Privately, officials of oil and gas companies theorize labor is trying to organize the largely non-union producing companies —firms involved in exploring and drilling for gas and oil—and is harassing the big refining and distributing corporations which continue to use the small, local contractors.

A state labor-management commission, formed during the summer by a special session of the Louisiana Legislature to solve frequent and expensive disputes between unions and business in the state, has a team of investigators in southwest Louisiana.

Labor leaders vehemently deny the charges.

"We have not nor will we ever be a part of or condone the recent and past dynamiting tactics," says the Lafayette Central Labor Council (AFL-CIO). The council says it based the statement "due to rumors, false allegations and accusations in certain quarters that organized labor is responsible for these activities."

The Oilfield Workers Union disclaims any involvement with violence and bombings in southwest Louisiana.

The shock waves of blasts and deaths can be felt by the owner of a small business as well as executives of big gas companies.

"Investors are afraid to come into the area," says Wilfred Begnaud, head of the Association of Industrial Improvement and president of the Lafayette Chamber of Commerce. "I would say the economy of the area is already damaged, in what degree is hard to say."

The mineral-rich area, heavily dependent on the oil and gas industry, is the land of the Cajun—a hot and swampy flatland inhabited by people who speak a French patois as readily as English.

A miscellaneous shower was held in the Queensboro school on Saturday evening in honor of Miss Elaine Thompson, a December bride-to-be.

Mrs. John H. Alexander left on Sunday to spend a few weeks with Mr. and Mrs. Harry Fry and family in Peterborough.

Elizabeth Musselman, 21, of St. Catharines also was charged with having a short-barrelled shotgun.

Police said they found the short-barrelled shotgun, 16 shells for the gun and two 18-inch bicycle chains in a car when it was stopped here Dec. 11.

The three accused appeared before Magistrate U. R. H. Kirkpatrick Monday and had for the men was set at $500 each. Mrs. Musselman was released in the custody of her parents on her own recognizance to return to court.

Wednesday, Magistrate Kirkpatrick reduced Corbiere's bail to $300, although Cyr's remained at $500. All three were remanded until Dec. 20 for a trial date to be set.

Within 30 minutes of the ball reduction, a local Satan's Choice member and the president of the St. Catharines chapter bailed out the two men.

First Princess was stranded overn ight in the wet and cold of a grounded tugboat, now nobody wants her. When the tug Irving Beech went aground near New Waterford, N.S., recently, Capt. Norman Bowman, above, and his crew were rescued, but in the confusion Princess was left behind. The following day, Capt. Bowman, who says he is not particularly fond of dogs and thinks a ship is no place for them, pole-vaulted from shore to the pitching tug to rescue Princess. # Ontario NDP Caucus Votes Support Of Bi-Bi Commission Recommendations

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario New Democratic Party caucus Wednesday criticized the federal government for failing to solve the housing crisis and rapped the provincial government for destroying unions.

The party, which has 20 members in the 117-seat legislature, endorsed the major recommendations of the first report of the royal commission on bilingualism and biculturalism.

After three days of meetings, the caucus decided "the collapse of the federal housing conference indicates the complete inability of the federal government to come up with solutions to the housing crisis."

In addition, Premier Robarts made a "naive demand" for $400,000,000 in federal funds to meet Ontario's housing needs but "failed to spell out how that money would be put to work."

The federal-provincial talks ended in Ottawa Tuesday after two days of talks.

Caucus chairman Stephen Lewis (Scarborough West) told reporters the provincial government's Home Ownership Made Easy plan has proved "hopelessly inadequate" for persons making less than $8,000 a year and "it has done nothing to end land speculation."

Mr. Lewis said Mr. Robarts, having had his request for federal funds turned down, now has an excuse for taking no further steps to solve Ontario's housing needs.

NDP Leader Donald MacDonald said the province's decision to take over the administration of city and county jails Jan. 1 has upset guards at Toronto's Don Jail who do not want to become civil servants.

The guards five years ago "escaped" government control by becoming members of the Canadian Union of Public Employees instead of joining the Civil Servants Association, Mr. MacDonald said.

The government assured them they could remain in CUPE for another year, he said, but after that their future representation was uncertain.

The caucus called on Premier Robarts to state how the provincial government feels about the B and B commission recommendations.

It called on the provincial government to introduce without delay simultaneous translation facilities in the legislature.

Meanwhile, the NDP members have resolved to "work at acquiring some facility in the French language."

None of the NDP members confesses to being bilingual although Mr. MacDonald, who attended a Protestant separate school in Montreal and married a French-Canadian, has a working knowledge of French.

The caucus also called on the provincial government to establish French-language instruction in secondary schools where the demand exists.

"The government has already stated the principle, but Sudbury provides a perfect example of their failure to implement it," Mr. MacDonald said.

"When the Sacred Heart College was closed earlier this year, we tried in vain to secure from the minister of education some commitment to work with the Sudbury board in providing French-language instruction.

"Now is the time to translate principle into action."

PEI PC's to Pick Leader

CHARLOTTETOWN (CP) — Prince Edward Island's Progressive Conservatives will hold a convention to select a new leader before mid-March.

Retiring leader Walter R. Shaw and the party president Ivan Kerry, announced the convention here Wednesday.

Mr. Shaw, who will be 80 this month, has led the party since 1957. He announced Oct. 10 that he wished to retire.

At a news conference Wednesday, he said: "There has been no pressure on me to retire. I have reached the age where one should consider retirement."

Bilingualism Essential In Marchand's Opinion

QUEBEC (CP)—Manpower Minister Jean Marchand said Wednesday night the future of Confederation depends on the acceptance of bilingualism by English Canadians.

Mr. Marchand spoke before members of his federal riding association, where his targets ranged from Quebec separatists through President de Gaulle to the City of Ottawa's attitude toward bilingualism.

The manpower minister said nothing in the first volume of the royal commission report on bilingualism and biculturalism is unreasonable.

The report urged, among other things, official bilingualism in the federal government administration in Ontario, New Brunswick and Quebec.

Mr. Marchand described the report's recommendations as "a minimum."

He said at one point:

"I am personally convinced that if English-speaking Canadians are not ready to accept the recommendations . . . then I would find that there is no solution in the federal system.

The leader of the Quebec wing of the federal Liberal party said French and English Canadians share the common problem of being dominated economically by the United States. The most effective way of counter-balancing this American influence was by working together rather than by separating.

He attacked separatists as "outdated dreamers" who are struggling to free Quebec from "a British Empire which is dead and which no longer bothers anyone."

The real problems included training Quebec youth to adjust to technological change.

He poked fun at the French president by saying Gen. de Gaulle had come to Quebec urging Quebecers to liberty while in reality in Canada "there is more liberty than in France.

Slaves of Television

The 'Young Generation' Appreciates Comedy on the Tube

By STEVE BISHOP

Marshall McLuhan, the communications prophet, is fond of referring to television as the "cool medium." Certainly, it is one of the great phenomena of our phenomenal age.

Today's young generation has grown up with television just as the generation before it grew up with radio. And it has been suggested that the youth of today have become "slaves" of television—spending an unhealthy amount of time parked in front of the magic tube.

For a localized opinion on this subject, we went to Belleville teenagers with a series of questions aimed at finding out just how much allegiance today's youth do owe to television.

Four questions were asked:
1. Approximately how many hours of television do you watch each day?
2. What type of program do you prefer?
3. Do you watch television as a habit, or do you watch it because it interests you?
4. How does it affect your studies?

This week's comments were chosen from among those given by Quinte students, previously unheard from in this column.

Kathy Kerruish, 17, watches about two hours of television each day, and prefers comedies, movies and sports. "No, TV is not a habit, and I only watch it if there is something on that interests me. It does not affect my studies."

Paula Murphy, 17, watches TV as much as four hours each day, and enjoys comedies and horror movies. "I watch it because I enjoy it. But," she confesses, "sometimes I watch it just for something to do, and it does lessen my time for doing homework."

Vern Cook, a Grade 12 student, watches four hours of television per weekend, usually football games. "I watch it because I like it," he claims "It only cuts down my studies by four hours."

Barb Belzey, 17, watches two hours of television a day, and enjoys comedy shows; she cites the Smothers Brothers as an example. "I like it and I do not watch it unless there is something interesting on. No, TV does not affect my studies."

Lyn Montaigne, also 17, gets in about two hours of television per day, and likes variety shows and movies. "I watch it if there is something interesting on," she said, "and not just to pass the time. No, it does not affect my studies."

Our final comment comes from Grade 12 student Marilyn Townsend, who watches about two hours of TV a week and enjoys movies. "I watch TV only when it is worth watching, and it does not affect my studies."

These comments would seem to represent a least a partial rebuttal of the idea that teen-agers are "slaves" of television. The question cannot really be answered here, of course, and we aren't about to get into a discussion on the quality of television programming.

Trenton High Sets Precedent On Testing

By NANCY MISENER

TRENTON HAS done it again! First THS took the lead in reducing the number of exam sets from three to two. Now we have set a precedent with the adoption of the 70 per cent system, by which all students obtaining an average of 70 percent or more on their January exams will be eligible for exemption from the final June exams — providing this average is maintained through the remainder of the year.

This idea is particularly beneficial in that it will leave students open to more creative endeavors — such as demonstrations for the complete abolition of all exams. The possibilities are limitless.

We will be the first, however, to admit that this system does create new problems. For example, what are we to do with all the leisure time that we now have on our hands? Students and teachers are working day and night in an attempt to solve such a difficulty, and as a result of their endeavors we have now adopted the house and letter systems.

Both are designed to give every student the opportunity to participate in all activities. According to the letter system, a student may obtain points for his individual letter — through academic, athletic club, and intermural activities.

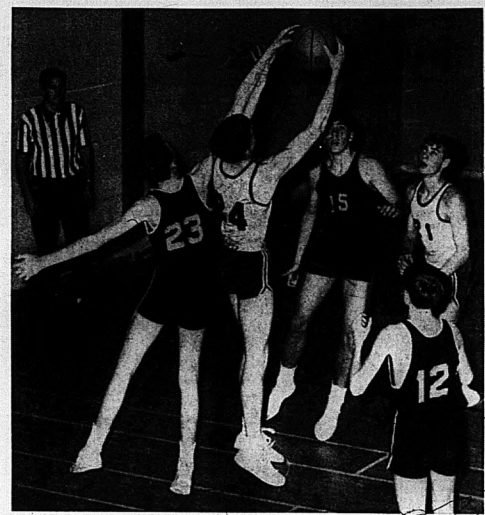
IN CONTRAST, the house system is designed to encourage students to work together in teams. There are four houses with equal representation of every grade in each.



Under the leadership of student captains, team mates work together to obtain points for their house. Rivalry between the houses has sparked new interest in debating, drama and intermural activities and has revived school spirit to a new high.

There is even a rumor going around that some students are beginning to enjoy school life, but please don't repeat it.

IN THE MIDST of all this activity, Christmas is rapidly descending upon us. But never fear, the grade 13's are here! Already they have begun to combine their many talents for the presentation of a never-to-be-forgotten Christmas assembly, and for the festive decoration of their "rumpus room".

So if you happen to be passing by and see engraved in snow on the windows, "The end is nigh," don't panic. It's not a prophesy of the death of the world — only the extinction of exams. It's their way of saying "Merry Christmas!"

Moira Exams Start Dec. 18 For Grade 13

By STEPHEN HUNTER

THE TENSION IS building up at Moira this week for the Grade 13 students. While all other schools were writing exams, we were enjoying ourselves with our normal schoolwork, but the stage is set for Monday, Dec. 18 and there is an obvious and understandable uneasiness. The exams will end on the 22nd for most but some of the more fortunate ones are finished on the 20th.

This week at school everything was centred around the IIA's vs teachers soccer game. This game was postponed several times to give the staff time to get ready and also to allow the student team to promote support of the game. To this end, an assembly was featured and the IIA team was introduced. It was great fun and it worked in turning out a large cowd Friday night for the game.

THE OPENING seconds of the game saw the teachers go ahead 2-0 and it looked as if the students had no chance of winning. Then, with a tremendous rally, three quick goals were slipped past Mr. Batman Cowie, who was the star of the show as he swung out onto the playing area dressed-fit his Batman garb. After the students tasted the lead that was it for the teachers and the final score was a close 7-6.

The height of excitement came in the dying seconds of the game when Mr. "Mop" Marshall got a breakaway and shot wide of the net. However Mr. Marshall scored 5 of the teachers goals, the other being scored by "Batman" Cowie after he was pulled from goal. For the victors, Bob Cygitary accounted for 4 singles from Bill Probert, Dennis Chadwick and Bruce Hine.

The proposed winter carnival is moving ahead and committees are being formed so that after the holidays everything will be ready for the go-ahead.

The carnival will include many fun things, like pancake eating contests and perhaps a boy's cake baking contest. More news of that will come when I get the details.

Students Participate in NCC 1968 Year Book Production

By DONNA WHALEN

THE EXCELSIOR — Nicholson's year book — is going to be something very different this year. It was formerly a tradition at NCC that Sister Mary Fleurette and a small student group would compile and compound the information for the yearbook.

It was also tradition that at the end of the school year, Nicholson students would receive a yearbook intellectual in content and invaluable in meaning. The students have always been grateful to Sister Mary Fleurette for her production of this treasured book.

Because she is now concentrating on drama, she is probably pleased to be relieved of the task. This year there will be many more students participating in the project.

"THE 1967 - 68 yearbook will be almost entirely devoted to the students," said Miss Cassidy, the staff-adviser of the club. The editor, Chuck Meagher, explained that this year's book will have a hard cover and will be composed of the usual individual photographs and classroom pictures.

Action and candid shots will be a special feature of this new book and it is hoped that a camera guy will be sold so that students can demonstrate their own skill in the art of photography.

ON THURSDAY evening, Dec. 21, the student council and the various clubs will jointly present the annual Christmas party for NCC students. The 'Sands of Time' will be playing and several activities such as skits and sing-songs will be held during the band's intermission.

An added attraction, and one which should prove interesting, will be an initiation of all the teachers. Oh — sweet revenge! Admission to the party will be a can of food or a quarter — that's all — and the proceeds will go to the needy in the Quinte area as a Christmas present from the students.

WITH ONLY last - minute preparations yet to be completed, it can be said that Nicholson's student lounge has materialized from a dream to a reality. The room will be opened for the students' use by the end of this week and they will find the casual atmosphere appropriate to their tastes.

Details of the lounge can't be disclosed as yet since the student lounge committee wants their project to be a surprise but students are whispering from one locker to the next that they have heard there may be a ping-pong table.

We'll have to watch for this!

Youth Dressed as Girl Centennial Attraction

By SUE ELLIS

LAST WEDNESDAY the Girls' athletic society had our first "slave" day. Girls were not behind a screen, so that only a silhouette could be seen, and then were auctioned off one at a time.

The biggest attraction was Larry Fell, honorary member of the GAA. Dressed in a passionate pink two-piece, this turned-on mod-nick went to the highest bidder . . . Faye Ellis. Each slave ended her day with blisters and a sore back.

• • •

FROM THE Carl Sandburg presentation's director our student body received a great compliment: "We have played four high schools and of the four you are the best audience we've had." CSS heartily thanks the cast and hopes to see them again soon.

On Friday the geography club sold fudge at lunch Aren't the dentists lucky?

The girls health and physical education classes have made hundreds of dolls and puppets in foreign costume. As was done last year these are given to the firemen for Christmas gift-giving.

Keyettes Decorate Halls

BCI Cheerleaders Are Champs

By ANN McCORQUODALE

OUR CHEERLEADERS have done it again! For the second straight year, they have captured the cheerleader championship.

On Saturday afternoon, they competed with five other schools in the Quinte district and finished in first place with 35 points ahead of the second place Trenton squad. Each team was required to do two cheers which were judged on originality, enthusiasm and style.

BCI's bantam girls' basketball team walked off with top honours in the tournament also held at Picton on Saturday. They played against stiff competition but finally won the trophy after defeating Quinte in the final game. Congratulations to Mrs. Cole and her fine team.

ONCE AGAIN the Keyettes are planning to decorate the halls of BCI with holly and evergreen. Each year these girls do a fine job decorating the school and I am sure this year will be no exception. The Keyettes also intend to sell candy canes and mistletoe so watch out girls!

Due to the unfortunate illness of our music teacher, M. Temple, the band has been under the able supervision of Mr. Hammer.

M. Temple hopes to be back after Chistmas. Meanwhile, the band and the Glee Club have been practising for the annual Christmas assembly.

Heart Machine Hailed As Major Advance

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. public health service researcher unveiled Wednesday a simple new artificial heart device they described as a major advance over existing ones.

Officials said the machine has a number of advantages over that of Dr. Michael Debakey, developer of the world's first successful device to do part of the work of the heart.

Both the new device and that of Debakey take over some of the work of the heart's left ventrical, the main working and pumping muscle. Both are designed to aid temporarily patients in danger of heart failure.

Dr. Lester Goodman of the health service said so far it has been implanted only in calves and needs further development before it is ready for use on humans.

Marshall Turner, a mechanical engineer who built the machine, said he believes the research team is close to overcoming the problems.

Turner told a press conference that the big advantage of the new machine is that it provides a smooth flow of blood. He said this should eliminate the main problem in the palsating machine developed by Debakey—that of blood clots. Some clots have become fatal to heart-assisted patients, Turner said.

Debakey, a surgeon at Methodist Hospital in Houston, Tex., performed the first successful operation using the heart-assisting machine last Aug. 8.

Greek People Forced King to Take Stand Claims Actress

Greek-born actress Melina Mercouri said here Wednesday she is "anxious and concerned" about the possibility of civil war in Greece, and added: "If there is a civil war, I would like to go and fight."

The actress, stripped of her Greek nationality earlier this year by the Athens military junta, hailed reports that King Constantine is heading a movement against the regime.

"We asked King Constantine to break his silence a few months ago. Now I believe the will of th Greek people forced the king to take a stand for democracy.

"If the king fights for true democracy and true freedom in Greece, welcome to the king, and we will support him."

Miss Mercouri, who reached stardom in the movie "Never on Sunday," is now starring on Broadway in "Illya Darling." She made her statements in the office of her New York theatre. During the interviews she expressed fright, worry, approval at and hope as reaction to the news of King Constantine's intent to oust the ruling military junta.

GENEVA (AP) — The International Press Institute, in a report prepared before Wednesday's developments in Greece, said "the poisoning in public opinion is now complete" in that country."

The report said Greek censorship, imposed when a military junta took over in April, intensified in August with the installation of a new press controller, Col. K. Vryonis.

"His telephoned instructions to publishers are backed by intimidation and the direct threat of imprisonment," the Institute said.

Instructions issued in October forbade the publication of any reports on Vietnam which could be interpreted as anti-American, or of any articles showing in a favorable light the life of Communist countries. Editors were told to refrain from comment on Greek political parties and leaders.

The institute, an organization of journalists and publishers on five continents, sent a member of its secretariat to Greece to gather information. He talked with officials and editors.

Senators Lash Out in Dispute Over Death Penalty Abolition

OTTAWA (CP) — Angry words flew in the Senate Wednesday over the government's bill to limit the death penalty, as the debate acquired the same vehemence that had marked the bill's earlier passage through the House of Commons.

The capital punishment bill was expected to reach a vote on second reading, approval in principle, in the Senate today.

It would eliminate the death penalty for all but murderers of policemen or prison guards for a five-year trial period.

"Let us prove that we have come out of the jungle," Senator J. Harper Prowse (L—Alberta) said in appealing for support of the bill. "Let us show that we have some hope for the future of mankind."

The House of Commons, meanwhile, wound up its debate on Finance Minister Sharp's special, tax-increasing budget.

The government's budget resolutions, to make the necessary changes in the tax laws, are expected to come up in the Commons today. The budget, introduced Nov. 30, placed a five-per-cent surcharge on personal income tax and raised the excise tax on beer, spirits and tobacco by 10 per cent.

In the upper house, Senator Gunnar Thorvaldson (PC — Manitoba) said Canada is witnessing its worst period of gangsterism and "it would be utter folly for Parliament to relinquish the community's final weapon in its war upon crime, namely, the death penalty."

Senator Hartland deM. Molson (Ind—Quebec) described the capital punishment bill as "an unsatisfactory compromise on principle."

The government also came under heavy opposition fire for its handing of the federal - provincial housing conference here Monday and Tuesday.

Acting Speaker Herman Batten rejected a motion by Reid Scott (NDP — Toronto Danforth) for an emergency debate on the national housing crisis. He stated that, under House rules, there was ample opportunity to discuss the subject in the budget debate.

Mr. Knowles said the housing conference was a "colossal failure," ending abruptly when many provincial premiers got up and left.

Labor Minister Nicholson declared the early windup was due to overtime sittings, not premature departures.

During the Senate debate on capital punishment, Senator Thorvaldson said the consensus expressed by the House of Commons in April, 1966, when it voted to keep the death penalty, "is still the consensus of the Canadian people."

Now the Commons had committed an act of folly in reversing itself only 18 months later, Senator Prowse asked what could be done to a murderer that would restore life to the victim. Senator Jacques Flynn (PC — Quebec) challenged him to "come down to earth." Senator Thorvaldson asked him what he would do with the murderer.

"Let the mob cry, because we are beginning to understand something of the nastiness that makes people hang people," Senator Prowse said.

Senator Joseph A. Sullivan (PC — Ontario) maintained that the death penalty is a deterrent, and a more effective one than life imprisonment.

"Prisoners condemned to death will do their utmost to have their sentences reduced to life imprisonment, although this might mean long periods in solitary confinement and the like."

Senator John M. MacDonald (PC — Nova Scotia) said putting murderers to death is no way to protect the sanctity of human life. He had no sympathy for murderers but executing them lessened the "moral fibre of the nation" and lessened respect for the state.

Senator M. Wallace McCutcheon (PC — Ontario) said he favors full elimination of the death penalty and, like Senator Molson, is unhappy about compromise embodied in the present bill. He would vote for it, however, as it was likely to be the only step towards abolition for a long time.

Airport Crime Outlined At Committee Hearing

NEW YORK (AP) — The traveller moving through Kennedy or La Guardia airport sees bars, restaurants, ticket counters and airline lounges—all bright and orderly. What he doesn't see behind the facade is a jet age jungle of criminal activity.

New York harbor, the busiest in the United States, long has been a domain of labor-racketeers, a stronghold of men and thieves. Now the underworld is reaching out, as well, for control of metropolitan airports.

A veteran police official at Kennedy airport, who asked that his name not be used, described it as "a thieves' paradise."

A state investigation commission hearing, in its third day today, has taken testimony about mounting racketeer control over the handling of 620,000 tons of air freight, worth $8,000,000,000, which annually moves through Kennedy and La Guardia. This compares to 68,000 tons a decade ago.

The phenomenal rise in the air freight business has attracted Cosa Nostra members, the commission has been told. Teamsters Union local officers were pictured as enforcing a near monopoly in airline cargo handling by a mob-controlled amalgamation of trucking firms.

The Teamsters' weapons, according to testimony, are the wildcat strike or the informal picket line by which, in the words of one witness, "they could close down the whole airport."

Among names mentioned at the public hearing in the state office building across from New York's city hall was that of Johnny Dio, 53, a labor racketeer with long-standing connections in the Teamsters Union.

Dio, whose last name original-ly was Diogiardi, was sentenced last Monday to five years in federal prison for bank rupicy fraud. He is free on $100,000 bond pending appeal.

Paul E. Kelly, assistant counsel to the investigation commission, testified that in 1955 Dio set up a paper local that became Teamsters Union Local 295.

Arbitrarily, Kelly said, drivers, platform men and warehouse workers servicing the airports have been forced to switch from other Teamster locals to Local 295. Its president was John McNamara, 42 old Dio cohort who resigned last year when the investigation began.

His successor is Harry Davidoff, and both officers have been linked by the commission to the Cosa Nostra.

McNamara invoked the fifth amendment against self-incrimination 16 times Wednesday, rather than answer questions. Davidoff's questioning was postponed until Dec. 19, in the absence of his lawyer.

Over the years, Kelly testified, the Cosa Nostra began moving in on the Metropolitan Import Truckmen's Association, representing about 70 trucking firms with Teamster Contracts that serve the airports and the waterfront.

Airlines suddenly found themselves barred from doing business with any but MITA truckers. Alvin A. Schwisier, representing the air freight interests of 30 airlines, testified: "The airlines were called by Mr. Davidoff and in essence told it would be very difficult to have their air cargo handled in New York if they used non-association members."

Firms attempting to breech the MITA monopoly, witnesses said, were beset by wildcat strikes of Local 295, or had truck wheels mysteriously fall off while the vehicles were in motion, tires ice-picked or slashed, windshields smashed by rocks or sugar poured in gas tanks.

Thomas A. Gannow, station manager for Emery Air Freight Corp., said he was told by a subcontractor, Howard Wofzy, that "to operate out of Kennedy, I will have to pay $5,000 to Davidoff."

Wofzy subsequently took the witness stand to deny he ever paid off Davidoff and to say that Gannow "doesn't know what he is talking about."

Wofzy did testify that he paid "a $2,500 initiation fee to join MITA, and $300 in yearly dues."

Another witness, Arthur C. Gibbard, an independent owner-driver, attempted to explain what he regarded as the logic behind Local 295's co-operation with MITA. He said: "The union can put up picket lines, but the only way the association could apply pressure would be to use a little muscle, and that would bring things out in the open."

Tales of mounting air freight thefts also have been cited by witnesses.

In the last year, there have been 45 major robberies at Kennedy airport, with only a small percentage of more than $2,000,000 in loot recovered.

Tobacco Paradox Goes Unanswered

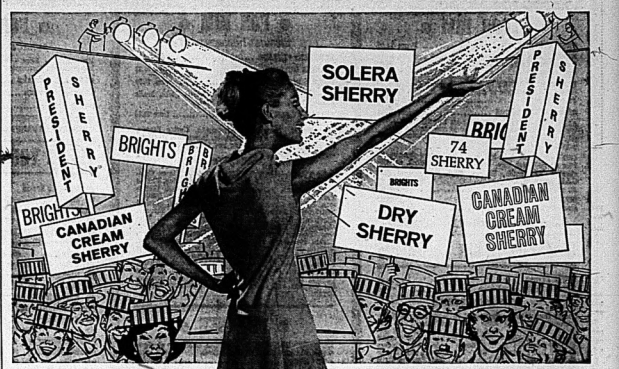
OTTAWA (CP) — A quizzical look at federal policy on smoking was taken in the Commons Wednesday as Finance Minister Sharp's new tax on tobacco was discussed.

Chain-smoking Harold Winch (NDP — Vancouver East) asked why the health department spent $128,000 to publicize the dangers of smoking while the federal agriculture department was spending $450,000 to improve tobacco production.



"Will you explain this peculiar paradox?" asked Mr. Winch. Finance Minister Sharp didn't. He replied that "it could be said" the tax increase was aimed at discouraging the use of tobacco.

"You haven't got my point," said Mr. Winch, repeating the question. "Come on now, what's your answer."

"That's something I want to say about spirits," interjected Marcel Lambert (PC — Edmonton West).

Jack Roxburgh, Liberal member for the tobacco - country riding of Norfolk, tried to gain the floor.

But Deputy Speaker Herman M. Batten gently noted that while the MPs had been talking about the tobacco tax, the resolution in question dealt with "spirits." Liquor and beer taxes also have been increased.

SLICE SPORTS

By Geo. H. Carver
Sports Editor

Professional sport — the dirty variet — has hit the pan a blow beneath the belt. With the changing fashions it is hard these days to discover exactly where mildafy's belt is located.

However it is just a figure of speech spawned during the old bare-knuckle bezing days when the ping-ogling would gain advantage with a swipe below the addelt.

In other words it is a foul blow and the gals who indulge in athletics are going to resent it.

The mere males who sit in authority in the ranks of the professional sports mighty have decreed that a comely lass Kathy Kusner has no place aboard the poop deck of a thoroughbred equine while in the throes of racing.

Over some in London, a 34-year-old housewife decided to take up soccer refereeing, passed all necessary examinations and was promptly given the heave-ho by the blokes.

Miss Kusner, it is reported, was denied the privilege of becoming the first femme jockey because of all things — she decided to retain her amateur status and not accept any of that filthy lucre associated with the professional type.

The racing moguls held up their hands in horror. An amateur in track racing? Egad and gadzooks this would be an insult to the sport of Kings.

Why, back in the days of Henry the Eighth the knights indulging in rare jousting for the royal pleasure saw the winner tangibly rewarded. Either a handkerchief from mildafy's bodice or a drumstick from the royal dinner plate.

Ever since Mother Eve decisioned Puppa Adam in the Garden of Eden pinta, women have played a prominent part in sports.

They have been notably successful in the equine field. Some of the best riders in the world have been and are women.

The French didn't question the amateur status of Joan of Arc when she applied to enter the Orleans Stakes. Carrying an impost of a quarter-ton of armor Joan headed the field only to lose the race and her head in the bargain.

I don't see why the bigwigs of top racing don't want the little women to straddle a nag. I do not think the horses will object. Gad, who knows what a whiff of French perfume wafted into the nostrils of a galloper will do. Or the pre-"race" words of a little lad.

They've had some marvellous effects on some of the two-legged mules I know.

But this soccer business is different.

Mrs. Pat Dunn, a Bow Bells matron figures she is just as good as some of the whistle-tooting arbiters who roam the playing fields.

Perhaps she did it just for the kicks. In any event the blokes who hyalintrut the English Football Association turned thumbs down on her request. And Blimey, if she aint talkin' the bloody matter to no one less than Queen Elizabeth.

She's a brave gal, no matter how you look at it. Of late the world soccer fields have been the sites of bloody action, battle-looting, referee-baiting and rush business for the hospitals' emergency wards.

She might better get herself a "barrer" and promenade' along Piccadilly wailing "Cockles and Mussels Alive — Alive-Oh."

She'll be far better off sitting in the Pig-And-Whistle sipping a spot of gin and cheers than in a hospital bed wondering what hit her, a lorry or a two-decker bus.

Sport Miniatures

CARDIFF (Reuters) — A try after 68 minutes by fat winger Tony Steel enabled New Zealand All Blacks to master their unbeaten tour record with a 3-3 draw against Test Wales in a Rugby Union match Wednesday. East Wales led 3-0 at half-time.

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP) — Mickey Vernon, manager of Vancouver Mounties of the Pacific Coast League, has been dismissed as a defendant in the $75,000 damage suit brought by catcher Merritt Ranew of the Seattle Angels. The suit here was filed as the result of a fight during a baseball game.

WINNIPEG (CP) — Canada's eastern national hockey team will be bolstered by four players from its western counterpart Saturday when the club meets Moscow Selects in Hull, Que. They are Jean Cusson, Herb Pinder, Ray Cadieux and Brian Glennie.

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — Oakland Seals purchased forward Larry Popein Wednesday from New York Rangers and assigned centre Joe Szura to Buffalo Bisons of the American Hockey League. Popein will arrive from Vancouver of the Western Hockey League.

Feathers Battle for Title

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Featherweight title contenders Antonio Herrera of Colombia and Raul Rojas of San Pedro, Calif., meet in a 15-round fight tonight. The winner will be recognized in California as the successor to the retired champion, Vicente Salsivar.

Herrera, who claims a record of 47 ring victories and seven defeats, is recognized as the No. 1 challenger for the vacant crown of the 126-pound division by the World Boxing Association.

But the WBA refused to sanction this as a title bout, presumably because Rojas has not fought in the featherweight ranks since 1965.

Bench-Boss Beliveau Sparks Habs

By GRAHAM COX
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Jean Beliveau may have started a new career with Montreal Canadiens Wednesday night as he led them to a 6-2 victory over Boston Bruins in one of five National Hockey League games played.

The big centre didn't play. He was behind the bench, replacing coach Toe Blake, who was tossed out of the game after the first period by referee Bill Friday.

Blake protested too strenuously a goal scored by Ken Hodge that gave the Bruins a 1-0 lead.

JOHNNY BOWER

It appeared, to him, the Bruins had too many men on the ice during a line change and delayed penalty.

Beliveau, still is recovering from a severe knee injury, was not dressed for the game and handled coaching duties for the final two periods when Blake continued arguing the goal between periods and was ejected by Friday.

In the other games, Toronto Maple Leafs took a 2-1 loss at the hands of Pittsburgh Penguins, Chicago Black Hawks battered New York Rangers 5-2, Minnesota North Stars blanked Los Angeles Kings 4-0 and St. Louis Blues dropped Oakland Seals into the Western Division cellar 3-1.

The Canadiens had the run of the play throughout the game with Boston goalie Gerry Cheevers handling 16 shots in the first period and 39 in the game compared with 22 by Montreal's Gump Worsley.

Less than four minutes after the opening faceoff, Ted Harris of Montreal and Gary Doak of Boston squared off. The incident had all the ingredients for a repeat of the Pier Six brawl the two clubs engaged in when they last met at Boston. Cooler heads intereceded, however, and the skirmish was the only time players threatened to forget the game.

Jacques Lemaire scored twice to lead the Canadiens with single goals going to John Ferguson, Ralph Backstrom, Danny Grant and Carol Vadnais. Phil Esposito scored Boston's second goal.

The Penguins ended Leafs 11-game winning streak at home when Ken Schinkel tipped in a deflection midway through the first period after Art Stratton had scored earlier against Johnny Bower who was tagged with a tripping penalty and misconduct in the third period.

Ron Ellis scored for Toronto, bouncing the puck in off goalie Les Binkley to give the Leafs an early 1-0 lead.

Stan Mikita scored twice and assisted once with Bobby Hull getting a goal and assist as Chicago moved into a second-place tie in the Eastern Division with Toronto, three points behind Boston.

The goals were numbers 16 and 17 for Mikita and moved him into fourth spot in league scoring. But Hull, with 25 goals and 13 assists in 28 games, still leads all scorers.

Ken Wharram and Chico Maki scored the other Chicago goals while Bob Nevin got both New York goals.

At Minneapolis, Cesare Maniago registered the first shutout of the season for Minnesota and kept Los Angeles within range of Philadelphia Flyers in the Western Division.

The Kings, division leaders by a point over the Flyers, are idle tonight when Philadelphia meets St. Louis Blues. In tonight's only other game Chicago is at Detroit to play the Red Wings.

The shutout was the third of Maniago's NHL career with the other two coming while he was with New York.

Wayne Connelly scored two for Minnesota and Bob Woytowich and Parker MacDonald one each.

FRANK MAHOVLICH

Gary Sabourin scored his first two NHL goals to pace the Blues out of the western cellar as St. Louis won its third straight game—the team's longest win streak of the season.

Jim Roberts scored St. Louis' opening goal and Alain Caron hit for Los Angeles with the Blues a man short early in the third period.

Oakland is expected to dress centre Larry Popein Friday against Boston after bringing him up from Vancouver Canucks of the Western League where he's spent the last seven years.

On the basis of his seven goals and four assists in 25 games this year, the Seals purchased Popein and assigned Joe Szura to Buffalo Bisons of the American League.

Bower Gets Tabbed

'Oh Johnny How You Can Shove'

TORONTO (CP) — "It was the worst call of my career," an enraged John Bower said after he took tripping and misconduct penalties for dumping Andy Bathgate Wednesday as Toronto Maple Leafs lost a National Hockey League game 2-1 to Pittsburgh Penguins.

With Bathgate skating in on him all alone, Bower went out to check the 35-year-old former Leaf and was called for tripping when Bathgate sprawled into the end boards.

Incensed, Bower trailed referee Bob Sloan to centre ice and picked up the misconduct—along with the mandatory $25 fine—for prolonging his protest.

"It was a very close call with my stick," explained Bower after the game. "I do it all the time when I come out after the puck. "I've never before got a penalty for it. Bathgate did go down, but only after he ran over my pad in the collision."

Even Bathgate was surprised Bower got the penalty, and added:

"Funny thing, I knew what he was going to do, but he did it so fast . . . he swept my feet right from under me.

"I was on my backhand and out came that snake of his. It nearly swept me off my feet."

Not happy with the call against Bower—"What's John supposed to do?"—Toronto coach Punch Imlach was more unhappy about Leafs losing their fourth game to an expansion team

"All I know is that this hockey club sometimes drives me nuts.

"We're not scoring. A lot of times we're not even hitting the net."

But in the visitor's dressing room, Pittsburgh coach Red Sullivan was elated over the Penguins' first victory against a veteran team.

"My defence, they were great," he cheered. "They didn't give the Leafs too many chances, they moved the puck and they covered well. But I didn't think the Leafs played up to par.

"However you can't overlook Schink (right-winger Ken Schinkel who scored the winning goal). He's a helluva forward.

"He's the guy I wanted so badly in the draft that I could taste it." Ron Ellis filtered the first goal of the game for Toronto and Art Stratton tied it for Pittsburgh in the second period.

Schinkel deflected a shot from the point by Noel Price between Bower's legs in the third period.

NHL Scoring Leaders

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Working on one of the hottest streaks in the National Hockey League, Stan Mikita of Chicago Black Hawks is moving to challenge for the league scoring lead.

The all-star centre now has gone nine games with at least either a goal or an assist and Wednesday scored twice and helped on another as the Hawks dropped New York Rangers 5-2.

But his 17 goals and 15 assists for 32 points are still well off the pace set by team-mate Bobby Hull, who had a goal and assist to bring his total to 38 points on 25 goals and 13 assists in 28 games.

Between them, John Bucyk and Fred Stanfield, both of Boston and who were blanked Wednesday, Bucyk has 25 points on 18 goals and 17 assists and Stanfield 23 points on nine goals and 24 assists.

Bob Nevin of New York was the other two-goal man among the leaders Wednesday, moving into the top 10 with 26 points on 11 goals and 15 assists.

Gervais-Phillips Curling Duel Shapes As Battle Of Wits

TORONTO (CP) — The final match in the top section of an international curling tournament today shapes up as a battle of wits.

The victor will meet the winner of section B, which has rinks that have lost one game in the eight-rink double-knockout tournament, in the bonspiel final at 8 p.m. EST Friday.

But the emphasis now centres on the Gervais-Phillips match scheduled for 2 p.m.

Wally Ursuliak, lead for Gervais, is considered one of the finest players at that position in the world. Dave Manning, who plays second for Phillips, has been called one of the steadiest players at that position.

Toronto third, John Ross, has been one of Ontario's leading skips himself for half a decade, while the Edmonton third, Merv Mann, is also considered one of the top skips in Western Canada.

Phillips has Keith Reilly at lead and Gervais has Bob Hawkins at second—both considered capable shot makers.

Both rinks have the strongest among the eight rinks that began the five-day tournament Monday.

So, the match boils down to a battle of the masterminds—Gervais and Phillips. Both skips think their way through every rock to the button, they say. And both men feel it is the psychological effect that their team creates over the other that wins them the tight matches.

Gervais disposed of former world champion Ernie Richardson of Regina 13-5 in eight of the regulation 10 ends Tuesday and knocked off U.S. champion Bruce Roberts of Seattle Easter Wednesday. Roberts conceded after six ends with Gervais leading 16-1.

Meanwhile, Phillips skipped his foursome to a 13-6 victory over Scottish champion Chuck Hay Tuesday in nine ends and defeated former Canadian champion Terry Braunstein of Winnipeg 8-7 in an extra-end match Wednesday.

Braunstein played in the two most exciting matches of the bonspiel which is sponsored by the CBC.

He defeated Doug Wankel of Elbow, Sask., 6-5 Wednesday in an extra-end affair with runner-up in last year's Canadian championship, missed a draw to the four-foot that would have won him the game on the 10th end.

Braunstein never got the miss from Phillips in the Toronto-Winnipeg match.

Braunstein was forced to draw to the four foot to tie the game with the last shot of the 10th end and force the extra end. He attempted to place a rock past Phillips in order to steal the necessary point on the 11th, but the Toronto rink didn't miss and Phillips wrapped it up with an open takeout on his last shot.

Meanwhile, Hersh Lerner of Winnipeg and Hay were eliminated Wednesday.

Lerner lost 11-4 to Roberts in the opening game Monday and was eliminated 9-6 by Richardson Wednesday. Hay lost his second game 7-3 to Wankel.

Wankel was scheduled to meet Roberts in the Section B semi-finals at 2 p.m. today, while Richardson played Braunstein. The winners will meet at 8 p.m., with the victor meeting the loser of the Gervais-Phillips match Friday.

The final game of the tournament between the winner of A and B sections will be played at 8 p.m. Friday. A second game will be necessary if the Section B winner defeats the A champion.

Ski Down, Here's A Kop!

GENEVA, Switzerland (AP) — Ever been handed a speeding ticket by a cop on skis? It could happen in the not too distant future.

An assembly of international lawyers met recently in the Swiss resort of St. Moritz to draw up a ski code of do's-and-don'ts on the slopes. And the Swiss government, concerned about the greatly increased number of skiing accidents, is ready to give it full backing.

It's based on the highway code, so law-breaking skiers will soon be getting the same penalties as law - breaking drivers.

Speeding, reckless overtaking, lack of consideration for others, failure to control your skis—even being drunk on them—are some of the offences you could be charged with.

Some Swiss resorts already have police officers patrolling the slopes on skis. Now, many more are likely to be introduced throughout the Alps. Other Alpine countries are watching developments in Switzerland and are expected to follow suit if they are effective.

One of the main problems in the case of accidents is pinning the blame on someone, especially because insurance often is involved. This is because there are at present no laws to govern behavior on the slopes.

Memphis Shaded By Wings

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Rick McCann scored a pair of second - period goals to lead Fort Worth Wings to a 4-3 victory over Memphis South Stars Wednesday night. That boosted the Wings' Southern-Division lead to six points over Oklahoma City.

Bob Charlebois scored Memphis' first goal in the opening period, but McCann sandwiched his two around one by Nick Libbett in the second period for a 3-1 Fort Worth lead. After Sandy Snow hiked it to 4-1, George Sanders and Sandy Fitzpatrick scored within 25 seconds of each other to account for the final total.

Buckaroos Defeat Amerks

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Gerry Pinder scored two of the Western Hockey League beat Rochester Americans of the American Hockey League 4-0 Wednesday night, sending the Amerks home with a 3-2 record on their swing through the West.

The interlocking game was the only one scheduled Wednesday in either league. It counts on both teams' season records.

Portland pulled out to a 2-0 lead in the first period on goals by Doug Messier and Larry Leach.

Two more goals came in the second period on shots by Mel Pearson and Cliff Schmautz.

The Bucks preserved goalie Marv Edwards' second shutout of the season, despite the fact that Portland was short two men because of penalties during the last 1¼ minutes of the game.

North Stars Recall Charlebois

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Minnesota North Stars announced Wednesday they are bringing up Bob Charlebois from their Memphis farm team.

Charlebois, 23, is the No. 1 goal scorer in the Central Pro Hockey League with 15. The 5-foot-11, 176-pounder was purchased from Montreal last June in the National Hockey League's expansion draft.

Andre Pronovost will be sent to Memphis. He had been called up to fill in for injured Bill Goldsworthy.

Trojans, Saints Stop Trenton, Picton

The Moira senior Trojans overpowered Trenton to the tune of 69-37 at Moira last night to prevent a clean sweep by the visitors who took the ladies and junior games by respective scores of 42-34 and 60-43 in Bay of Quinte basketball play.

At Quinte last night, the Moira juniors were guests from Picton. The Quinte seniors took a 60-52 decision, the juniors won their contest by a score of 55-33, and the bantam Saints clobbered Picton 68-14.

In the senior game, Moira caught fire immediately and jumped to a 24-6 first-quarter lead. The Tigers outscored Moira by two points in the second quarter, but still trailed 28-21 at the half.

The Trojans continued to dominate play in the third quarter and led 55-33 going into the final eight minutes. With Moira mainstays Bill Probert and Fred Chalmers fouled out, Trenton pulled to within 12 points by the end of the game, but never seriously threatened the final outcome.

Lindy Swan led Moira with a superb 26-point scoring effort and some fine defensive play. Bruce LaRue also played a strong two-way game, and collected 15 points, while Ted Noble did well to wind up with 12 points.

Ron Pinke, with 19 points, and Paul Desmoreau, with 14, were the strongest performers for Trenton in a losing cause.

The Moira juniors sorely missed the services of Paul Hayes, now ineligible, in their game with Trenton. The Trojans led 19-17 at half-time, but began to slide in the third quarter, when they lost their high scorer, Rob Rolston, on fouls. Trenton controlled the boards and outhustled Moira to roll up the victory.

Speros Kanellos paced Trenton with a fine 22-point effort. Lou Nicholson with 12 points, and Ron Heaslip, with 10, were other Trenton standouts.

David Thompson's 16 points were high for Moira, while Rolston had 13 before fouling out.

A smaller, but hustling, Trenton bantam squad took advantage of Moira errors to come back from a 2-point deficit at the half for their win.

Danny Dow led the victors with 15 points, with Jerry Teeple getting 12 points. Jim Wiggins led Moira with 12 points, and Don Haselton had 11.

Tykes Battle

Also with the tykes the Wings defeated the Kings 6-4; Seals and Bruins tied 1-1 and the Hawks stopped the Penguins by a 4-1 score.

Hiram Walker's Special Old Canadian Whisky is blended first, aged later. That's what makes it Special.

So special, in fact, that no one is allowed to enter our blending room except the handful of people who belong. After all, there's a whisky being born in there.

Because a whisky is born when it's blended. (Most whiskies are blended just before they're bottled. Like maybe last week.)

But Walker's Special Old was blended long ago. The very day that its ingredient whiskies were distilled. They were carefully and painstakingly combined. Preblended. To reach that elusive point of perfection that creates Walker's Special Old. Only then were they sealed in white oak casks. To age and mellow. Together. The result is incomparable bouquet, flavour, and character. So people say the longer, more difficult route to make Walker's Special Old. Because how else could we call it Special?

Holy Toe! Blake Gets Heave-Ho Then Watches Canadiens Win

BOSTON (AP) — Coach Toe Blake got thrown out of a game for the first time in his National Hockey League career, but his Montreal Canadiens gave him some consolation by rallying to defeat the first-place Boston Bruins 6-2 Wednesday night and tighten the East Division standings.

"I've never been thrown out before except in amateur hockey," Blake said of his banishment for protesting too vehemently that Boston had an extra skater on the ice when Ken Hodge scored the game's first goal in the opening period.

The confusion arose while penalties were being served for both teams in the wake of a mild brawl. Boston suddenly wound up with a 5-4 manpower advantage and scored, bringing forth violent protests from the Montreal bench.

Blake leaped up and down for several minutes before play was resumed. When the coach berated the officials again at the end of the period, referee Bill Friday threw him out. Friday said he took the action because Blake had cursed at him.

Despite the protests, the postgame consensus of most observers was that the Bruins in the penalty box had come back at the correct time, and that the Canadiens were left short-handed only because they failed to put their own fifth skater back when they legally could have.

Whatever the technicalities, however, the goal looked big for most of the first two periods until the Canadiens broke through the injury-riddled Boston defence for an easy victory.

Phil Esposito's goal on a picture pass from Ross Lonsberry gave Boston a 2-0 lead early in the second period, but Ralph Backstrom led a comeback that put Montreal ahead 3-2 by the end of the period.

Backstrom set up John Ferguson in front of the net for his first goal of the season. The smooth-working little centre for an assist on Jacques Lemaire's 30-foot screened shot which tied the score, then tallied the winning goal himself near the end of the period by tipping in Jacques Laperriere's shot from the point.

Danny Grant scored his first goal of the season and Lemaire got his second of the night in the first seven minutes of the final period to turn the game into a rout. Carol Vadnais closed out the scoring with his first goal of the campaign late in the game.

The loss was the second in a row at home for the Bruins, who again did not look like the same team now that disabled defencemen Bobby Orr and Ted Green are on the sidelines. They still hold first place by three points over Toronto and Chicago.

Soccer Merger

Vancouver, Toronto Survive Union!

CHICAGO (CP) — Professional soccer franchises in Vancouver and Toronto survived union of the United Soccer Association and the National Professional Soccer League Wednesday.

Instead of pulling out of Vancouver and Toronto in the new 20-team, two-division alignment, the league bought one of two existing Toronto franchises and merged it San Francisco franchise, with that of Vancouver, leaving the team in Vancouver.

Both the Vancouver and San Francisco teams were in the United Association, but in Toronto there was a team in each league.

Reports indicate that the Toronto City franchise in the United Association owned by Steve Stavro was purchased by the new league for $160,000, leaving the Toronto Falcon franchise intact.

Toronto Falcons, of the NPSL, are owned by Joe Peters of Toronto.

Under agreement reached at the meeting, an $18,000,000 antitrust suit filed against the United Association and the U.S. Soccer Football Association by the NPSL will be dropped when amalgamation is completed.

Prior to agreement being reached, the United Association was approved by the Federal International de Football Association (FIFA), which controls world professional soccer, while the NPSL had operated without sanction.

It also was agreed that there will be no two-team cities in the new league with two teams in New York merging and second teams in Chicago, Los Angeles and Boston moving to cities yet to be decided on.

The league will operate with two divisions, the United and National. New York will be in the National and Los Angeles in the United.

The rest of the divisional set up, schedule details, the league's new name and player personnel will be determined at another meeting yet to be set.

The United Division will be headed by Dick Walsh, commissioner of the USA, and Ken Macker, NPSL commissioner, will head the National.

To complete differences between the two leagues, Walsh said USA and NPSL officials will meet with the FIFA in Zurich Dec. 16 and with the Canadian Soccer Football Association as soon as possible thereafter.

The new 20-team league will include Atlanta, Baltimore, Boston, Chicago, Cleveland, Dallas, Detroit, Houston, Los Angeles, New York, Oakland, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, St. Louis, Toronto, Vancouver, Washington, D.C., plus relocated Boston of the USA and Chicago and Los Angeles of the NPSL.

Romania Loses To Lakehead

FORT WILLIAM (CP) — Romania's national hockey team Wednesday lost its third game against four wins and one tie in its Canadian exhibition tour, bowing 7-3 to Lakehead University All-Stars.

Dwight Skirrett led the All-Stars with three goals. Single goals were added by Jim Gellert, Barry Hogan, Clare Battiston and David Hattall.

For Romania, the goal scorers were Alex Calamar, Vasile Boldescu and Ion Gheorghus.

Pens Poised Pending Permission

NEW YORK (AP) — News Items: New York Mets ask Washington Senators for permission to talk to manager Gil Hodges, then sign him to a three-year contract.

"Money was a factor, but the biggest consideration was that I was going home," said Hodges who lives in Brooklyn, N.Y.

News item: St. Louis Cardinals ask the Mets permission to talk to president Bing Devine, then hire him as general manager.

"It is obvious I took a slight reduction in pay, but my family is 99 per cent of my consideration," said Devine, who never moved his home from St. Louis after he was fired there in 1964.

Future news items:

Pittsburgh Pirates ask the Cardinals for permission to talk to coach Joe Schultz, then sign him to a 16-month contract.

"It's great to be going back to Pittsburgh where I got one bit in two times at bat in 1941," said Schultz.

Los Angeles Dodgers ask the Pirates for permission to talk to general manager Joe L. Brown and sign him to a long-term contract as fan entertainment director.

"To be candid, as I always am," said Brown, "the pay isn't quite as much, but it'll be tremendous to be back where my father (Joe E. Brown) made such a big hit."

New York Yankees ask the Dodgers for permission to talk to Stanislav Skoriencezyski, a member of its ground crew, then sign him to a lifetime contract.

"Skoriencezyski will be a big drawing card for our Polish fans," said Michael Burke, president of the Yankees and former executive of Ringling Bros. circus.

The Mets ask the Yankees for permission to talk to Michael Burke, president of the Yankees, and then hire him as director of their entertainment program.

"It's what I've always wanted," Burke said. "I really enjoyed the circus when I was with it, and even though the salary isn't quite as lucrative, it'll be fun to be back with the clowns and baseball again."

The Senators ask the Mets for permission to talk to manager Gil Hodges, then sign him to a six-year contract.

"It was a difficult decision to make," Hodges said, "but it's good to be going back to where I began as a manager."

Making Mistake Says Owens

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Jesse Owens, former U.S. Olympic team track star, says he is convinced that some Negro athletes who threatened recently to boycott the 1968 Olympic Games are making a mistake.

Owens, winner of four gold medals at the 1936 Olympic Games, pointed out: "These athletes going to the Olympics will have the opportunity of exerting a great deal of influence in their communities. They should go and represent this country."

Owens, now the head of a Chicago public relations firm, made his remarks following an address to 50 rookie policemen here Wednesday.

"Sports go a long way to bridge the gap of misunderstanding," he said. "The Negro has a role to play in professional sports and amateur sports as well."

He said he does not feel the Negro athlete has been exploited, adding that Negroes like Wilt Chamberlain, Willie Mays, and Bill Russell are among the highest paid athletes in the world.

Evidence Against Denis Described as 'Tainted'

OTTAWA (CP) — "No one, not even a dog, should be convicted on such testimony."

With these words, defence counsel Louis Assaly called Wednesday for the acquittal of Raymond Denis on a charge of attempting to obstruct justice by offering a $20,000 bribe in the case of narcotics smuggler Lucien Rivard.

Mr. Assaly argued that Denis, former executive assistant in the federal immigration minister, was the victim of tainted, unreasonable, inadequate and unbelievable testimony by Piere Lamontagne.

Crown Attorney John Cassels said in reply that Denis' testimony was evasive, uncertain, contradictory and capable of being regarded by the 12-man jury as "lies."

Mr. Lamontagne had tried to be truthful, frank and forthright in his evidence that Denis of fered him the $20,000 to agree to the release on bail of Rivard.

The addresses by Crown and defence marked the approaching conclusion of Denis' trial. It started Nov. 13.

Judge Bruce Macdonald of Windsor, Ont., sent the jurors home until Friday when, he said, he will review the evidence and deliver his charge before sending them out to consider a verdict. He warned them to keep an open mind and avoid reading press reports of the case.

For three hours and 45 minutes Mr. Assaly analyzed the evidence, making particularly scathing remarks about Mr. Lamontagne's allegation that Denis offered him the money July 14, 1964.

At that time, Mr. Lamontagne was lawyer for the United States government which was seeking the extradition from Canada of Rivard for trial in Texas. Rivard, 32, now is serving a 20-year prison term in Atlanta, Ga.

Mr. Assaly said it is "incredible, unbelievable" for Mr. Lamontagne to state he did not share a duty to report the alleged bribe immediately to the RCMP or his client, the U.S. government.

Mr. Lamontagne, 32, had never given a full, reasonable and adequate explanation of why he made no immediate report of the offer and why, when he did report it 12 days later, and had "pointed the accusing finger at Denis."

That Lamontagne did not, at once advise his clients taints his whole evidence. . . .

"Lamontagne, there's the mystery man in this whole case."

Mr. Cassels urged the jurors not to let personal sympathy sway them from their duty of being firm, frank and honest in their verdict.

Denis' testimony had conflicted with vital points of the testimonies of his former boss, Rene Tremblay Liberal MP for Matapedia-Matane; the two investigating policemen, Mr. Lamontagne and Mrs. Lamontagne.

"Everybody's out of step but our Jock."

Dow Ends U of T Recruiting

TORONTO (CP) — Dow Chemical Co. of Canada completed its recruiting of University of Toronto engineering students Wednesday despite a demonstration outside the placement office on the campus.

About 200 demonstrators, including five faculty members, protested against the manufacture of napalm by Dow's parent firm in the U.S. for use in Vietnam. About 200 U of T. engineering students heckled the demonstrators.

Three weeks ago company representative William White suspended interviews with students after he became trapped for three hours inside the placement building because of a sit-in demonstration.

Twenty-two engineering students were interviewed by Dow despite the protest.

Rhodesian Embargo Observed

OTTAWA (CP) — A series of reports claiming importers have broken the embargo against Rhodesian products have all been unfounded, Prime Minister Pearson told the Commons Wednesday.

He said revenue department officials now are investigating new reports that tobacco and other products are coming in despite the ban.

Mr. Pearson had been asked by NDP Leader Douglas whether it is true as reported that Rhodesian tobacco and sugar are being shipped to Canada via South Africa.

The prime minister said that any person with evidence that the embargo is being violated should put the information at the disposal of authorities.

The NDP leader also asked whether Canada would propose to the United Nations Security Council that loopholes in the trade ban be plugged.

Mr. Pearson said Canada is studying a secret report on effectiveness of the sanctions and would make its position clear when the issue comes before the council shortly.

Later, Wallace Nesbitt (PC—Oxford) said tobacco is pouring duty-free into Canada from South Africa "and probably Rhodesia."

U. S. Has Space Tank

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — A "space bus" which carries individual re-entry vehicles with thermonuclear warheads has been developed by the United States to counter the Soviet deployment of additional ballistic missiles, a defence department researcher said Wednesday night.

Dr. John S. Foster Jr., director of defence research and engineering, spoke at a banquet of the Dallas chapter of the Association of the U.S. Army and the Dallas Council on World Affairs.

The space bus is technically known as the Multiple Independently Targetted Re-entry Vehicle (MIRV).

Dr. Foster said the bus, after the main booster has cut off, can make minute adjustments in its speed and direction, and after each adjustment can eject a warhead.

"Thus each warhead is delivered on a trajectory to a different city, or if desired, all can be delivered within one city," he said.

Mr. Meltzer on Real Estate

"What's Your Problem"

By BERNARD C. MELTZER

Dear Mr. Meltzer: I come from a rather closely - knit family, but I am also a very businesslike person. My son-in-law is in the hardware business. He wants to buy a property costing $25,000.

He will rent the store from me. The rent will be set so as to give me a 6 per cent return on my money. We both want to do business at the current rate, is 6 per cent fair? — Mr. F. E.

ANSWER: Rents from large corporations with excellent credit are now yielding over 6 per cent. Accordingly, a 6 per cent return on real estate leased to a tenant with considera b l e risk is obviously too low. A fair minimum return for this type of transaction in 10 per cent but 12 percent would be more equitable.

Dear Mr. Meltzer: I suspect my neighbor doesn't pay her bills. I've been told she's several months behind in her mortgage payments. Because t h e neighborhood looks to me for all the news, I called her bank to see if it wasn't true.

Some young whippersnapper was very rude to me. He would not give me any information. How do I find out how far behind she is on her mortgage? — Miss R. K.

ANSWER: Although t h e whole neighborhood may be breathlessly awaiting your report, your neighbor's right to privacy supersedes your right to know. A mortgage is a private contract between the lender and the borrower. Until such times as either foreclosure takes place or the mortgage is paid off — and both these actions are disclosed by the public record — the secret properly will be beyond your reach.

Dear Mr. Meltzer: Is there a savings in turning the thermostat down at night? I've asked my public utility company, the plumber, and a professor who teaches mechanical engineering at a local university. I have three different answers. May I have your opinion? —Mr. D. C.

ANSWER: You were right! There is considerable controversy on this subject. As far as I can determine, it appears that turning the thermostat down between 6 and 10 degrees at night represents the optimum saving.

If the thermostat is turned down less than 6 degrees, there is a saving, but it is almost insignificant.

If it is turned down more than 10 degrees, the extra fuel consumed to bring the house back to temperature may actually increase total fuel consumption.

The extent of the saving depends on the degree of insulation of the house, exposure of the property, and severity of the climate.

Dear Mr. Meltzer: My husband is lazy. He says he's frugal. He's always going to bed without closing the damper in the fireplace. I've bawled him out, but he accuses me of getting excited over nothing, because the heat lost up the chimney doesn't amount to anything.

Tell me if he's right, because if he is, I'll quietly let it slide. — Mrs. I. K.

ANSWER: The loss of heat caused by an open damper is equivalent to about two open windows. Since you are right, continue to bawl him out. If this doesn't work, you'll have to take the ultimate step — close the damper yourself every night.

'Stolen' House Located

ATLANTA, Ga. (Reuters) — A five-room house reported stolen from its plot here turned up Wednesday in Loganville, 40 miles away.

Police said the house evidently was carted away last week by a moving company which thought it had bought the property from the city of Atlanta.

Loganville Police Chief Preston Vanderford spotted the one-storey wooden house, which was removed from the property of W. D. Pope while he was on vacation in Florida.

Vanderford said he saw a picture of the house in an Atlanta newspaper. "So I went over and looked at this house that had been moved in here last week. It looked like the same one to me."

Pope went to Loganville and confirmed that it was, indeed, his house.

The city of Atlanta had taken bids on the Pope property and a number of other houses in the area, which is scheduled to be taken over by the expanding Atlanta airport.

But, police said, the moving company was not authorized to move any homes until their owners negotiated sales with the city.

Pope, who wants his house back, said: "I'm going to talk with my attorneys. And we'll see where we go from there."

Heroin Worth $25 Million Seized at Dorval

THE LITTLE WOMAN

"Why don't you ever say something amusing, so I can be fun people like everybody else!"

MONTREAL (CP) — Police today forecast more arrests and seizures in an investigation of what they describe as one of the biggest drug rings in recent memory. Two shipments of heroin, valued at a total of $25,000,000 on the illegal drug market, have been seized in the last two days.

Both seizures were made at Montreal International Airport after alert customs officials uncovered the heroin hidden in the luggage of South American residents who had just arrived on flights.

A shipment of nearly 43 pounds, valued at $20,000,000, was found Wednesday night when the officials became suspicious of a fidgety traveller from Argentina who was going through customs.

The previous day, a $5,000,000 shipment of heroin—about 13 pounds—was uncovered in a false-bottomed suitcase.

Noel Gauthier, the customs officer who made the seizure Tuesday night, also took part in the second seizure.

Mr. Gauthier also played a major part in the arrest earlier this year of a couple from France. The man in question received a seven - year sentence while his wife was exonerated.

Four men were taken into custody in the Montreal area by the RCMP following the Wednesday night seizure.

The passenger from Argentina was turned over to the RCMP at the airport for questioning.

Vincenzo Caputo, 42, arrested at the airport Tuesday after he stepped off a flight from Paris en route to New York, was charged Wednesday with possession of the 13 pounds of heroin.

Caputo was ordered held in custody for preliminary hearing Dec. 20.

Expo Gives Americans Higher Opinion of Us

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP) — A Gallup poll says Expo 67 has given Americans a higher regard for Canada than they had one year ago.

The Montreal world's fair was clearly a factor in creating greater enthusiasm for Canada among Americans, says George Gallup, director of the American Institute of Public Opinion, which issues the poll.

He says that 65 per cent of Americans recently polled gave Canada a "highly favorable" rating, as compared with 50 per cent a year ago. He says that is the highest rating accorded any nation in the past two decades.

'Barbie' Dolls Safe

TORONTO (CP) — The Japan Trade Centre drew attention on Wednesday to a recent report of the Ontario fire marshal's office saying Japanese "Barbie" dolls seem to present "no particular hazard from fire."

Summaries of the report published in November dealt with tests made on plastic face materials used on 13 rag-type dolls and an all-plastic "Barbie" doll sold in Ontario last Christmas.

The report said labels indicated one of the rag-type dolls came from Poland, two were labelled England but had no information regarding source of origin. One apparently had been purchased in the United States and the others were not identified.

The report said the face-mask portion of the 13 rag-type dolls represented a fire hazard. The trade centre said it felt published reports may have left an impression that the "Barbie" doll also was a hazard but the fire marshal's report said it presents no particular risk.

Reform of Financing of UN 'Painfully Slow' Says Canada

UNITED NATIONS (CP) — Canada Wednesday lamented the "painfully slow progress" towards finding a more reliable and equitable method of financing UN peacekeeping operations and urged nations which have not already done so to make voluntary contributions to help eliminate the UN's deficit.

Paul Beaulieu, deputy permanent representative of Canada, said, however, that "the pace of our progress" on the peacekeeping controversy "should cause no surprise." He added: "The Canadian delegation proceeds on the assumption that a genuine desire to reach agreed conclusions on various aspects of peacekeeping operations does exist" in the UN committee of 33, of which Canada is a member.

Because of the controversy, the UN now has bills totalling about $55,000,000 for past and present operations which remain unpaid.

Until 1963, virtually all member states contributed to the relatively modest costs of UN peacekeeping operations.

However, with the establishment of UN peacekeeping operations in the Middle East in 1956 and in The Congo in 1960, the costs expanded and the Soviet Union and other Communist countries refused to pay, claiming that peacekeeping was the sole prerogative of the 15-nation Security Council. France agreed to pay its financial obligations with respect to the Middle East force but not with respect to The Congo force.

PRE-PAID PLAN

America's first medical care setup was approved by President John Adams in 1798 as a pre-paid plan "for the relief of sick and disabled seamen."

SPENDING TO INCREASE

Spain's four year development plan starting next year calls for government spending of $1,800,000,000 in 1968 and a steady increase until the fourth year when the outlay will be $2,670,000,000.

Packing It In!

A fireman packs away smoke masks after reels had rushed to a garage at Bleecker Ave. and Station St. today. But where there was smoke there was little fire. Little loss was caused in the fire — blamed on overheated stove pipes — since the garage, rented by Fox Cartage, was almost empty.

Greeks' King Flees to Rome

ATHENS (AP) — Greece's military regime today crushed the last remnants of a counter-coup led by King Constantine and began a rounding up of suspected royalist officers and rightist politicians.

The 27-year-old king, stripped of his power and with his day-old dream of ousting the military government shattered, fled to Rome with his family. He had no comment.

Col. George Papadopoulos, strong man of the military regime and new premier, announced in a broadcast that Lt.-Gen. George Zoitakis, under-secretary of national defence, had been installed as regent.

Papadopoulos later told reporters the constitutional monarchy would be preserved and the king had voluntarily surrendered his functions.

Papadopoulos said the military government knew nothing in advance of the king's intentions. We decided only when he broadcast an appeal to Greeks to oust the military government and restore freedom.

"And I admit that had we known of his plans we would have tried at a higher level. But not to enlighten him and prevent him from going astray," he added. "The king's action is inconceivable to us."

that their king had fled. Papadopoulos' news conference was broadcast by Athens radio reporting the royal family, Premier Constantine Kollias and some officers had flown secretly to Rome.

In an early-morning broadcast, Papadopoulos declared that the Constantinoulian conspiracy has been crushed. The conspirators have been ousted."

Less than 24 hours after Constantine called Wednesday on his people to revolt against the ruling colonels in Athens, troops and armored carriers that had ringed the junta headquarters in the Parliament building, were removed. However, armed guards continued to stand outside defence headquarters on the outskirts of the capital.

Military units in northern Greece had been reported siding with the king, but the only reported fighting on the mainland was at Elefsis Air Force base southwest of Athens. Two army captains attempting to board a plane there for northern Greece were reported shot by troops loyal to the government, and clashes between air force and army units followed. Two buildings caught fire in the fighting.

Fighting also was reported on the Greek island of Crete, scene of the only armed resistance to the junta's takeover eight months ago.

Reports said the king was with the 3rd Armored Army Corps, based in the north, when he appealed to the nation to rebel. Athens radio said today the commander of the corps, Gen. George Peridis, was among three army generals arrested by the junta.

Widespread arrests of right-wing politicians also were reported in Athens.

Councils Will Hear Rest Home Proposals

Proposals for the construction of provincially supported rest homes in Belleville and in Trenton will be placed before the councils of the two municipalities early in the New Year.

Dr. Richard T. Potter, recently elected member for Quinte Riding, said today he would speak in both councils some time in January to outline what the provincial government is prepared to do in the way of financial assistance for rest homes in the local area.

He said the province would pay 50 per cent of the capital cost and 70 per cent of the maintenance for rest homes for the care of patients not chronically ill but still too sick to be cared for at home.

Each municipality would have to make separate applications, following which the province would do a survey to see if the convalescent homes were needed.

"There is no doubt that one is needed in Belleville," Dr. Potter said.

He said he was anxious to see such a rest home built in the city and was hoping that one could be built in Trenton and possibly also in Sidney township.

The Quinte member said the province was prepared to construct rest homes with from 40 to 50 beds each in municipalities where they were needed.

The idea of the limited number of beds was to allow ease of administration while the smaller sized units would also mean more would be constructed thus keeping patients as close to home as possible.

Yesterday Dr. Potter and Belleville mayor-elect Dr. J. Russell Scott were in Toronto where the latter was introduced to different cabinet ministers who outlined what was available by way of provincial assistance for services in the Belleville area.

They met with Health Minister Hon. Matthew Dymond, and also with the Water Resources Commission and had luncheon with Premier Robarts.

Ladies' Aid Sponsors Tea And Bazaar

DESERONTO — The Christmas atmosphere prevailed for guests who attended the bazaar of the Ladies' Aid of the Church of the Redeemer last Saturday. The financial results were most satisfactory, especially in view of the fact that the active membership is so small.

Mrs. Jean Griffith, the president, greeted the guests and Mrs. Albert Walker sold tickets for the tea.

A Christmas arrangement incorporating white and gold candles centred the tea table. Pouring tea were representatives of women's organizations of other churches: Mrs. Emma Atkinson, Mrs. Anson Lord, Mrs. A. F. Dowdell, and Mrs. George Stuart. Assisting in the kitchen were Mrs. Donald MacMillan and Mrs. Sam Kelly and a number of others assisted with the sewing.

Mrs. Fran Walker was in charge of the White Elephant table, and Mrs. Dorothy McCullough, and Miss Betty McCullough were kept busy disposing of the many delicious baked goods.

The craft table, with a variety of articles made by the ladies themselves, was in the care of Mrs. Kay Hood and Miss Gladys Pearase, and Mrs. Alex Watson was in charge of the toy table. Among the outstanding sale items were dolls and doll clothes.

Brighton Plunged Into Darkness

BRIGHTON — A truck driver's narrow escape plunged this village's 2,500 residents in total darkness for an hour last night.

Hydro power to the village was snapped around midnight when a dump truck nine miles away tilted against a pole carrying 44,000-volts.

The truck was loading stone at the St. Lawrence Cement Company quarry in Cramhoe township south of Colborne when the accident occurred.

The truck's elevated box carrier sliced a supporting guy wire snapping the pole and causing high - tension cable to part.

The resulting flash lit up the area and was seen at least a mile by a seaman on the stone-carrier Pinedale, docked south of Colborne.

Police said truck driver George Little likely had a narrow escape. A steel band inside the cable kept the severed line from dropping to the ground and probably electrifying his vehicle.

However, they believe Mr. Lytle may have been stunned by the incident. He immediately went home to R. R. 1, Colborne and was apparently unaware of the accident until an officer from Brighton called this morning.

Employees in another part of the quarry, finding power suddenly cut off went seeking the cause. Brighton area utilities manager Charles Acker also went immediately to his office to trace the incident.

No other communities in the area were blacked out.

Thieves Get $100 From Drug Store

About $100 in "loose change" was stolen last night during a break-in at Tamblyn's Drug store on Front Street, a police spokesman said today.

According to police the thief or thieves entered through a door reached from the roof.

There was no damage done as the thieves took only the cash that was openly available.

Nine Forced To Flee As House Gutted

TRENTON — Fire today gutted a home north of here causing nine persons — including three children — to flee for safety.

The Dominion-sided bungalow at R. R. 1 Trenton, a mile west of the New Development and Telephone roads intersection in Murray township, was owned by Mr. and Mrs. William Laird.

When the fire broke out they were back visited by their two daughters and three grandchildren.

The fire was discovered by one of the children after four-year-old Mark Marsh, of Belleville, went into a bedroom and closed the door.

Some time later his aunt, Mrs. Harold Bowers, who lives next door to her parents, opened the door and found the room on fire and filled with smoke.

She took the boy out of the room and awakened her father and a boarder in the Laird home. Dave Hodgkinson. Both men had been working night shifts at Trenton plants.

Trenton firemen brought the fire under control but most of the Laird's possessions were reported destroyed.

Lost in the blaze were Christmas presents valued at close to $100.

The Lairds had lived in the house 13 years.

Tweed Boy Great Uncle At Age of 12

TWEED — David Rogers, Tweed, is the proud holder of what may be an all-Canada record.

This month, at the age of 12, he became a great-uncle.

One of David's 28 nieces and nephews, Mrs. Gerald Hotts, Tweed, the former Linda Young, gave birth to a son Dec. 4.

David's parents, (and Mrs. Hotts' grandparents) have nine children and a grandchildren as well as the newly-arrived great-grandson. Mrs. Rogers comes from a family of 15 children. Still in their 50's the Rogers are considered the youngest great-grandparents in the area.

David, youngest of the Rogers' clan, is a pupil in Std. one at S. H. Conner Public School, Tweed.

Walking Helps Varicose Veins

By Dr. Joseph G. Molner

Dear Dr. Molner: I am 58 and have varicose veins. I wear supporting hosiery which helps. I would also like to take a walk every day, but do not know whether this would benefit or harm me. I recline 20 cents and a self-addressed, stamped envelope for your booklet, "How to Deal With Varicose Veins." — Mrs. S. G.

Walking — and the muscular activity — promotes circulation; therefore it will benefit rather than harm your varicose veins. The supporter hose is a helpful protection.

You will note, and the booklet will make this clear to you, that there is a vast difference between walking and merely standing.

While the blood pressure originating in the heart's action is the major force causing the blood to circulate, movement of the muscles also helps to keep the blood circulating by a sort of massage effect. This is one of the several reasons why daily exercise is good for us.

But merely standing still is not exercise in the sense that walking is, and the person with varicose veins should try to avoid standing motionless. If it is necessary to stand up for many hours, as, for one example, standing at a counter in a store, the leg muscles should be kept as active as is reasonably possible. Moving just a few steps this way and that is, to some extent, an equivalent of walking. Flexing the muscles, moving the feet, even wiggling the toes means that there is movement in the leg muscles and it helps.

I'm not what you would call an exercise bound but I do strongly endorse activity. It needn't be particularly strenuous, but an effort to get some daily activity — and walking is excellent — is good for all of us.

Dear Dr. Molner: My little girl, 5, has had kidney infections. The doctor said little girls should not use bubbles in their bath because the "bubble stuff" can cause infections. Why? — J. J. S.

I don't think a bubble bath is the major factor in urinary infections. It is rather that the bath water itself can be contaminated with germs. In such instances germs are better

Note to Worries: Maybe it's "just a rash," but under the circumstances discretion will say syphilis. You are old enough to go to the doctor by yourself. Yes, the doctor is required to report the case but your name will be kept confidential. Reporting is necessary both to give some idea of the prevalence of the disease, and to protect others who may have been exposed. If you get treatment now, there is no reason why you should not have children later.

New Love Goddess of Movies Goes with Hope to Vietnam

HOLLYWOOD (A P)—Bob Hope leaves Friday for Vietnam with another Christmas cargo of laughs and lovelies including eye-filling Raquel Welch, 37-22¼-35½.

It will be the comedian's fourth Vietnam visit and 17th annual Christmas tour but the first trooping for Actress Raquel whom by the 26-year-old Miss Welch, who is being called the new love goddess of the movies.

Miss Welch, who has graced hundreds of magazines—but has refused offers of up to $25,000 to pose nude because "I'd just be very embarrassed" — leaves with a pre-sold audience.

Her pin-up pictures—especially one of her standing provocatively in a Stone Age deerskin bikini in One Million Years BC—adorn many barracks walls and lockers. Another favorite shows her in head-jangling mini-attire for Bedazzled.

Miss Welch has autographed poster-size photos at the request of troop units who have elected her their mascot. The U.S. and overseas demand became so costly that 20th Century-Fox now answers it with photo post cards.

Miss Welch is a Chicago-born product of San Diego area schooling. In childhood she was nicknamed "Bird Legs" for her skinny build. Then she rounded out and started winning beauty contests.

Of French-Spanish-German-English-Scottish descent, she stands five-foot-six, weighs 118 pounds and has large deep-brown eyes. Her luxuriant chestnut-brown hair falls to her bosom.

In 1963, she got the leading role in Fantastic Voyage. Since then she has starred in eight movies, seven of them in Europe.

Sexy-looking even in voluminous homespuns for Bandolero! — a Western with James Stewart and Dean Martin—Miss Welch reported she'd spent a weekend in bed "a total ache from head to foot" from immunization shots in preparation for Vietnam.

Williams, Marx A Delight

NEW YORK (AP)—Andy Williams' Christmas show on NBC has become a holiday institution by now and Wednesday night's 1967 edition was possibly the most delightful of the lot.

As usual, the entire Williams tribe was assembled for the hour program—parents, brothers, in-laws, nieces and nephews. And since everybody sings—including Andy's pretty wife, Claudine—the program was able to provide entertainment with a real family feeling.

The annual comeback of the Williams Brothers singing act was the top attraction of the Christmas show. This season they sparkled in an amusing recreation of one of their old five-minute radio shows, complete with singing commercial.

But the Williams Brothers are no longer the top guest stars of the show. Now it is Andy's children, little Noelle and Christian, who are the principal attractions. And small as they are, they are good troupers, attentive and well-behaved while their father was telling a bedtime story.

There were some elaborate production numbers on ice, and the settings, as usual on a Williams show, were as attractive as the musical portions.

The program was in excellent taste, as easy and informal as ever, projecting a happy holiday spirit.

NBC's Music Hall, earlier in the evening was of special interest because it presented an assortment of youngest comedians and an older one, Groucho Marx.

Marx resumed his 1938 role of Captain Jeffrey Spaulding, African adventurer, in the opening number, to demonstrate, he said, that comedy had changed over a period of 40 years. At any rate, Groucho's style—full of bits and wisecracks—was completely different from anything the young comedians had to offer.

Austrian Skier

"A Brilliant Surprise"

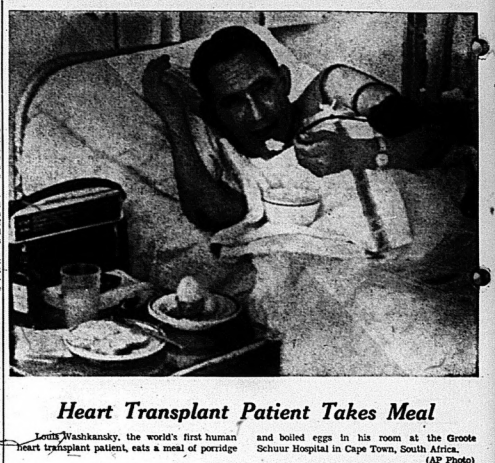
VAL D'ISERE, France (AP) — Gerhard Nenning of Austria scored a brilliant surprise victory in the first major international Alpine race on the Olympic ski program today as he won the giant slalom of the Criterium of the First Snow after Switzerland's Kurt Huegler, credited with the fastest time, was disqualified.

Nenning was clocked in one minute, 42.3 seconds. Guy Perrier of France was second in 1:50.2.

The course dropped 425 metres through 84 gates on the 2,200-metre-high Col de L'Iseran.

A huge field of more than 100 skiers from 18 countries took part in the meet which was run in perfect conditions with fine sunny weather and a thin powdery snow cover over the packed surface.



Other world-class skiers finished in the first five. Karl Schranz of Austria was third in 1:50.2, Jean-Claude Killy of France fourth in 1:50.3 and Billy Kidd of the United States fifth in 1:50.6.

It was a brilliant comeback for Kidd, the 24-year-old student from Vail, Colo., who was racing in his first big event since breaking a leg 18 months ago.

One-time Hope Diamond Heir, Evalyn McLean, Is Found Dead

PLANO, Tex. (AP) — Investigators have ordered an autopsy in the death of Evalyn McLean, 55, who was once among the heirs to the famed Hope diamond.

Miss McLean's body was found Tuesday in the rambling ranch house where she lived alone. Neighbors in this Dallas suburb broke into the home when they saw no activity there for several days.

A toxicologist's study is under way to determine the cause of death.

Miss McLean's body was discovered lying on a bed, fully clothed. There was no indication of foul play, Justice of the Peace R. B. Carpenter said.

She was the daughter of John R. (Jock) McLean of Palm Beach, Fla. A former Dallas debutante, she had never married. She spent her time working with the horses she raised and trained at her Friendly Acres horse ranch six miles northeast of Plano.

The Hope diamond was once owned by her grandmother, Evalyn Walsh McLean.

Miss McLean and six other grandchildren never were allowed to so much as touch the diamond, a stone reputed to have brought ill luck to most who were associated with it.

The diamond was bought from Evalyn Walsh McLean's estate by New York jeweler Harry Winston in 1947. He gave it to the Smithsonian Institute in Washington.

Evalyn Walsh McLean liked to wear the Hope diamond in her gala Washington parties. She claimed she had received offers of nearly $2,000,000 for the diamond. She said she bought it in the early 1930s after her marriage to the late Ned McLean. Mrs. McLean paid $40,000 for the stone and took it to a priest to have it blessed.

The diamond, according to its legend, was once possessed by King Louis XVI and Marie Antoinette but disappeared after the couple was beheaded during the French Revolution. The first owner of the stone was a French traveller named Tavernier, who sold the diamond to Louis XIV of France. Tavernier later was ripped to death by a dog pack.

He was interviewed by representatives of the Canadian immigration department in London, he said. No mention was made about the necessity of being a university graduate or being accepted by the Association of Professional Engineers in Manitoba.

Immigrant Sues Government

WINNIPEG (CP) — A British structural engineer who says he found Canada a land of false promise is suing the Canadian government for $5,867.

Frederick H. J. Blake's petition to the Exchequer Court in Ottawa claims the amount on grounds that nobody warned him his professional credentials were not transportable.

Mr. Blake, 52, has no university degree but advanced through training on the job and was admitted in 1956 to the Institute of Structural Engineers.

Communism Whipping Boy

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

Thoughts at Large:

If communism had not come into being 50 years ago, the masses of people in non-Communist countries would have had to devise some other menace to provide an object for their fears, an outlet for their anger, and a reason for the chronically fouled-up state of world affairs.

Soon He Will Wave Goodbye

PM Steps Down Like Gentleman

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister Pearson received both faint and fulsome praise following his Thursday announcement to resign as Liberal party leader and prime minister next year.

A cabinet colleague, Finance Minister Sharp, a possible successor, liked the way Mr. Pearson handled it.

"It is typical that he leaves as he entered politics, as a gentleman who knows exactly what he is doing."

Mr. Sharp also echoed the feelings of many when he added that Mr. Pearson's contributions to party and country will come into clearer focus now that he has decided to go.

Mr. Pearson's political opponents could not bring themselves to be as kind as Mr. Sharp. But if some praised faintly, they did generally damn.

Opposition Leader Stanfield, who entered federal politics only this fall, praised Mr. Pearson as a man who "worked sincerely in the best interest of his country."

The former Nova Scotia premier paid tribute to the prime minister as a diplomat, prime minister and "a very pleasant man to deal with."

NDP Leader Douglas found Mr. Pearson to be the "most pleasant" of the four prime ministers with whom he has dealt from the time of Mackenzie King.

"We all regret seeing him go," he said.

Creditiste Leader Real Caouette thought the 70-year-old former diplomat was "one of the greatest or the greatest" factors in improving understanding and respect between French and English Canadians in his time as prime minister.

John Diefenbaker, deposed as Conservative leader earlier this year, said Mr. Pearson's decision "cannot but add" to confusion and uncertainty in the Canadian economy.

The former Conservative prime minister and Opposition leader—Mr. Pearson's arch-rival in the Commons for the last 10 years—said he did not always

Greek Junta May Woo King

ATHENS (AP) — Speculation grew today that the Greek military junta was trying to find some formula to bring King Constantine back from exile and restore a measure of normality to the apprehensive nation.

The speculation came as Foreign Minister Panayiotis Pipinelis reached Rome and went at once to the Greek embassy.

Constantine, who fled to Rome with his family after his counter-coup against the regime failed Wednesday, last was reported in the embassy.

It was considered likely in Athens that the foreign minister would be the most likely person to act as mediator between Constantine and the military regime.

Arriving from the North Atlantic Treaty Organization meeting in Brussels, Pipinelis slipped into Rome and drove to the Greek embassy.

One highly placed official in Rome said: "The indications are that a compromise solution of the Greek crisis may be in the making. Pipinelis discussed the situation in Brussels with top U.S. and British officials."

Informed sources said the military strongmen need the umbrella of the monarchy to present a better face internationally. It was felt that the regime, in creating a regency, took pains to preserve the institution of the monarchy. And Constantine presumably wants the throne.

In Athens, the regime maintained a moderate stance toward the king, avoiding personal attacks and saying only that the monarch had been misled into trying to overthrow the regime.

Pick Date Sunday

OTTAWA (CP) — The Liberal convention to pick a successor to Prime Minister Pearson is virtually certain to be held in Ottawa next spring.

Senator John Nichol of Vancouver, president of the Liberal Federation of Canada, told reporters the date and site will likely be decided at a special meeting of the national executive Sunday.

However, Senator Nichol said he will recommend Ottawa as the convention site. The likely date is during Parliament's Easter recess in April.

Senator Nichol said it is difficult for the government of the day to hold such a convention outside the capital because members of Parliament might have to attend to parliamentary duties.

He said it is relatively easy for opposition parties to hold national conventions elsewhere, leaving a corporal's guard in the Commons. But it was more important that government members be on hand to conduct the business of the country.

He said a possible convention hall would be Ottawa's new $8,000,000 civic centre. Construction is to be completed shortly. The centre is under the main stand of the capital's new football stadium at Lansdowne Park.

OTTAWA (CP) — A parliamentary committee was told Thursday that the Bell Telephone Co. of Canada is using its monopoly position to corner the cable television business. J. J. ## New Look Is Given To NATO

BRUSSELS (Reuters) — NATO defence and foreign ministers Thursday night wound up their annual ministerial council meetings with a new look, "highly-mobile" Atlantic Alliance.

The 15-nation alliance hammered out major proposals at the three-day meeting here to keep NATO at a high pitch of military preparedness.

The ministers stressed the urgency for stronger efforts towards an East-West detente without relaxing military readiness.

Key decisions were:

—A new plan calling for wider political and economic consultations in NATO to prepare for any East-West negotiations on such vital problems as arms control measures and European security.

—A new flexible nuclear and conventional strike force against any aggression.

—A new method to determine total NATO forces by 1972.

—A permanent and highly-mobile allied destroyer-type naval force in the Atlantic.

—Expert studies on the alliance's role in technology, including the possibilities for applying technology to civilian needs.

During the session, the ministers took a hard look at NATO's future responsibilities.

External Affairs Minister Paul Martin said that Canada believes that NATO has deliberately switched course to pursue "a dynamic quest for peace."

The peace venture is one that can be pursued "both singly and collectively," he told a press conference.

Today's Chuckle

Spinster's lament: "Whenever I meet a man who would make a good husband, he is".

Pacifists Rebuked by Pope

VATICAN CITY (CP) — Pope Paul today appealed for worldwide prayers for peace every New Year's Day, but rebuked draft dodgers who refuse to fight for justice and liberty.

"Peace is not pacifism," he said.

In his first message on world events since his convalescence, the 70-year-old pontiff warned against the "apostolystic awkwardness" of modern war apd:

—Advised world leaders against believing that only force and policies of deterrance can resolve international controversies.

—Deplored nationalism, arms buildups, racism and revenge.

The Pope urged Roman Catholics and "all men of goodwill" to observe the first day of each calendar year as "the day of peace."

World Council of Churches Defends Draft Dodgers

GENEVA (AP) — The World Council of Churches urged all its member churches today to take note of the call by Pope Paul to observe New Year's Day as a day of prayer for peace.

But the council disagreed with the Pope's rebuke to draft dodgers.

Gold Buying Brisk

LONDON (AP) — Gold prices edged toward the official ceiling today as buyers again joined the gold rush in fear of a formal ban on sales to speculators this weekend.

The price was $35.19⅛ U.S. an ounce, just an eighth of a cent below the top price fixed by the seven-nation gold pool, which is publicly pledged to supply cash buyers. Thursday's opening price was $35.19¾.

Dealers in London, who handle orders from the European continent and particularly from Switzerland, said demand was heavy, but slightly below Thursday, when the market opened with orders for a record 80 tons.

A major factor in boosting the price was the fall in the value of the pound on foreign exchange markets. The pound was at $2.4015, about a tenth of a cent less than Thursday and a postdevaluation low.

During the week, The Times and The Financial Times reported that the gold pool—the United States, Britain, Belgium, The Netherlands, Italy, West Germany and Switzerland—had agreed to a runtime all gold orders and refuse abnormal demands from speculators.

A large pile of Christmas trees at the Belleville Shopping Plaza are put to good use by Steve Lappan. He just crawled in to get out of the wind and proved Christmas trees have other uses besides being decorative.

Quarter of Metro Folk Below Poverty Level

TORONTO (CP) — More than a quarter of Metropolitan Toronto's people live below the poverty level and the city's housing problem has become a problem of poverty, says Robert Bradley, executive director of the Toronto Housing Authority.

Mr. Bradley said some families can not even afford public housing.

"Any family with an income below $5,400 and with six or more children—this is poverty." Ninety per cent of such families would never own a home.

The situation might even be getting worse as people in public housing had trouble meeting higher living costs with small increases in salary.

Some families had to leave public housing to live in fringe areas or move in with relatives.

Poverty Splits Family For Christmas Season

TORONTO (CP) — Poverty will prevent a young Toronto couple from having their children home for Christmas.

The woman and her husband, not identified to protect their names, will spend Christmas in a 10-by-12 foot room with three-year old Rudy, the child they have been able to keep.

The other two, aged one and two, will spend the holiday in their separate foster homes, where they have been for six months.

The couple moved into the room Tuesday.

Married three years, she is 19, he 23. Mr. Smith has a job for the holiday season. After Christmas, he goes back to job-hunting.

They want to get their children out of the foster homes.

"But every place we try, we say three children and they shut the door on us," says Mrs. Smith.

Centennial Medallions Awarded

Last night was a big night for members of the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment and the army cadets in Belleville. Ten Centennial Medallions were awarded to members of the Hasty Pees.

Beginning with a meal in Christmas tradition, turkey and the officers serving the men, the soldiers enjoyed a night of films and presentations.

After the meal Brigadier D. C. Cameron, honorary colonel of the regiment, addressed the troops.

Col. Angus Duffy, a former commanding officer of the regiment was presented with a silver model of the new memorial which stands on the Belleville Armories lawn for his work in creating it.

Six of the men received an autographed copy of Farley Mowatt's history of the regiment.

Mowats were shown of the manoeuvres in Oshawa when the Hasty Pees did battle with the Royal Regiment of Canada. Slides of the trooping of the color were seen as well.

The centennial medallions were then presented to the soldiers who had at least seven years' service and an unblemished record.

Lt.-Col. K. D. H. Wilcocks, WOI (RSM) H. L. Kolezuk, WOI F. R. Hamilton, WOI R. D. Shaw, Sgt. A. V. Bloodin, WOII C. A. Rostan, Sgt. R. W. Armitage, Sgt. J. I. Reid, Sgt. J. N. Taylor and Sgt. W. R. Vallance all received the medallion from Brigadier Cameron.

Taste Bud Anticipation

Young cadet, Harry Hicks and Lt. Lawrence Smith of the Hasty Pees wait anxiously as Brigadier D. C. Cameron, honorary colonel of the regiment, carves the gigantic turkey which was part of the meal enjoyed by the cadets and the militia last night.

YOUTH IN MAJORITY

LONDON (AP) — Nearly two-fifths of Britain's population is under 25, shows a national census announced Friday. The census, completed in 1966, shows total population for England, Wales and Scotland as 52,303,720. Females outnumbered males 26,964,290 to 25,-339,330. Of the total, 19,743,140 are under 25.

County Must Pay Bill Ambulance Firm Claims

NAPANEE — One of the county's two ambulance firms threatened Wednesday to leave the area unless Lennox and Addington County Council paid for work ordered by a coroner.

Douglas Rushnell, Trenton, owner of Napanee Central Ambulance Service, told county councillors he had sent bills amounting to $200 to the county but they had been rejected.

"Unless we're paid, it means we will be moving to an area where they will pay for ambulance service," Mr. Rushnell said.

Warden William T. Briscoe, deputy reeve to Ernestown Township, said it was the responsibility of the municipal councils to pay for the service.

In July, the county council refused to accept an offer to provide services on a subsidy. Each municipality was expected to pay for its own service.

Later in the day-long session Wednesday, county solicitor James Madden said it was the county's responsibility to pay for work ordered by the coroner. The work involved trips to Kingston hospitals for autopsies on accident victims.

Donors Answer Appeal

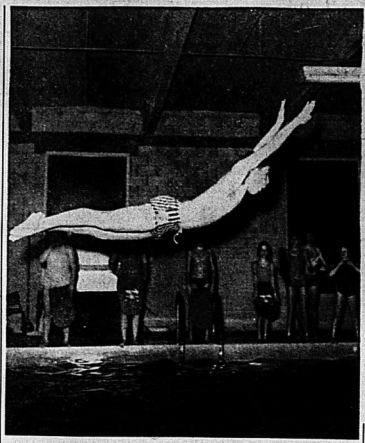
Belleville's Christmas Exchange has found food hamper donors for another 50 families.

That leaves 183 families yet to be cared for. Since Mrs. Selma Bochnek, exchange director, appealed for help Tuesday, 12 donors have come forward to assist. They include the Salvation Army, who took over 14 families on the list and offered further help if the Army's resources permitted, and a leading Belleville industry which sent in a cheque for $250 yesterday.



"I'm overwhelmed by the response so far," said Mrs. Bochnek. "I said Tuesday I had heard Belleville has a big heart, and this certainly proves the information correct."

Number of children under 13 referred to the Firemen for toys has risen to 919, and a few more food hamper requests trickle in to the exchange every day.

"Many churches are holding their white gift Sunday Dec. 17, and we hope with this help to strike a few more families off our list Monday," Mrs. Bochnek added. "The teen-agers are continuing their terrific support. They are holding bike rallies/ies and dances to raise money."

The Christmas Exchange operates out of United Community Services office and acts as a central clearing house to bridge the gap between those who need help and those who wish to offer help. It was started this year to match applications with donors and avoid duplication.

Donors who want to help a local family at Christmas can telephone 962-9097 to get a name and list of suitable groceries for the hamper. Cost of packing a hamper ranges from $10 to $20, depending on the size of the family. Delivery date is Dec. 22, just one week away.

Dive Towards Florida

Mike Allore is one of the swimmers from the Belleville Centennial Swim Club who will be attending a three week swim clinic at Ft. Lauderdale in Florida. The clinic is attended by swimmers from all over who receive instruction from the best coaches in the world.

Holiday in the Surf

Four members of the Belleville Centennial Swim Club won't have to worry about the snow for three weeks — they leave on Saturday for the sunny climes of Florida.

The club uses the pool at Top's motel as their swimming base throughout the year. Ranging in age from six years old to 18 the swimmers are kept busy by coach George Sulk who swam in the Olympics for Germany during the 1930s.

Every year Coach Sulk picks seven of his students and takes them to Ft. Lauderdale for a three-week swimming clinic. The clinic, held at the Hall of Fame pool, is attended by the world's greatest swimming coaches and has proved to be tremendously beneficial to the young swimmers.

Celebrity swimmers such as Johnny Weissmuller and Buster Crabbe are also in attendance. There are four Belleville club members going, David Pape, Regina Sulk, Michael Allore and Penny Sulk and three from Mr. Sulk's Trenton club.

The kids will be kept busy by the coaches, but they never seem to mind it—they'll come back warm, tanned and much better swimmers.

Scouting News

The 21st. Belleville Scout Troop held a successful Christmas party and Scout night in the basement of Victoria Ave. Baptist Church Thursday evening.

The parents and group committee were privileged to observe the Scouts demonstrate their ritual and singing around the camp fire. Then several musical numbers were rendered by the Dowbyhus family after which movies were shown and refreshments served. On leaving each Scout promised to do an extra good-turn during this Christmas season and happily carried a present given to them from under the Christmas tree.

Scout Master Don Allen gave a vote of thanks to all visitors which included the President of District Council, Lou Andrews and Assistant District Commissioner Stan Terry.

Workman Hurt As Car Slips

Donald Neil Watt, 26, of 68 Dundas Street East was injured early last evening when his car collapsed on top of him while he was working on it.

Mr. Watt received injuries to the upper chest and shoulders and was taken to Belleville General Hospital. According to a police spokesman the car was jacked up when it slipped and fell on top of Mr. Watt.

Association for Retarded Holds Annual Meeting

NAPANEE — There was a good attendance Tuesday evening in the Happy Day School for the annual meeting of the Lennox and Addington Association for the Mentally-Retarded. Fritz Juliussen, first vice-president, was in the chair because of the unavoidable absence of president Harold Todd.

Following the customary opening devotional service, Mr. Julliussen paid tribute to Mrs. Donald (Edith) Kimmett, whose sudden death had saddened all those who had worked with her. She had organized the first Flowers of Hope campaign and had been of service throughout, as she was a charter member.

He read a letter from Judge G. F. Smith asking the acceptance of a $20 cheque in memory of Mrs. Kimmett, the gift of Mrs. Smith and himself and of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Vine. It was decided to set this money aside, and perhaps to add to it, to purchase something for the school in her memory.

A letter from Thomas Royal described what he had told the Association when he addressed the November meeting. This association had been one of the top ten in all Canada in the Flowers of Hope campaign last May. Mr. Royal is the Canadian chairman for the campaign.

A letter from the Canadian Association invited applications from teachers for bursaries for further study in teaching the mentally retarded. Annual reports were read.

Mrs. Bernice Pringle took the chair for the election of officers and these include: president, Fritz Julinsen, first second and third vice-presidents are Mrs. Joan Hinch, Mrs. Mary Milligan, and Mrs. Charles Brooks, respectively; Mrs. Patricia Benn recording secretary, and Mrs. Jean McCracken, corresponding secretary. Mrs. Pringle is again treasurer.

In the absence of Andrew Michalski, who was to have given a full report, Mr. Julliussen gave a brief sketch of the seminar held recently in the School for the Deaf in Belleville, attended also by Mr. Todd. The seminar dealt with the management of schools for the mentally retarded.

Following the adjournment, refreshments were served by a committee headed by Mrs. Julliussen.

Mr. Pearson

Despite any statements to the contrary this may well be an "appropriate time," to use Prime Minister Pearson's own words, to announce his impending retirement.

Mr. Pearson has served his country well. He is now 70 and it has been known for some time that he would like to exchange the pressures of a long diplomatic career for retirement. He has revealed that only the "pleasant" pressure of Centennial Year engagements had prompted him to put off the announcement until now.

It is said his decision came as a surprise. Yet this does seem like the psychological moment for Mr. Pearson to step down. However, he plans to remain prime minister until a convention selects a successor, probably in April.

Mr. Pearson has been one of Canada's most enduring leaders. And this despite a lack of ruthlessness that many thought desirable for such a high office. Rather, Mr. Pearson's unfailing good humor and courtesy became one of his great strengths.

Few of Canada's contemporary politicians have had as much all-round diplomatic experience as Mr. Pearson. As minister of external affairs he looked after Canada's interests abroad. Today, while still prime minister, he enjoys the friendship and respect of leaders throughout the world.

In Prime Minister Pearson Canada has had an excellent advocate — not only in this Centennial Year and during the six golden months of Expo but in the years he has headed the nation's affairs. Although a successor is now his declared goal — he says he will not be a candidate in the next election — it will not be surprising if Mr. Pearson will remain in close touch with the parliamentary scene.

Billion-Dollar League

Trade Minister Winters may be justifiably pleased in being able to announce Canada's entry into what he terms "tourism's billion-dollar league."

The minister told a federal-provincial tourism convention the other day that Canada has joined Italy, the United States and Spain as one of the big four money-earners of tourist dollars.

Expo of course has been the big drawing card this year, attracting a total of $1,250,000,000 in tourist spending. Since we cannot expect to match this next year the target for 1968, according to Mr. Winters and tourist chief Dan Wallace, is $1,500,000,000.

It is hoped the total will rise to $1,500,000,000.

As an earner of tourist dollars Canada can hardly miss even without the lure of attractions such as Expo. After all Ontario (for Americans) is in the words of the advertisement, "Friendly, Foreign and Near."

Success in this field, however, is a combination of little things. Hard work and promotion, yes, as Mr. Winters suggests. But hard work and promotion will be of little use if we fall down on such matters as courtesy and standards of service and cleanliness in restaurants, camps, parks and so on.

To give an example, in an otherwise adequate downtown restaurant in Toronto recently, patrons found the washroom facilities a great deal less than desirable — with soiled towel and basin and no soap. These are the sort of little details that can make or mar any tourist promotion.

Hydro and Buses

An increase in Ontario Hydro rates next year (which Belleville Public Utilities Commission will absorb) and a decline in the number of bus passengers being carried in the city are two matters in the public eye.

That the Utilities Commission will meet the increased cost out of operating surplus is commendable. Yet this is as it should be at a time when the economy is all too strong at all levels of government and merchandising to pass on any increase to the public.

Monthly bills, are likely to increase slightly, however, in the New Year because of an increase in the city sewer charge.

Bus passenger traffic which in 1966 indicated 50,000 more passengers carried than in 1965, will show an increase of only about 25,000 by the end of this year. And Mayor Jarvis increase is one likely reason for the decline in traffic.

Belleville apparently is not alone, for this trend exists elsewhere. How then can a community bus service be made to pay its own way? Short of introducing gimmicks a ready answer to that question does not present itself. Indeed this has been a recurring problem.

As for gimmicks, how about handing out candy to the children — or small Christmas gifts say to every 1,000th passenger!

Premiers Meet

Realism Is Supplanting Religious Enmity in Ireland

By CT FOX
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Top-level hands extended across a still-controversial border are giving new hope that wholesale bitterness and violence in Ireland may be gone for good.

But caution as well as the revived optimism characterized the comments in both communities following a surprise meeting this week between Prime Minister John Lynch of the Irish Republic and his counterpart in Northern Ireland, Terence O'Neill.

Lynch's predecessor, Sean Lemass, had met with O'Neill in 1965, despite some lingering antagonism between the largely Protestant North and the predominantly Roman Catholic South.

The months after these talks brought more protests against policies of conciliation.

The Irish air remains thick with allegations that Catholics suffer political and social discrimination in the North, a largely self-governing part of Britain. Calls are common in the South for an end to partition which followed the independence rebellion of 1916 in Dublin.

Yet the 1965 talks also brought in their wake such moves as the Anglo-Irish free trade agreement and pledges of gradual abolition of economic barriers between Ulster and the republic.

Lynch, 50, and O'Neill, 53, both belong to the Irish generation that matured after the time of the troubles."

The Republican prime minister assumed office in November 1966, the leader of a youthful cabinet.

He and his ministers, drawn from the Fianna Fail party, are reputed to prefer pragmatic ways as against old-time fire and brimstone—though some critics contend that "reactionary" influences abound in such fields as education and culture.

The Lynch-O'Neill meeting was delayed for a year to give extremists time to settle down.

Disappointment was voiced that controversial topics seemed pedestrian but there was relief in some quarters that Lynch had proved himself a conciliator in the Lemass tradition and O'Neill had braved extreme anti-Dublin feelings in his own camp.

Lynch is all-out for Irish entry, along with Britain, into the European Common Market.

The Irish stayed in step with Britain by devaluing their currency Nov. 18, a sign of the republic's continuing economic ties with London.

The Lynch-O'Neill meeting materialized as simply a request in the North estimated that traditional enmities between Ulster's Protestants and Catholics are giving way to attitudes deemed more conducive to practical benefits for all Ireland's people.

At a meeting of the executive committee of the Belleville Branch of the Canadian Red Cross Society with M. Duff presiding, it was reported that all business in connection with the sale of the Red Cross hut at the CNR station had been finished. It is expected that a Blood Donor Service will be in operation in Ontario by the fall of 1948. Mrs. J. A. Buchanan reported progress in setting up the Visiting Homemakers' Service here. Miss Ann Earshman has been appointed supervisor and is authorized to advertise for visiting homemakers.

The city council has ordered that certain streets suitable for "riding down hill" with sleighs and toboggans be closed from four o'clock in the afternoon so that boys and girls may enjoy themselves without fear of being injured by vehicles.

From our file copy at this time in 1897: There were no electric lights on the streets that night and it surely was dark. Two women were seen groping their way to the weekly prayer meeting by the aid of a lighted lantern.

English Is the Medium in Business

Orillia Packet and Times

Perhaps the most overlooked aspect of all concerns the economic future of any new generation of Canadians who might be educated only in French. For Canada is not an island onto itself, but, culturally, geographically and above all, economically it is an extension of a greater society which is wholly English-speaking. By sheer forces of circumstance no young Canadian, however capable, can hope to realize his full potential in business or politics unless he is concepietely at ease in an English-speaking world and anyone educated only in French is a second-class citizen in North America, however equal his status may be, in theory, within the limits of an officially bilingual Canada. No Canadian democratic legislation can alter this hard fact of continental economy.

Official bilingualism is one of those propositions which sound so attractive in theory, but which prove so utterly impossible in practice. It leads to such absurdities as powerful radio stations in the heart of great English-speaking cities, broadcasting in French to audiences of a few dozen, and the staggering expense of repetitive official announcements, printed or spoken. But its most disastrous aspect would be its extension of French-English differences right across the nation, its perpetuation of Canada as a country eternally divided, and its relegation of millions of Canadians to the status of second-class North Americans, set apart from full participation by a government-encouraged minority language.

Womanly Qualities

Letter to Brockville
Recorder and Times

Your editorial — Not For Females — must not go unanswered. I note that you write of females and of men. May I remind you that these are not synonyms. Perhaps in future you will equate woman with man as they are both "people."

Your editorial stinks of discrimination. God does not discriminate between man and woman when he endows us with mental capabilities. Medical evidence confirms this. Therefore I submit that on a percentage basis there are as many qualified women lawyers who could assume the responsibilities of a crown prosecutor as there are men lawyers. You mention that women do carry this responsibility in the province of Quebec. It is encouraging to know that a province striving for equality in Canada, practises it at home.

I realize that editorials are opinions but how about showing your colors instead of hiding behind generalizations like "we do not feel the female is particularly suited" etc. They fill a need in the prosecution of certain and special criminal cases."

You convey the impression that should any woman accept the challenge of being crown prosecutor here she would not have any love of or allegiance to the value of the Commissions or the Status of Women?

Mr. Wilson Finds Words Fail Him

London Observer

After listening to Mr. Wilson's able speech at the Scarborough party conference, one Labor MP remarked sorrowfully: The trouble about Harold is that he isn't a technocrat! He's a verbocrat." And indeed, the prime minister seems to have a curious, self-destructive belief in the power of words: He appears to think that, by outlining a situation, he has actually achieved it. Take the example of Rhodesia. Mr. Wilson tried initially to deal with the crisis by the use of words — with the result that he had no other weapons ready when UDI was declared. Thereafter, declining to treat this as a situation where there was no choice between discreditable surrender, disagreeable action, he sought compromise in a matter where no compromise is really possible and has landed up in a dead-end.

Vancouver Fights Noise

James Nesbitt in
The Vancouver Sun

It's good to see Vancouver banning noisy car drivers, or trying to. It's not going to be easy.

I'm all for Mrs. Marianne Linnell in her anti-noise crusade.

There should be a provincial anti-noise law.

The screaming of tires and roaring of motors in this so-called fun-and-sun Victoria is irritating. It's even worse than Vancouver, because we have many weeks of sun here, there being no compulsory testing.

The way enormous trucks, loaded with lumber, race down narrow Government Street between sawmills and docks is enough to turn most of us stone deaf. It's no noisy in adjoining offices and stores that clerks are becoming nervous wrecks.

Yet our city fathers merely talk about it.

Victoria does very little about traffic. Left hand turns clog the streets, back-in parking holds up long lines of cars. People open their car doors into the stream of traffic and stick their posteriors out while they pick up their packages. Few Victorians pay attention to "don't walk" signs. They ignore the green light and away they go.

I'll let the children have their heads but, if I had anything to do with it,I'd keep the car quiet.

Considering the abuse they take, ears must be very durable parts of the human anatomy.

I'm quite convinced that if we had less noise we would have fewer mental patients.

Bachelors Aplenty

Marriage Costly in Iran

Windsor Star

Romance can be costly when it leads to marriage, and even when it doesn't. The theory that two can live as cheaply as one hasn't proved it anywhere. The price of matrimony, however, usually isn't a deterrent.

It seems to be so in Teheran in far off Iran. There are so many bachelors in that city of 3,000,000 it actually has been proposed marriage be made compulsory. It isn't that Iranian (Persian) girls lack charm. Physically and otherwise they usually are attractive and have the reputation of making good wives.

The price is the obstacle. Tradition imposes on the prospective bridegroom the necessity of buying his chosen several rings, bracelets and necklaces of precious stones. Besides, he has also to buy her gifts to her relatives, pay for all the wedding arrangements, and the biggest bite comes in committing himself to a large sum for the girl's parents.

All this comes even before the nuptials. He then is expected to maintain her in the style to which she was accustomed in her own home. It is no wonder bachelors become wary. It would be cheaper to live in sin.

Tax Rap

Way of the Transgressor

Bruce West in
The Globe and Mail

Well, the price of cigarettes has gone up because of the new taxes and the cost of a bottle of hootch will also soon be soaring. The way of the transgressor is surely hard. Because the new taxes are going to be levied on sin, or what someone up at Ottawa or Queen's Park obviously regards as sin. And you can depend upon it that when the various governments want to pick up a little more money, cigarettes and whisky will get it again — although there doesn't appear at the moment to be any taxes planned on wild, wild women. I said "at the moment" because, sure as sure, they'll eventually get around to putting a tax on them. What bothers me about the tendency to pile tax upon tax on such items as liquor and cigarettes is that no one ever does much hollering about it. It seems to be a Canadian characteristic that we have a built-in guilt complex about the more frivolous things. No one ever kicks.

Yet, with all of the restrictions imposed upon them, Canadians are still generally regarded as being among the world's noisiest and sloppiest drinkers—even outdoing, in this respect, our supposedly boisterous cousins in the United States. You will probably see more drunks wandering about the streets of Toronto after the pubs have closed down than you'll encounter in a year in Paris.

Are Canadian drinkers treated the way they are because of the way they act—or do they act the way they do because of the way they're treated? It is a bad question, and I'm sorry I brought it up!

Family Planning Research

Peterborough Examiner

Seven years ago the pill revolutionized birth control throughout the world. It may soon become old-fashioned with newer simpler, surer and perhaps safer birth control measures. The research into these new methods has received further inspiration from a $10 million grant from the Ford Foundation.

Some of these methods would appear to be ready for practical use within the next few years while others are still a long way from perfection.

It is ironical that research on the new methods has been spurred by the tremendous success and widespread acceptance of the pill. What needs to be done with the increasing research is for broader use of the present pill so that the birth rate in large parts of the world will be held to sensible levels.

France Owes Debt to Allies

Kitchener - Waterloo Record

Prime Minister Wilson has earned some kind words from the European Economic Community for his proposal to General de Gaulle on the topic of Britain's debts and trouble with balance of payments.

The general had loftily noted that Britain's load of war debt made her an undesirable in the European community. Prime Minister Wilson's reasonable reply was that these debts are common, and that it is time to make Europe, including France free.

The Daily Mail (Conservative) added editorially, "He could have said that there would be no free France, no President de Gaulle, no European community, had not Britain spent herself white in the struggle to secure such things in two world wars."

We could write our Canadian postscript to the same observation. Canada has a huge war financial debt of approximately $17,500,000,000 to support military efforts which were, primarily, to liberate France in each case. We're still paying the interest on that debt at the annual rate of about $225 per Canadian household.

It's debt we incurred to get a power base for the general whose current effort is to break up Canada.

It's not the only ancient debt we carry by paying taxes, of course. Most of the hard-earn Canadian taxpayer is still meeting the Buffalo and Lake Huron Railway, which ate us hard in the funded debt of the CNR. However, we don't have to drive any farther than the rail lines through Bright, Drumbo and Tavistock, to find there is a line of railway still in service to show for the bond issue that was floated in 1853.

We don't seem to have got as good value from debt incurred to win de Gaulle's country back for him.

Bond Value Not What Was Anticipated

Edmonton Journal

Seven years ago, the Diefenbaker government carried out the largest financial operation in Canada's history. Two million holders of wartime Victory Bonds, totalling $6,416,000,000, were offered new bonds bearing higher interest, plus a bonus of 50 cents to two dollars for each $100 converted, depending on the type of new bond accepted.

In a rather publicity campaign, Canadians had impressed upon them the splendid investment opportunity they were being offered. It has turned out to be something less than splendid.

For example, a major part of the conversion issue was in bonds bearing 5½ per cent interest and due in 1983. Now, fully a third of the real value of those bonds has been eroded away in inflation. The interest paid has been in progressively debased Canadian dollars.

And what if the buffeted bondholders try to get their money back? Well, the best they can get today on a $100 bond is about $81. In a very real sense they have been swindled. Many trusting, ordinary people have been badly hurt.

Pearson

agree with Mr. Pearson's policies. But "I am not unmindful of the fact that he has given many years of devoted and distinguished service to his country.

Premier Bennett of British Columbia thought the pending federal leadership change along with the provincial convention switch would produce strong, clear-cut federal policies.

Robert Nixon, the Ontario Liberal leader, said Mr. Pearson had brought a new political atmosphere to Canada and had strengthened political involvement.

Gil Molgat, Manitoba's Liberal leader, felt Mr. Pearson would go down in history as one of the great prime ministers.

"In some years' time, considering the legislation produced, the troubled times and the minority government, his will be a surprising record," he said.

Premier Johnson of Quebec praised Mr. Pearson as "a man who agrees to disagree and that is the first step of the dialogue. . . . Mr. Pearson had this very great quality." The Union Nationale leader hoped his successor would have this quality.

Premier Thatcher of Saskatchewan, frequently at odds with the federal government although he's in the same party, said he knew the resignation was coming. He would not try to succeed Mr. Pearson.

Louis St. Laurent, Liberal prime minister from 1948 to 1957, felt it was a wise decision. It would permit the new leader to acquaint himself with the situation before the next election.

Leonard (Red) Kelly, the National Hockey League coach who formerly sat as a Liberal MP, said he ran for the Liberals 1 cause of his personal admiration for the prime minister. Mr. Pearson was "a great man" for Canada.

Mr. Pearson's wife, Maryon, was relieved about the decision. She said her husband will have more time now with his family, including the grandchildren.

Senator Keith Davey of Toronto, a Pearson fan from his days as the party's national organizer, was "deeply saddened" by the resignation.

"Although we failed to secure a parliamentary majority for him he still managed to become one of the greatest Canadian prime ministers."

Santa Promised Good Weather For His Visit to Trenton

TRENTON — The duty forecaster at Canadian Forces Base, Trenton, reports good weather can be expected to prevail for the town's big Santa Claus parade on Saturday. He promises conditions similar as today with sunny periods and a little cool-er temperatures.

The Santa Claus parade this year features the "Snoopy and the Red Baron" float which proved so popular at the Grey Cup parade in Ottawa two weeks ago. Since then, however, the original cast of the Baron's World War 1 vintage airplane had to be reduced for it to pass through the narrow town bridge. But remodelling the wings has increased the crowd appeal of the float if anything according to a spokesman for the sponsors Aircraft Maintenance Development Unit formerly No. 6 Repair Depot. Chamber of Commerce officials are calling the 1967 version of Santa's visit the longest, noisiest and most colorful ever. It comprises five bands, 22 floats, antique cars including a Rolls Royce with Don Joss of Belleville at the wheel and of course old Saint Nick himself with sleigh and reindeers. A new entry will be a steam engine and threshing machine owned and driven by the collector of yesteryear steam models.

The usual representation from federal, provincial and municipal governments have been contacted to ride in lead cars in the procession.

The parade route this year starts at the Community Gardens where entrants have been advised to report at 12.30 p.m. The first sections move off at 1.15 p.m. to Bay St., to Campbell St., to Dundas St., and then west along Dundas St., across the town bridge to Queen St., and the dispersal area at St. Peter's school grounds.

Choral Society to Sing on TV

The Belleville Choral Society, under the direction of Muyray Irwin with S. Alec Gordon accompanist, scheduled two concerts during December.

The first was an evening of Christmas music at Eastminster Church, Dec. 3. The second will be a televised program on CKWS-TV, Kingston, Christmas Day from 2.30 to 3 p.m. Elliott Motors are the sponsors.

Miss Phyllis May, founder of the chorus in 1958, has taken a temporary leave of absence for health reasons. Mr. Irwin, the assistant conductor, has taken over her duties.

New officers for 1968 are: past president, Margaret Stansfield; president, Harold Hildebrandt; vice-president, Darrell Fletcher; secretary, Jean Sizzerba; treasurer, Janet Sawerskyj; publicity, Phyllis Barkley; hostess, Christine MacLeod; gown conveners, Beth Robertson; librarian, Constance Moore; accompanist, S. Alec Gordon; assistant accompanist, Phyllis Barkley.

Weekly rehearsals will be resumed Jan. 8. The Choral Society will sing at Bridge St. Church, Jan. 9, at a Week of Prayer service. In the spring the chorus will participate in an arts festival.

April Convention in Ottawa

No Dearth of Willing Candidates to Succeed Pearson

OTTAWA (CP) — Liberal party executives meet here Sunday to set the time and place for a national convention next spring to choose a successor to Lester B. Pearson, retiring party leader and prime minister.

Likeliest choice is believed to be the third week of April, with Ottawa the site.

PAUL MARTIN

At least five, and possibly 10 or more, candidates are expected to be in the leadership race, party officials said. This makes organizing the convention on short notice a mammoth job.

The 70-year-old prime minister's retirement announcement at a press conference Thursday took the country by surprise.

Moreover, Mr. Pearson engineered his announcement plans so that no word of it leaked out in advance in a city where speculation is rife and often right on target.

Potential candidates are busy assessing their chances. Some have already gathered together key staff personnel in preparation for the race.

Dean of the group, in years of political experience as well as age, is External Affairs Minister Martin, 64, of Windsor, Ont., an MP since 1935, a lawyer and student of international affairs who first became a cabinet minister in 1945 as secretary of state under Mr. King.

Others widely considered, listed according to age, are:

Robert Winters, 57, Nova Scotia-born engineer now an MP for Toronto's York West riding, protege of former trade minister C. D. Howe and son of former prime minister Louis St. Laurent's first cabinet appointments. Defeated in the Conservative victory of 1957, he returned to Parliament in 1963 and became trade minister.

Mitchell Sharp, 56, Winnipeg-born economist, former top civil servant under Mr. Howe in the trade department who quit and went into private industry after the Conservative sweep of 1957. He entered federal politics in Toronto in 1962, won Toronto Eglinton in 1963 and became trade minister, then finance minister.

Paul Hellyer, 44, born near Simcoe, Ont., an aeronautical engineer who, after the Second World War, established a small manufacturing industry in Toronto, first elected to the Commons in 1949. He served briefly as associate defence minister in 1957 under Mr. St. Laurent, and under Mr. Pearson was defence minister until moving to the transport ministry this year. He represents Toronto Trinity.

There also is an abundance of other Jiberal talent below Mr. Pearson's cabinet and in the wings of the Liberal party.

One objective of the convention organizers is to out-perform the Conservatives, whose convention in Toronto's Maple Leaf Gardens in September picked Robert L. Stanfield to succeed John Diefenbaker.

A source said the Liberals hope to make their convention more intimate and posh, perhaps in the setting of the old Chateau Laurier and the streamlined new Skyline Hotel here.

Another possible Ottawa site would be the new Civic Centre at Lansdowne Park, to be completed in January, which could accommodate 8,000. The convention might draw more than 6,000 delegates.

MITCHELL SHARP

Mr. Pearson caught the press and public by surprise when he called a news-hour press conference to read his letter of resignation. It was addressed to Senator John Connolly of Vancouver, Liberal party president.

Only candidate to declare so far that he will be in the race if things look propitious for him is Agriculture Minister J. J. Greene, 51, Toronto-born lawyer and MP for the Ottawa Valley riding of Renfrew South. An unsuccessful candidate for the Ontario Liberal leadership, he has established himself in the Commons since 1962 as a careful but colorful politician.

Liberal Leader Jean Lesage of Quebec, Premier Louis Robichaud of New Brunswick, the latter fresh from a provincial election victory, declared themselves not interested in the leadership.

But among the present cabinet members, those who are regarded as active, potential, and possible candidates are:

Joan Marchand, 49, Montreal labor leader-turned-politician who entered the Commons in 1963 and became manpower and immigration minister last year.

Allan MacEachen, 48, Nova Scotia-born political scientist who was an MP from 1953 to 1958, became a key adviser to Mr. Pearson on Quebec affairs, and labor minister on the return of the Liberals to government. He is health minister and government House leader.

Justice Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau, 46, Montreal-born lawyer and student of economics who, along with Mr. Marchand and Gerard Pelletier (L'—Montreal-Hochelaga), was one of the three Liberal party star candidates in Quebec in 1965.

E. J. Benson, 64, an accountant and commerce professor at Queen's University in Kingston, born in Cobourg, Ont., and as revenue minister and treasury board president has emphasized business procedures in government administration.

ROBERT WINTERS

Is highly regarded by the men and women who become convention delegates.

Eric Kierans, fluently-bilingual president of the Quebec Liberal party, is regarded by some as a possible candidate. Former revenue minister of the province and former president of the Montreal and Canadian stock exchanges, he has emerged as a strong anti-separatist voice in Quebec.

Mr. Pearson's resignation announcement drew praise from supporters and political opponents for the manner in which he made it.

"The style of his departure is as gracious as the man himself," said Senator Keith Davey of Toronto, who was chief party organizer when Mr. Pearson came to power.

"His leader of a political party would have received more loyalty, support and friendship than I have," Mr. Pearson said in his resignation letter. "For that, and for the opportunity to serve my country through the party, I will always be deeply grateful."

To the crowded press conference at which he read the letter, he added with a grin that he hopes to retire with his wife, Maryon, to "our little rose-covered cottage in Rockcliffe," a residential suburb of Ottawa.

And at the end of his press conference, he said: "Well, c'est la vie" (That's life).

Mr. Pearson took leadership of a demoralized and disintegrated Opposition party in 1958 with the Jewell and Iceyth mine that characterized his earlier career in diplomacy.

With Mr. Gordon, Senator Davey and others in a team pet-tered other U.S. political party enterprise, he edged the Liberals back into minority power in 1963. He fell short of a Commons majority again in 1965.

The government could be upset at any time by a solidly-united opposition in full attendance on a confidence vote in the Commons.

Political thinking here now is that this is unlikely—certainly

John Turner, 38, born in Surrey, England, and educated at private schools in Canada, and at Oxford and Paris universities, who has been designated as minister of the fledgling department of consumer and corporate affairs. He is generally regarded as the Liberal party's most attractive candidate for young voters.

Walter L. Gordon, 61, who was chairman of the party's election campaign committees under Mr. Pearson and who is one of his closest friends. Now Privy Council president, has said he has more interest in party organization and policy planning than leadership, but he for the balance of the winter and until after the Liberal leadership convention. But since Mr. Pearson's successor has been chosen, the opposition may be hot after a quick election before the new man consolidates his position. Or, more likely, he may quickly seek his own mandate from the people.

The son of a Methodist clergyman, Lester Bowles Pearson was born April 23, 1897, at Newtonbrook, Ont., educated at Toronto, Peterborough, and Hamilton, and served overseas in the

PAUL HELLYER

First World War both in the flying corps and the medical corps.

He was successively high commissioner for Canada in London, assistant undersecretary of the department, ambassador to Washington, and undersecretary—top staff diplomat. He has been chairman of the NATO council, president of the United Nations General Assembly, and won the Nobel Peace Prize in 1957.

Operation Unity Planned

OTTAWA (CP)—Between now and his retirement next spring, Prime Minister Pearson is expected to devote a good deal of time to speeches on national unity and constitutional reform.

"It will be a new Operation Unity," an informant said Thursday.

The prime minister told his retirement-plans press conference that he will remain active politically in the next three or four months, particularly in the field of constitutional problems.

A federal-provincial constitutional conference will open here Feb. 5. Mr. Pearson has said he hopes progress can be made on embedding in the constitution a bill of rights guaranteeing language and education rights for French-speaking Canadians everywhere in Canada.

This conference is not expected to settle the matter. What is hoped for is that a committee of attorneys-general will be established to work out details and that another full-dress federal-provincial meeting will convene in the summer to study the results.

Informants said Mr. Pearson feels that a good start was made at the premiers' Confederation of Tomorrow conference in Toronto in late November and that he wants to keep up and, if possible, accelerate the momentum.

Mr. Pearson has always regarded national unity as his main political objective.

Many Liberal MPs, especially from Quebec, felt that Mr. Pearson was the only man capable of leading the country at this crucial time. That is why so many were reported glum when he told the Liberal caucus of his retirement plans Thursday afternoon before the Commons met.

Many of his associates advised Mr. Pearson not to announce his retirement plans before the federal-provincial conference in February.

But he told reporters he does not feel his position as prime minister will be weakened at the conference by his retirement announcement.

In effect, his power now will reside in his elder-statesmanship rather than in his prime ministership.

Allard Rejected Cabinet Post In 1955--'Thank God I Did'

BRUSSELS (CP) — Gen Jean Allard, chief of the Canadian defence staff, says he turned down a cabinet post in the Canadian government in 1955, "and I thank God I did."

"Now I believe it is too late to be a politician," added the 54-year-old soldier as he wound up his meetings with NATO military chiefs and prepared to return home.

Normally, generals retire at 57 but usually chiefs of staff get one or two extensions.

Allard said in an interview that ranged from the prospects of NATO's new mobile destroyer force to the war in Vietnam:

"I would not have been able to obtain the experience I now have gained, and I would make a poor politician. I am a very orderly person and I don't think I would fit the political life very well."

Asked whether he would write his memoirs when he retires, Allard, popularly known as a fighting man's soldier, replied: "Never in your bloody life. I am happier thinking than writing."

Allard said the new naval mobile force planned by NATO would provide a good psychological lift for the local people in countries where the destroyer force visited. He anticipated the force, to which Canada may contribute one destroyer, would move from the North Atlantic region to other areas—even the Mediterranean where the Soviet Union has built up a big naval presence.

He did not think the NATO force would deter the Russians but would make the local people in the region feel they have not been forgotten.

Allard praised his Canadian forces highly. He said one of the hardest tasks in recent years was the move of the Canadian NATO squadrons from France to Germany after President de Gaulle ordered NATO forces from French territory.

"The way the Canadian Air Force moved from France to Germany without loss of total effectiveness was the greatest tribute to the profession. The air division is sacred—bless their souls."

Allard, a onetime military attache in Moscow, said he firmly believes the Russians have concluded that atomic warfare cannot be profitable under any circumstances.

The Russians are "good chess players," he said, and it may be a fact that the West is not doing enough to counter the Russian moves. The West may continue to lose a bit of ground on the grand strategy play but eventually the truth will win out, he said.

More efforts had to be made to show the underdeveloped countries the West had no axe to grind. More had to be done in the form of "true assistance" to those struggling for better lives.

Canada's armed forces are being trimmed. Allard said he would continue to fight for the things he needed though he realized there had to be sacrifices in order that Canada could live within its means.

However, if a country could not defend itself and had to depend on a neighboring country to do the job, then that neighboring country would expect to be paid, in one form or another.

Asked for his views on Vietnam, Allard, a native of Nicolet, Que., said he is a strong Christian. He was deeply impressed when he saw the hundreds of thousands of Christians evacuated from the North to South Vietnam. He was enthused with Canada's work on the International Control Commission.

Noting that Louis had said religion was the opium of the people, Allard suggested the opium of the people was the belief that science would make everyone happy. His believed happiness is to be found in simple, natural things.

Fire Chief Poste Outlines Dangers of Christmas Tree

In a special Christmas message to all citizens Fire Chief Ted Poste has warned that fire safety comes first in the festive season.

According to Chief Poste the potential danger around Christmastime is the tree. Certain rules have been suggested by fire officials concerning the symbol.

If you prefer the natural trees, buy only the fresh, green ones and keep it outdoors or in an unheated garage until it is ready to be used.

One or two inches should be cut diagonally in the butt of the tree so that water can soak into the tree to prevent dry-out.

All forms of flame should be kept way from the tree and this includes cigarettes and matches.

After the opening of gifts, wrappings should not be left under the tree.

The tree should be kept away from fireplaces and stoves or radiators. It should not block any exit.

Concerning lights for the trees, the wiring should always be checked and CSA approved. They should be switched off the tree by means of a shock.

Metallic trees, problem fire officials, are conducive of electricity and therefore present their own form of fire danger. Lighting, then, should be from floodlights rather than from stringed ones.

Estate Planning Outlined

Estate planning was the topic of discussion at the monthly dinner meeting of the Bay Quinte Chapter of the Society of Industrial Cost Accountants held this week at the Tops Motel.

Guest speaker W. J. Stotesbury, C.A., of George A. Welch Company, said the tools and techniques of estate planning included the family holding corporation, estate freezing plans, including limited partnerships, inter vivos gifts, trust and life insurance.

Mr. Stotesbury stressed the importance of using the services of an accountant, a banker, a trust officer, lawyer and life insurance agents when planning an estate.

This will ensure that the testator's wishes will be carried out and the greatest savings in estate tax and succession duties will be achieved.

The speaker said that as taxes on an estate must be paid within six months of the testator's death, it was advisable to provide for some liquid assests to pay these taxes and other debts.

One method of providing the necessary funds for payment of death duties according to Mr. Stotesbury was through the purchase of the right kind of life insurance by the beneficiary. Such funds are not considered as taxable income.

The speaker was introduced by Ron Connelly, R.I.A., Lake Ontario Cement Company, and was thanked by Murray Brown, C.A., Northern Electric. Chapter president Glyn Harry, R.I.A., Loyalist College conducted the meeting.

What costs you 35¢ a day and protects you and your car from just about anything that could happen?

Car Insurance, of course

Car insurance that for 35¢* can mean plenty in terms of guaranteed financial protection.

You could be in an accident today. The repair bill could be staggering. But your collision insurance would take care of it, except for your deductible.

Your car might catch fire. Or be stolen. A lot of things can happen when you aren't even near it. And you'd be very glad you have 'Comprehensive' insurance.

Worst of all, say you injure another person or damage someone else's car or property. That's when you need your public liability insurance. Without it, you might spend the rest of your life paying other people's bills.

That 35¢ a day certainly guarantees a lot when you think of it this way.

Roommate's Headstands Annoy College Friends

DEAR ANN LANDERS: As a freshman at a large university in North Carolina, I have encountered some pretty weird people since I arrived on campus. But I am not especially bothered by them because I expected to run into some oddballs.

ANN LANDERS

My problem is my roommate. Every time I walked into the room I'd find him — standing on his head. I must have become somewhat accustomed to this sight, although it was not easy. But the annoying thing is that he makes a terrific racket when he falls. When I am studying, these crashing sounds really shake me up. When I am sleepy, they awaken me.

The students below us on either side of us have complained, but my roommate says these headstands are vital to his physical well-being. He also insists that they help him think more clearly and that his grades have improved since he started. Well, maybe his grades have improved, but mine have become worse. Please suggest something. — FLUNKIN' FLOYD.

DEAR FLOYD: Standing on one's head does improve the circulation and many headstanders swear by this exercise. The nose, however, is something else again. Suggest that your roommate put his laundry bag or a mattress or some pillows on the floor and fall on them.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I've been going with this young man for almost two years. He has told me he loves me and has asked me to marry him one day. The problem: We have broken up three times over a woman twice his age.

The woman has a fine husband, yet she must see my boyfriend at least five nights a week. He goes to her house to talk for an hour or two after he leaves here. His monthly invites her to join us when we go to the theatre or the movies if her husband is out of town, although he knows I do not like the idea.

He says this woman is like a mother to him, yet his own mother is so lovely and fine I don't know why he needs a substitute.

Is he having an affair with the old crow or am I nuts? I've told him how I feel about this "friendship" but he can't seem to stay away from her. What do you think? — SUE.

DEAR SUE: I think your boyfriend's attachment to this senior citizen is abnormal and unhealthy. He doesn't sound like very promising marriage material, Doll. In fact the whole thing is like forget it.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: We were married in a private ceremony. Only the immediate families were present.

When we returned from our honeymoon, we received two letters informing us that donations to a cancer foundation had been made in our honor. We have heard of donations in memory of beloved ones who have died, but never have we heard of donations to honor newlyweds. It seems somewhat morbid and in poor taste. Please comment. — UNINFORMED.

DEAR UNINFORMED: Donations to commemorate happy events, such as weddings, anniversaries and births are not only proper, they make better sense than an eleventh candy dish or a twelfth pair of booties.

Christmas Trees Less Expensive This Year

Good news for budget - minded shoppers — the traditional Christmas tree is a trifle lower in price this year.

One dealer has lopped 50 cents off last year's prices and sells 6 foot plantation grown and pruned Scotch pines for $2.50. Shoppers have taken advantage of the superior keeping qualities of the Scotch pine and visited his earlier this year to pick out choice specimens, he claims.

Prices quoted locally for fresh evergreen trees range from $2 for a 5 - footer to about $4 for the towering 8 - footers.

The fire hazard, always an uncomfortable accompaniment of the holiday season, can be lowered by treating evergreens with a fire - proofing compound sold at 89 cents for a spray can. The preparation is guaranteed to prevent needle - shedding for a three - week period.

For those who prefer a tree that can be packed away and used another year, specimens can be found in Belleville stores at prices ranging from 69 cents to $69.95. The first sum buys a tinsel table model in a styrofoam base, the second a realistic green model 7 feet high and collapsable for easy storage.

Psychedelic trees for holiday swingers come in hot pink and blue with branches and needles reminiscent of bottle brushes. Also available is conventional green and white, they're priced from 15.95 up.

For apartment dwellers, 3 foot trees are available in green vinyl at $3.19 and silver tinsel at $2.98. Merchants claim all these artificial specimens have met a fair response from the public.

Most realistic man-made trees are plastic models with arbor vitae type foliage found at a shop dealing exclusively in plastic flowers and fruits. These range in size from a 2 foot table model, sold unpotted at $1.29, to a bushy 4 foot tree at $18.95. The small tree, wound with a 9 foot Della Robbia fruit garland ($3.95) makes an ideal table centrepiece for the traditional dining room.

Stickfree for Biblical authenticity can buy potted plastic palm trees at the same shop. Table sized palms back nativity sets and 6 foot models are demanded now for Christmas pageants.

Hanging decorations suspended from the ceiling are the newest trend in Yule season home decorating. The same shop has bells and mistletoe balls and Victorian style hanging bunches of nuts, fruits and vegetables for the traditional interior.

The best-dressed home this season, like the best-dressed woman, is incomplete without a touch of glitter. One store sells giant tinsel chandelier type decorations designed to out-shine the Christmas tree itself.

Traditional Trees Become Psychedelic

Susie Sprinkle, a U.S. visitor who spends a lot of time in Belleville, looks over some of this year's different Christmas decorations at Walker's Hardware. She was surprised to see that psychedelicism and op, ppp and camp art have even invaded the traditionality of the Christmas season.

Local Couple to Mark 50 Years of Marriage

A World War I veteran who enlisted in the Canadian Army at the age of 15, and his English war bride of half a century ago are celebrating their golden wedding anniversary this weekend.

They are Mr. and Mrs. William McKenna, 149 Burnhaus Street, who will be "at home" to their friends and family members on Sunday.

Saturday they will be honored guests at a family dinner at Bloomfield's Maple Inn.

In fact it is going to be a busy time for the 50-year wed couple all next week. Following the weekend anniversary, they will go to Toronto to attend the annual banquet of the Originals Club and then back home for Christmas.

Members of the Originals Club are all World War I veterans who went overseas with the first contingent in 1914.

And next summer Mr. McKenna hopes to re-visit World War I battle scenes as member of an overseas charter flight being sponsored by the club.

Mr. McKenna is a life member and former president of the Army, Navy and Airforce Veterans, Unit 201 and also belongs to the Royal Canadian Legion in Belleville.

While serving with the 4th Battery CFA, he was seriously wounded in France and a year later when still only 19 he was married in England to the former Amelia Scarff.

Now retired, Mr. McKenna for many years worked as a plasterer.

Anniversary congratulatory messages and the seasonal Christmas greetings are making a double load for the postman as he called at the McKenna home this week. Among the anniversary congratulations are messages from Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson, and Ontario Premier John P. Robarts.

The couple have three daughters, Mrs. K. (Emily) Carswell and Mrs. F. (Eunice) Travers of Belleville and Mrs. James (Doreen) Browning of Malton, and a son Al J. McKenna of Belleville. There are seven grandchildren and one great grandchild.

Girl Too Talkative on Confidential Matters

Dear Doris: My steady and I broke up after a year, just to see how we really felt about each other. Meanwhile, I have been going out with his best friend.

Everything we have talked about has got back to my ex-steady. Today he told my Ex that I was worried sick about whether he was ever going to take me back. The answer was not until he dropped his other girl friend, which he plans to do but not right away.

Do you think that these two boys discussing my thoughts has completely ruined my chances? I thought I could trust this boy because my Ex doesn't like him much. — Confused.

Dear Confused: Confused is the word — and so am I. I think you talk too much. And what kind of a best friend is one he "doesn't like much"?

All I can say is, if there is any kind of sincere feeling here, it will show itself sooner or later. Your job now is to show enough sincerity to keep between you two (you and your ex-boy friend) things which ought to be confidential.

Dear Doris: How can I go about it to find a long lost friend? I want to know what town or city, country, and phone number.

I would not miss your column for anything. You always help so many people. I would give my right arm just to find this person if possible. — Oh So Anxious

Dear Anxious: It's a tall order. You start where you last knew him or her. Write to the official registrar of the area or province; describe person, give approximate age, marital status if you know it, occupation, names of any relatives. State willingness to pay cost of any record searching necessary.

You might be lucky. Much depends on whether L. L. Friend moved about or stayed in one place. If you don't even know the name of his country you may have a long hunt.

Confidential to Concerned: Express yourself to your student council, not to me. Most of us see school as one wonderful training ground in learning to get along with other people — of both sexes. But if your particular alma mater is not committed to coeducation, such notions as socializing may well have reasons.

• • •

Anonymous letters are bad manners and may be ignored. When writing in, give Doris your right name and address. It will be kept confidential.

Ornaments Add to Yuletide Decor

By Reba & Bonnie Churchill

"Deck the halls with boughs of holly, but save a little for yourself!" This is the advice of holiday fun-makers who spread the quickest way to enliven a party is to ornament the guests, as well as the surroundings.

Actress Linda Peck arranges Styrofoam balls into a tree-shaped pine. Additional tree trim — foil pompons, felt flowers and ribbon garlands — also are equally at home pinned to a brunch or to a lapel.

One of the most welcomed guests at a Yule gathering is a pop-up Santa. The springy St. Nick can be perched on a buffet table, jiggled from a tree branch, or dangled from a mantel. Such a Christmas novelty can be utilized for a bit of surprise showmanship. For instance, the stocking-faced Santa, with its plastic eyes, rag-cotton beard and holly trimmed hat-band, is attached to a felt accordion-fold body. Slip your hand up the tube torso, and wow-pow, he becomes a lively Jack-in-a-box. Or, is it Jack-on-a-box, since he can top a gift wrap?

Something different in door badges is this triangle-shaped tree. The lightweight wicker plaque, the type seen at basket-weaving stores, has been coated with weather-resistant paint and artificial holly. Other ornamentation includes a plastic, sponge pixie, which not only contains the green, red and gold motif, but stands up to changing outdoor temperatures. As Linda, who appears in the film, "Star!", points out, whether displayed indoors or outside, the result is a shimmer free that serves as a friendly beacon.

P.S: Like to have a new party coiffure this holiday season? Whether hair is short, medium or long, our 12-page booklet gives set and comb-out tips — flattering for all lengths.

ANSWER: I have not forgotten. I will give it today because you asked.

FRIDAY

Dinner Menu

Blender Salmon Loaf (see Friday, Dec. 8); Tomato Sauce; Cauliflower au Gratin; Baked Shredded Harvard Beets; Waldorf Salad; Ruth's Lemon Slices (see Thursday); Coffee.

PERFECTION FUDGE
(Cocoa)

¼ cup cocoa
1 tbsp. instant coffee powder
1 cup light brown sugar
1 cup granulated sugar
¼ tsp. salt
½ cup 10 percent (cereal) cream (see below)
1 tbsp. corn syrup (do NOT omit)
1 tbsp. butter
1 tsp. vanilla (or rum flavoring)
1 cup broken or whole walnuts or pecans or chopped almonds

Mix together dry in heavy deep saucepan the cocoa, coffee powder, sugars and salt. Stir in cream. (Note: ½ cup is ½ cup less 2 tbsps.) Stir in corn syrup and butter. Place over high heat, stirring until boiling. Stand off heat and with damp cloth wrapped around your finger wipe off all sugar crystals on sides of pan. Return to medium heat, put in candy thermometer and gently boil to exactly 235 deg. F. (This takes 25 to 30 min. but watch it.) Immediately remove from heat and stand in large pan of cold water for 5 min. Remove from cold water pan and add vanilla (or rum flavoring). Beat with wooden spoon until it begins to thicken and lose some of its shine and will retain spoon marks for 2 or 3 seconds. Stir in nuts and beat for 3 or 10 seconds longer. Immediately turn into buttered 8" square pan or 9" diameter round pan, allowing it to mound slightly. (Note: If you spread it with spoon it loses its top gloss, so pour quickly and be content with where it falls.) Cool and chill until hard. Mark and cut into squares.

NOTE: If this Perfection Fudge is to be made for Christmas gifts pour into buttered small foil pans. When wrapping time arrives wrap in Saran, then in red cellophane and tie with rakish red bow.

Test-tube Life Manufactured By Scientists in California

STANFORD, Calif. (AP) — Dr. Arthur Kornberg says genetic material that he helped synthesize in a test tube could "with reservations" be considered a primitive form of life.

At Stanford University, Kornberg and Dr. Mehran Goulian, who at present is on the University of Chicago faculty, manufactured viral DNA, the nucleic acid essence of life, and it, in turn, produced active viruses in living cells.

Kornberg outlined his reservations at a news conference Thursday: The impossibility of defining "life" or "living" to the satisfaction of both laymen and scientists, the lack of a sharp line separating the simplest living bacteria and the most complex virus, which may or may not be characterized as living, depending on the scientist's attitude.

"We know that the vital DNA molecule which we have synthesized can reproduce itself inside a living cell and generate new viruses," said Kornberg, head of Stanford's department of biochemistry.

Dr. James A. Shannon, director of the national institute of health, called the achievement of Kornberg and his associates "one of the great landmarks of research in the life sciences."

Certain forms of cancer that may be caused by viruses and possibly diseases of genetic origin are problems that "the tremendous future potential of the new development" may help solve, Shannon said in Washington.

Kornberg and Goulian took DNA—deoxyribonucleic acid, the basic hereditary material of every living cell—from a simple virus called Phi X 174.

They put the Phi X DNA as a template or pattern into a test tube with a solution rich in the four genetic compounds which make up strands of DNA. They added two catalysing enzymes, DNA polymerase and DNA ligase.

The original DNA, aided by the enzymes, synthesized copies of itself from the "building blocks" in the solution, about 6,000 blocks in each circular strand of DNA.

The researchers carefully separated the original DNA from the synthesized DNA and introduced the latter into bacteria called E. Coli, common to the human intestinal tract.

Phi X virus infects and destroys E. Coli by invading the bacteria cells and replicating until the cells burst.

The man-made DNA worked the same way, replicating complete Phi X viruses.

Samples were sent to Dr. Robert L. Sinsheimer of the California Institute of technology, who discovered Phi X in 1959. He tested the samples and found them fully infectious—in scientific terms "biologically active."

Kornberg, who won a Nobel Prize in 1959 for assembling biologically inactive DNA from a mixture of inert chemicals said: "I think the action of the DNA polymerase enzyme in the test tube is impressive if you consider that a single copying mistake in the entire sequence would result in a garbled message, therefore, in biologically inactive DNA."

Five-year Refugee Plan Urged

UNITED NATIONS (CP) — Israel offered Thursday to negotiate with her Arab neighbors on a five-year plan for rehabilitation of the estimated 1,500,000 Arab refugees.

Israeli Ambassador Michael S. Comay, however, gave no details of his government's ideas, saying that "no useful purpose would be served by inviting debate on them in this committee at the present."

He told the General Assembly that the plan would be outlined in detail in the negotiations Israel proposes, which he said should include the countries that provide most of the financial support for the refugees as well as the Arab nations.

The Arabs, continuing their 20-year state of belligerency, have refused any form of direct negotiations with Israel in the aftermath of the June war on the grounds that such talks would imply recognition of Israel as a state.

The committee is discussing the problems of the 1,300,000 Arab refugees from the 1948 Arab-Israeli war and the estimated 200,000 Arabs who took flight during and after the June fighting.

Canada and others have insisted the tragic plight of the refugees is one of the major sources of conflict in the area.

Canada In Class By Itself

PRINCETON, N.J. (CP) — Canada's Expo 67 and Israel's smashing victory over the Arabs have pushed those countries higher in the American list of favorite nations, says the Gallup Poll.

But Canada is in a class by itself.

France and Egypt lead the "bad guy" category, France because of resentment about President de Gaulle and Egypt because of its anti-Israel attitude.

A year ago Canada scored a 50-per-cent mark in the category of highly favored countries and this has risen to 65 per cent, says the poll conducted by veteran opinion sampler George Gallup.

England stays in second place, with a highly-favored rating of 36 per cent against 22 last year. Israel has gone up from 13 per cent to 23.

No unfavorable sentiment toward Canada was recorded in 1966 or 1967.

Bigger Cut In Outlays Requested

OTTAWA (CP)—The Canadian Chamber of Commerce called on the federal government Thursday to cut still harder into its spending programs.

A delegation of chamber representatives from coast to coast, in an annual policy presentation to the cabinet, expressed continuing concern about inflation.

Chamber President W. M. Anderson of Vancouver said restraints should have been harsh enough to avoid the tax increases announced in the Nov. 9 budget.

He called for redoubled efforts to bring economies in spending as necessary steps "to give leadership to the country and materially help to stem the inflationary forces."

The statement covered wage parity, Canada-United States relations and trade.

Salazar Slaps Critics

LISBON (AP) — Threatened by a political scandal and by growing opposition, the aging old dictatorship of Premier Antonio Salazar of Portugal is striking back at some of its critics.

Within the last week, the government has:

—Arrested a well-known lawyer considered the main spokesman for the opposition.

—Deported a Chilean member of the International Commission of Jurists.

—Refused to admit a correspondent of an American magazine to Portugal.

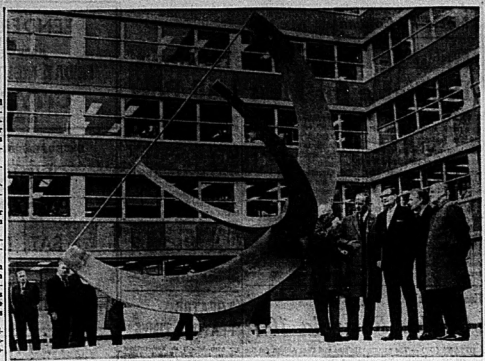
—Interrogated five Lisbon University student leaders in connection with student accusations that the government was negligent in providing adequate aid to survivors of disastrous floods which killed 478 people.

—Accused foreign correspondents in Lisbon of filing dispatches detrimental to Portugal.

Rumors about a sex-and-sin scandal involving cabinet ministers, bankers, aristocrats and a number of other prominent individuals has been making the rounds for the last year. They have intensified and have been given greater weight by recent foreign newspaper stories.

These unconfirmed reports say Joao Antunes Varela resigned as minister of justice because the Salazar regime would not let him prosecute the persons involved in a vice ring that employed teen-age girls.

Antunes Varela has refused to discuss the reports with newspaper men.



There has been no official comment on the rumors, and strict censorship has kept them out of the Portuguese press.

But some diplomats and other foreign observers believe they are connected with the arrest of political police Wednesday of Martin Sampaio, prominent opposition lawyer and critic of the Salazar regime, the expulsion last week of Chilean Hernan Errazuriz Portio, and the refusal to allow Time magazine correspondent Roger Stone to enter the country.

Portio was arrested at his hotel and put on a plane to Geneva, sources said. His organization protested his expulsion to the Portuguese ambassador in Switzerland.

These actions came soon after government criticism of dispatches to foreign news agencies which it officially termed "detrimental and tendentious."

One American was questioned by security police for several hours for filing a story about student criticism of government relief to the flood survivors. The Associated Press correspondent was called to the foreign ministry to explain why he had written a story about widespread criticism of government censorship during the floods.

Johnson Promises Assistance In Municipal Corruption Case

MONTREAL (CP) — Premier Daniel Johnson has promised Quebec government assistance to a lawyer who is pressing corruption charges against the mayor of suburban St. Michel.

Mayor Maurice Bergeron now is undergoing preliminary hearing and Mr. Johnson expressed interest in the developments following Thursday's testimony.

Claude Viens, former secretary of the St. Michel Police Brotherhood, told the hearing which was continuing today that he had sent a cheque for $2,700 to Mayor Bergeron.

He said the cheque was sent in the fall of 1965 while the brotherhood was negotiating a new work contract with the suburban municipality.

Mr. Johnson said the provincial government is prepared to assist lawyer Gerard Beaudry who is acting as a private prosecutor in the case.

Mr. Johnson added that Municipal Affairs Minister Robert Lussier also is eager to help in the case.

The provincial cabinet studied the affair Thursday, two days after more than 1,000 persons demonstrated in front of St. Michel's city hall, breaking windows and calling for the resignation of the mayor and council.

The citizens demonstrated after they could not get into the council meeting which was being held despite the recent arrest of the mayor and several other civic officials.

Mayor Bergeron is facing charges of municipal corruption arising from allegations that he accepted money to facilitate the entry of men into the police force and that he sought and received money on two occasions for his assent to a favorable working agreement with the brotherhood.

I WOULD LIKE TO TAKE THIS OPPORTUNITY TO THANK THE PEOPLE OF BELLEVILLE FOR THEIR SUPPORT AT THE POLLS AND TO THOSE WHO WORKED ON BY BEHALF ON DECEMBER 4TH.

ALTHOUGH DEFEATED, POSSIBLY I WILL "THROW MY HAT IN THE RING" FOR THE NEXT ELECTION.

Senate Approves Death Penalty Ban

OTTAWA (CP) — A government bill limiting the death penalty passed the Senate by a vote of 40 to 27 Thursday and is expected to get royal assent sometime next week, before Parliament adjourns Dec. 22 for Christmas.

The bill, passed earlier by the House of Commons, restricts the death penalty for murder to killers of policemen or prison guards for a five-year trial period.

The Senate gave third reading to the bill on a voice vote shortly after the recorded vote of 40 to 27 was taken on second reading, approval in principle.

Opponents of the bill in the upper house did not yield without one final effort to alter its provisions. Senate Opposition Leader Jacques Flynn sought to amend the bill to make "21 years" imprisonment mandatory for murder, without possibility of parole, and to reduce the trial period to three years. These proposals were beaten on voice votes.

Poster Contest Winners Are Given Awards

They start them young in Belleville when it comes to fire prevention.

Each year hundreds of public school students are put through an exercise profitable to them and the city's fire department.

The department has found a way to spark young imaginations over the hazards of fire. A poster contest.

The competition is staged in all public schools where the students are encouraged by their teachers to produce their individual propaganda ideas promoting fire safety.

Winning posters are then selected by department officials and prizes awarded ranging from $15 to $3.

"We feel through this type of promotion we keep the youngsters mindful of fire hazards in the home — and thus indirectly reach the parents," explained fire inspector Robert Fair at yesterday's prize presentations at the West Moira Street firehall.

This year the two top winners were both from the same school. Tim Skinkle and Jennifer Lavis, both 10, attend Prince Charles School.

Brewer, Hill Posted Lowest Scores

PALM BEACH GARDENS, Fla. (AP) — A couple of 61s posted by Gay Brewer and Dave Hill were the lowest-round scores of the 1957 professional tour but records showed Thursday that the straight-par golfers did all right.

Official Professional Golfers Association statistics showed a golfer who played par in every tournament would have picked up 37 cheques good for $37,645, or eighth place among the top money winners.

The figures were not nearly as revealing as those of 1956 when a par golfer would have been the tour's top money winner.

Building Bits of Variety Shows Profitable for Mess Hall Boss

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Just as aircraft manufacturers farm out the construction of parts, television now has its sub-contractors. One of the busiest is a former mess hall boss who builds bits of variety shows and will gross this year about $3,000,000.

John Urie photographs rock 'n' roll groups performing in unlikely settings—seashores, jungles, stairways, rooftops—and combines their gyrations with equally wild visual effects like dancing lights and floating flowers.

The result—which he calls "miniflims" or "snags to sell"—are blended into the studio audience shows of the Smothers Brothers, Jonathan Winters and other stars.

The advantage, says Urie, is "getting the show off the stage and giving it space, feeling, dimension and form."

Urie, 38, is a St. Paul, Minnesotan who estimates he had 200 jobs before getting into television.

He delivered animated films for a Hollywood producer, got into writing and animating television commercials and seven years ago opened his own commercial factory.

He operates in an old building cluttered with props, 50 employees and signs like "Is there television after death?" and "Please, let's not cloud this discussion with logic."

At the rear is a sound stage where actors do scenes extolling beer, cigarettes, automobiles, cereal, diet drinks, cameras and many other products. Commercials are still a vital part of his business.

"The music groups came to me because they like my commercials," Urie says.

Eastern Nationals

Clobber Romania 10-2

OTTAWA (CP) — The eastern division of Canada's national hockey team beat the Romanian national team 10-2 Thursday night to even the touring team's Canadian record at four wins, four losses and two ties.

Ken Laidlaw led the Eastern Nationals with two goals and three assists while Bert Ashe, Butch Going and Bob Berry added two goals apiece. Derek Holmes and Cam Allison got the other goals.

For Romania, Eduard Pana scored on a deflection and Dederich Varga added a goal on a power-play screened shot. Both Romanian goals came in the second period, after the Nationals had built up a 6-0 lead.

Lonborg Signs, $50,000

BOSTON (AP) — "It only took about a minute," said 24-year-old Jim Lonborg as he walked out of Red Sox general office with a contract calling for a salary next season of about $50,000.

The slim, Stanford-educated pitcher, who posted 22 regular season victories for the Sox and then won two more games in the World Series, signed his 1958 contract Thursday in amicable fashion.

Best estimate is that his salary is close to double that which he got last year. The raise for the three-year veteran was termed "decent" by general manager Dick O'Connell, who added: "I hope the others are just as easy."

Aging catcher Elston Howard, who joined the Sox in August and was credited with settling down a youthful pitching corps, signed his contract for a reported $65,000.

SLICES SPORTS

By Geo. H. Carver
Sports Editor

"I have," said the man "what I think will be a cure for the whole disease that is bedevilling the Mo-Hawks and the Junior B's."

"Such as?" someone asked.

"Forget this three-period game stuff. Make the games one twenty-minute frame and they'll come up with some victories."

The man may have a point there.

Of late both clubs have come up with more or less giddy-up in the first frame or two but like the Arabs of poetry "they fold their tents and silently fade away" in the final chukker.

In fairness to both clubs an occasional "break" or a stellar from Lady Luck would have helped tremendously, but hockey games are not won outright by the whims and vagaries of Dame Fortune.

Both the Mo-Hawks and Juniors are wallowing in the depths of the cellars of their respective leagues.

The youngsters have not got the "horses" the elders possess but it must be said they go out there and give their best for two periods at least.

Unfortunately they seem to develop a third-period lapse, their legs go all to pot and opposing teams, quick to sense the advantage, deliver the coup-de-grace.

They are winless in 14 starts and are perilously close to playoffs oblivion.

And its about time the Mo-Hawks started to hike their britches and get out there and play hockey. As was noted they are in the league's basement quarters and if they don't soon begin to show some signs of life they too will be watching the playoffs from the sidelines.

On paper the senior club is a lot more stronger than the 1966-67 edition.

It has the potential of a league-championship, form and if they went out there and exercised the potential they would be hovering around the leaders.

It is all right for some of them to say "Don't worry about us, we'll be in there come playoffs time."

The question is "when are they going to start to get in there." There's an old saying "He who hesitates is lost" and to paraphrase another familiar phrase "Procrastination is the thief of victory."

True they have lost games by the narrow margin of a single goal and while in fairness to them they have not been overblessed with the "breaks."

But there have been times when some flash around the enemy nets, less cerebic shooting and a lightening of the defence would have turned the tide of defeat.

"Know what is wrong with that club," snorted an irate fan the other night, "they don't appear to me to be in the best of shape. They go like hell for a period or two but when the third frame rolls around, where are they?"

Tempus fugits rapidly nearing playoffs time. And the Mo-Hawks will have to get out those horses and start readying for the run down the stretch.

The Barrie Flyers are here tonight and tonight is as good as any for the Mo-Hawks to show their true potential and start the drive down the victory trail.

Rojas Wins "World Title"

LOS ANGELES (AP) — California's Paul Rojas, fighting with an almost blind left eye from the middle of the fight on, scored a unanimous 15-round decision over Antonio Herrera of Colombia to win the California version of the vacant world featherweight boxing championship Thursday night.

Herrera, 125, was recognized by the World Boxing Association as the No. 1 contender for the title left open when Mexico's Vicente Saldivar retired, but did not fashion this as a world title match.

Blues Defeat Mustangs 6-2

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — University of Toronto Blues defeated Western Mustangs 6-2 in Ontario-Quebec Athletic Association play here Thursday night.

Bob McDonald and Paul Laurent led Toronto with two goals each. Defencemen Jim Miles and Pete Speyer scored the other Toronto goals.

John Hospodar and Wayne McAlpine scored for London.

Hawks Cut Boston Lead To Point!

By GRAHAM COX
Canadian Press Staff Writer

It should almost be enough for Brit Selby just to be back in action with Philadelphia Flyers of the National Hockey League.

In the last year he's had a broken right leg and shoulder separation.

But Thursday night, in his first NHL game since injuring his shoulder Nov. 2 against Minnesota North Stars, Selby scored both Philadelphia goals in a 2-2 tie with St. Louis Blues to boost the Flyers into a first-place Western Division tie with Los Angeles Kings.

In the only other scheduled game, Chicago Black Hawks continued their run at the Eastern Division lead, moving into second place, one point behind Boston Bruins, with a 3-1 victory over Detroit Red Wings.

Tonight's action has Boston at Oakland against the Seals, last in the west, and Minnesota in Los Angeles.

Frank St. Marseilles, in the first period, and Gary Sabourin, in the second scored for St. Louis.

Stan Mikita scored once and assisted on another for Chicago, moving into third place among league scorers with 18 goals and 16 assists.

Doug Mohns tallied the first two Chicago goals while Norm Ullman was the only scorer for Detroit.

Mikita now is only one point behind John Bucyk of Boston and four behind team-mate Bobby Hull, who has 25 goals and 13 assists in 29 games.

Mikita now has scored at least one point in his last 10 games and with Hull appears the key to Chicago's dramatic move in recent weeks from the division basement to leadership contender after winning the league championship last season.

Selby, unprotected in the spring expansion draft by Toronto, won the Calder Trophy as rookie of the year in 1966 while scoring 14 goals and 13 assists. He slipped to a goal and an assist in six games the following year before being farmed out by the Leafs to Vancouver Canucks of the Western League.

He played 15 games with the Canucks before breaking his leg last Dec. 7 and was in a hip-to-thigh cast, when the season ended.

Philadelphia, locked in a see-saw chase for the Western title with Los Angeles, saw potential in the 22-year-old Kingston, Ont., native, but their hopes were short-lived when, after just eight games this year, he injured his shoulder.

Their faith in the former Toronto chatel was renewed Thursday when he brought the Flyers back twice from near defeat, even though referee Bill Friday disallowed two Philadelphia goals because one was batted in by a hand and the other was scored after a whistle.

Charlebois, with 15 goals, will replace Andre Pronovost.

NHL Scoring Leaders

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Stan Mikita kept rolling toward the National Hockey League scoring lead Thursday, but had some of his thunder stolen by team-mate Doug Mohns in Chicago Black Hawks' 3-1 victory over Detroit Red Wings.

Mohns's two goals raised his total for the season to 11 and boosted his points total to 22. He has 11 assists.

Mikita, with a goal and assist now has 34 points on 18 goals and 16 assists, just four points behind team-mate Bobby Hull. Hull was abstout Thursday and now has 25 goals and 13 assists in 29 games.

Between the two, in second place with 35 points on 18 goals and 17 assists, is John Bucyk of Eastern Division-leading Boston Bruins.

BCI Seniors Drab Quinte!

By STEVE BISHOP

The BCI seniors rolled to their third straight victory by drubbing Quinte 88-47 in Bay of Quinte basketball play at BCI last night. BCI also took the junior game, 71-60, with Quinte salvaging one win in the bantam contest by a score of 46-31.

In the senior game, Quinte jumped to an early 10-4 lead, but Coach Wally Beevor's Collegians battled back to lead 28-14 at the end of the first quarter.

Quinte, relying on a touch physical game were hurt by a number of fouls. The Saints' strident protests brought a number of technical fouls as well, so that BCI was able to cash in heavily from the free throw line. At the half, the Collegians had a commanding 51-27 lead.

The game settled down in the third quarter, with fewer fouls, and with BCI outscoring Quinte 14-12. The fourth quarter found most of the regulars resting (and three Saints fouled out) as BCI coasted to their victory.

Quinte was unable to cope with BCI's big man, John Chalmers, who put together an awesome collection of hooks, jumpers and close-in shots for a total of 46 points — 32 of them in the first half. He also rebounded with his customary strength, often drawing two or more Saints with him. And his teammates came through, led by Brian Harder, who played a fine game and scored 21 points, and Bill Mindenhall, supported Chalmers on the boards and collected 9 points.

Red Townsend's junior Collegians, despite the loss of their high scorer, Dave Cass, through injury, outfought Quinte for a 33-30 half-time lead, and pulled ahead with a 22-6 third quarter bulge to clinch their third victory in as many starts.

Dave Wright led BCI scoring with 19 points, while Ron Richardson had 12, and Gerry Pugh 10 points, to finish in double figures for the winners.

Duffy Folwell's Saints were led by Tom Churchill, with 22 points, and Pete Middleton and Steve McKeown, with 12 and 10 points, respectively.

Coach Dave Talbot's BCI bantam squad stayed close to Quinte in the first half, trailing just 26-22 at the half. But the Saints outscored BCI by 20-9 in the second half for the only Quinte victory of the night.

Bill Kirkham was high scorer for Rick Locke's Quinte club, with 10 points. Garvin Easton and Kim Hunter scored 8 apiece. Al Gallupe, with 12 points, and Jamie Cass, with 11, were high scorers for BCI.

Phillips Defeats Gervais In Curling Epic; Richardson Out

TORONTO (CP) — "Doug Wankel and the Kmtson boys will win it all," said lead Mel Perry after he and his Regina mates lost 15-5 to the Elbow, Sask., rink Thursday in an international curling tournament sponsored by the CBC.

The result eliminated the Regina rink, skipped by Ernie Richardson, and placed the Wankel foursome in the section B final against Hec Gervais of Edmonton at 1 p.m. EST today.

"The way those fellows are going, there isn't any one who can take them," Perry said.

Standing in Wankel's way are two portly patriarchs of the curling world, Alf Phillips Jr. of Toronto and Gervais.

Phillips and his Canadian champion rink defeated Gervais, winner of the world title in 1961, 10-8 Thursday in one of the most exciting matches of the eight-rink double-knockout bonspiel.

Earlier, Richardson eliminated Terry Braunstein of Winnipeg 7-6, while Wankel knocked Bruce Roberts of Seattle, Wash., out of the competition with a 12-3 victory.

Chuck Hay of Scotland and Hersh Lerner of Winnipeg were eliminated Wednesday.

The Phillips-Gervais clash matched the strongest-sweeping and sharpest-shooting front ends in the tournament.

The result left the Toronto rink undefeated in three matches.

Phillips blanked the opening end to preserve last shot, but Gervais forced the Toronto skip to draw to the eight-foot circle for one on the second end.

Gervais's attempted hit and roll to blank the third end failed as the Edmonton shot stayed to tie the game.

The Toronto rink broke the game open in the fourth end, counting four after Gervais missed an attempted freeze with his last stone.

Gervais came back with four to tie the game on the seventh end, but Phillips retlaied with three on the next end, gave up two on the ninth and took one on the 10th and final end without using his final rock.

Other members of the Wankel rink are third Art Knutson, second Gay Knutson and lead Elmer Knutson. Phillips has John Ross at third, Ron Manning second and Keith Reilly lead.

Gervais has Merv Mann playing third, Bob Hawkins second and Walt Urzulak lead.

Wankel, runner-up to Phillips in the Canadian championship this year, turned the game with Richardson into a runaway by collecting four on the opening end.

Although the Regina rink, four-time world champions, came back with three on the second end, Wankel led 8-3 after four and forced Richardson to concede after nine of the regulation 10 ends.

Wankel remains the only top skip Phillips has not defeated in the tournament.

Barrie Here Tonight!

The Barrie Flyers are the guests tonight of the Belleville Mo-Hawks, game time nine o'clock.

Orillia, showing a sudden surge of life, vaulted over the Mo-Hawks from the cellar slot and now hold a one-point vantage.

But the Crawford crew is in no mood to stay at the foot of the heap and they'll go all out tonight to remedy that situation.

They trek to Galt tomorrow where they take on the powerful Hornets.

Battle Colts Sunday

Rams Finest Since 1958!

LOS ANGELES (AP) — It used to be a matter of a great offence by Baltimore Colts and the defence of Los Angeles Rams, but the issues are not so well defined in their National Football League battle coming up Sunday.

Quarterback Johnny Unitas and the Colts' offence are still quite evident, but the defence has been important in their bid for the Coastal Division title, as well as the Western Conference and NFL championship itself.

Baltimore leads the NFL in points scored, 384, an average of just under 30 each game.

The Colts, however, have allowed fewer points than any NFL rival—164, or an average of under 12 points a game.

The Rams lead the league in defence against a running attack, a department in which they have excelled in recent years.

Paralleling Baltimore's improved defence, quarterback Roman Gabriel and the offence have shown a vast improvement. Third-down yardage invariably was hard to get in recent seasons and repeatedly the faithful Ram fans in the stands groaned when place kicker Bruce Gossett and the kicking team trotted on to the field to attempt to settle for three points.

Now it is not unusual for the Rams to go for yards on fourth down and, more often than not, get them.

This is the finest scoring team for Los Angeles since 1958, the last time one scored more than 300 points. To date the Rams have put 364 points on the board, second only to Baltimore.

Baltimore could win the division even with a tie game. The Coastal champs move on to play the Central Division winning Green Bay Packers next Saturday in Milwaukee.

Moe Galand of Toronto Marlboros still maintains a healthy lead in the Ontario Hockey Association Senior scoring race, but Dave McComb is moving up the ladder.

McComb, Collingwood Kings' winger who won the title last year, picked up seven points during the week to move into second place with 34 goals and 18 assists for 33 points.

Galand, meanwhile, has 16 goals and 22 assists for 38. He picked up two goals and four assists during the week.

Jackson Spikes Retirement Rumor; Signs With Rough Riders

RUSS JACKSON

OTTAWA (CP) — Russ Jackson made his mind up quickly this year.

The veteran quarterback with Ottawa Rough Riders spiked speculation about his possible retirement when he signed his 1968 contract Thursday for his 11th season with the Eastern Football Confere club.

The 30-year-old quarterback considered retiring a year ago when Ottawa lost to Saskatchewan Roughriders in the 1966 Grey Cup game, and was an early-season holdout this year before signing his 1967 contract.

"I seriously thought this would be my last season," Jackson said at a news conference after signing a one-year contract.

Many football observers had the same feeling when Ottawa collapsed in the Eastern Football Conference finals against Hamilton Tiger-Cats. But Jackson said Thursday he wanted at least one more year in the game.

He said agreeing to terms was easy after he had made up his mind to continue playing.

Terms of the contract were not announced but it is believed Jackson will get a rise from his 1967 contract which, including bonuses, was estimated to be worth about $30,000.

Jackson said his plans after next season are unsettled. He said he would first have to consider his wife and three children, as well as his job as vice-principal of a high school here.

Despite Riders' disappointing season, Jackson had the best individual season of his 10-year pro career since leaving Hamilton's McMaster University. He completed 189 of 323 passes, 25 of them for touchdowns, all personal highs. He had only nine passes intercepted.

He was named EFC all-star quarterback for the fourth time in the last six seasons and named top Canadian in the East.

While Jackson's status for 1968 has been resolved, his partner of the last 10 seasons, halfback Ron Stewart, has said he will wait until spring before making up his mind about playing next year. Stewart, 33, was fifth in rushing in the East, with an average of 7.6 yards per carry, and caught 25 passes.

Quebec Tournament

Ontario Peewee Teams Face Problem

TORONTO (CP) — A dilemma faces Ontario teams anxious to participate in the annual Quebec International Peewee Hockey Tournament Jan. 27-Feb. 4 in Quebec City.

Bill Hanley, secretary-manager of the Ontario Hockey Association, said Thursday the problem is that the Quebec Amateur Hockey Association has not sanctioned the tournament.

Without this sanction, Ontario teams entering the tournament risk suspension by either the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association or its affiliate bodies.

"I'm not even sure what we would do if they went ahead on their own and played," said Hanley.

Affected will be the 22 Toronto-area teams and six Ontario squads who usually take part in the tournament. Considered a backbone of the famous tournament, Ontario teams have won the Class A championship seven times.

The dilemma is over age limits in Quebec and other jurisdictions.

The CAHA this year proposed changing age limits for the 1968-69 season. The Quebec division later was given permission to change the age limits this season. But the CAHA stipulated the Quebec rule would apply only in Quebec to Quebec teams, and would not affect tournaments in Quebec featuring teams from other provinces.

But the Quebec body has not yet sanctioned the tournament.

Hanley said he wrote the Quebec branch two weeks ago asking for clarification on the status of non-Quebec teams, saying the tournament should be open to all teams under the terms of the CAHA agreement.

"We haven't had any reply yet," said Hanley. "There is nothing we can do unless the QAHA sanctions the tournament."

Jack Harper, an executive with the Toronto Red Wings minor hockey organization, said he has been unable to reach QAHA officials in Quebec by phone. "We can't find out what the quarrel is about down there."

He said Ontario teams probably spend about $100,000 at the tournament every year. "Certainly, none of us is going to go if it means we'll be suspended when we come back."

Three In Third

Americans Tie Nats!

WINNIPEG (CP) — Three third-period goals carried the United States national hockey team to a 4-4 tie with Canada's western national team Thursday before 1,800 fans.

Centre Danny O'Shea, forwards Brian Harper and Gerry Pinder and defenceman Marshall Johnston shared Canada's goals. Jack Morrison, John Cunniff, Len Lillyholm and Doug Volmar scored for the U.S.

History Professor to Prime Minister...
...A Role Lester Pearson Never Sought

OTTAWA (CP) — Lester Bowles Pearson probably would have spent his life as a history professor but for a chance visit to Ottawa in 1928 on a routine research job.

A chat with the late Dr. O. D. Skelton, who was searching out young men of promise for the diplomatic corps, persuaded him to take a civil service examination. He passed with exceptional marks and at the age of 31 was launched on his true career.

It led to international renown as a global troubleshooter, a Nobel Prize and a tumultuous five years as the 14th prime minister of Canada.

Mr. Pearson announced Thursday he is resigning as Liberal party leader and prime minister, to take effect as soon as the party elects a successor.

The leadership convention is expected in April, the month in which he is due to mark his fifth anniversary in office and his 71st birthday. The birthday is April 23.

The prime minister's departure from public life will close out only of the most overshadowed Canadian careers. It has been marked by disasters as well as triumphs.

There were three distinct chapters:

First, a quiet and scholarly climb to an assistant professorship in history at the University of Toronto.

Next, 20 years as a diplomat which reached a pinnacle in the award of the 1957 Nobel Peace Prize for his initiative in formation of the first United Nations peacekeeping force after the Suez blowup.

Finally, a plunge into the hurly-burly of domestic politics.

The third stage might never have occurred if the Soviet government hadn't disapproved of Pearson the diplomat.

Twice, in 1948 and 1953, he was nominated to become secretary-general of the United Nations with strong backing by the Western powers. He was eager on both occasions to accept the job but the Russian veto killed his chances.

In 1964, when he was in his second year as prime minister, Mr. Pearson admitted frankly in a television interview that he would have preferred the UN to politics.

One of his low points came in June of 1957 when the Conservatives under John Diefenbaker scored a minority win in the general election to end 22 years of Liberal rule. After 10 years as external affairs minister, he overnight became Lester Pearson, plain MP.

Then in quick succession he got word of his Nobel award, Louis St. Laurent resigned as Liberal leader and a party convention overwhelmingly elected him over Paul Martin as the new leader.

Unfortunately, things had happened too quickly and the master diplomat turned out to be a political babe-in-the-woods.

Four days after stepping in as Opposition leader, Mr. Pearson rose in the Commons and proposed—in all seriousness—that the Conservatives admit their inability to run the country and turn the reins of government back to the Liberals.

John Diefenbaker, then prime minister, delivered a blistering attack that left the new Liberal chief in the depths of humiliation.

But there was worse to come. A snap election on March 31, 1958, saw the Conservatives roll up the greatest electoral victory in Canadian history. The Liberals were shattered, winning only 49 of the 265 Commons seats, their worst showing ever.

Ignoring the pleas of friends, Mr. Pearson at 60 began the herculean task of rebuilding the party. For four years he barnstormed the country, mending the Liberal machine, hunting out stragglers, candidates and preaching a new Liberal program.

In the 1962 election the Conservatives were reduced to a minority position in the Commons and in 1963 they were defeated on a confidence vote. The ensuing election saw the Pearson Liberals score a minority victory.

He was sworn in as prime minister April 22, 1963, the climax of a long road that began in a humble Methodist manse in Toronto where he was born April 23, 1897, second of three sons of Rev. Edwin Arthur Pearson.

One of the Liberal campaign slogans had been a promise of "90 days of decision" by a Pearson government. It turned out to be an unhappy choice.

The night he took office, Mr. Pearson gave a national TV address, promising "a time to excite the daring, to limit the strong and to give new promise to the timid."

But things started to go wrong. A budget turned out to be overly ambitious and key points had to be withdrawn. The first version of the Canada Pension Plan was introduced and had to be rewritten to meet provincial protests.

Mr. Pearson's old sense of compromise, finely honed at diplomatic conference tables, showed itself time after time as legislative ideas ran into trouble and were gently steered to approval.

Some accused him of weakness. But he invariably managed to adopt the ideas of others without changing the basic principles involved.

The best illustration of this was in the furious flag debate of 1964. Mr. Pearson ended it by introducing in Parliament a design of three red maple leaves on a white and blue background. After the Conservatives dug in to retain the Red Ensign, he agreed to put the issue to an all-party committee.

When the committee recommended a single red maple leaf on a red and white field, Mr. Pearson endorsed it and used the debate-limiting rule of closure to force it through.

One of the many Commons rhubarbs that he survived was the "Mr. Pearson" film episode of 1964. The CBC suggested, and Mr. Pearson accepted, the idea of having a private producer follow him for a day of candid-camera shooting.

When it leaked out that the CBC had rejected the $35,000 job for "technical reasons," the Conservatives raised a cry of political interference. In truth, Mr. Pearson and his aides had seen a preview and didn't like it.

But the film later was shown privately to special groups across the country and many were intrigued with its human touches.

Rivals in Retirement

Edward Smith Legion Head

Over one hundred Legionnaires attended the December meeting of Branch 39 for the annual election of officers. Comrade Norman Hardwick presided for the usual business of the Branch and when this was concluded, he turned the meeting over to Comrade Earl Brant, Zone Commander for "F-3" and a member of Downtown Branch, who presided at the election. Comrade Jack Berry and Comrade Dyral Berry of Deseronto Branch and they acted as scrutineers for the election. All offices were highly contested and the final results were very gratifying with a splendid selection of officers for 1968 being elected. Those elected were: president, Ed. F. Smith; 1st. vice-president, Jack Rashotte; 2nd vice-president, Richard P. Kirby; treasurer, A. W. (Ernie) Gray; sergt.-at-arms, George Corberry and the following committee are: Bob Lavender, Harold Vaughan, Everett Liddle, Tom Purdey, Roy Madden, Don Ridley, Charlie Marriott, and Carl Hubble. Comrade Ed. Smith was invited to the presiding officer's desk and said a few words, thanking the members for their support and requested that all members stand behind their newly-elected officers and if they did that, the success for 1968 can be achieved. The installation will take place early in the new year.

Zone Commander Earl Brant gave a short talk on the Royal Canadian Legion's Centennial fund for $1,000,000, which is being carried on across Canada at the present time. $782,796 has been collected as of Nov. 15th, this represents 78.2% per cent of the objective and the goal is expected to be reached in May 1968 at the time of the National Dominion Convention. Ontario branches have contributed $257,021.00 of the 360,000.00 objective or 71.40 per cent. Prince Edward Island, New Brunswick and Saskatchewan have reached their objective.

The principles of this fund will remain dormant and the earned dividends will be used for scholarships and bursaries in future years. The administrators of the fund as follows: Lieut-General Howard Graham, formerly of Trenton, Ont. Brigadier Jacques Andre de Lalanne, Montreal, Lew Price, of Vancouver, R. E. MacBeath, Dominion President Royal Canadian Legion, Ottawa, and Fred T. O'Brecht, Immediate Past President.

In order to reach the objective an assessment of $4.00 per member was based on the 1967 paid up membership. Belleville Branch have not reached their objective for the $1,340 that has been assessed. A special effort is now underway to raise this money and it is to be hoped that by the time the Dominion Convention rolls around the objective will be on hand. Any members who have not contributed to this worthy cause should look after this as soon as possible.

Salvation Army Starts Kettle Drive in Napanee

NAPANEE — Once again the Salvation Army kettles are on the street asking for your help to see that every poor family has a Christmas dinner. If they need clothing that will be given them separately at the Salvation Army hall.

No one needs to be reminded of the great work done by the Army. All they ask is to be informed of need and they respond. When a transient hits the town he goes first to this group where his needs are supplied, whether clothing, a meal, a night's lodging, or transportation. Where there is a distress of any kind, the Army is there supplying hot coffee and food to the firemen or searchers, and the volunteer helpers.

But it is at Christmas time that they are most in need of support.

It is hoped that everyone will help the Salvation Army to help the poor.

Atones for Junior

SEOUL (AP)—South Korean police supporting Chae Kyoo-sik shaved his head in an official gesture of atonement for robbery committed by one of his policemen. The patrolman, Kim Chong-hup, 42, held a store up for $7,000. His two immediate superiors were dismissed for his "disgraceful act."

Compile History

JOSEPHBURG, Alta. (CP) — Residents of this farming community, 30 miles northeast of Edmonton, have compiled a detailed history of its settlement of 66 years ago. The original settlers, led by George Becker, emigrated from Josefsberg, Austria, and many of the original homesteads still are farmed by their descendants.

Symptons of Liver Damage Are Few

To Your Good Health

By Dr. Joseph G. Molner

Dear Dr. Molner: My husband is a very heavy drinker. Every few weeks he comes in after a drinking spree he has big strawberry-colored splotches all over his face and upper part of his body. One night he also had a spell when he couldn't quite talk straight.

I have been told these splotches indicate liver trouble. Can you shed any light on this. He won't see a doctor.

Everytime he has a physical for a job they say he is in perfect health. Do they have to perform certain tests to detect liver trouble? — Mrs. L.S.

Such splotches plus his heavy drinking imply a liver disorder, but special chemical tests would be necessary to confirm such a disease, cirrhosis in particular.

There are no signs — and perhaps this is unfortunate — that appear promptly from heavy drinking. You can't tell by looking at a man whether his liver is starting to be damaged. Later there are sometimes temporary signs of the splotchiness you describe. But by the time obvious outward symptoms develop, the internal damage is severe and irreversible.

The pronouncement of being "in perfect health" at the time of an employment examination does not mean much. Often these exams are not detailed. There is a search for the more obvious specific defects — rupture, high blood pressure, overweight, severe eye defects and that sort of thing.

If he does not smell of booze at the time, his drinking habits can be overlooked in this type of examination.

Dear Dr. Molner: Can a person have a higher blood pressure reading in one arm than the other? — Mrs. A. L.

Yes, a variation of 10 to 15 "points" is not at all unusual. Extreme difference, however, is abnormal and could indicate a disorder in the arterial system.

Dear Dr. Molner: My daughter, 18 months, has sickle-cell anemia. I would like some information about this. She goes to Children's Hospital. I have heard so many stories about this disease, such as only Negroes get it and so on. — Mrs. B.

Sickle cell anemia — a very distressing one — resulting from the destruction of red blood cells. The cells are sickle-shaped (giving the disease its name) instead of being round like normal red cells. Whether the destruction of the cells has to do with the shape, or some other factors, is hard to say.

It is a hereditary disease occuring mainly in Negroes or dark-skinned peoples. The origin of the disease is not known, but coupledwith study has been done, and there is a suspicion that conditions in the area around the Mediterranean and south of it may have had a bearing many generations ago.

Patients suffer from weakness, pain throughout the body. Blood transfusions can ease these symptoms but the disease is a difficult disease to treat.

The hospital to which you are taking your daughter happens to be one of those which is studying sickle-cell anemia intensively, but there is much yet to be learned about it.

It is possible to have the sickle-cell trait yet not have the anemia, but a certain percentage of such people can pass the disease on to their children.

Three Broad Aims

Farm Machinery Hearing Nears End

OTTAWA (CP) — Only one major manufacturer remains to be heard from by the royal commission on farm machinery before Dr. Clarence L. Barber sits down to summerize his findings.

Three days have been set aside at the two weeks of public hearings in Ottawa in January to discuss a mammoth brief prepared by Massey-Ferguson Ltd.

The Canadian Labor Congress, the National Committee on Agricultural Engineering, the National Farmers' Union, the Canadian Federation of Agriculture and Alberta MP Jack Horner are also scheduled to be heard at that time.

Dr. Barber, a Manitoba University economics professor named in September, 1965, to conduct the one-man inquiry, started public hearings in Winnipeg in March and then moved across the country.

By the end of January he will have 67 briefs from industry, government, farm organizations, professional associates and individuals; 29 studies carried out by a number of university professors and commission staff members and the results of 50,000 questionnaires to individual farmers.

The briefs cover everything from single-page personal complaints to Massey-Ferguson's two-volume document. In Saskatoon the Saskatchewan Farmers' Union covered the table with farm machinery manuals, bills of sales, spare parts, catalogues and correspondence.

Aims of the commission were spelled out in five detailed clauses, but Dr. Barber later cut them down to three. In a statement early this year he said the inquiry would cover three broad areas:

—Study all matters affecting the price of farm machinery and the adequacy of repair parts and service.

—Investigate the competitive position of the Canadian farm machinery industry in the North American and world markets.

—Consider the impact of the operating cost for farms of different sizes.

Price to the farmer has been a matter of concern, but more important, has been the concern that the industry develop in such a way that it remains competitive, that it provides good machines at prices the farmer can afford and that new firms with new ideas are able to enter the market.

Sunday School Lesson

Tragedy of Broken Promise

By CLARENCE W. CRANFORD

"But you promised." That phrase on the lips of his child has stopped many a parent in his tracks. Suddenly he realizes that a thoughtless promise given as a means of getting the child out of his way was taken seriously by the child.

Life's shores are strewn with the wreckage of broken promises. A popular song of a few years ago reminds a false lover of the promises he made under the magic spell of a lover's tryst. But the song ends on the tragic note, "You forgot to remember."

Too often people make promises they don't intend to keep, or if they do intend to keep them, they forget about them all too soon. In a moment of need, a person makes promises to God he forgets to keep when his need has been met. A parent often makes promises to his child he fails to keep. Nations make treaties only to break them. The record of communist nations in this regard makes it difficult to have any confidence in their word.

The Uniform Sunday School lesson for December 17: "Keeping Life's Covenants," Malachi 1 and 2.

An Oriental student studying in the United States said, "I don't understand you Americans. You are always making promises you never keep. You say, 'I'll see you later,' but you make no effort to see us later. You say, 'I'll call you up sometime,' but you never do."

A clergyman moved from another area to a church in New England. He said, "I noticed the members in my new church Church did not pledge as much of their income to the church, but what they pledged, they paid. It was a matter of honor with them to pay their pledge."

LEAD TO BROKEN MARRIAGES

In no area do broken promises cause more heart-break than in marriage.

Marriage vows are serious business. The Episcopal marriage service says the marriage bond should never be entered into "unadvisedly or lightly," but "reverently, discreetly, advisedly, soberly, and in the fear of God." Yet the tragic trail of divorces and infidelity indicates that all too many take their marriage vows with reservations. They do not mean "till death us part," but "till I get bored," or "till I meet someone who attracts me more."

Some psychologists today actually advocate adultery as a release from the tensions that sometimes build up in the home. Others say the situation determines whether adultery is good or bad. They fail to say that it is a rare case where adultery does not break someone's heart or what happens to the character of a person when he breaks his vows. The importance of marriage and the home is threatened when marriage vows are ignored. And when the home is threatened, the stability of the nation is threatened. A broken marriage vow is a dagger aimed at the heart of a stable and trustthy society.

A PROPHET EXAMINES PROMISES

The author of Malachi is gravely concerned about these matters. The greatness of ancient Israel depended on its covenant relationship with God. God had made a promise to Abraham concerning his descendants. The exodus from Egypt was evidence that God was keeping His promise. But prophet after prophet pointed out that the people were not keeping their covenant with God. The shoddiness of their worship was one sign of their broken covenant. (Malachi 2:8)

Moreover, since all were made by the same God, why were they breaking their promises to each other? In one of his most inspired utterances, the prophet asks, "Have we not all one Father? Has not one God created us? Why then are we faithless to each other. . . (Malachi 2:10 RSV) No need to ask the question today.

The prophet illustrates his point by referring to the tragedy of broken homes. He points his finger at the greatest sufferers in a broken situation — the children. (Malachi 2:15) A divorced parent may make a new life for himself, but often the scars of a broken home mar the life of a child all the rest of his days. He is the tragic victim of a situation over which he has no control.

Any promise is important. The character of a person is bound up with the way he keeps his promises. And no promise is more important than the ones a person makes to God. Any great faith is based on the reliability of God to keep His promises. And any true discipleship depends on the way a person keeps his vows to God. As Jesus pointed out in one of His stories it is not only important to make a promise, it is even more important to keep it. (Matthew 21:28-31)

Sharp Denies Claim He Plans To Ditch Carter Tax Report

OTTAWA (CP) — The opposition roared Finance Minister Sharp's knuckles Thursday for vouching for the workingman's beer, bread and smokes.

As David Lewis (NDP—York South) put it, Mr. Sharp's budg. st. "means more slack in the belly of the working man."

The opposition further accused Mr. Sharp, during Commons debate on housekeeping resolutions arising out of the June 1 and Nov. 30 budgets, of planning to jettison the Carter royal commission taxation report and budgeting to create unemployment.

M. Sharp denied the Carter allegation. As for deliberately c'reating unemployment, as charged by Mr. Lewis, he replied:

"I know of only one government in the world which has deliberately tried to do this, and that is the government of the United Kingdom."

Despite the rough ride from the opposition, the budget resolutions were approved and their subject matter referred to the standing committee on finance, trade and economic affairs.

The Commons today continues debate or the bill proposing widening of the grounds for divorce and, possibly, the new broadcasting act.

The big news in Ottawa Thursday was Prime Minister Pearson's sudden announcement that he plans to resign as soon as a convention can select a successor, probably in April.

The Senate passed a government bill restricting the death penalty for murder to killers of policemen and prison guards for a five-year trial period. The bill, approved by the Senate 40 to 27, now requires royal assent before it ca'n be proclaimed law.

Among those urging Mr. Sharp in the Commons to ditch the Carter report was Marcel Lambert (PC—Edmonton West) who said he has been trying "to get the minister to refer the Carter report to a special joint committee of the Senate and House of Commons before the government commits itself to a white paper."

Mr. Sharp denied that he has ever said the government intends to ditch the Carter report.

Mr. Sharp's Nov. 30 budget unveiled a five-per-cent surtax in incomes and 10-per-cent increases in sales tax on beer, spirits and cigarettes.

Mr. Lewis took strongest exception to the provision that the surtax will have an exemption on the first $100 of taxable income and a ceiling of $900. This showed a "cynical illogic." The exemption at the bottom meant a saving of $5 while the $900 exemption, to those with incomes of $30,000 or more "will mean anywhere from $100 to $400 or more."

"You do not achieve equity by removing $5 at the bottom, which the rich guy also gets because his first $100 is not taxed either under this proposal, when in addition to that he gets an exemption on anything over $900 which he would have had to pay.

"What nonsense this is. What utter, unmitigated rubbish it is. . . . It is inequitable, it is unjust, it is unfair, it is ant-social. . . ."

In French, they are no such things as a "French roll," "French toast," "French dressing," or "French fried potatoes." These are all English or American designations. Just as in Denmark there is no "Danish pastry," and in Ireland no "Irish stew."

An English waiter wouldn't know what you wanted if you asked him for an "English muffin," any more than an American bartender would know what to concoct for a customer who requested a drink called a "Americano"—or which is quite a popular Italian aperitif.

If you order a hamburger in Hamburg, you'll get "Beischplanschen" and if you order cheeseburger (in authentic Chinese dish) in China, you'll get the Canton ese "chop sin," or roast pork. Oddly enough, if you order "spaghetti" in England, you will wind up eating what we in the U.S. call "vermicelli."

I thought of these gastronomic mix-ups and quiddities while glancing through a catalogue of new book titles to be published this winter by Doubleday. One of the entries is "Menu Translator," a badly needed little book that gives the foreign equival e n t s of basic American food items, as they appear on menus, plus basic descriptions of most food and drink terms that appear on foreign menus.

Anyone with a smattering of foreign languages can decipher a French, German, or Italian menu, and emerge with a rough idea of what is being offered. The harder part though, is trying to ask for the foreign equivalent of an American dish — which usually has some utterly different designation in a foreign tongue.

Dr. Mario Pei, the linguist, remarks that during the flinging of a restaurant scene in Paris for "Arch of Triumph, the hungry extras spotted this exotic item on the luncheon menu: "Petits saucisses de Frankfort braisee dans la chourcoute a la mode alsacienne." When the food arrived it was — hot dogs and sauerkraut! Play that on your Hasher-Dandy Week-end Foreign Phrase-Book.

It was Shaw, or Wilde, or some Irish wit, who said that "England and America are two nations divided by a common language," and this is true even at the dining table. What we call "candy," they call "sweets"; what we call "cookies," they call "biscuits"; what we call "corn," they call "maize"; what we call "dessert," they call "fruit."

Although most foods or drinks are misnamed or renamed according to local habit, or whimsy or superstition or native pride, it is worth observing that in Turkey the turkey is properly called "American bird" — accurately putting it back where it belongs while the French mistakenly call it "dindon," or "bird from India."

Canada for Full Rhodesian Trade Ban

LONDON (CP) — Most Commonwealth governments, including that of Canada, are pressing privately for a total world trade boycott against Rhodesia following another failure to reach a political settlement with Premier Ian Smith's white-minority regime.

Boycotts formally in force under a year-old United Nations order cover only selected commodities, although the 36 Commonwealth countries have agreed among themselves not to conduct any trade with Rhodesia.

Commonwealth diplomats are consulting their governments about seeking a new UN order for a full, worldwide boycott, an informant said Thursday night.

The consultations follow two meetings in London of the Commonwealth sanctions committee.

The Smith regime declared Rhodesia's independence from Britain 25 months ago in defiance of British attempts to win political safeguards for Rhodesia's negro majority.

Canada and Asia, Caribbean and most African members called for action to get a total UN boycott. Britain, Australia, New Zealand and three southern African states—Malawi, Lesotho and Botswana—took a softer approach. In particular, the softline countries opposed an African proposal that the wider boycott should be backed up by UN force if necessary.

A new UN order, especially if backed by the threat of force, might lead to an open showdown with South Africa and Portuguese Mozambique, sympathetic Rhodesian neighbors.

The UN order passed a year ago forbids member countries to deal with Rhodesia in key commodities such as oil and the main Rhodesian exports of tobacco, sugar, chrome and pig iron.

The proposed new boycott would ban all trade. The aim is to increase economic pressure on the Smith regime.

Rhodesia, unable to sell its whole tobacco crop, is reported to be switching some farmland to soybeans. The Oppenheimer mining interests at the same time plan a £10,000,000 ($25,700,000) development of nickel resources, a commodity currently in short supply.

Pressure for tougher sanctions against the Smith regime followed an announcement Tuesday by Commonwealth Secretary George Thomson reporting a deadlock with Rhodesia despite talks aimed at a political compromise.

Drug Peddling Ring Smashed

MONTREAL (CP) — A huge international narcotics smuggling operation has been smothered with the arrest of nine persons and the seizure of 110 pounds of heroin in Canada and the United States.

Officials said Thursday the high-grade heroin worth an estimated $45,000,000 on the illicit drug market was destined for New York distribution from South America and France.

The persons were arrested in Montreal, two in New York City and one in Boston.

Two Corsicans arrested in New York Thursday were practically home free after allegedly casting 26 pounds of heroin in the false bottom of a valise from Marseilles, France, to New York by way of Paris and Montreal, U.S. federal agents said. The two described themselves as couriers for the ring.

The men were arrested by RCMP in Montreal—five were picked up Wednesday and one Tuesday—were ordered to appear for preliminary hearing Dec. 20 on drug charges resulting from the seizure of 84 pounds of heroin. Bail was refused.

The Canadian government's chief counsel for the Montreal judicial district told the court Thursday the ring is determined to get supplies into the North American market and through Montreal in the last year.

RCMP said nearly 200 pounds of heroin have been seized in Montreal in the last year.

Arrested Wednesday at Montreal International Airport were Giuseppe Kantzas, 39, Andrea Settembre, 43, Giuseppe Sarago, 42, and Gennaro Siniscalchi, 44, all Italian residents of Sorrento Alres. They were charged with illegally importing heroin into Canada.

Carmine Rousso, 43, arrested in his hotel room, was charged with illegal possession of heroin. Vincenzo Capolo, 42, who also had an Italian passport, was picked up Tuesday at the airport and charged with illegally importing heroin.

Police said the ring's couriers carried heroin in belts around their waists, in false bottoms of suitcases and in the fake bottling of a trunk.

Jaycees Ready to Spearhead Drive for New Arena Fund

The Community Centre band-wagon is beginning to roll faster and faster towards the end of the trail — $250,000.

Re-elected alderman Kenneth Soden addressed the Belleville Jaycees Tuesday night and the topic was, of course, the proposed community centre. The Jaycees have taken it upon themselves to spearhead the drive for funds.

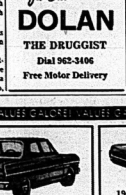
Alderman Soden first stated the need for recreation facilities and referred to Belleville's lack of a modern facility to house conventions, drama, orchestras, concerts, dances as well as sporting and other cultural events.

He continued, "If we had a new modern community centre — the 40-year-old barn known as the Memorial Arena — would be ideal for all the game and practice needs of minor hockey and for public skating for school children and adults."

"Recreation facilities are just as important as sewers, if Belleville is to grow," said Mr. Soden.

As far as progress being made Alderman Soden said that he "thought we were making progress — the arena commission weighed all the pros and cons of community centre type buildings."

After careful investigation about the proposed centre and where to put it the special committee appointed by council recommended that tenders be called immediately for construction of the community centre an the fairground site.



The motion was tabled at the next council meeting on Nov. 6 to turn the whole project over to the new 1968 council, the reason for which according to the alderman, being that "many members of council were glad to pass on what they thought was a hot potato with the election coming on."

"Since then the people have spoken and I think the councillors must now see the handwriting on the wall — the people will settle for nothing less than a new Community Centre building," stated the Alderman.

Alderman Soden also made known his intentions to move at an early meeting of the 1968 council that they vote at least two-thirds of a mill to be put aside in 1968 and 1969 for the centre.

"This will total at least $150,000 — if the service clubs and individuals and companies could raise say $100,000 the balance could be debentured by the city and paid for over the next 20 years at an annual cost of approximately $40,000.

Alderman Soden congratulated the Jaycees on their community mindedness in giving incentive and leadership to the project.

Toll May Be 100 In Bridge's Fall

75 Vehicles Fall 80 Feet

POINT PLEASANT, W. Va. (CP) — A giant floating crane today groped for about 75 cars and trucks which plunged 80 feet into the near-freezing water of the Ohio River when a suspension bridge collapsed here Friday, killing as many as 100 persons by unofficial estimates.

Reuters news agency carried the unofficial figure of nearly 100 deaths. It quoted an Ohio state patrol spokesman as saying five bodies have been recovered so far and at least 20 persons injured. Conflicting reports from both sides of the river earlier put the number of bodies recovered at 12.

The Associated Press placed the death toll at 46 with 31 missing. State police said the death toll would be much higher.

The 40-year-old Silver Bridge, linking Ohio and West Virginia, fell during the late afternoon rush hour on U.S. 35. Commuters and Christmas shoppers had jammed the 1,750-foot span.

Holzer Hospital at Gallipolis, Ohio, four miles from Point Pleasant, received bodies of four men and one woman.

Ohio and West Virginia authorities agreed the death toll, once divers searched the river's depths, would go much higher. Officials said there was little chance of finding any more survivors amid the tangle of concrete and steel in the river.

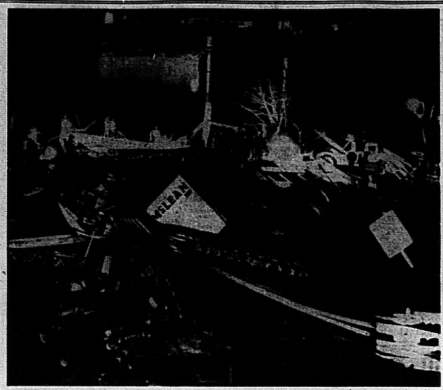
"Anyone who comes out of the river will not be breathing," said John Epling, Gallia County, Ohio, prosecutor. He was named by Ohio Governor James A. Rhodes to supervise operations on the Ohio side.

"There is no question that the final figure will be much higher," said West Virginia State Police Capt. J. D. Baisden.

Searchers with acetylene torches worked through the night trying to untangle vehicles and locate bodies in the wreckage where a long bridge section at the Ohio end fell onto land. Divers resume their search at dawn.

Traffic was bumper to bumper in both directions when the bridge fell at 5:10 p.m.

West Virginia officials pointed out the irony of the disaster. Monday, a new span 69 miles to the north, between Williamsburg, W.Va., and Marietta, Ohio, is scheduled to open to relieve the heavy traffic over the Silver Bridge.



Eyewitnesses said it took only 10 seconds from the first crack until, in the words of policeman David Prall, "the whole damned thing" was in the river.

"The bridge just caved in. . . . There isn't any more bridge," Profit said.

An Ohio highway patrol spokesman said the current was "very, very swift."

"It might be days before we know how many cars fell in," he said. "It might be weeks be-

Leading Liberals Silent

OTTAWA (CP) — Liberal cabinet ministers kept silent Friday or hedged on whether they will run to succeed Prime Minister Pearson, who steps down next spring.

One day after Mr. Pearson announced his decision, most of the leadership prospects were saying they wanted to wait until early next year before talking about their plans.

They wanted to think it over during the Christmas holiday period before saying anything.

As a result, the leadership race remained strictly unofficial as far as the cabinet was concerned.

External Affairs Minister Martin, just back from the Brussels NATO conference, had no comment at all on his intentions.

Mr. Martin, 64, defeated by Mr. Pearson for the Liberal leadership in 1958, invited reporters to ask him today about his leadership plans. He did not say whether he would clarify his intentions then.

Registrar-General Turner, youngest of possible cabinet contenders at 38, suggested the new year would be a better time to talk about leadership candidacy.

Finance Minister Sharp, another likely contender, told reporters his portfolio gave him special problems on whether and how to run.

Trade Minister Winters said that "as of now I am not a candidate for the leadership." However, he would do "some thinking" about it over the year-end period and assess conditions.

"It's a wonderful game. No balking, just talking!"

Fire Kills Port Hope Boy, Four

PORT HOPE, Ont. (CP) — The parents of a four-year-old boy, each thinking the other had rescued him from their burning home, stood by helplessly Friday as he died screaming inside the blazing house.

Douglas Brown died in the fire while his father, William, led two older children, Glenda, 16, and Patricia, 12, to safety through a rear window. Mrs. Brown, seeking safety with Douglas' twin sister, Darlene, thought Douglas had escaped with his father and two older sisters.

By the time the error was realized, smoke and heat prevented re-entry into the blazing frame house. Mr. Brown and his daughter tried to get back in the rear window to rescue the boy but heat and smoke made it impossible.

Railroad Wreck Kills Man

BOSTON BAR, B.C. (CP) — One man died and two other men were trapped for six hours in the shattered wreckage of a diesel engine after two runaway locomotives smashed head-on Friday night into a freight train inside a tunnel in the Fraser canyon.

Killed was fireman D. J. Lawson, 37, of Richmond, B.C. Rescued from the wreckage were engineer J. H. Brown, 47, of Vancouver, and trainman A. S. Hicks, 45, of New Westminster, B.C.

The men were pinned in the demolished diesel when two locomotives coupled together rolled down an 8%-mile incline and collided with a 95-unit Canadian National Railways freight train inside the 470-foot tunnel.

Rescuers worked frantically for more than six hours with blow torches, hammers, crowbars and hacksaws to free the men from the twisted steel in the dark, debris-littered tunnel.

Bridge Collapse Described

'Saw It But Don't Believe It'

GALLIPOLIS, Ohio (AP) — It was a slow night for felling Christmas trees. It, L. Whobrey had a good location on a highway corner catching all the bridge traffic from Point Pleasant, W.Va.—but it was cold, and most of the steady stream of commuters passed it by.

He made his first sale, and was just loading a tree in the trunk of a woman's car when he heard the noise.

"It sounded like one of those ordinary fender benders on the bridge," he said. "We have them all the time."

Dick Kuhn was filling a customer's car with gasoline at the corner service station when he heard what "sounded like a shotgun," he said. "I thought some nut was shooting ducks under the bridge."

Lee Long was talking at a coffee break at the Gallipolis fire department when the alarm came in.

The tragedy of a bridge collapsing brought these three men together. They were among the first witnesses—and the shock of it still glazed their eyes hours later.

"I saw it, but I don't believe it," said Whobrey. "The bridge just heeled over, started slowly on the Ohio side then following like a deck of cards to the West Virginia side.

"It was fantastic. There was a big flash and a puff of smoke when the last of the bridge caved in. I guess the power line snapped.

"I saw three to four people swimming around in the water screaming. I couldn't do anything. I just stood there and watched. Then I saw a city bus and fuel boat come and pick them up.

"There was a lot of junk floating around. I saw this car float past. It looked like there were people inside beating their hands on the windows."

Whobrey said he saw the last driver who got off the bridge before it collapsed.

"He parked in my Christmas tree lot. He looked like a ghost. He just sat there—then he was sick right in the car."

Kuhn ran to the riverbank behind his service station and saw a truck floating past.

"There was a guy hanging onto the roof yelling his head off. I think they got him off."

Long, a fire department veteran, was one of the first rescuers at the scene.

"It was one hell of a mess," he said. "People were crawling out of the cars in all that bridge wreckage (where part of the bridge fell on land) screaming and moaning. There were people in the water. We couldn't see very much, but we could sure hear it.

"There was a tractor-trailer hanging on the riverbank partly in the water. The driver was hanging from the open door of the cab, dead.

"Then we heard this banging from the back. We yelled and it was the driver's partner who'd been sleeping in the back.
